15 Concerning the rest of the acts of Shallum, and the treason which he wrought, behold, they are written in the Booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

16 ¶ Then Menahem destroyed [f] Tiphsah, and all that were therein, and the coastes thereof, from Tirzah, because they opened not to him, and he smote it, and ript vp all their women with childe.

17 The nine and thirtieth yeere of Azariah king of Judah, began Menahem the sonne of Gadi to reigne ouer Israel, and reigned tenne yeeres in Samaria.

18 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, and departed not all his dayes from the sinne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

19 ¶ Then Pul the king of Assyria came against the land: & Menahem gaue Pul a thousand [h] talents of siluer, that his hand might be with him, & establish the kingdome in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money in Israel, that all men of substance should giue the king of Assyria fifty shekels of siluer apeece: so the king of Assyria returned and tarried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth yeere of Azariah king of Judah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned two yeere.

24 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, his captaine conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the kings pallace with [i] Argob and Arieh, and with him fifty men of the Gileadites: so hee killed him, and reigned in his stead.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekahiah, and all that hee did, beholde they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth yere of Azariah king of Judah began Pekah the sonne of Remaliah to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, and reigned twentie yeere.

28 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord: for he departed not from the sinnes of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that made Israel to sin.

29 In the dayes of Pekah king of Israel [k] came Tiglah Pileser king of Assyr, & took Ijon, and Abel, Beth-maachah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilah, and all the land of Naphtali, and carryed them away to Assyr.

30 And Hoshea the sonne of Elah wrought treason against Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, and smote him, and slewe him, and reigned in his stead in the twentieth yeere of Iotham the sonne of Uzziah.

31 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekah, and all that he did, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

32 ¶ * In the second yeere of Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, began Iotham son of ‖ Uzziah king Judah to reigne.

33 Five and twentie yeeres olde was hee when he began to reigne, and he reigned sixteene yeeres in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jerusha the daughter of Zadok.

34 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lorde: he did according [l] to all that his father Uzziah had done.

35 But the hie places were not put away: for the people yet offered and burnt incense in the hie places: he built the highest gate of the house of the Lord.

36 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?

37 In [m] those daies the Lord began to send against Judah Rezin the king of Aram, and [n] Pekah the sonne Remaliah.

6 At the same time Rezin king of Aram restored [d] Elath to Aram, and droue the Iewes from Elath: so the Aramites came to Elath, and dwelt there vnto this day.

7 Then Ahaz sent [e] messengers to Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur, saying, I am thy seruant and thy sonne: come vp, and deliuer me out of the hand of the king of Aram, & out of the hand of the king of Israel which rise vp against me.

8 And Ahaz tooke the siluer and the golde that was found in the [f] house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the Kings house, and sent a present vnto the king of Asshur.

9 And the King of Asshur consented vnto him: and the king of Asshur went vp against Damascus, and when he had taken it, hee carried the people away to Kir, and slew Rezin.

10 And king Ahaz went vnto Damascus to meete Tiglath Pileser king of Asshur: and when king Ahaz sawe the altar that was at Damascus, hee sent to Uriiah the Priest the paterne of the altar, and the fashion of it, and all the workemanship thereof.

11 And Uriiah the Priest made an altar [g] in all points like to that which king Ahaz had sent from Damascus, so did Uriiah the priest against king Ahaz came from Damascus.

12 So when the king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king drew neere to the altar and offered [h] thereon.

13 And hee burnt his burnt offering, and his meate offering, and powred his drinke offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings beside the altar:

14 And set it by the brasen altar which was before the Lord, and brought it in farther before the house betweene the altar and the house of the Lord, and set it on the [i] North side of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Uriiah the priest, and said, Upon the great altar set on fire in the morning the burnt offering, and in the euen the meat offring, and the kings burnt offering and his meate offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their meate offering, and their drinke offrings: and powre therby al the blood of the burnt offring, and all the blood of the sacrifice, and the [k] brasen altar shall be for me to enquire of God.

16 And Uriiah the Priest did according to all that king Ahaz had commanded.

17 And king Ahaz brake the borders of the bases, and tooke the caldrons from off them, and tooke downe the sea from the brasen oxen that were vnder it, and put it vpon a pauement of stones.

22 For the children of Israel walked in al the sinnes of Ieroboam, which hee did, and departed not therefrom, 24 And the king of Assur brought folke from Babel, and from [n] Cuthah, and from Aua, and from Hamath, and from Sepharuaim, and placed them in the Cities of Samaria in steade of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

n Of these peoples came the Samaritans, whereof mention is so much made in the Gospel, and with whom the Iewes would haue nothing to doe, Iohn 4. 9.

25 ¶ And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they [o] feared not the Lorde: therefore the Lorde sent lions among them, which slewe them.

o That is, they serued him not: therefore, least they should blaspheme him, as though there were no God, because he chastised the Israelites, he thewed his mightie power among them by this strange punishment.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Assur, saying, The nations which thou hast remoued, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the lande: therefore he hath sent lions among them, and beholde, they slay them, because they know not the maner of the God of the land.

27 Then the king of Assur commanded, saying, Cary thither one of the Priests whome ye brought thence, and let him goe and dwell there, and teach them the maner of the GOD [p] of the countrey.

p That is, how to worship him: thus the wicked rather then to lose their commodities, will change to all religions.

28 So one of the Priestes, which they had carried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them howe they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit euery nation made their gods, and put them in the houses of the high places, which the Samaritans had made, euery nation in their cities, wherein they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made [q] Succoth-Benoth: and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima, q Meaning, that euery countrey serued their idole, which was most esteemed in that place whence they came.

31 And the Auims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharuaim.

*Ezek. 20. 39. Zepha. 1. 5.

32 Thus they feared the Lord, and appointed out Priestes out of themselues for the hie places, who prepared for them sacrifices in the houses of the hie places.

33 * They [r] feared the Lorde, but serued their gods after the maner of the nations whō they carried thence.

r That is, they had a certaine knowledge of God and feared him, because of the punishment, but they continued still in idolatrie, as doe the Papists, which worship both God and idoles: but this is not to feare God, as appeareth vers. 34.

34 Unto this day they do after the old maner: they neither feare God, neither doe after [s] their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the lawe, nor after the commaundement, which the Lorde commaunded the children of Iaakob, * whom he named Israel, s He meaneth this by the Israelites, to whom God had giuen his commandements.

38 And forget not the couenant that I haue made with you,neither feare ye other gods.

39 But feare the Lorde your God, and hee will deliuer you out of the hands of all your enemies.

40 Howbeit they obeyed not,but did after their cuſtome.

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that haue deliuered their land out of mine hand, that the m Lord ſhould deliuer Ieruſalem out of mine hand?

m This is an execrable blaſphemy againſt the true God to make him equall with the Idoles of other nations: therefore God did moſt sharplie punish it.

36 But the people held their peace and anſwered him not a word: for the Kings commandement was, ſaying, Anſwere ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim, the ſonne of Hilkiah which was ſteward of the houſe, and Shebnah the chanceller, and Ioah the ſonne of Aſah the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and tolde him the wordes of Rabſhekeh.

CHAP. XIX.

6 God promiſeth by Iſaiah victorie to Hezekiah. 35 The Angel of the Lord killeth an hundreth and fourefcore and fiue thouſand men of the Aſſyrians. 37 Sancherib is killed of his owne ſonnes.

AND * when King Hezekiah heard it, hee rent his clothes and put on ſackecloth, and came into the houſe of the Lord,

* 2 Ki. 37. 1.

2 And ſent Eliakim which was the Steward of the houſe, and Shebnah the chanceller, and the Elders of the ‖Priеſtes clothed in ſackecloth a to Iſaiah the Prophet the ſonne of Amoz.

‖ Or, Prieſts.

a To heare ſome new prophecie, and to haue counſell of him.

3 And they ſayd vnto him thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke, and blaſphemie: for the children are come to b the birth, and there is no ſtrength to bring forth.

b The dangers are ſo great that we can neither auenge this blaſphemie, nor helpe our ſelues, no more then a woman in her trauaile.

4 If ſo be the Lord thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabſhekeh, whome the king of Aſſhur his maſter hath ſent to raile on ‖ the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the c remnant that are left.

‖ Or, God.

c Meaning, of Ieruſalem, which onely remained of all the cities of Iudah.

5 ¶ So the ſeruantes of King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſayde vnto them, So ſhall ye ſay to your maſter, Thus ſayeth the Lord, Bee not afraide of the wordes which thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſeruants of the King of Aſſhur haue blaſphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will ſend a blaſt d vpon him, and he ſhall heare a noyſe, and returne to his owne land: and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his owne land.

d The Lord can with an eaſie blaſt driue away all the ſtrength of man and turne it into duſt.

8 ¶ So Rabſhakeh returned, and founde the king of Aſſhur fighting againſt Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 e He heard alſo men ſay of Tirhakah king of ‖ Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight againſt thee: hee therefore departed and ſent other meſſengers vnto Hezekiah, ſaying, e That is, Sunnebrith.

‖ Or, blacke Moores.
f For the Kings of Ethiopia and Egypt ioined together againſt the king of Aſſyria becauſe of his oppreſſion of other countries.

10 Thus ſhall yee ſpeake vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and ſay, Let not thy God deceiue thee in whom thou truſteſt, ſaying, Ieruſalem ſhall not be deliuered into the hand of the king of Aſſhur.

g The more neere that the wicked are to their deſtruction, the more they blaſpheme.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſhur haue done to all landes, howe they haue deſtroyed them; and ſhalt thou bee deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the Heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue deſtroyed?

moone any moze out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: so that they will [b] obserue and doe all that I haue commaunded them, and according to all the Lawe that my seruant Moses commanded them.

b Therefore seeing they obeyed not the commandement of God, they were iustly cast forth of that land which they had but on condition.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh led them out of the way, to do moze wickedly then did the heathen people, whome the Lozde destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lozde spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 *Because that Manasseh King of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought moze wickedly then all that the Amozites (which were before him) did, and hath made Iudah sinne also with his idols,

* Ierem. 15.4.

12 Therefore thus saith the Lozd God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring an euill vpon Ierusalem and Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his * eares shall [c] tingle.

* 1. Sam. 3.11. c Meaning, that whosoeuer shall heare of this great plague, shalbe astonished.

13 And I will stretch ouer Ierusalem the line [d] of Samaria, & the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I wil wipe Ierusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which he wipeth, and turneth it vpside downe.

d As I haue destroyed Samaria and the house of Ahab, so will I destroy Iudah.

14 And I will forsake the [e] remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of ther enemies, and they shall be robbed and spoyled of all their aduersaries, e Meaning, Iudah and Beniamin, which were onely left of the rest of the tribes.

15 Because they haue done euill in my sight, and haue prouoked mee to anger, since the time there fathers came out of Egypt vntill this day.

16 Moreouer Manasseh shedde [f] innocent blood exceeding much, till hee replenished Ierusalem from corner to corner, beside his sinne wherewith he made Iudah to sinne, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lozd.

f The Ebrewes write that hee slew Isaiah the Prophet who was his father in law.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that hee did, and his sinne that hee sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, & was buried in the garden of his owne house, euen in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 ¶ *Amon was two and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned two yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

* 2. Chron. 33. 20, 21.

20 And he did euil in the sight of the Lozd, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For hee walked in all the way that his father walked in, and serued the idols that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And hee forsooke the Lozde God of his fathers, and walked not in the [g] way of the Lozd.

g That is, according to his commaundements.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him, and slewe the King in his owne house.

24 And the people of the lande slewe all them that had conspired against king Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon, which hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

26 And ‖ they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Uzza: and Iosiah his sonne regned in his stead.

‖ Or, he buried him: to wit, Iosiah his sonne.

CHAP. XXII.

4 Iosiah repaireth the Temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the booke of the Lawe, and causeth it to bee presented to Iosiah. 12 Who sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse to inquire the Lords will.

IOsiah was * eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned one & thirtie yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath.

* 2. Chron. 34.1.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lozd, and [a] walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, & bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

a His zeale was prophetied of, & his name mentioned by Iudo the prophet, more then three hundred yeeres before, 1. King. 13. 2. and being but eight yere old, he sought the God of his father Dauid, 2. Chro. 34.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yeere of king Iosiah, the king sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chancellor to the house of the Lozd, saying,

4 Go vp to Hilkiah the high Priest, that he may ‖ sum the siluer which is brought into the house of the Lozd, which the keepers of the ‖ [b] dooze haue gathered of the people.

‖ Or, coine, as verse 9.

b Certeine of the Priests were appointed to this office, as Chap. 12.9.

5 And let them [c] deliuer it into the hand of them that doe the wozke, and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lozde: let them giue it to them that wozke in the house of the Lozd, to repaire the decayed places of the house:

c From the time of Ioash to the space of 124. yeres the temple remained without reparation through the negligence of the priests, this declareth, that they haue a charge, & execute it not, ought to haue it taken frō them.

6 To wit, vnto the artificers and carpenters and masons, and to buy timber, and hewed stone to repaire the house.

d So God prouides him of faithfull seruits, seeing he went about so zealously to set forth the worke of God.

7 Howbeit, let no reckoning bee made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale [d] faithfully.

8 And Hilkiah the high Priest saide vnto Shaphan the chancellor, I haue founde the [e] booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lozde: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and he read it.

e This was the copy that Moses left them, as appeareth. 5. Deu. 31.24. which either by the negligence of the Priests had bin lost, or els by the wickednesse of idolatrous kings had bene abolished.

9 So Shaphan the chancellor came to the King, and brought him wozde againe, and said, Thy seruants † haue gathered the mony, that was founde in the house, and haue deliuered it vnto the hands of them that do the wozke and haue the ouersight of the house of the Lozd.

† Ebr. melted.

10 Also Shaphan the chancellor shewed the King, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath deliuered deliuered mee a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard the wordes of the booke of the Lawe, hee rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the king commanded Hilkiah the Prieſt, and Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, and Achbor the ſonne of Michaiah, and Shaphan the chanceller, and Aſahiah the kings ſeruant, ſaying, 13 Goe and [f] inquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Iudah concerning the words of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lorde that is kindled againſt vs, becauſe our fathers haue not obeyed the words of this booke, to do according vnto all that which is written therein for vs.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Prieſt & Ahikam, and Achbor and Shaphan, and Aſahiah went vnto Huldah the propheteſſe the wife of Shallum, the ſonne of Tikuah, the ſonne of Hathas keeper of the wardrobe: (and ſhee dwelt in Ieruſalem in [g] the colledge) and they communed with her.

15 And ſhee anſwered them, Thus ſaith the Lorde God of Iſrael, Tell the man that ſent you to me,

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the words of the booke which the King of Iudah hath read, 17 Becauſe they haue forſaken mee, and haue burnt incenſe vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the [h] workes of their handes: my wrath alſo ſhall bee kindled againſt this place, and ſhall not be quenched.

18 But to the King of Iudah, who ſent you to inquire of the Lord, ſo ſhall ye ſay vnto him, Thus ſayeth the Lorde God of Iſrael, The words that thou haſt heard, ſhal come to paſſe.

19 But becauſe thine heart did [i] melt, and thou haſt humbled thy ſelfe before the Lorde, when thou heardeſt what I ſpake againſt this place, and againſt the inhabitants of the ſame, to wit, that it ſhould bee deſtroyed & accurſed, and haſt rent thy clothes, and wept before mee, I haue alſo heard it, ſaith the Lord.

20 Beholde therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, & thou ſhalt be put in thy graue in [k] peace, and thine eyes ſhall not ſee all the euill, which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the King word againe.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iosiah readeth the Law before the people. 3 He maketh a couenant with the Lord. 4 Hee putteth downe the idols, after he had killed their Prieſtes. 22 Hee keepeth Paſſeouer. 24 He deſtroyeth the coniurers. 29 Hee was killed in Megiddo, 30 And his ſonne Iehoahaz reigneth in his ſtead. 33 After hee was taken, his ſonne Iehoiakim was made king.

THen *the King [a] ſent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah and of Ieruſalem.

2 And the king went vp into the houſe of the Lorde, with all the men of Iudah and all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem with him, and the Prieſtes and Prophets, and all the people both ſmal and great: and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant, which was found in the houſe of the Lord.

3 And the king ſtoode by [b] the pillar, and made a [c] couenant before the Lorde, that they ſhoulde walke after the Lorde, and keepe his commandements, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes with all their heart, and with all their ſoule, that they might accompliſh the words of this couenant written in this booke. And all the people ſtood to the couenant.

4 Then the King commaunded Hilkiah the hie Prieſt and the [d] Prieſtes of the ſecond order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the Temple of the Lorde all the veſſels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoſte of heauen, and hee burnt them without Ieruſalem in the fieldes of Kedron, and carried [e] the powder of them into Beth-el.

5 And he put downe the [f] Chemarims, whome the kings of Iudah had founded to burne incenſe in the hie places, and in the cities of Iudah, and about Ieruſalem, and alſo them that burnt incenſe vnto Baal, to the ſunne and to the moone, and to the planets, and to all the hoſt of heauen.

6 And hee brought out the [g] groue from the Temple of the Lorde without Ieruſalem vnto the valley of Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and ſtampt it to powder, and caſt the duſt thereof vpon the [h] graues: of the children of the people.

7 And he brake downe the houſes of the Sodomites, that were in the houſe of the Lorde, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Alſo hee brought all the Prieſtes out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the Prieſtes had burnt incenſe, euen from Geba to Beer-sheba, and deſtroyed the hie places of the gates, that were in the entring in of the gate of Ioshua the gouernour of the citie, which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheleſſe the prieſtes of the hie places [i] came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ieruſalem, ſaue onely they did eate of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 Hee defiled alſo [k] Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man ſhould make his ſoone or his daughter to paſſe thorow the fire to Molech.

The idolatrous kings had dedicate horses and charets to the sunne, either to worship the image of it about as the heathen did, or els to sacrifice vnto it, as a sacrifice right agreeable.

11 He put downe also the [l] horses that the kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lord, by the chãber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the Kings of Iudah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lord did the king breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the [‖] brooke Kedron.

13 Moreouer the king defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hand of the [m] mount of corruption (which * Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore [n] the altar that was at Beth-el, and the hie place made by Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar and also the hie place, brake hee downe, and burnt the hie place, and stampt it to pouder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, hee spied the graues, that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lorde, that the [o] man of God proclaimed, which cryed the same words.

[o] According to the prophesie of Iadde, 1. Kin. 13.2.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the citie said vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and tolde these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said hee, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the [p] prophet that came from Samaria.

[p] Meaning, the prophet which came after him and caused him to beare contrary to the commandement of the Lorde, which were both two, buried in one graue, 1. Kin. 13.31.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the Kings of Israel had made to anger the Lorde, and did to them according to all the factes that hee had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the Priestes of the hie places that were there vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the king commaunded all the people, saying, * Keepe the passeouer vnto the Lorde your God, * as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

* 2. Chro. 35.1. Esd. 1.1. * Exod. 12.3. Leuit. 16.2.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden [q] like that from the dayes of the Iudges that iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Iudah.

[q] For the multitude and zeale of the people, with the great preparation.

23 And in the eighteenth yeere of king Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ierusalem.

24 Iosiah also tooke away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espied in the land of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to performe the wordes of the * Law, which were written in the booke that Hilkiah the Priest founde in the house of the Lord.

* Leuit. 20.27. deut. 18.11.

25 Like vnto him was there no king before him that turned to the Lorde with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might according to all the Law of Moses, neyther after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the [r] fiercenesse of his great wrath wherewith he was angry against Iudah, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasseh had prouoked him.

[r] Because of the wicked heart of the people, which would not turne vnto him by repentance.

27 Therefore the Lorde saide, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this citie Ierusalem, which I haue chosen, & the house whereof I said, * My name shalbe there.

35 And Iehoiakim gaue the siluer and the golde to Pharaoh, and tared the lande to giue the money, according to the commaundement of Pharaoh: he leuied of euery man of the people of the land, according to his value, siluer and golde to giue vnto Pharaoh Nechoh.

2 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of King Zedekiah.

3 And the ninth day of the moneth the famine was[c] sore in the citie, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

c In so much that the mothers did eat their children, Lam.4.10.

4 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled by night, by the way of the [d] gate, which is betweene two walles that was by the kings garden: nowe the Caldees were by the citie round about: and the king went by the way of the wildernesse.

5 But the armie of the Caldees pursued after the king, and tooke him in the desertes of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

6 Then they tooke the King, and caried him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah, where they [e] gaue iudgement vpon him.

7 And they slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes, and put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him in chaines, and carried him to Babel.

8 ¶ And in the fift moneth, and [f] seuenth day of the moneth, which was the nineteenth yeere of king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan ‖ chiefe steward and seruant of the king of Babel, to Ierusalem, 9 And burnt the house of the Lorde, & the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

10 And all the armie of the Caldees that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe the walles of Ierusalem round about.

11 And the rest of the people that were left in the city, and those that were fled and fallen to the king of Babel, with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan chiefe stewarde cary away captiues:

12 But the chiefe steward left of the poore of the lande to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

13 * Also the pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lorde, and the bases, and the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and carried the brasse of them to Babel.

14 The pots [h] also & the besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse that they ministred in, tooke they away.

15 And the alhpannes, and the basens, and al that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away.

16 With the two pillars, one Sea, and the bases, which Salomon had made for the house of the Lorde: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight.

17 * The height of the one pillar was eighteene cubites, and the chapitere thereon was brasse, and the height of the chapiter was with netwoorke three cubits, and pomgranates vpon the chapiter round about, all of brasse: and likewise was the seconde pillar with the netwoorke.

18 And the chiefe steward tooke Seraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the [i] second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

19 And out of the city he tooke an Eunuch that had the ouersight of the men of warre, and [k] fiue men of them that were in the kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the host, who mustred the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the citie.

20 And Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Iudah was carried away captiue out of his owne land.

22 * Howbeit there remained people in the lande of Iudah, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan ruler ouer them.

23 Then when al the captaines of the host and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ishmael, the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Iaazaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah [l] sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and yee shall bee well.

25 * But in the seuenth moneth Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama of the kings seede, came, and ten men with him, and smote Gedaliah, and hee died, and so did hee the Iewes, and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to [m] Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

27 Notwithstanding in the seuen and thirtieth yeere after [n] Iehoiachin king of Iudah was caried away in the twelft moneth and the seuen and twentieth day of the moneth, Euilmerodach king of Babel in the yeere that hee began to reigne, did lift vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah out of the prison,

28 And spake kindly to him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel, 29 And changed his prison garments: and he did continually eate bread before him, all the dayes of his life.

30 And his [o] portion was a continuall portion giuen him by the King, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians, because of the length diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles, which are so oft mentioned in the bookes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set foorth the storie of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgment of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Iewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke conteineth a briefe rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iaakod, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudah, and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it letteth foorth more amplie his acts, both concerning ciuill gouernment, and also the Administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thankes to the Lord.

17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered [e] & said vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto mee to helpe mee, mine heart shall bee knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seeing there is no wickednesse in mine handes, the God of our fathers behold it, and rebuke it.

e The spirit of holinesse and courage moued him to speake thus.

18 And the [e] spirite came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, and he sayde, Thine are we, Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Jshai. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace bee vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them captaines of the garison.

19 ¶ And of Manasseh some fell to Dauid, when he came with the Philistims against Saul to battell, but they [f] helped them not: for the Princes of the Philistims * by aduisement sent him away, saying, He wil fall to his master Saul ‖ for our heads.

21 And they helped Dauid against [g] that band: for they were all valiant men and were captaines in the host.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 9 Vzza dieth because he touched it.

AND Dauid counselled with the captaines of thousandes and of hundreds, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid sayde to all the Congregation of Jsrael, If it seeme good to you, and that it

it proceedeth of the Lorde our God, wee will send it to and fro vnto our brethrē, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in the cities and their suburbs) that they may assemble themselues vnto vs.

3 And we will bring againe the [a] Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs do so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ *So Dauid gathered all Israel together from ‖ Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Israel to ‖ Baalath, in Kiriah-iearim, that was in Iudah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lorde, that dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caryed the Aarke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio [c] guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before [d] God with all their might, both with songs and with Harps, and with violes, and with timbrels and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing flooze of [e] Chidon, Uzza put foorth his hand to hold the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lorde was kindled against Uzza, and he smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he died there [f] before God.

11 And Dauid was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Uzza, and hee called the name of that place Perez-Uzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to mee the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Arke to come into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of [g] Obed Edom the Gittite.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, euen in his house three monethes: and the Lorde blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that he had.

a Because of Gods promise made to the people of Israel.

3 ¶ Also Dauid tooke moe wiues at Ierusalem, and Dauid begate moe sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Ierusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Salomon, 9 And the Philistims came, and spred themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsell at God, saying, Shall I goe vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hande? And the Lord sayde vnto him, Go vp: for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hath deuided mine enemies with mine hande, as waters are deuided: therefore they called the name of that place, [c] Baal-perazim.

c That is, the valley of diuisions, because the enemies were dispersed there like waters.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fire.

13 Againe the Philistims came and spred themselues in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsel at God, God sayde to him, Thou shalt not goe vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberie trees, then go out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commaunded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands: and the Lorde brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

AND Dauid made him houses in the [a] citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

a That was in the place of the citie called Zion, 2. Sam. 5. 7. 9.

2 Then Dauid sayd* None ought to carie the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord

3 ¶ And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Ierusalem to bring vp the [b] Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

[b] From the house of Obed Edom. 2. Sam. 6.10,12.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites,

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Uriel the chiefe and his ‖ brethren fiue score.

‖ Or, kinsmen.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred & twenty.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

9 Of the sonnes of [d] Hebron, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

[d] The third sonne of Kohath, Exod 6.18.

10 Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and twelue.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priests, and of the Leuites, Uriel, Asaiah and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And he sayd vnto thē, Ye are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: [e] sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

[e] Prepare your selues, & be pure, abstaine from all things where by ye might be polluted, and so not able to come to the Tabernacle. *Chap. 13,10.

13 For * because ye were not there at the first the Lorde our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after due [f] order.

[f] According as he hath appointed in the Law.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified themselues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded * according to the word of the Lord.

*Exod. 25.14,15.

16 And Dauid spake vnto the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with [g] instruments of musicke, with violes and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift vp their voyce with ioy.

[g] These instruments and other ceremonies, which they obserued were instructions of their infancie, which concerned to the comming of Christ.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne Berechiah, and of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah, 18 And with them their brethren in the [h] second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel the porters.

[h] Which were inferior in dignitie.

19 So Heman, Asaph, and Ethan were singers to make a sounde with cymballes of brasse,

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah with violes on [i] Alamoth,

[i] This was an instrument of musicke, or a certain tune, whereunto they accustomed to sing Psalmes.

21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon [k] Sheminith Jenazzeah.

[k] Which was the eight tune, ouer the which he that was most excellent had charge.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites had [l] the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

[l] To wit, to appoint Psalmes, & songs to them that sung.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah, and Jehohaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priestes did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Jeiah were porters [m] for the Arke,

[m] With Berechiah and Elkanah, verse. 23. *2. Sam. 6.12.

25 * So Dauid and the Elders of Israel and the captaines of thousandes went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.

26 And because that God [n] helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, they offered [o] seuen bullockes and seuen rammes.

[n] That is, gaue them strength to execute their office.

[o] Besides the bullocke and the fat beast, which Dauid offered at euery first pace. 2. Sam. 6.13.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid was a linnen [p] Ephod.

[p] Read 2. Sam. 6.14.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting and sounde of cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbales, making a sound with violes and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the [q] couenant of the Lord came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw king Dauid dancing and playing, and * she despised him in her heart.

[q] It was so called because it put the Israelites in remembrance of the Lords couenant made with them. *2. Sam. 6.16.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 Dauid ordeineth Asaph, and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 He appointeth a notable Psalme to be sung in prayse of the Lord.

SO * they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the middes of the Tabernacle that Dauid had pitched for it, and they offred burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

*2. Sam. 6.17.

2 And when Dauid had made an ende of offering the burnt offering and the peace offerings, hee [a] blessed the people in the Name of the Lord.

[a] He called vpon the Name of God desiring him to prosper the people, and giue good successe to their beginnings.

3 And he dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine.

4 And hee appointed certaine of the Leuites to minister before the Arke of the Lorde, and and to [b] rehearse and to thanke and prayse the Lord God of Israel:

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed Edom, euē Jeiel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbals,

6 And Benaiah and Jahaziel Priestes, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the couenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did [c] appoint at the beginning to giue thankes to the Lorde by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 *Prayse the Lorde and call vpon his Name: declare his [d] works among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his [e] wonderfull works.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let ỹ hearts of them that seeke the Lord reioyce.

11 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

12 Remember his marueilous works that he hath done, his wonders, & the [f] iudgements of his mouth, 13 O seede of Israel his seruant, O the children of Iaakob his [g] chosen.

14 He is the Lorde our God: his iudgements are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his couenant for euer, and the word, which he commanded to a thousand generations:

16 *Which he made with Abraham, and his othe to Izhak:

19 When ye were [h] fewe in number, yea, a very few, and strangers therein,

20 And walked about from nation to nation, and from one kingdome to another people,

21 He suffered no man to doe them wrong, but rebuked [i] kings for their sakes, saying,

22 Touch not mine [k] anointed, and do my [l] Prophets no harme.

23 *Sing vnto the Lord all the earth: declare his saluation from day to day.

24 Declare his glorie among the nations, and his wonderfull workes among all people.

25 For the Lord is great and much to bee praysed, and he is to bee feared aboue all gods.

26 For all the gods of the people are [m] idoles, but the Lord made the heauens.

27 Prayse and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his place.

28 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

29 Giue vnto the Lorde the glorie of his Name: bring an offering and come before him, and worship the Lorde in the glorious Sanctuarie.

30 [n] Tremble ye before him, all the earth: surely the world shall be stable and not moue.

31 Let the [o] heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad, and let them say among the nations, The Lord reigneth.

32 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is: Let the fielde be ioyfull and all that is in it.

33 Let the trees of the wood then reioyce at the presence of the Lorde: for he commeth to [p] iudge the earth.

34 Prayse the Lord, for he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

35 And say ye, Saue vs, O God, our saluation, and gather vs, and deliuer vs from the heathen, that we may prayse thine holy name, and [q] glorie in thy prayse.

36 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer: and let al people say, [r] So be it, and prayse the Lord.

37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lords couenant Asaph and his brethren to minister continually before the Arke, that which was to be done euery day:

38 And Obed Edom & his brethren, three score and eight: and Obed Edom the sonne of Jeduthun, and Hosah were porters.

39 And Zadok the Priest and his brethren the Priests were before the Tabernacle of the Lord, in the hie place that was at Gibeon, 40 To offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, vpon the burnt offering altar continually, in the morning and in the euening, euen according vnto all that is written in the lawe of the Lord which he commanded Israel.

41 And with [s] them were Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest that were chosen (which were appointed by names) to prayse the Lorde, because his mercie endureth for euer.

42 Euen with them were Heman and Jeduthun, to make a sound with the cornets and with the cymbals, with excellent instruments of musicke: and the sonnes of Jeduthun were at the gate.

43 And all the people departed, euery man to his house: and Dauid returned to [t] blesse his house.

a Well built and faire.

b That is, in tents couered with skinnes.

c As yet God had not reuealed to the Prophet what he purposed concerning Dauid: therefore seeing God fauoured Dauid, he spake what he thought.

3 And the same [d] night euen the worde of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not builde mee an house to dwell in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from [e] tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

6 Whereseeuer I haue [f] walked with all Israel, spake I one word to any of the iudges of Israel (whome I commanded to feede my people) saying, Why haue ye not built me an house of cedar trees?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I tooke thee from the sheepecoat [g] and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldest be a prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue ‖ made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and [h] will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and moue no more: neither shall the † wicked people ‖ vexe them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commanded iudges ouer my people Israel) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will [i] build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled to go with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shalbe of thy sonnes, and will stablish his kingdome.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for [k] euer.

13 I will be his father, and hee shall by my sonne, and I will not take my mercie away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before [l] thee.

14 But I wil establish him in mine house, and in my kingdome for euer, and his throne shall be stablished for euer.

15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the king [m] went in and ‖ sate before the Lord and said, Who am I, O Lorde God, and what is mine house that thou hast brought me [n] hitherto?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of [o] hie degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire more of thee, for the honour of thy seruant? for thou know-est thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine [p] heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreouer what one nation in the earth is like the people of Israel, whose God went to redeeme them to be his people, and to make thy selfe a Name, and to doe great and terrible things by casting out nations from before thy people, whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypt?

22 For thou hast ordained the people Israel to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant and concerning his house, bee confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast sayd, 24 And let thy name be stable and magnified for euer, that it may be sayd, The Lorde of hosts, God of Israel, is the God of [q] Israel, and let the house of Dauid thy seruant be stablished before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast [r] reueiled vnto the eare of thy seruaunt, that thou wilt builde him an house: therefore thy seruant hath † bene bold to pray before thee.

26 Therfore now Lorde (for thou art God, and hast spoken this goodnesse vnto thy seruant.)

27 Now therefore, it hath pleased thee to blesse the house of thy seruant, that it may bee before thee for euer: for thou, O Lord, hast blessed it, and it shall be blessed for euer.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims, 2 And against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 And Edom.

AND after this, Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued thē, and tooke [a] Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hande of the Philistims.

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, and ‖ brought gifts.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote ‖ Hadarezer king of Zobah vnto Hamah, as hee went to stablish his border by the riuer ‖ Perath.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousande charets, and seuen thousande horsemen, and twentie thousand footemen, and * destroyed all the charets, but hee reserued of thē an hundred charets.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah, but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twentie thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of ‖ Damascus, & the Aramites became Dauids seruants, [d] After that Nathan had spoken to Dauid.

seruants, and brought giftes: and the Lorde
b That is, in all things that he enterprised. b preserued Dauid where soeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shieldes of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

c Which 2. Sa. 8.8. are called Betah and Berothai. 8 And from c Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brasen *Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse. *1.King.7.23. Iere.52.20.

9 ¶ Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

d Called also Ioram, 2. Sam. 8.10. 10 Therefore he sent d Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid, to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of gold and siluer and brasse.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lorde, with the siluer and golde that hee brought from all the nations, from e Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

e Because the Edomites and the Syrians ioyned their power together, it is said, 2. Sam. 8. 12. that the Aramites were spoyled. 12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley f eighteene thousand, f Which is vnderstand that Ioab slew twelue thousand, as is in the title of the three score psalme, and Abitha the rest. 13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preserued Dauid whersoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement & iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and ‖ Shausha the Scribe,

‖ Or, Seraiah, *2. Sam. 8.17, 18. 17 *And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the g Cherethites & the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun king of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 He prepareth an armie, against Dauid, 15 And is ouercome.

*2. Sam. 10.2. AFter this also * Nahash the King of the children of Ammon dyed, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

a Because Nahash receiued Dauid, and his companie, when Saul persecuted him, he would now shew pleasure to his sonne for the same. 2 And Dauid sayd, I will shew kindenesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his a father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon sayde to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to b search, to seeke and to spie out the land?

b Thus the malicious euer interpret the purpose of the godly in the worst sence 4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and c shaued them, and cut off d their garments by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

c They shaued off the halfe of their beards, 2. Sam. 10.4. d To put them to shame and villanie, whereas the ambassadors ought to haue bene honoured: and because the Iewes vsed to weare side garments & beards, they thus disfigured them to make them odious to others.

5 And there went certaine and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King sayde, Tarie at Iericho, vntill your beards be growen: then returne.

‖ Or, had made themselues to be abhorred of Dauid. 6 ¶ When the children of Ammon sawe that they ‖ stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun & the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer to hire them charets and horsemen out *of Aram Naharaim and out of Aram Maachah, and out of c Zobah.

*2. Sam. 10.6, 8. c Which were fiue in all. 7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charets and the king of Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before f Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together frō their cities, and came to the battell.

f Which was a citie of the tribe of Reuben beyond Iorden. 8 ¶ And when Dauid heard, he sent Ioab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the city. And the kings that were come, were by themselues in the field.

10 When Ioab sawe that the front of the battell was against him before and behinde, then he chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people hee deliuered vnto the hand of Abishai his brother, and they put themselues in aray against the children of Ammon.

12 And he sayd, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the children of Ammon preuaile against thee, then I will succour thee.

13 Be strong and let vs shewe our selues valiant for our g people, and for the cities of our God and let the Lord do that which is good in his owne sight.

g He declareth that where the cause is euill, the courage cannot be valiant, and that in good causes men ought to be couragious and commit the successe to God. 14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem, 16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the h riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

h That is, Euphrates.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, hee gathered gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, and came vnto them, and put himselfe in aray against them: And when Dauid had put himselfe in battell aray to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites [i] seuen thousand charets, & fourtie thousand footemen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the host.

19 And when ỹ seruants of Hadarezer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, & serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour ỹ children of Ammon.

i For this place reade 2. Sam. 10.18.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise ouercome with their gyans.

AND* when the yeere was expired, in the time that Kings go out a warfare, Ioab caried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged [a] Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Ierusalem) and Ioab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

a Which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites.

2 *Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their King from off his head, and founde it the weight of a [b] talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and he brought away the spoyle of the citie exceeding much.

*2.Sam.12.29, 30.

b Which mounteth about the value of seuen thousand and seuentie crownes, which is about threescore pound weight.

3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Ierusalem.

4 ¶ *And after this also there arose warre at ‖ Gezer with the Philistims: then Sibbechai the Hushathite slewe ‖ Sippai, of the children of ‖ Haraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistims: & Elhanan the sonne of Iair slew [c] Lahmi, the brother of Goliath ỹ Gittite, whose speare staffe was like a weauers beame.

c Reade 2. Sam. 21.19.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and his fingers were by [d] fives, euen foure & twentie, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.

d Meaning, that he had fiue apiece on handes and feete.

7 And when hee reuiled Israel, Ionathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were borne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be numbred, 14 And there die seuentie thousand men of the pestilence.

AND [a] Satan stoode vp against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to number Israel.

a He tempted Dauid in setting before his eyes his excellencie and glory, his power and riches: reade 2. Sam. 24.1.

2 Therefore Dauid saide to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, and number Israel from [b] Beer-sheba euen to Dan, & bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

b That is, from South to North.

3 And Ioab answered, The Lord increase his people an hundreth times so many as they be, O my lorde the King: are they not all my lordes seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should hee be a cause of [c] trespasse to Israel?

c It was a thing indifferent and vsuall to number the people, but because he did it of an ambitious minde as though his strength stood in his people, God punished him.

4 Neuertheles the Kings worde preuailed against Ioab. And Ioab departed & went thorow all Israel, and returned to Ierusalem.

5 And Ioab gaue the number and summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were [d] eleuen hundreth thousande men that drewe sworde: and Iudah was [e] foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drew sword.

d Ioab partly for griefe, and partly through negligence & astonied not the whole summe as it is here declared.

e In Samuel is mention of thirtie thousand more: which was either by leauing to them some of the Benjamites, which were mixed with Iudah, or as ỹ Ebrewes write, here the chiefe and princes are left out.

6 But the Leuites and Beniamin counted he not among them: for the Kings worde was abominable to Ioab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseech thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

9 And the Lorde spake vnto Gad Dauids ‖ Seer, saying,

‖ Or, Prophet.

10 Go and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may doe it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies ‖ to take thee, or els the sword of the Lord & pestilence in the land three dayes, that the Angell of the Lorde may destroy throughout all the coasts of Israel: now therefore aduise thee, what worde I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And Dauid saide vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strait. let me now fall into ỹ hand of the Lorde: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angell into Ierusalem to destroy it. And [f] as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and [g] repented of the euill and sayde to the Angell that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angell of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of ‖ Ornan the Iebusite.

f Reade 2. Sam. 24.16.

g When God draweth backe his plagues, he seemeth to repent, reade Gen. 6.6.

‖ Or, Araunah.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and sawe the Angell of the Lorde stand betweene the earth and the heauen with his sworde drawen in his hande and stretched out towarde Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe what haue they done? O Lorde my God, I beseech thee, let thine hande be on me and on my fathers house, and not on [h] thy people for their destruction.

h Thus he both shewed a true repentance and a fatherly care toward his people, which deserued God to spare them and to punish him and his.

18 ¶ Then the Angell of the Lorde commaunded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lorde in the threshing floore of Ornan the Gebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which hee had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about & saw the Angell and his foure sonnes, that were with him, [i] hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheate.

i If man hide himselfe at the sight of an Angell which is a creature, how much lesse is a sinner able to appeare before the face of God?

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid sayde to Ornan, Giue mee the place of thy threshing floore, that I may build an [k] altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it mee for sufficient money, that the plague may be staied from the people.

k Thus he did by the commandement of God, as verse 18. for els it had bene abominable, except he had either Gods word, or reuelation.

23 Then Ornan sayd vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lorde the king doe that which seemeth him good: loe, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meate offering, I giue it all.

24 And King Dauid saide to Ornan, Not so: but I will buy it for sufficient [l] money: for I wil not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor burnt offrings without cost.

l That is, as much as it is worth: for hauing ynough of his owne, and yet to haue taken of another mans goods to offer vnto the Lord, it had bene theft and not acceptable to God.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m] sixe hundreth shekels of gold by weight.

m Read 2. Sam. 24. 24.

26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offred burnt offrings, and peace offerings, and called vpon the Lorde, and hee [n] answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

n God declared that he heard his request in that he sent downe fire from heauen: for els they might vse no fire in sacrifice, but of that which was reserued still vpon the altar, Leuit. 6. 13. and came downe from heauen, Leuit. 9. 24. as appeared by the punishment of Nadab and Abihu, Leuit. 10. 1.

27 And when the Lorde had spoken to the Angell, hee put vp his swoorde againe into his sheath.

28 At that time when Dauid saw that the Lorde had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of ỹ Lord which Moses had made in the wildernesse, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid coulde not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for he was afraid of the swoorde of the Angell of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things necessarie for the building of the Temple. 6 Hee commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lorde, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

AND Dauid sayde, This is the [a] house of the Lorde God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

a That is, the place wherein he will be worshipped.

2 And Dauid commaunded to gather together the [b] strangers that were in the land of Israel, and hee set masons to hewe and polish stones to builde the house of God.

b Meaning, cunning men of other nations which dwelt among ỹ Iewes.

3 Dauid also prepared [c] much yron for the naples of the doores and of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight, c To wit, which weighed fiftie thekels of gold, 2. Chron. 3. 9.

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid saide, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and wee must build an house for the Lord, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to builde an house for the Lorde God of Israel.

7 And Dauid sayde to Salomon, * My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

* 2. Sam. 7. 13.

8 But the word of the Lorde came to me, saying, * [d] Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not builde an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

* Chap. 28. 3.

d This declareth how greatly God detesteth the shedding of blood, seeing Dauid for this cause is staied to build the Temple of the Lord, albeit he enterprised no warre, but by Gods commandement and against his enemies.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest, for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 * He shal build an house for my Name, and he shall be my sonne, and I will bee his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer.

* 2. Sam. 7. 13. 1. King. 5. 5.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lorde shall be with thee, and thou shalt [e] prosper, and thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

e He sheweth that there can be no prosperity, but when the Lord is with vs.

12 Onely the Lorde giue thee [f] wisedome and vnderstanding, and giue thee charge ouer Israel, euen to keepe the Law of the Lord thy God.

f These are only the meanes whereby Kings gouerne their subiects aright, and whereby the realmes do prosper and flourish.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take heede to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lorde commanded Moses for Israel: bee strong and of good courage: feare not, neyther be afraid.

14 For behold, according to my [g] powertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lorde an hundreth thousand talents of golde, and a thousand thousande talents of siluer, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timber and stone, and thou mayest prouide thereto.

g For Dauid was poore in respect of Salomon.

15 Moreouer

15 Moreouer thou hast workemen with ‖Or, Masons and carpenters. thee ynough, ‖ hewers of stone, & workemen for timber, and all men expert in euery worke.

16 Of golde, of siluer, and of brasse, and of yron there is no number: [b] Up therefore, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee.

b That is, go about it quickly.

17 Dauid also commanded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, saying, 18 Is not the Lorde your God with you, and hath giuen you rest on euery side? for hee hath giuen the [i] inhabitants of the lande into mine hand, and the lande is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

i The nations round about.

19 Now set [k] your hearts and your soules to seeke the Lorde your God, and arise, and build the Sanctuarie of the Lorde God to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde, and the holy vessels of God into the house built for the Name of the Lord.

k Foreels he knewe that God would plague them, and not prosper their labours except they sought with all their hearts to set forth his glorie.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordeineth Salomon King. 3 He casteth the Leuites to bee numbred, 4 And assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the his Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

SO when Dauid was old and full of dayes, [*] hee made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

*1. King. 1. 30.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were numbred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their number according to their summe was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these foure and twentie thousande were set to ‖ aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, and sixe thousand were ouerseers and iudges.

‖Or, to haue care ouer.

5 And foure thousande were porters, and foure thousand praysed the Lorde with instruments which † he made to prayse the Lord.

†The. I made, meaning Dauid.

6 *So Dauid deuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to *Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

*Chap. 6. 1. *Exod. 6. 17.

7 Of the Gershonites were ‖ Laadan and Shimei.

‖Or, Libni, Chap. 6. 17.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Iehiel, and Zetham and Joel, three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haram, three: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimei were Jahath, Zina, Jeush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

‖Or, Zina.

11 And Jahath was the chiefe, and ‖ Zizah the second, but Jeush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father counted but as one.

12 ¶ The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel, foure.

*Exod. 2. 2. and 6. 20. heb. 5. 4. 5.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moses: and Aaron was separated to [a] sanctifie the most holy place, hee and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to bless in his Name for euer.

a That is, to serue in the most holy place and to consecrate the holy things.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God, and his children were named with the [b] tribe of Leui.

b They were but of the order of the Leuites and not of the Priests, as Aarons sonnes.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of *Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

*Exod. 2. 22. and 18. 3.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the [c] chiefe, for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

c The Scripture vseth to call chiefe or the first borne, although he be alone and there be none borne after, Matth. 1. 25.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekamiam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Uzziel were Michah the first, and Isshiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar dyed, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their [d] brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

d Meaning, their cousins.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lorde from the age of [e] twentie yeeres and aboue.

e Dauid did chuse the Leuites twise, first at the age of thirtie, as vers. 3. and againe afterward at 20. as the necessitie of the office did require: at the beginning they had no charge in the Temple, therefore they were fiue and twentie yeere olde, & had none after fiftie, Numb. 4. 3.

25 For Dauid sayd, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for euer.

26 And also the Lenites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last wordes of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred from twentie yeere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lorde in the courtes, and chambers, and in the [f] purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God, f In washing and cleansing all the holy vessels.

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine floure, for the meate offring, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fryed things, and for that which was rosted, and for all measures and esse.

30 And for to stande euery morning, to giue thankes and to prayse the Lorde, likewise at euen,

31 And to offer all burnt offrings vnto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the moneths, and at the appointed times, according to the number and according to their cuſtome continually before the Lord, 32 And that they ſhoulde keepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the ſonnes of Aaron their brethren in the ſeruice of the houſe of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Dauid aſſigneth offices vnto the ſonnes of Aaron.

THeſe are alſo the *diuiſions of the ſonnes of Aaron: The ſonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abiu died [a] before their father, and had no children: therfore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Prieſts office.

3 And Dauid diſtributed them, euen Zadok of the ‖ ſonnes of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the ſonnes of Ithamar according to their offices in their miniſtration.

9 And the people reioyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly vnto the Lord, with a [f] perfite heart. And Dauid the king also * reioyced with great ioy.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the congregation, and Dauid sayde, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of [g] Israel our father, for euer and euer.

11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse and power, and glorie, and victorie and prayse: for all that is in heauen and earth is thine: thine is is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should bee able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things [h] come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE CHRONICLES.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis second booke conteineth breifly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two books of the kings that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set foorth more copiously then in the bookes of the kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly kings, when they saw the palgues of GOD prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lorde, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remoued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, howe the good Rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his religion throughout all his dominions, & contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatry and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe actes from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the wole, three thousand, fiue hnndreth, three score and eighteene yeres, and fixe moneths.

CHAP. I.

1 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 He prayeth vnto God to giue him wisedome. 11 Which hee giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charets and horses, 15 and of his riches.

NOw Salomon the sonne of Dauid was ‖ confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was w him, and magnified him highly.

w That is, he was with him.

2 And Salomon a spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreds, and to all the gouernours in al Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

a That is, he proclaimed a solemne sacrifice, and commanded that all should be at the same.

3 So Salomon and all the congregation with him went to the hie place that was at b Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle c of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lorde had made in the wilderneſſe.

b Reade 1. kin. 3. 4.

c So called because that God thereby shewed certaine signes to the congregation, of his presence.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lorde vpon the brasen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the congregation: *euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

*1.King.3.4.

7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon sayd vnto GOD, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, and hast made me to reigne in his steade.

9 Nowe therefore, O Lorde God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be [e] true: for thou hast made mee king ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

e Performe thy promise made to my father concerning me.

10 Giue me now wisedome & knowledge that I may [f] goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

f That I may gouerne this people, reade 1. Chro. 27. 1. and 2. king. 3. 7.

11 And God sayd to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisedome and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee king, g That is, to be reuenged on thine enemies.

12 Wisedom & knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place, that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

*1.King.10.26.

14 *And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundreth charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the [h] charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

h Which were cities appointed to keepe and maintaine the charets.

THen Salomon determined to builde an house for the Name of the Lorde, and an ‖ house for his kingdome.

2 And Salomon tolde out seuentie thousand that bare burdens, & fourescore thousand men to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and [a] sixe hundreth to ouersee them.

a Which is to be vnderstood of all sort of officers and ouerseers: for else the chiefe officers were but 3300, as 1. king. 5. 16.

3 And Salomon sent to ‖Huram the king of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, and * didst send him Ceder trees to builde him an house to dwell in, so doe to me.

‖Or, Hiram. *2. Sam. 5. 11.

4 Behold, I build an house vnto the name of the Lord my God, to sanctifie it vnto him, & to burne sweete incense before him, and for the continuall shewbread, & for the burnt offrings of the morning and euening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the newe moneths, and in the solemne feastes of the Lorde our God: this is a perpetuall thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I builde, is great for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is he then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? who am I then that I should build him an house? but I do it to burne [b] incense before him.

b That is, to doe the seruice which he hath commanded, signifying, that none is able to honour and serue God in that perfection as his maiestie deserueth.

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in siluer, and in brasse, and in yron, and in purple, and ‖ crimosin and blue silke and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with mee in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whome Dauid my father hath prepared.

8 Send me also Cedar trees, firre trees and [c] ‖Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I knowe that thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and behold, my seruants shal be with thine, 9 That they may prepare me timber in aboundance: for the house which I doe build, is great and wonderfull.

10 And behold, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber twentie thousand † measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousand measures of barely, & twentie thousand baths of wine, and twenty [d] thousand baths of oyle.

d Of bath reade 1. kin 7. 26. it is called also Epha: but Epha is to measure dry things, as Bath is a measure for licours.

11 Then Huram king of Tyrus answered in writing which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, hee hath made thee king ouer them.

12 Huram sayd moreouer, Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the king a [e] wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to builde an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

e The wise heathen confessed that it was a singular gift of God, when he gaue to any nation a king that was wise and of vnderstanding. albeit it appeareth that this Hiram had the true knowledge of God.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hurams,

14 The son of a woman of the [f] daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skill to worke in golde, in siluer, in brasse, f It is also written, that she was of the tribe of Naphtali. 1. kin. 7. 14. which may be vnderstood that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which they began to be, they married in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphtali

15 Now therefore the wheat and the barley, the oyle and the wine, which my lorde hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in ‖ rafts by the sea to ‖ Japho, so thou mayest carry them to Ierusalem.

‖ Or, ships. ‖ Or, Ioppe.

17 ¶ And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father Dauid had numbred them: and they were founde an hundreth and three and fiftie thousand, and fiue hundreth.

18 And he set seuentie thousand of them to the burden, and foure score thousande to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand & fiue hundreth ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lord, and the Porch are builded with other things thereto belonging. 6.

1 SO * Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount [a] Moriah which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing floore of * Ornan the Iebusite.

* 2. King. 6. 1.

a Which is the mountain where Abraham thought to haue sacrificed his sonne, Gen. 22. 2. * 2. Sam. 24. 16, 18.

2 And hee beganne to builde in the seconde moneth and the second day, in the fourth yeere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubites after the first [b] measure was three score cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:

b According to the whole length of the Temple, vnderstanding the most holy place with the rest.

4 And the porch, that was before the length in the front [c] of the breadth was twentie cubits, and the height was an [d] hundreth and twentie, and he ouerlayde it within with pure gold.

c It contained as much as did the breadth of the temple, 1. Kin. 6. 3.

d From the foundation to the toppe in the booke of kings mention is made from the foundation to the first stage.

5 And the greater house he sieled with firre tree which he ouerlaid with good gold, and grauen thereon palme trees and chaines.

6 And he ouerlayd the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of [e] Paruaim.

e Some thinke it is that place which is called Peru.

7 The house, I say the beames, posts, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlayd he with gold, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites: and the breadth thereof twentie cubites, and he ouerlaid it with the best golde, of fiue hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of the nayles was fiftie shekels of gold, and he ouerlayd the Chambers with gold.

10 ¶ And in the house of the most holy place hee made two Cherubims wrought like children, and ouerlayd them with gold.

11 * And the wings of the Cherubims were twentie cubites long: the one wing was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub,

* 1. King. 6. 24.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twentie cubites: they stoode on their feete, and their faces were toward the house.

14 ¶ He made also [f] the vaile of blewe silke and purple, and crimosin, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

f Which separated the Temple from the most holy place.

15 ¶ And hee made before the house two pillars [g] of fiue and thirtie cubites hie: and the chapiter that was vpon the top of eche of them was fiue cubites.

g Euery one was 18. cubites long but the halfe cubite could not be seene: for it was hid in the roundnes of the chapiter, & therefore he giueth to euery one but 17. and an halfe.

16 He made also chaines for the oracle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an [h] hundreth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

h For euery pillar an hundreth, reade 1. kin. 7. 20

17 And hee set vp the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hande and the other on the left, and called that on the right hande Iachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The altar of Brasse. 2 The molten sea. 6 The caldrons 7 The candlesticks, &c.

AND he made an altar of brasse twenty cubites long, and twentie cubites broad, and ten cubites hie.

2 And he made a molten [a] Sea of tenne cubites from brimme to brimme, rounde in compasse, and fiue cubites hie: and a line of thirtie cubites did compasse it about.

a A great dessell of brasse, so called, because of ‖ great quantitie of water, which it contained, 1. King. 7. 23.

3 And vnder [b] it was the facion of oxen, which did compasse it rounde about, [c] tenne in a cubitie compalling the sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast when he it was molten.

b Meaning vnder the brimme of the dessel, as 1. kin. 7. 24.

c In the length of euery cubite were ten heads or knops which in all are three hundred.

5 And the thinkenesse thereof was an hand breadth, & the brim thereof was like the worke of the brim of a cuppe, which floures of ‖ lilies: it contained [d] three thousand baths.

d In the first booke of Kings, Chap. 7. 26. mention is onely made of two thousand: but the lesse number was taken there, and here according as the measures procede afterward is declared.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put fiue on the right hand, and fiue one the left, to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which apperteined appertained to the burnt offerings: but the sea was for the Priests to wash in.

7 ¶ And he made ten candlesticks of gold (according to [c] their forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 ¶ And he made ten tables, and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left: and he made an hundreth basens of golde.

9 And he made the court of the Priests, and the great [f] court and doores for the court, and overlayde the doores thereof with brasse.

10 And he set the sea on the right side eastward toward the south.

11 And Huram made ‖ pottes and besoms and basens, and Huram finished the worke that hee shoulde make for King Salomon for the house of God,

13 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranats for euery grate to couer the two bowls of the chapiters, that were vpon the pillars.

14 He made also bases, and made caldrons vpon the bases:

15 And a sea, and twelue bulles vnder it.

16 Pots also and besoms, and fleshhookes. and all these vessels made Huram [g] his father, to king Salomon for the house of the Lord, of shining brasse.

17 In the plaine of Iorden did the King cast them in clay betweene Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made all the vesselles that were for the house of god: the golden altar also & the tables wheron the [h] shewbread stood.

20 Moreouer the candlestickes, with their lampes to burne them after the maner, before the oracle of pure golde.

21 And the floures and the lampes, and the snuffers of golde, which was fine golde.

22 And the ‖ hookes, and the basens, and the spoones, and the ashpans of pure golde: the entrie also of the house and doores thereof within, euen of the most holy place: and the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple were [i] of gold.

CHAP. V.

1 The things dedicated by Dauid are put in the Temple. 2 The Arke is brought into the Temple. 10 What was within it. 12 They sing praise to the Lord.

SO * was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lorde, and Salomon brought in the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the gold, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heades of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the king at the [b] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the Arke.

5 And they caried vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not be tolde nor numbred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most Holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drewe out the barres, that the endes of the barres might bee seene out of the Arke before the Oracle. but they were not seene ‖ without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, saue [d] the two Tables which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

13 And they were [f] as one, blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sounde to bee heard in praysing and thanking the Lord, and when they lift vp their voyce with trumpets & with cymbals, and with instruments of musik, and when they praysed the Lord, singing, & For he is good, because his mercie lasteth for euer) then the house, euen the house of the Lorde was

9 Notwithſtanding thou ſhalt not builde the houſe, but thy ſonne which ſhall come out of thy loynes, hee ſhall build an houſe vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that he ſpake: and I am riſen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, and am ſet on the throne of Iſrael as the Lorde promiſed, and haue built an houſe to the Name of the Lorde God of Iſrael.

b Meaning, the two Tables, wherein is contained the effect of the couenant, that God made with our fathers.

11 And I haue ſet the Arke there, wherein is the [b] couenant of the Lorde, that hee made with the children of Iſrael.

12 ¶ And the king [c] ſtood before the altar of the Lorde, in the preſence of all the Congregation of Iſrael, and ſtretched out his hands, c On a ſcaffold that was made for that purpoſe, that he praying for the whole people might be heard of all, as 1.King.8.22.

13 (For Salomon had made a braſen ſcaffold and ſet it in the middes of the court, of fiue cubits long, and fiue cubites broade, and three cubites of height, and vpon it hee ſtoode, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Iſrael, and [d] ſtretched out his hands toward heauen)

d Both to giue thankes for the great benefites of God beſtowed vpon him, and alſo to pray for the perſeuerance and proſperitie of his people.

14 And ſaid, O Lord God of Iſrael, * there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepeſt couenant, and mercie vnto thy ſeruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

*2.Mac.2.8.

15 Thou that haſt kept with thy ſeruant Dauid my father, that thou haſt promiſed him: for thou ſpakeſt with thy mouth, & haſt fulfilled it with thine ‖ hand, as appeareth this day.

‖Or, in effect, or by thy power.

16 Therefore now Lorde God of Iſrael, keepe with thy ſeruant Dauid my father, that thou haſt promiſed him, ſaying, Thou † ſhalt not want a man in my ſight, that ſhall ſit vpon the throne of Iſrael: ſo that thy ſonnes take heede to their wayes, to walke in my Law, as thou haſt walked before me.

†Ebr. a man ſhall not be cut off.

17 And now, O Lorde God of Iſrael, let thy worde be verified, which thou ſpakeſt vnto thy ſeruant Dauid.

18 (Is it true in deede that God wil dwel with man on earth: behold, the * heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to conteine thee: how much more vnable is this houſe, which I haue built:)

*1.Kin.8.27.

19 But haue thou reſpect to the prayer of thy ſeruant, and to his ſupplication, O Lorde my God, to heare the cry and prayer which thy ſeruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine [e] eyes may be open toward this houſe day and night, euen toward the place, whereof thou haſt ſayde, that thou wouldeſt put thy Name there, that thou mayeſt hearken vnto the prayer, which thy ſeruant prayeth in this place.

e That thou mayeſt declare in effect, that thou haſt a continuall care ouer this place.

21 Heare thou therefore the ſupplication of thy ſeruant, and of thy people Iſrael, which they pray in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, euen in heauen, and when thou heareſt, be mercifull.

22 ¶ * When a man ſhall ſinne againſt his [f] neighbour, and hee lay vpon him an othe to cauſe him to ſweare, and the † ſwearer ſhall come before thine altar in this houſe, 23 Then heare thou in heauen, and doe, and iudge thy ſeruants, in recompenſing the wicked to bring his wayes vpon his heade, and in iuſtifying the righteous, to giue him according to his righteouſneſſe.

g Meaning, to giue him that which he hath deſerued.

24 ¶ And when thy people Iſrael ſhall be ouerthrowen before the enemie, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt thee, and turne againe, and ‖ confeſſe thy Name, and pray, and make ſupplication before thee in this houſe,

‖Or, prayſe.

25 Then heare thou in heauen, and be mercifull vnto the ſinne of thy people Iſrael, and bring them againe vnto the lande which thou gaueſt to them and to their fathers.

26 When heauen ſhalbe ſhut vp, and there ſhall be no rayne, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt thee, and ſhall pray in this place, and confeſſe thy Name, and ‖ turne from their ſinne, when thou doeſt afflict them.

‖Or, toward this place.

27 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the ſinne of thy ſeruants, and of thy people Iſrael (when thou haſt taught them the good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon thy land, which thou haſt giuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

*Chap. 20. 9.

28 ¶ *When there ſhall be famine in the land, when there ſhalbe peſtilence, blaſting, or mildew, when there ſhall be graſhopper, or caterpiller, when their enemie ſhall beſiege them †in the cities of their lande, or any plague or any ſickeneſſe, †Ebr. in the land of their gates.

29 Then what prayer and ſupplication ſo euer ſhalbe made of any man, or of all thy people Iſrael, when euery one ſhall knowe his owne plague, and his owne diſeaſe, and ſhall ſtretch forth his hands toward this houſe,

30 Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and bee mercifull, and giue euery man according vnto all his wayes, as thou doeſt know his [h] heart (for thou onely knoweſt the hearts of the children of men)

h He declareth that the prayers of hypocrites can not be heard, nor of any but of them, which pray vnto God with an vnfained faith and in true repentance.

31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the lande which thou gaueſt vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreouer, as touching the ſtranger which is not of thy people Iſrael, who ſhall come out of a farre countrey for thy great Names ſake, and thy mightie hand, and thy ſtretched out arme: when they ſhall come and [i] pray in this houſe, i He ſheweth that before God there is no acception of perſon, but all people that feareth him and worketh righteouſneſſe, is accepted, Act. 10. 35.

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and doe according to all that the ſtranger calleth for vnto thee, that all the people of the earth may know thy Name, and feare thee like thy people Iſrael, & that they may knowe, that thy Name is called vpon in this houſe which I haue built.

34 ¶ When thy people ſhall goe out to battell againſt their enemies, by the way that [k] thou ſhalt ſende them, and they pray to thee, ‖ in the way towarde this citie which thou haſt choſen euen towarde the houſe which I haue built to thy Name.

k Meaning, that none ought to enterpriſe any warre, but at the Lords commandement, that is, which is lawfull by his word.

‖ Or, according to the maner of this citie.

35 Then heare thou in heauen thir prayer and their ſupplication, & iudge their cauſe.

36 If they ſinne againſt thee (*for there is no man that ſinneth not) and thou bee angry with them and deliuer them vnto the enemies, and they take them and cary them away captiue vnto a land farre or neere,

*1. King. 8. 46. eccles. 7. 22. 1. ioh. 1. 8.

‖ Or, repent.

37 If they ‖ turne againe to their heart in the lande whither they bee caried in captiues, and turne and pray vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie, ſaying, Wee haue ſinned, wee haue tranſgreſſed and haue done wickedly,

38 If they turne againe to thee with all their heart, and with all their ſoule in the lande of their captiuitie, whither they haue caryed them captiues, & pray toward their land, which thou gaueſt vnto their fathers, and toward the citie which thou haſt choſen, and towarde the houſe which I haue built for thy Name, 39 Then heare thou in heauen, in the place of thine habitation their prayer and their ſupplication, and ‖ iudge their cauſe, and be mercifull vnto thy people, which haue ſinned againſt thee.

‖ Or, maintaine their right.

40 Now my God, I beſeech thee, let thine eyes bee open, and thine eares attent vnto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 *Nowe therefore ariſe, O Lord God, [l] to come into thy reſt, thou, and the Arke of thy ſtrength: O Lorde God, let thy Prieſts be clothed with [m] ſaluation, and let thy thy Saintes reioyce in goodneſſe.

42 O Lorde God, refuſe not the face of [n] thine anoynted: remember the mercies promiſed to Dauid thy ſeruant.

n Heare my prayer which am thine anoynted King.

CHAP. VII.

1 The fire conſumeth the ſacrifice. 2 The glory of the Lord filleth the Temple. 12 He heareth his prayer, 17 and promiſeth to exalt him and his throne.

AND * when Salomon had made an ende of praying, [a] fire came downe from heauen, & conſumed the burnt offring & the ſacrifices: and the glory of the Lorde filled the houſe, a Hereby God declared that he was pleaſed with Salomons prayer.

*2. Mac. 2. 10.

2 So that the Prieſts could not enter into the houſe of the Lorde, becauſe the glory of the Lord had filled the Lords houſe.

3 And when all the children of Iſrael ſaw the fire, and the glory of the Lord come downe vpon the houſe, they bowed themſelues with their faces to the earth vpon the pauement, and worſhipped and prayſed the Lord, ſaying, For he is good, becauſe his mercie laſteth for euer.

4 *Then the King and all the people offred ſacrifices before the Lord.

*1. Kin. 8. 62, 63.

5 And king Salomon offred a ſacrifice of two and twentie thouſand bullockes, and an hundreth and twentie thouſande ſheepe, ſo the King and all the people dedicated the houſe of God.

6 And the Prieſts waited on their offices, and the Leuites with the inſtrumentes of muſicke of the Lord, which king Dauid had made to prayſe the Lord, Becauſe his mercie laſteth for euer: when Dauid praiſed God † by them, the Prieſtes alſo blewe trumpets ouer againſt them: and all they of Iſrael ſtood by,

†Ebr. by their hands.

7 Moreouer Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the houſe of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offrings, and the fat of the peace offerings, becauſe the braſen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue the burnt offering, and the meate offring, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made [b] a feaſt at that time of ſeuen dayes, and all Iſrael with him, a very great Congregation, from the entring in of of Hamath, vnto the riuer of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they [c] made a solemne assemblie: for they had made the dedication of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

10 And the [d] three and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, hee sent the people away into their tents, ioyous and with glad heart, because of the goodnesse that the Lord had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, & the Kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord *appeared to Salomon by night and sayde to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there bee no raine, or if I commaund the grashopper to deuoure the lande, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my Name is called vpon, doe humble themselues, and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen, and bee mercifull to their sinne, and will [e] heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shalbe open and mine eares attent vnto ỹ prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before mee, as Dauid thy father walked, to doe according vnto all that I haue commaunded thee, and shalt obserue my statutes and my iudgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdome, according as I made the couenant with Dauid thy father, saying, *Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if yee turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commaundements which I haue set before you and shall goe and serue other gods, and worship them, 20 Then will I plucke them vp out of my land which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue [f] sanctified for my Name, wil I cast out of my sight, & will make it to be a prouerbe and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall bee an astonishment to euery one that passeth by it, so that hee shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answere, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the lande of Egypt, and haue taken hold on other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

c They assembled to heare the word of God, after that they had remayned seuen dayes in the boothes or Tabernacles.

2 The cities that Salomon built. 7 People that were made tributarie vnto him. 12 His sacrifices. 17 He sendeth to Ophir.

AND *after [a] twentie yeere when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Huram [b] gaue to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and ouercame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wildernesse, and repayred all [c] the cities of store which hee built in Hamath.

5 And hee built [d] Beth-horon the vpper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defensed with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charet cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and euery pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to build in Ierusalem, and in [e] Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, & the Perizzites, and the Hiuuites, and the Iebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whome the children of Israel had not consumed, euen them did Salomon make † tributaries vntill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no seruants for his worke: for they were men of warre, & his chiefe princes, & the captaines of his charets and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, euen [f] two hundreth and fiftie that bare rule ouer the people.

11 ¶ Then Salomon brought vp the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of Dauid, into the house that he had built for her: for hee sayde, My wife shall not dwell in the house of Dauid King of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came vnto it.

12 ¶ Then Salomon offred burnt offrings vnto the Lord, on the *altar of the Lord, which he had built before the porch, 13 To *offer according to the commandement of Moses ‖ euery day, in the Sabbaths, & in the new moones, and in the solemne feasts, [g] three times in the yeere, that is, in the feast of the Vnleauened bread, and in the feast of the Weekes, and in the feast of the Tabernacles.

15 And they declined not from the commandement of ỹ king, concerning the Priests and the Leuites, touching all things, and touching the treasures.

16 ¶ Now Salomon had made prouision for all the [h] worke, from the day of the foundation of the house of the Lorde, vntill it was finished: so the house of the Lord was perfite.

h Both for the matter, and also for the workes manship.

17 Then went Salomon to Ezion-geber, and to Eloth by the [i] sea side in the land of Edom.

i Meaning, the red Sea.

18 And Huram sent him by the handes of his seruants, shippes, and seruants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the seruants of Salomon to Ophir, and brought thence [k] foure hundreth and fiftie talents of golde, and brought them to King Salomon.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Queene of Sheba commeth to see Salomon and bringeth gifts. 13 His yeerely reuenues. 30 The time of his reigne. 31 His death.

*1. King. 10. 1. mat. 12. 42. luke 11. 31.

AND * when the Queene of Sheba heard of ỹ fame of Salomon, she came to [a] proue Salomon with hard questions at Ierusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours and much golde, and precious stones: and when shee came to Salomon, shee communed with him of all ỹ was in her heart.

a To know whether his wisedome were so great as the report was.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was [b] nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

b There was no question so hard that he did not resolue.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba sawe the wisedome of Salomon, and the house that hee had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his wayters, and their apparell; and his butlers, and their apparell, and his ‖ burnt offrings which he offred in the house of the Lord, and shee was † greatly astonied.

† Ebr. there was no more spirit in her.

5 And shee said to the king, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy ‖ sayings, and of thy wisedome:

‖ Or, acts.

6 Howbeit I beleeued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and beholde, the one halfe of thy great wisedome was not tolde mee: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happie are thy men, and happie are these thy seruants, which stande before thee alway, and heare thy wisedome.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his [c] throne as King, in the steade of the Lorde thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therfore hath hee made thee king ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

c Meaning, that the Israelites were Gods peculiar people, and their Kings are the lieutenants of God which ought to graunt vnto him the superioritie, and minister iustice to all.

9 Then shee gaue the King sixe score talents of golde, and of sweete odours exceeding much and precious stones: neither was there such sweete odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto king Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought [d] Algummim wood and precious stones.

d Reade Chap. 2. 8. and 1. King. 10. 11.

11 And the king made of the Algummim wood [e] staires in the house of the Lorde, and in the Kings house, and harpes and violes for singers: and there was no such seene before in the land of Iudah.

e Or, pillars: meaning, the garnishing and trimming of the stayres or pillars.

12 And king Salomon gaue to ỹ Queene of Sheba euery pleasant thing that she asked, [f] besides for that which shee had brought vnto the king: so she returned & went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruants.

f That is, which the King gaue her for recompence of that treasure which she brought.

13 ¶ Also the weight of golde that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundreth threescore and sixe talents of golde, 14 Besides that which chapmen and marchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought golde and siluer to Salomon.

15 And King Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, & [g] sixe hundreth shekels of beaten golde went to one target, g Which summe mounteth to 2400. crownes of the sunne, Budeus de asse.

16 And three hundreth shieldes of beaten golde: three hundreth [h] shekels of golde went to one shielde, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

h Or, pounds, called mina, whereof euery one seemed to make an hundreth shekels.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuorie and ouerlaid it with pure golde.

18 And the throne had sixe steppes, with a footestoole of golde [i] fastened to the throne, and stayes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lyons standing by the [k] stayes.

i That is, the steps and the footestoole were fastened to the throne.

k Vpon the pommels or knops.

19 And twelue lyons stoode there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all king Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure golde: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of [l] Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuorie, & apes, and peacocks.

l Which countrey of the best writers is thought to be Cilicia, reade 1. King. 10. 22.

22 So king Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisedome.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon to heare his wisedome that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of golde, and rayment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules from yeere to yeer.

25 And

25 And Salomon had [m] foure thousande stalles o horses, and charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome he bestowed in the charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

m That is, ten horses in euery stable, which in all mount to forty thousand, as 1. King. 4. 26.

26 And hee reigned ouer all the Kings from the ‖ Riuer euen vnto the lande of the Philistims, and to the border of Egypt.

*1. King. 12. 1. [a] After the death of Salomon.

THen * Reboboam [a] went to Shechem: for to Shechem came all Israel to make him King.

2 And when Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whither he had fledde from the presence of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Reboboam, saying,

b That is, handled vs cruely. It seemeth ỳ God hardened their hearts, so that they thus murmured without cause: which declareth also the inconstancie of the people.

4 Thy father [b] made our yoke grieuous: now therefore make thou the grieuous seruitude of thy father, and his yoze yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And hee sayde to them, Depart yet three dayes, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And King Reboboam tooke counsell with ỳ old men that had stand before Salomon his father, while hee yet liued, saying, What counsel giue ye ỳ I may answere this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them, and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But hee left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the yong men that were brought vp with him, and [c] waited on him.

c Or, that stood by him, that is, which were of his counsell and secretes.

9 And hee saide vnto them, What counsell giue yee, that wee may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make ỳ yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answere the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My [d] least part shalbe bigger then my fathers loynes.

d Or, little finger: meaning, that he was of farre greater power then was his father.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I wil yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with ‖ scourges.

‖ Or, scorpions.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Reboboam the third day, as the King had appointed saying, Come againe to mee the third day.

13 And the king answered them sharpely: and king Reboboam left the counsell of the ancient men, 14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the [e] ordinance of God that the Lorde might performe his saying, which hee had spoken † by Ahiiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

e Gods will impoleth such a necessitie to the second causes, that nothing can be done but according to the same, and yet mans will worketh as of it selfe, so that it can not be excused in doing euill by alledging that it is Gods ordinance.

16 So when all Israel sawe that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, * What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Ishai. O Israel, euery man to your tentes: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

*1. King. 12. 16.

17 Howbeit Reboboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.

18 Then King Reboboam sent Hadoram that was ‖ ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that hee died: then king Reboboam † made speede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Reboboam is forbidden to fight against Ieroboam. 5 Cities which hee built. 21 Hee hath eighteene wiues, and threescore concubines, and by them eight and twentie sonnes and threescore daughters.

AND * when Reboboam was come to Ierusalem, hee gathered of the house of Iudah † [a] Beniamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against [b] Israel, and to bring the kingdome againe to Reboboam.

*1. King. 12. 20, 21.

a That is, the halfe tribe of Beniamin: for the other halfe was gone after Ieroboam.

b Meaning, the ten tribes which rebelled.

2 But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Reboboam, the sonne of Salomon King of Iudah, and to all Israel that are in Iudah, and Beniamin, saying,

4 Thus saith the Lorde, Yee shall not goe vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euery man to his house: for this thing is done of mee. They obeyed therefore the worde of the Lord, and returned from going against Ieroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and [c] built strong cities in Judah.

[c] Or, repayred them and made them strong, to be more able to resist Jeroboam.

6 Hee built also Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, & Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Mareshа, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, and Lachish, and Azekah.

10 And Zorah, and Aialon, and Hebron, which were in Judah and Beniamin, strong cities.

11 And hee ‖ repayred the strong holdes and put captaines in them, and store of vitaile, and oyle and wine.

‖ Or, strengthened.

12 And in all cities hee put shieldes and speares, and made them exceeding strong: so Judah and Beniamin were his.

13 ¶ And the Priestes and the Leuites that were in all Israel, † resorted vnto him out of all their coasts.

† Ebr. stoode.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbs and their possession, and came to Judah and to Jerusalem: * for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priestes office vnto the Lord.

* Chap. 13. 9.

15 * And hee ordeined him Priests for the hie places, and for the [d] deuils & for the calues which he had made.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Jerusalem of all ỹ tribes of Israel, such as set their [e] hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

e Which were zealous of true religion, and feared God.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Judah, & made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mightie, three yeere long: for three yeere they [f] walked in ỹ way of Dauid & Salomon.

f So long as they feared God, and set forth his word, they prospered.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Jishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Jeush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiiah, and Atthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eighteene wiues, and three score concubines, & begate eight and twentie sonnes, and three score daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made Abiiah ỹ sonne of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make him king.

[g] Called also Abiiam, who reigned three yeere, 1. King. 15. 2.

23 And hee taught him: and dispersed all his sonnes throughout all the countreys of Judah and Beniamin vnto euery strong citie: and hee gaue them abundance of vitaile, and [h] desired many wiues.

h He gaue himselfe to haue many wiues.

CHAP. XII.

1 Rehoboam forsaketh the Lorde, and is punished by Shishak. 5 Shemaiah reprooueth him. 6 Hee humbleth himselfe. 7 God sendeth him succour. 9 Shishak taketh his treasures. 13 His reigne and death. 16 Abiiah his sonne succeedeth him.

AND when ‖ Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, he forsooke the Lawe of the Lorde, and [a] all Israel with him.

‖ Or, when the Lord had established Rehoboams kingdome.

a For such is the inconstancie of the people, that for the most part they followe the vices of their gouernours.

2 Therefore in the fift yeere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came vp against Jerusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

3 With twelue hundreth charets, & three score thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen the Lubims, [b] Sukkiims, and the ‖ Ethiopians.

b Which were a people of Africa called the Troglodites, because they dwelled in holes.

‖ Or, blacke Moores.

4 And hee tooke the strong cities which were of Judah, and came vnto Jerusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, & to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together in Hierusalē, because of Shishak, and said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, [c] therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

c Signifying, that no calamity can come vnto vs except we forsake God, and that he neuer leaueth vs till wee haue cast him off.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the king humbled themselues, and said, The Lord is [d] iust.

d And therefore doeth iustly punish you for your sinnes.

7 And when the Lorde saw that they humbled themselues, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled themselues, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not † be powred out vpon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.

e He sheweth that Gods punishments are not to destroy his vtterly, but to chastise them, to bring them to the knowledge of themselues, and to knowe how much better it is to serue God then tyrants.

9 ¶ Then Shishak king of Egypt came vp against Jerusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lorde, and the treasures of the kings house: he tooke euen all, and hee caried away the shieldes of golde, * which Salomon had made.

11 And when the king entred into the house of the Lorde, the garde came and bare them and brought them againe vnto the garde chamber.

12 And because hee [f] humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lorde turned from him, that hee woulde not destroy altogether. And also in

CHAP. XIII.

*1 Abiiah maketh warre againſt Ieroboam. 4 He ſheweth the occaſion. 12 He truſteth in the Lorde and ouercometh Ieroboam. 21 Of his wiues and children.

IN the eighteeneth yeere of king Ieroboam began Abiiah to reigne ouer a Iudah.

2 He reigned three yere in Ieruſalem (his mothers name alſo was b Michaiah the daughter of c Uriel of Gibea) and there was warre betweene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abiiah ſet the battell in aray with the armie of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundreth thouſand choſen men, Ieroboam alſo ſet the battell in aray againſt him with eight hundreth thouſande choſen men which were ſtrong and valiant.

4 And Abiiah ſtoode vp vpon mount d Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and ſaid, O Ieroboam, & all Iſrael, heare you mee.

5 Ought you not to knowe that the Lord God of Iſrael hath giuen the kingdome ouer Iſrael to e Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his ſonnes by a couenant f of ſalt?

6 And Ieroboam the ſonne of Nebat the ſeruant of Salomon the ſonne of Dauid is riſen vp, and hath *rebelled againſt his Lorde:

7 And there are gathered to him s vaine men and † wicked, and made themſelues ſtrong againſt Rehoboam the ſonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was h but a childe and ‖ *tender hearted, and could not reſiſt them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to reſiſt againſt the kingdome of the Lorde, which is in the handes of the ſonnes of Dauid, and yee bee a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 *Haue yee not driuen away the Prieſts of the Lorde the ſonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you Prieſts like the people of other countries? whoſoeuer commeth to † conſecrate with a i yong bullocke and ſeuen rammes, the ſame may be a prieſt of them that are no gods.

10 But wee belong vnto the Lorde our God, and haue not forſaken him, and y prieſtes the ſonnes of Aaron miniſter vnto the Lorde, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lorde euery k morning and euery euening burnt offerings and ſweete incenſe, and the bread is ſet in order vpon the pure Table, and the candleſticke of gold with the lampes thereof, to burne euery euening: for we keepe the watch of the Lorde our God: but ye haue forſaken him.

12 And behold this God l is with vs as a captaine, and his prieſtes with the ſounding trumpets, to crie an alarme againſt you. O yee children of Iſrael, fight not againſt the Lorde GOD of your fathers: for ye ſhall not proſper.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam cauſed an ambuſhment m to compaſſe, and come behinde them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambuſhment behinde them.

14 Then Iudah looked and beholde, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the prieſts blew with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudah gaue a ſhoute: and euen as the men of Iudah ſhouted, God ‖ ſmote Ieroboam and alſo Iſrael before Abiiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Iſrael fled before Iudah, and GOD deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiiah and his people ſlew a great ſlaughter of them, ſo that there fell downe wounded of Iſrael fiue hundreth thouſand choſen men.

18 So the children of Iſrael were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, n becauſe they ſtayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abiiah purſued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, euen Bethel, and the † villages thereof, and Ieſhanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no ſtrength againe in the dayes of Abiiah, but the Lorde plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abiiah waxed mightie, and married foureteene wiues, and begate two and twenty ſonnes, and ſixteene daughters.

So

SO * Abiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the Citie of Dauid, and Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in those dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he took away the altars of ỹ strange gods and the hie places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the [a] groues,

4 And commanded Judah to seeke ỹ Lorde God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the commandement.

5 And he tooke away out of all the cities of Judah the hie places, and the images: therfore the kingdome was [b] quiet before him.

6 He built also strong cities in Judah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lorde had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore hee sayde to Judah, Let vs builde these cities and make walles about, and towers, gates, and barres, while the land is [c] before vs: because we haue sought the Lord our God, we haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Judah that bare shields and speares, three hundreth thousand, and of Beniamin that bare shields and bowes, two hundreth and fourescore thousand: al these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against them Zerah [d] of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundreth thousand, and three hundred charets, and came vnto [e] Mareshah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephathah beside Mareshah.

11 And Asa cryed vnto the Lorde his God, and said, Lord, * it is nothing with thee, to help ‖ with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for wee rest on thee, and in thy Name are we come against this multitude: O Lord thou art our God, [f] let not man preuaile against thee.

12 ¶ So the Lorde smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians host was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his holte: and they caryed away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the [g] feare of the Lorde came vpon them, and they spoyled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattel, and caried away plentie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XV.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together, to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

THen the Spirite of God came vpon [a] Azariah the sonne of Obed.

a Who was called Obed, as his father was, verse 8.

2 And he went to meete Asa, and sayde vnto him, O Asa, and all Judah, and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, hee will bee found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bin without the [b] true God, and without Priest to teach and without Law.

b For the space of twelue yeeres vnder Rehoboam, and three yeres vnder Abiah, religion was neglected and idolatrie planted.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he [c] was found of them.

c He sheweth, that notwithstanding the wickednesse of tyrants and their rage, yet God hath his whom he heareth in their tribulation, as he deliuered his from Zerah king of the Ethiopians, chap. 14, 9, 12. and out of all other dangers, when they called vpon the Lord.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did go out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with al aduersitie.

d Your confidence and trust in God shall not be frustrate.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your [d] worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these words, and the prophecie of Obed the Prophet, he was incouraged, & tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Judah, & Beniamin, and out of the Cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and hee renued the altar of the Lorde, that was before the Porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Judah and Beniamin, & the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, & out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they sawe that the Lord his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Jerusalem in the [e] third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

e Called Sibuan, containing part of May & part of June.

11 And they offred vnto the Lord the same time of the [f] spoyle, which they had brought, euen seuen hundreth bullockes, and seuen thousand sheepe.

f Which they had taken of the Ethiopians.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And [g] whosoeuer wil not seeke ỹ Lord God of Israel, shall be slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

g These were the words of their couenant, which commanded all idolaters to be put to death according to the Law of God. Deut. 13. 5, 9, 15.

14 And they sware vnto the Lorde with a loude voyce, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Judah reioyced at the oth: for they had sworne vnto the Lorde with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and hee was founde of them. And the Lorde gaue

16 ¶ And King Asa deposed * Maachah his [i] mother from her regencie, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa brake downe her idole and stamped it and burnt it at the brooke Kidron.

17 But the hie places were not [k] taken away out of [l] Israel: yet the heart of Asa was [m] perfite all his dayes.

18 Also he brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicate, & that he had dedicate, siluer, and gold, and vessels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the fiue and thirtieth yere of the reigne of Asa.

CHAP. XVI.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha King of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad king of Aram. 7 He is reproued by the Prophet, 10 Whom he putteth in prison. 12 He putteth his trust in the Physitians. 13 His death.

IN the fiue and thirtieth yere of the reigne of Asa came [a] * Baasha king of Israel vp against Iudah, and built [b] Ramoth to let none passe out or go in to Asa king of Iudah.

a Who reigned after Nadab the sonne of Ieroboam.

*1. King. 15. 17.

b He fortified it with walles and towres: it was a citie in Benjamin neere to Gibeon.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer & gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at ‖ Damascus, saying,

‖ Or, Darmasek.

3 There is a couenant betweene mee and thee, and betweene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, [c] breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel that he may depart from me.

c He thought to repulse his aduersarie by an vnlawful meanes, that is by seeking help of infidels, as they that seeke the Turkes amitie, thinking thereby to make themselues more strong.

4 And Benhadad hearkned vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which he had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Iudah, and caryed away the stones of Ramah, & the timber therof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at that same time, Hanani the ‖ Seer came to Asa king of Iudah, and sayd vnto him, because thou hast rested vpon the king of Aram, & not rested vpon the Lord thy God, therfore is the hoste of the king of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

‖ Or, Prophet.

9 * For the eyes of the Lord behold all the earth to shewe himselfe strong with them that are of perfite heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, & put him into a † prison: for he was [d] displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

† Ebr. prison house.

d Thus in stead of turning to God by repentance, he disdained the admonition of the Prophet, and punished him, as the wicked doe when they be tolde of their faults.

11 And beholde, the actes of Asa first and last, loe, they are written in the Booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nine & thirtieth yeere of his reigne was ‖ * diseased in his feete, and his disease was ‖ [e] exceeme: yet he sought not ỹ Lord in his disease, but to the [f] Phylitians.

‖ Or, gowtie, or swollen.

*1. King. 15. 23.

‖ Or, to the top of his head.

e God plagued his rebellion, & hereby declareth that it is nothing to beginne wel, except we so continue to the end, that is, zealous of Gods glorie, and put our whole trust in him.

f He sheweth that it is in vaine to seek to ỹ Phisitions, except first we seeke to God to purge our sinnes, which are the chiefe cause of all our diseases, and after vse helpe of the Phisitian, as a meane by whom God worketh.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fourtieth yeere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the citie of Dauid, and layed him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices, made by the art of the Apothecarie: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lorde, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He aboliſheth idolatrie, 7 And causeth the people to bee taught. 11 Hee receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions, and men of warre.

AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.

2 And hee put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lorde was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the [a] first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not [b] Baalim, a That is, his vertues: meaning, before hee had committed with Bath-sheba and against Vrias.

b Sought not helpe at strange gods.

4 But sought the Lorde God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the † trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lorde stablished the kingdome in his hande, and all Iudah brought presents to Iehoshapat, so that hee had of riches and honour in aboundance.

6 And he [c] lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lorde, and he tooke away moreouer the hie places and the groues out of Iudah.

c He gaue himselfe wholy to serue the Lord.

7 ¶ And in the third yeere of his reigne, he sent his Princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethaneel, and Michaiah, that they should [d] teach in the cities of Iudah.

d He knew it was in vaine to professe religion, except such were appointed which could instruct the people in ỹ same, and had authoritie to put away all idolatrie.

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, & Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adoniiah, and Tobiiah, and Tob-adoniiah, Leuites, and with them Elishama and Iehoram Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the Booke of the Lawe of the Lorde with them, and and went about throughout all the Cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they [e] fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphat gifts and tribute siluer, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand and seuen hundreth rammes, and seuen thousand and seuen hundreth he goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on hie: and hee built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great works in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers, in Iudah were Captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and † with him of valiant men three hundreth thousand.

15 And ‖at his hand Iehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundreth and fourescore thousand.

16 And at his hand Amaliah the sonne of Zichri, which [f] willingly offered himselfe vnto the Lord, and with him two hundreth thousand valiant men.

17 And of Beniamin, Eliada a valiant man, and with him armed men with bowe and shield two hundreth thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabad, and with him an hundreth and fourescore thousande armed to the warre.

19 These [g] waited on the king, besides those which the king put in the strong cities throughout all Iudah.

1 Iehoshaphat maketh affinitie with Ahab. 10 Foure hundreth Prophets counsell Ahab to go to warre 16 Michaiah is against them. 23 Zidkiah smiteth him. 25 The king putteth him in prison. 29 The effect of his prophecie.

AND * Iehoshaphat had riches and honor in aboundance, but he was ioyned in [a] affinitie with Ahab.

2 And after certaine [b] yeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slewe sheepe and oxen for him in great number, and for the people that he had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto [c] Ramoth Gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Israel sayde vnto Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, wilt thou goe with me to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, and we will ioyne with thee in the warre.

4 And Iehoshaphat saide vnto the King of Israel, Aske counsel, I pray thee, at the [d] word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of [e] prophets foure hundreth men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we go to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they sayde, Go vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I [f] hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto mee, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Iehoshaphat saide, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an eunuch, and said, Call quickely Michaiah the sonne of Imla.

9 ¶ And the king of Israel, & Iehoshaphat king of Iudah sate either of them on his throne clothed in their [b] apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the Prophets prophecied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [i] hornes of yron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the Prophets prophecied so, saying, Go vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophets declare good to the king with one [k] accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiah saide, As the Lorde liueth, what soeuer my God sayeth, that will I speake.

14 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king sayde vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go to Ramoth Gilead to battel, or shal I leaue off? And he sayd, [l] Go ye vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king sayd to him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tell mee nothing but the trueth in the name of the Lord?

16 Then he sayde, I sawe all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepeheard: and the Lord sayd, [m] These haue no Master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel sayde to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would not prophecie good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe hee sayde, Therefore heare yee the word of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the [n] hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the cheeke, and sayde, By what way went the spirite of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

q By this cruelte, his ambition & hypocrisie was discoured: thus the hypocrites boast of the Spirite which they haue not, and declare their malice against them in whom the true spirite is.

24 And Michaiah said, Beholde, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel said, Take yee Michaiah, and carry him to Amon the gouernour of the city, and to Joash the kings sonne.

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of r affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

29 And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, I will s change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparel. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

s Thus the wicked thinke by their owne subtilties to escape Gods iudgemẽts which he threatneth by his word.

30 And the king of Aram had commaunded the captains of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Jehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: and they compalled about him to fight. But Jehoshaphat t cried, and the Lorde helped him and mooued them to depart from him.

t He cryed to the Lord by acknowledging his fault in going with this wicked king to war against the word of the Lord by his prophet, and also by desiring mercie for the same.

32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that hee was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

After

AFter this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, and with them of the [a] Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

2 Then there came that told Iehoshaphat, saying, There commeth a great multitude against thee from beyond the [b] Sea, out of Aram: and behold, they bee in Hazzon Tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Iehoshaphat feared, and set himself [c] to seek the Lord, & proclamed a fast throughout all Iudah.

4 And Iudah gathered themselues together to aske counsell of the Lord: they came euen out of all the cities of Iudah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stoode in the Congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court,

6 And sayde, O Lorde God of our fathers art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Diddest not thou our God cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and [d] gauest it to the seede of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a sanctuarie therein for thy name, saying,

9 *If euil come vpon vs, as the [e] sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house & in thy presence (for thy name [f] is in this house) and will crie vnto thee in our tribulation and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now behold, the children of *Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whome thou wouldest not let Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in comming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherite.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that commeth against vs, neither doe we know what to do: but our eyes [g] are toward thee.

13 And all Iudah stoode [h] before the Lord with their young ones, their wiues and their children.

14 And Iahaziel the sonne of Zechariah the sonne of Benaiah, the sonne of Ieiel, the sonne of Mattaniah, a Leuite of the sonnes of Asaph, was there, vpon whome came [i] the Spirit of the Lorde, in the middest of the congregation.

15 And he sayd Hearken ye, all Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, King Iehoshaphat: thus sayeth the Lorde vnto you, Feare you not, neither be afraid for this great multitude: for the [k] battell is not yours, but Gods.

16 To morow go ye downe against them: beholde, they come vp by the clift of Ziz, and ye shall find them at the ende of the brooke before the wildernesse of Ieruel.

17 Ye shall not need to fight in this battell: *stand still, moue not, and behold the ‖ saluation of the Lorde towardes you: O Iudah, and Ierusalem, feare ye not, neither be afraide: to morrow go out against them, and the Lord wil be with you.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat [l] bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fel down before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites and of the children of the Corhites stoode vp to praise the Lord GOD of Israel with a loude voyce on hie.

20 And when they arose earely in the morning, they went forth to the wildernesse of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stoode and saide, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and yee shall be assured: beleeue his [m] Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when hee had consulted with the people, and appoynted singers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuary, in going forth before the men of armes, and saying, [n] Praise ye the Lord for his mercie lasteth for euer.

22 And when they beganne to shoute, and to praise, the Lord layd ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and [o] mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, & they slew one another, 23 For the children of Ammon and Moab rose against the inhabitantes of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an ende of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped to [p] destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernesse, they looked vnto the multitude: and beholde, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoyle of them, they found among them in aboundance both of substance and also of bodyes laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselues, till they coulde carry no more: they were three dayes ingathering of [q] the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they [q] assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 9 Iehu king of Israel killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the Kings linage. 11 Ioash escapeth.

AND * the inhabitants of Ierusalē made Ahaziah his yongest sonne king in his steade: for the armie that came with [a] the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and [b] forty yeere olde was Ahaziah when hee began to reigne, and he reigned [c] one yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter [d] of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his [e] counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab King of Israel to fight against Hazael King of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Izreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah [f] came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forth wᵗ Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, * whom the Lorde had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therfore when Iehu ‖ executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, hee slew them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah, & they caught him where hee was hid in Samaria, & brought him to Iehu, and slew him and buried him, because, sayde they, he is the sonne of [g] Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lorde with al his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to reteine the kingdome.

10 ¶ * Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sonne was dead, shee arose and [h] destroyed all the Kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the king, tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, & stale him from among the kings sonnes, that should bee slaine, and put him and his nource in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for shee was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in ỹ [i] house of God sixe yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the [k] land.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the chiefe fathers [b] of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

3 And all the Congregation made a couenant with the king in the house of God: and he said vnto them, Behold, ỹ kings sonne must reigne, * as the Lorde hath saide of the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall do, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of ỹ priests, and the Leuites, shall be porters of the doores.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lorde, saue the Priestes, and the Leuites that minister: they shall go in, for they are holy: but al the people shal keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the king round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entreth [d] into the house, shall be slaine, and be you with the king, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commanded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that [e] went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

4 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths speares, and shieldes, and bucklers which had beene king Dauids, and were in the house of God.

6 Therefore the king called Iehoiada, the [c] chiefe, and ſaid vnto him, Why haſt thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ieruſalem * the tare of Moſes the ſeruant of the Lorde, and of the Congregation of Iſrael, for the Tabernacle of the teſtimonie?

7 For [d] wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the houſe of God: and all the things that were dedicate for the houſe of the Lord, did they beſtow vpon Baalim.

8 Therefore the King commanded, * and they made a cheſt, and ſet it at the gate of the houſe of the Lord without.

9 And they made proclamation thorow Iudah and Ieruſalem, to bring vnto the Lord * the tare of Moſes the ſeruant of God, layed vpon Iſrael in the wilderneſſe.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, & brought in, and caſt into the cheſt, vntill they had finiſhed.

11 And when it was time, [e] they brought the cheſt vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they ſawe that there was much ſiluer, then the Kings Scribe (and one appointed by the hie Prieſt) came & emptied the cheſt, and tooke it, and caried it to his place againe: this they did day by day, and gathered ſiluer in abundance.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which ſlew his father. 10 He ſendeth backe them of Iſrael. 11 He ouercommeth the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatrie. 17 And Ioaſh King of Iſrael ouercommeth Amaziah. 27 He is ſlaine by a conſpiracie.

AMaziah was fiue and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twenty yere in * Ieruſalem: and his mothers name was Iehoaddan, of Ieruſalem.

2 And hee did [a] vprightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfite heart.

3 And when the kingdome was eſtabliſhed vnto him, hee ſlewe his ſeruants that had ſlaine the king his father.

4 But he ſlew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moſes, where the Lorde commanded, ſaying, * The fathers ſhall not die for the [b] children, neither ſhal the children die for the fathers, but euery man ſhall die for his owne ſinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziah aſſembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thouſands, and captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houſes of their fathers, throughout all Iudah and Beniamin: and hee numbred them from [c] twentie yeere olde and aboue, and found among them three hundred thouſand choſen men, to goe forth to the warre, and to handle ſpeare and ſhielde.

6 He hired alſo an hundred thouſand valiant men [d] out of Iſrael for an hundred talents of ſiluer.

7 But a man of God came to him, ſaying, O King, let not the armie of Iſrael goe with thee: for the Lorde is not [e] with Iſrael, neither with all the houſe of Ephraim.

8 If [f] not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy ſelfe ſtrong to the battell, but God ſhall make thee fall before the enemie: for God hath power to helpe, and to caſt downe.

9 And Amaziah ſaid to the man of God, What ſhal we do then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoſte of Iſrael? Then the man of God anſwered, The Lorde is able to [g] giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah ſeparated them, to wit, the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly againſt Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

13 But the men of the [k] armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they shoulde not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoile.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come frō the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and [l] worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to [m] deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, [n] he said vnto him, Haue they made thee the Kings counseller? cease thou: why shoulde they [o] smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but sayd, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, [p] let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash King of Israel sent to Amaziah King of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, * Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to brag: abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for [q] it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash the King of Israel went vp: and he, and Amaziah King of Iudah saw one another in the face at Bethshemeth, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the King of Israel tooke Amaziah King of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Iehoahaz in Bethshemeth, and brought him to Ierusalem, & brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundred cubits.

24 And he tooke all the golde and the siluer, and all the vessels that were founde in the house of God with [r] Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, & returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash King of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz King of Israel fifteene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

5 And hee sought God in the dayes of [c] Zechariah (which vnderstoode the visions of God) and when as [d] he sought the Lorde, God made him to prosper. c This was not that Zechariah that was ‡ sonne of Iehoiada, but some other Prophet of that name. d For God neuer forsaketh any that seeketh vnto him, & therefore man is the cause of his owne destruction.

6 For hee went forth and fought against the Philistims and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Iabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities in Ashdod, and among the Philistims.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart [i] was lift vp to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

*2. King. 15.5.

21 *And Vzziah the King was a leper vnto the day of his death, & dwelt as a leper in an [l] house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the Kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

l According to the commaundement of the Lord, Leuit. 13.46.

22 Concerning the rest of the acts of Vzziah, first and last, did Isaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

m And therefore was buried apart in the same field, but not in the same sepulchres with his predecessors.

23 So Vzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they sayd, He [m] is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Iotham reigneth, & ouercommeth the Ammonits. 8 His reigne and death. 9 Ahaz his sonne reigneth in his sted.

IOtham * was fiue & twentie yere old when hee beganne to reigne, and reigned sixteene yere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Ierushah the daughter of Zadok. * 2. King. 15.33.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lorde according to all that his father Vzziah did, saue that he entred not into the [a] Temple of the Lorde, and the people did yet [b] corrupt their wayes.

a To wit, to offer incense against the word of God, which thing is spoken in the commendation of Iotham.

b They were not cleane purged from idolatrie.

3 Hee built the hie [c] gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the castle.

c Which was six score cubits hie, and was for the height called Ophel: it was at the East gate, and mention is made of it, Chap. 33.14.

4 Moreouer hee built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the forrests he built palaces and towres.

5 And hee fought with the king of the children of Ammon, & preuailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yere an hundred talents of siluer, and ten thousand †measures of wheat, & ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him ‖both in the second yere and the third.

† Ebr. Corim.

‖ Or, yeerely.

6 So Iotham became mightie [d] because he directed his way before the Lord his God.

d He sheweth that al prosperity commeth of God, who neuer faileth, when we put our trust in him.

7 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iotham, and all his warres and his wayes, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel, and Iudah.

8 He was fiue and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem.

9 And Iotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: and Ahaz his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Ahaz an idolater is giuen into the hands of the Syrians, and the king of Israel. 9 The Prophet reproueth the Israelites cruelsie. 18 Iudah is molested with enemies. 23 Ahaz increaseth his idolatrie. 26 His death and successour.

AHaz * was twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned sixteene yeere in Ierusalem, and did not vprightly in the sight of the Lord, like Dauid his ‖father. * 2. King. 16.2.

‖ Or, predecessor

2 But [a] hee walked in the wayes of the Kings of Israel, and made euen molten images for [b] Baalim, a He was an idolater like them.

b As the idolaters haue certein chief idoles, who are as patrons: (as were these Baalim) so haue they others which are inferiors and do represent the great idoles.

3 Moreouer he burnt incense in the valley of Ben-hinnom, and ‖ burnt his sonnes with fire, after the abominations of the heathen whome the Lorde had cast out before the children of Israel.

‖ Or, made them passe thorow the fire, as chap. 33.6 Leuit. 18.21.

4 He sacrificed also and burnt incense in the hie places, and on hilles, and vnder euery greene tree.

5 Wherefore the Lorde his God deliuered him into the hand of the King of the Aramites, & they smote him, and tooke of his, †many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and he was also deliuered into the hand of the King

6 For c Pekah the ſonne of Remaliah ſlew in Iudah fiue ſcore thouſand in one day, all † valiant men, becauſe they had forſaken the Lord God of their fathers.

‖ Or, tyrant.

7 And Zichri a ‖ mightie man of Ephraim ſlew Maaſeiah the kings ſonne, and Azrikam the gouernour of the houſe, and Elkanah the ſecond after the king.

d Thus by the inſtrumentes of God Iſrael deſtroyed Iudah.

8 And the children of Iſrael tooke priſoners of their brethren, d two hundreth thouſand of women, ſonnes and daughters, and caried away much ſpoile of them, and brought the ſpoile to Samaria.

e For they thought they had ouercome them by their owne valiantneſſe, and did not conſider that God had deliuered them into their hands, becauſe Iudah had offended him. f May not God alwell punith you for your ſinnes, as he hath done theſe men for theirs, ſeeing yours are greater?

9 ¶ But there was a prophet of the Lord, (whoſe name was Oded) and he went out before the hoſte that came to Samaria, and ſaide vnto them, Behold, e becauſe the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue ſlaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And nowe yee purpoſe to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ieruſalem, as ſeruants and handmaides vnto you: but are not you ſuch, that f ſinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Nowe therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken priſoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

g Which tribe was now greateſt, and had moſt authoritie.

12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of g Ephraim, Azariah the ſonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the ſonne of Meſhillemoth, and Iehizkiah the ſonne of Shallum, and Amaſa the ſonne of Hadlai, ſtoode vp againſt them that came from the warre, h God will not ſuffer this ſinne, which we commit againſt him, to be vnpunished.

13 And ſaide vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this ſhall be h a ſinne vpon vs againſt the Lord: ye intend to adde more to our ſinnes and to our treſpaſſe, though our treſpaſſe be great, and the fierce wrath of God is againſt Iſrael.

14 So the armie left the captiues and the ſpoile before the Princes and all the Congregation.

i Whoſe names were rehearſed before, verſ. 12.

15 And the men that were i named by name, roſe vp and tooke the priſoners, & with the ſpoile clothed all that were naked among them, and araied them, and ſhod them, and gaue them meate, and gaue them drinke, and k anoynted them, and caried all that were feeble of them vpon aſſes, and brought them to Ieriche the citie of Palme trees to their l brethren: ſo they returned to Samaria.

17 (For the Edomites came moreouer, and ſlewe of Iudah, and caried away captiues.

† Ebr. diuided. * 2. King. 16.8.

21 For Ahaz † tooke a portion * out of the houſe of the Lorde, and out of the kings houſe, and of the Princes, and gaue vnto the king of Aſſhur: yet it helped him not.

22 And in the time of his tribulation did he yet treſpaſſe more againſt the Lord, (this is king Ahaz)

o As he falſely ſuppoſed.

23 For he ſacrificed vnto the gods of Damaſcus, which o plagued him, and he ſaid, Becauſe the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will ſacrifice vnto them, and they wil p helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all ‖ Iſrael.

p Thus the wicked meaſure Gods fauour by proſperitie and aduerſitie: for if idolaters proſper, they make their idoles gods not conſidering that God puniſheth them oft times whom he loueth, and giueth his enemies good ſucceſſe for a time, whom afterward he will deſtroy.

‖ Or, Iudah and Beniamin.

24 And Ahaz gathered the veſſels of the houſe of God, & brake the veſſels of the houſe of God, and ſhut vp the doores of the houſe of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Ieruſalem.

25 And in euery citie of Iudah he made hie places, to burne incenſe vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the reſt of his acts, and all his waies firſt and laſt, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah, and Iſrael.

27 And Ahaz ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie ‖ of Ieruſalem, but brought him not vnto the q ſepulchres of the kings of Iſrael: and Hezekiah his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

b This is a notable example for all Princes firſt to eſtabliſh the pure religion of God, and to procure that the Lord may be honoured and ſeruedaright.

4 And he brought in the Prieſtes and the Leuites, and gathered them into the Eaſt ſtreete, c Meaning, all the idoles, altars, groues, and whatsoeuer was occupied in their seruice, and wherewith the Temple was polluted.

6 For our fathers haue trespassed and done euill in the eyes of the Lord our God, and haue forsaken him, and turned away their faces from the Tabernacle of the Lord, and turned their backs.

7 They haue also shut the doores of the porch, and quenched the lampes, and haue neither burnt incense, nor offered burnt offerings in the Sanctuarie vnto the God of Israel.

* Num. 18.6.

11 Now my sonnes, bee not deceiued: for the Lord hath * chosen you to stand before him, to serue him, and to bee his ministers, and to burne incense.

12 ¶ Then the Leuites arose, Mahath the sonne of Amasai, and Ioel the sonne of Azariah of the sonnes of the Kohathites and of the sonnes of Merari, Kish the sonne of Abdi, and Azariah the sonne of Iehaleel: and of the Gershonites, Ioah the sonne of Zimmah, and Eden the sonne of Ioah:

13 And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shimri, and Iehiel: and of the sonnes of Asaph, Zechariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Iehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Ieduthun, Shemaiah and Vzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselues and came according to the commaundement of the King, and ‖ by the words of the Lord, for to clense the house of the Lord.

‖ Or, concerning the things of the Lord.

16 And the Priestes went into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to [f] clense it, and brought out all the vncleannes that they found in the Temple of the Lorde: into the court of the house of the Lorde: and the Leuites tooke it, to cary it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

f From the pollutions and filth that Ahaz had brought in.

17 They began the first day of the [g] first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lorde: so they sanctified the house of the Lorde in eight dayes, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth, they made an end.

g Which conteined part of March, and part of Aprill.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and said, We haue clensed all the house of the Lord and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the ‖ shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:

‖ Or, table where the bread was set in order.

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside when he reigned, and transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king [h] rose earely, and gathered the Princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

h By this maner of speech the Ebrewes meane a certaine diligence and speed to doe a thing, and when there is no delay.
* Leuit. 4.14.

21 And they brought seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and seuen lambs, and seuen hee goates, for a * sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuarie, and for Iudah. And he commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slewe the bullockes, and the Priestes receiued the blood, and [i] sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slewe also the rams and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slewe the lambes, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

i For without sprinkling of blood nothing could be sanctified, Heb. 9.21, Exod. 24.8.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, [k] and they laide their handes vpon them.

k That is, the king and the elders, as Leuit. 4.15. for they that offered a sinne offering muste lay their handes vpon it, to signifie that they had deserued that death, and also that they did consecrate it to God to be thereby sanctified, Exod. 29.10.
* 1. Chr. 16.4.

24 And the Priestes slewe them, and with the blood of them they clensed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commaunded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 Hee appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with violes, and with harpes, * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Gad the kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the [l] commandement was by the hand of the Lorde, and by the hand of his Prophets.

l This thing was not appointed of man, but it was the commandement of God.

26 And the Leuites stoode with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priestes with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the [m] Lorde began with the trumpets, and the instruments [n] of Dauid king of Israel.

m The Psalme which Dauid had appointed to be sung for thanks giuing.
n Which Dauid had appointed to praise the Lord with.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blewe the trumpets: all this continued vntil the burnt offring was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offring, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselues, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the King and the Princes commanded the Leuites to praise the Lorde with the [o] wordes of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer, so they praised with ioy, and they bowed themselues, and worshipped.

o With that Psalme whereof mention is made, 1. Chro. 16.8.

offerings of prayse into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of prayses, and euery man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuentie bullockes, an hundreth rams, and two hundreth lambes: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for [p] sanctification sixe hundreth bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priestes were too fewe, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings: therefore their brethren the Leuites did helpe them till they had ended the worke, and vntill other Priestes were sanctified: for the Leuits were [q] more vpright in heart to sanctifie themselues, then the Priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the *fat of the peace offerings and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering. So the seruice of the house of the Lord was set in order, 36 Then Hezekiah reioyced, and all the people, that God had made the people so [r] ready: for the thing was done suddenly.

p That is, for the holy offrings.

CHAP. XXX.

1.13. The keeping of the Passeouer by the kings commandement. 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 11 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites blesse the people.

AND Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Iudah, and also wrote letters to [a] Ephraim & Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the king and his princes and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Ierusalem to keepe the Passeouer in the [b] second moneth.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priestes ynowe sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the king and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make Proclamation throughout all Israel from [c] Beersheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lorde God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, [d] as it was written.

6 So the postes went with letters by ỹ commission of the king, and princes, throughout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commandement of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and [e] he wil returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the handes of the kings of Ashur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: & therfore he made them desolate, as ye see.

8 Be not ye nowe stiffenecked like your fathers, but [f] giue the hande to the Lorde, and come into his Sanctuarie, which he hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lorde your God, and the fiercenes of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if yee returne vnto the Lorde, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall returne vnto this lande: for the Lorde your God is gratious and mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

10 So the postes went from citie to citie throwe the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they [h] laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Neuertheless diuers of Asher, & Manasseh and of Zebulun submitted themselues and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hande of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one [i] heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 And they arose, and tooke away the [k] altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slew the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were [l] ashamed, and sanctified themselues, and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the [m] blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar & Zebulun had not clensed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The [n] good Lord be merciful toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seek the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuarie.

20 And the Lorde hearde Hezekiah, and [o] healed a Meaning, all Israel, whome Tilgath Pilneser had taken away into the captiuitie, 2. King. 15.29.

b Though they ought to haue done it in the first moneth, as Exod. 12.18. Num. 9.3. yet if any were not cleane, or els had a long iourney, they might defer it into the second moneth, as Num. 9.10,11.

c From one end of the land to the other. North and South.

d In such sort and perfection, as God had appointed.

e He will haue compassion on them, and preserue them.

f Submit your selues to the Lord and rebel no more.

g God will not onely preserue you, but though your repentance restore your brethren, which for their sinnes he gaue into the hands of the enemies.

h Though the wicked mocke at the seruants of God by whom he calleth them to repentance, as Gen. 19.14. yet the word ceaseth not to fructifie in the hearts of Gods elect.

i He sheweth the cause why some obey, and some mocke at Gods calling, to wit, because his Spirite is with the one sort, and moueth their hearts, and the other are left to themselues.

k Which declareth that we must put away those things wherewith God is offended, before we can serue him aright.

l Seeing their owne negligence (who should haue bene most prompt) and the readines of the people, Chap. 29. 36.

m To wit, of the Lambe of the Passeouer.

n He knew, that faith and sincerite of heart was more agreable to God, then the obseruation of these ceremonies, and therefore he prayed vnto God to pardon this fault vnto the people, which did not offend of malice, but of ignorance.

o That is, did accept them as pacified.

o healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes with great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priestes praysed the Lorde, day by day, singing with loude instruments vnto the Lord.

†Ebr. spake to the heart.

22 And Hezekiah † spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lorde: and they did eate in that feast seuen dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praysed the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsell to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

p This great liberalitie declareth how kings, Princes, and all they, to whom God hath giuen where with, ought to be most ready to bestowe it in setting forth of Gods glorie.

24 For Hezekiah King of Judah had giuen to the Congregation a p thousande bullocks, and seuen thousand sheep. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand sheepe: and many Priestes were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Judah reioyced with the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the lande of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since ye time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel, there was not the like thing in Jerusalem.

q According to that which is written, Numb. 6.23. when they should dimisse the people.

27 Then the Priestes and the Leuites arose, and q blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp into heauen, to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appoynteth Priestes and Leuites, 4 and prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euery one his portion.

a According to the commandement of the Lord Deut. 7.25. Ioth. 7.1. 2. Par. 12.40.

AND when all these things were finished, all Israel that were found in the cities of Judah, went out and a brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake downe the hie places, and the altars throughout al Judah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntill they had made an ende: afterward all the b children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

b That is, all they which came to the Passeouer.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priestes and Leuites by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priestes & Leuites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to giue thanks, & to prayse in the gates of the c tents of the Lord.

c That is, in the Temple where they assembled as in a tent.

3 (And the kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, euen for the burnt offerings of the morning, and of the euening, & the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the newe Moones, and for the solemne feastes, * as it is written in the Law of ỹ Lord)

*Num. 28.3.9.

4 He commanded also ỹ people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to giue a d part to the Priestes, and Leuites, that they might be e encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

d The tithes and first fruites for the maintenance of the Priests and Leuites.

e That their mindes might not be entanged with prouision of worldly things, but that they might wholy and cheerefully serue the Lord.

5 ¶ And when the commaundement was ‖spread, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruites, of corne, wine, and oyle, and honie, and of all the increase of the fielde, and the tithes of al things brought they abundantly.

‖Or, published.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes f which were consecrate vnto ỹ Lord their God, & laid them on s many heapes.

f Which they had dedicated to the Lord by a vowe.

7 In the thirde moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

g For the reliefe of the Priestes, Leuites, widowes, pupils, fatherlesse, strangers, and such as were in necessity.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah and the Princes came and saw the heapes they h blessed ỹ Lord, and his people Israel.

h They prayed the Lord, and prayed for all prosperitie to his people.

9 And Hezekiah questioned wt the Priests and the Leuites, concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him and sayd, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we haue i eaten and haue bin satisfied, and there is left in aboundance: for the Lorde hath blessed his people, and this aboundance that is left.

i He sheweth that this plenteous liberalitie is expedient for the maintenance of the ministers, & that God therefore prospereth his people, and increaseth by his blessing that which is giuen.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commaunded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lorde: and they prepared them, 12 And carryed in the first fruites, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully: and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuit, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Iehiel, and Azaziah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Jerimoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah were ouerseers † by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commaudement of Hezekiah the king, and of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite, porter toward the east, was ouer ỹ things that were willingly offred vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lorde, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamim, and Iehua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priestes, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small

16 Their dayly portion: because their generation being males k from three yeere olde and aboue, euen to al that entred into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

k Who had also a portion and allowance in this distribution.

17 Both the generation of the Priestes after after the house of their fathers, and to the Leuites from twentie yere old and aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their [1] fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the priests, which were in the fieldes and suburbs of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priestes, and to all the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Iudah, and did wel, and vprightly, and truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that he began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the law and in the commandements, to seeke his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Sancherib inuadeth Iudah. 3 Hezekiah prepareth for the warre. 7 He exhorteth the people to put their trust in the Lord. 9 Sancherib blasphemeth God. 20 Hezekiah prayeth. 21 The Angell destroyeth the Assyrians, and the king is slaine. 25 Hezekiah is not thankeful toward the Lord. 33 His death.

AFter these things faithfully described, * Sancherib king of Asshur came and entred into Iudah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to † winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah sawe that Sancherib was come, and that his † purpose was to fight against Ierusalem,

3 Then he tooke counsell with his Princes and his Nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines wout the citie: & they did help him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselues, and stopt all the fountaines, and the riuer that ran through the mids of the countrey, saying, Why should the king of Asshur come, and finde much water?

5 And † he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repaired [a] Millo in the [b] citie of Dauid, and made many [c] dartes and shieldes.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the Citie, and † spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Bee strong and courageous: feare not, neither be afraid for the king of Asshur, neither for al the multitude that is with him: * for ther be moe with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an [d] arme of flesh, but with vs is the [e] Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by ỹ wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 *After this, did Sancherib king of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was [f] against Lachish, & all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus sayth Sancherib the King of Asshur, Wherein doe yee trust, that ye wil remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand the king of Asshur?

12 Hath not ỹ same Hezekiah taken away his hie places and his [g] altars, and commaunded Iudah & Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar & burne incense vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countries? were the gods of the nations of other landes able to deliuer their lande out of mine hand?

14 Who is he of all the [h] gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hande? that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Nowe therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of [i] mine hande, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruantes spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his [k] seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lorde God of Israel, & speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countries could not deliuer their people out of mine hande, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they [l] cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wal, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the [m] workes of mans handes.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz [n] prayed against this, and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lorde sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and [o] captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur: so he returned † with shame to his owne lande. And when hee was come into the house of his god, they that came foorth of his [p] owne bowels, slewe him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hande of Sanche-

26 Notwithſtanding Hezekiah humbled himſelfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and the wrath of the Lorde came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah alſo had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treaſures of ſiluer, and of golde, and of precious ſtones, and of ſweete odours, and of ſhieldes, and of all pleaſant veſſels:

30 This ſame Hezekiah alſo ſtopped the vpper water ſpringes of t Gihon, and led them ſtreight vnderneath toward the citie of Dauid Weſtward, ſo Hezekiah proſpered in all his workes.

31 But becauſe of the ambaſſadours of the princes of Babel, which ſent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to u try him, and to know all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnes, beholde, they are written in the viſion of Iſaiah the Prophet, the ſonne of Amoz, in the booke of the kings of Iudah, and Iſrael.

33 So Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers, & they buried him in the higheſt ſepulchre of the ſonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem did him honour at his death: and Manaſſeh his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Manaſſeh an idolater. 9 He cauſeth Iudah to erre. 11 He is led away priſoner into Babylon. 12 He prayeth to the Lord, and is delivered. 14 He aboliſheth idolatrie, 16 And ſetteth vp true religion. 20 He dieth, and Amon his ſonne ſucceedeth, 24 Whom his owne ſeruantes ſlay.

MAnaſſeh was twelue yeere olde, *when he began to reigne, and he reigned fiue and fiftie yeere in Ieruſalem:

2 And he did euill in the ſight of the Lorde, like the abominations of the heathen, *whome the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

3 For hee went backe and built the high places, *which Hezekiah his father had broken downe: * and he ſet vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worſhipped all the hoſte of the heauen, and ſerued them.

4 Alſo hee built altars in the houſe of the Lord, whereof the Lord had ſayde, * In Ieruſalem ſhall my Name be for euer.

5 And he built altars for all the hoſte of the heauen in the two Courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

6 a And he cauſed his ſons to paſſe through the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: he gaue himſelfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to ſorcerie, and hee vſed them that had familiar ſpirites, and Soothſayers: hee did very much euill in the ſight of the Lord to anger him.

7 He put alſo the carued images, which he had made, in the houſe of God: whereof God had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomon his ſonne, * In this houſe, and in Ieruſalem, which I haue choſen before all the tribes of Iſrael, will I put my Name for euer, 9 So Manaſſeh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem to erre, & to do worſe then the heathen, whome the Lord had deſtroied before the children of Iſrael.

10 ¶ And the Lorde ſpake to c Manaſſeh and to his people but they would not regard.

11 Wherfore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoſte of the king of Aſſhur, which tooke Manaſſeh and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and carried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God and humbled himſelfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was d entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ieruſalē into his kingdome: then Manaſſeh knewe that the Lorde was God.

22 But he did euil in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them, 23 And he humbled not himselfe before the Lorde, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespalled more and more.

24 And his seruaunts * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Iosiah destroyeth the idoles, 8 And restoreth the Temple. 14 The booke of the Lawe is found. 21 He sendeth to Hulda the Prophetesse for counsel. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a covenant with God.

IOsiah * was eight yeere olde when he began to reigne, and hee reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yeere.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of [a] Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 And in the eight yeere of his reigne (when hee was yet a [b] childe) he began to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yeere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the high places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images:

4 And they brake downe [c] in his sight the altars of Baalim: and he caused to cut downe the images that were on high vpon them: hee brake also the groues, and the carued images, and the molten images, and stampt them to powder, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also hee burnt the [d] bones of the Priestes vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their maules they brake all round about.

7 And when he had [e] destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.

8 ¶ * Then in the eighteenth yere of his reigne, when hee had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the gouernour of the citie, and Ioah the sonne of Ioahaz the Recorder, to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Beniamin, and ‖ of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in the handes of them that should doe the worke, & had the ouersight in the house of the Lord: & they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amend the house.

11 Euen to the workemen and to the builders gaue they it to buy hewed stone and timber for couples and for beames of the [f] houses, which the kings of Iudah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the workes faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iahath and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites all that could [g] skill of instruments of musicke.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forward all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were Scribes, and officers, and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the [h] booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hand of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and said to Shaphan the Chancellor, I haue found the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lorde: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

19 And Shaphan caried the booke to [i] the King, and brought the King worde againe, g Which Salomon had caused to be made.

h Thus by ignorance they were deceiued, thinking it nothing to keepe the altars, so that they worshipped God: but it is idolatrie to worship God any otherwise then he hath appointed.

i Which albeit that it is not contained in the Ebrew, yet because it is here mentioned, and is written in the Greeke, we haue placed it in the ende of this booke.

saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that doe they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lorde, and haue deliuered it into the handes of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workmen.

18 Also Shaphan the Chanceller declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Lawe, hee [k] tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the Chanceller, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Goe and enquire of the Lorde for mee, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our [l] fathers haue not kept the worde of the Lorde, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of ‖ Tokhath, the sonne of ‖ Hasrah keeper of the [m] wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the [n] Colledge) & they communed hereof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell yee [o] the man that sent you to me.

24 Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the workes of their [p] hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal yee say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did [q] melt, and thou diddest humble thy self before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy self before me, and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt bee put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this [r] place, and vpon the inhabitãts of the same. Thus they brought the king word againe.

29 ¶ Then the king sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the [s] smallest, and he read in their eares all the words of the booke of the couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the king stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, & to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that hee would accomplish the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And hee caused all that were found in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, & compelled all [t] that were found in Israel, to serue the Lorde their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

8 And his Princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and six hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth bullocks.

9 [c] Conaniah also and Shemaieh and Nethaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheepe, and fiue hundreth bullocks.

c So that euery one, and of all sides gaue of that they had a liberall portion in the seruice of God.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they slewe the Passeouer, and the priests [f] sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites flayed them.

f Meaning, of the Lambe, which was called the Passeouer: for onely the Priests might shedde, and in necessity the Leuites might kill the sacrifice.

12 And they tooke away from thes burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sodde in pots, pannes, and caudrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

g They reserued for the people that which was not expedient to be offered, that euery man might offer peace offerings, and so haue his portion. *Exod. 12. 8.

14 Afterward also they prepared for them selues and for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing, * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Iedithun the Kings [h] Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

*2. Chro. 35. 1.

h Meaning hereby his Prophet, because he appointed the Psalmes and Prophesies which were to be sung.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that, in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the Kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudah, and Israel that were [†] present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

23 And the shooters shot at king Iosiah: then the king said to his seruants, Cary mee away, for I am very sicke.

24 So his seruants tooke him out of that charet, and put him in the second charet which he had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, he died, and was buried in the sepulchers of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem [m] mourned for Iosiah.

m The people so much lamented the losse of this good king, that after Iudea there was any great lamentation, this was marked as a thing worthy to be read. Zach. 12. 11.

2 Iehoahaz was three and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and hee reigned three [a] moneths in Ierusalem.

a For three moneths after the death of Iosiah came Necho to Ierusalem, and so the plagues began, which Huldah, and the Prophets had warned should come vpon Ierusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the lande in an [b] hundreth talents of siluer, and a talent of gold.

b To pay this as a yeerely tribute

4 ¶ And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Iehoiakim: and Necho tooke Iehoahaz his brother, and caried him to Egypt.

olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yere in Ierusalem, and did [c] euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also * carried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiakim, and his abominations which he did, and [d] that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 ¶ Iehoiachin was [e] eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yere was out, king Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his ‖ brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twentie yere old when he began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yere in Ierusalem.

12 * And he did euil in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord.

13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and he hardned his necke and made his heart obstinate, that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them † by his messengers, [f] rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his wordes, and misused his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lorde arose against his people, and till there was no remedie.

17 For he brought vpon them the king of the Caldeans, who slew their yong men with the sworde [h] in the house of their Sanctuarie, and spared neither yong man, nor virgine, ancient, nor aged, God [i] gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his Princes: all these carried he to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof, to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sworde, caried hee away to Babel, and they were seruants to him and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the [k] Persians had rule, 21 To fulfill the worde of the Lord by the [l] mouth of Ieremiah, vntill the lande had her full of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfil seuentie yeeres.

22 ¶ * But in the [m] first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (when the worde of the Lorde, spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, was finished) the Lorde stirred vp the spirite of Cyrus king of Persia, and hee made a Proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus saieth Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lorde God of heauen giuen me, & he hath [n] commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with who the Lord his God is? let him goe vp.

The prayer of Manasseh king of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Ebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lorde Almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth, with all their ornament: which hast bounde the Sea by the worde of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whome all doe feare and tremble before thy power: for the Maiestie of thy glorie cannot bee borne, and thine angrie threatning toward sinners is intolerable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lorde, according to thy goodnes hast promised [a] repentaunce and forgiuenes to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lorde, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentaunce to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, which haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the number of the sande of the Sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding ceeding many: and I am not woorthy to beholde and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yron bandes, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commaundement. I haue set vp abomination, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me: O Lorde, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life, for all the power of the heauens praise thee, & thine is the glory for euer & euer, Amen.

Ezra.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes & kept them now in bondage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infidels and Idolaters, he remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and mooued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding least they should growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, hee keepeth them still in exercise; and raiseth domesticall enemies, which endeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophetes they went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest, and Scribe of the Lawe, as chap. 7. 6. Hee returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, aboue fiftie yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great company, and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should bee necessary for the Temple: and at his comming hee redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

2 Cyrus sendeth againe the people that was in captiuitie,
8 And restoreth them their holy vessels.

NOw * in a the first yeere of Cyrus King of Persia (that the word of þ Lord, spoken by the b mouth of Ieremiah, might bee accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the c spirite of Cyrus king of Persia, & he made a Proclamation throwe all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is? let him goe vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudah, and builde the house of the Lord God of Israel: hee is the God, which is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites rose vp with all them whose spirite God had raised to goe vp to builde the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

6 And all g they that were about them, strengthened their handes with vessels of siluer, with gold, with substance and with cattel, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

7 Also the King Cyrus brought foorth the vessels of the house of the Lorde, * which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of Ierusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen them did Cyrus king of Persia bring foorth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them vnto h Sheshbazzar the prince of Iudah.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The building of the Temple is hindred and how. 11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answere.

BUt[a] the aduersaries of Judah and Beniamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lorde God of Israel.

a Meaning the inhabitants of Samaria, whom the king of Assyria had placed in the stead of ỳ ten tribes, 2. King. 17. 24. & 19 37. These professed God, but worshipped idoles also, and therefore were ỳ greatest enemies to the true seruants of God.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and saide vnto them, Wee will build with you: for wee seeke the Lorde your God as ye do, and we haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esar Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, saide vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build the house vnto our God: [b] for we our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded vs.

b For they perceiued what their pretence was, to wit, to erect idolatrie in stead of true religion.

4 Therefore the people of the land † discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building.

† Ebr. made their hands weake.

5 And they [c] hired counsellers against them, to hinder their deuise, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

c They bribed the gouernours vnder the king, to hinder their worke, thus they that hate, cannot abide, that God should be purely serued.

6 And in the reigne of [d] Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

d He was also called Artarexes, which is a Persian name, some thinke it was Cambyses Cyrus sonne, or Darius, as ye. 5.

7 And in the dayes of [e] Artahshashte, Mithredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahshashte king of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, & the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

e Called Artaxerxes, which signifieth in the Persian tongue, an excellent warriour.

8 Rehum the ‖ chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artahshashte the king, in this sort.

‖ Or, counceller.

9 Then wrote Rehum the chancellour, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions [f] Dinaie, and Apharsathcaie, Tarpelaie, Apharsaie, Archeuaie, Bablaie, Shushanchaie, Dehaue, Elmaie.

f These were certeine people, which the Assyrians placed in Samaria in stead of the ten tribes.

10 And the rest of the people whome the great and noble [g] Asnappar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyonde the [h] Riuer and [i] Cheeneth.

g Some thinke it was Sanecherib but rather Salmanaser.

h To wit, Euphrates, and he meaneth irrespect of Babel that they dwelt beyond it.

i Which were a certeine people that enuied the Jewes.

11 ¶ This is the copie of the letter that they sent vnto King Artahshashte, THY SERVANTS the men beyond the Riuer and Cheeneth, salute thee.

12 Be it knowen vnto the King that the Jewes, which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Jerusalem (a citie rebellious and wicked) and build, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue ioyned the foundations.

13 Be it knowen nowe vnto the king, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the walles laide, they will not giue tolle, tribute, nor [k] custome: so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

k Meaning, the gifts ỳ are wont to be giuen to Kings whē they passe by any countrey.

14 Now therefore because † we haue bene brought vp in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue we sent and certified the king, † Ebr. In ỳ Chalee. We haue eaten the salt of the Palace.

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious and noysome vnto kings and prouinces, and that they haue moued sedition of old time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the king therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles laide, by this meanes the portion beyond the Riuer shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The king sent an answere vnto Rehum the Chanceller, & Shimshai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the Riuer, Shelam and [m] Cheeth.

l Some reade for Shelam, salutation or greeting.

m Called also Cheeneth, as before 10.

18 ¶ The letter which yee sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me, 19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and found, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath beene committed therein.

20 There haue beene mightie Kings also ouer Jerusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the Riuer, tolle, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye nowe a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built, till I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take heede nowe that yee faile not to doe this: why should domage growe to hurt the king?

23 When the copie of king Artahshashtes letter was read before Rehum and Shimshai the Scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Jerusalem vnto ỳ Jewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

n Not altogether: for the Prophets exhorted them to continue, but they vsed lesse diligence because of the troubles.

24 Then [n] ceased the worke of the house of God, which was in Jerusalem, and did stay vnto ỳ second yeere of Darius king of Persia.

1 Haggai and Zechariah do prophesie. 3 The worke of the Temple goeth forward contrary to the minde of Tatnai. 6 His letters to Darius.

‖ Or, Haggeus.

THen ‖* Haggai a Prophet and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophecied vnto the Iewes that were in Iudah and Ierusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, euen vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iesh̃ua the sonne of Iozadak arose, and began to builde the house of God at Ierusalem, and with them were the Prophets of God, which [a] helped them.

a Which incouraged them to go forward and accused them that they were more carefull to build their owne houses, then zealous to build the Temple of God.

3 ¶ At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captain beyond the Riuer, and Shether boznai and their companions, and said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to builde this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

b That is, the enemies asked this, as verse 10.

4 [b] Then saide wee vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

c His fauour and the spirit of strength.

5 But the [c] eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters thereunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharsechaie, (which were beyond the riuer) sent vnto king Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIVS the king, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the king that wee went into the prouince of Iudea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with ‖ great stones, and beames are laide in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

‖ Or, marble.

9 Then asked wee those Elders, and saide vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to builde this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 Wee asked their names also that wee might certifie thee, and that wee might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus and saide, Wee are the seruaunts of the God of heauen and earth, and build the house that was built of old and many yeeres ago, which a [d] great king of Israel * builded, and founded it.

13 But in the [e] first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to builde this house of God.

14 And the vessels of gold and siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple, that was in Ierusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babel, & they gaue thē vnto one [f] Shesh̃bazzar by his name, whom he had made captaine.

f Reade chap. 1.8.

15 And he saide vnto him, Take these vessels & go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Shesh̃bazzar and layd the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntil now, hath it beene in building, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the king, let there be search made in the house of the kings [g] treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath beene made by king Cyrus, to build this house of God in Ierusalem, and let the king send his mind concerning this.

3 IN THE FIRST yere of king Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalem, Let the house be built, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be threescore cubits, and the breedth thereof threescore cubits.

21 So the children of Iſrael which were come againe out of captiuitie, and all ſuch as had [i] ſeparated themſelues vnto them, from the filthineſſe of the Heathen of the land to ſeeke the Lord God of Iſrael, did eate.

1 By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions come to Ieruſalem. 27 He giueth thankes to God.

NOwe after theſe things, in the reigne of [a] Artahſhaſhte King of Perſia, was Ezra the ſonne of Seraiah, the ſonne of Azariah, the ſonne of Hilkiah, [e] Of King Darius.

9 For vpon the firſt day of the firſt moneth began he to go vp from Babel, and on the firſt day of the fift moneth came he to Ieruſalem, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.

21 And there at the Riuer, by Ahaua, I proclaimed a fast, that wee might humble [f] our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was [g] ashamed to require of the King an armie and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemie in the way, because wee had spoken to the King, saying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that seeke him in goodnesse, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So wee fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the Priests, Sherebiah, and Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the vessels euen the offering of the house of our God, which the King & his counsellers, and his Princes, and all Israel that were present had offered.

26 And I weighed vnto their hand fiue hundred and fiftie [h] talents of siluer, and in siluer vessell, an hundred talents, and in golde, an hundred talents:

27 And twentie basins of golde, of a thousand [i] drammes, and two vessels of shining brasse very good, and precious as golde.

28 ¶ And I said vnto them, Yee are consecrate vnto the Lorde, and the vessels are consecrate, and the golde and the siluer are freely offered vnto the Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watch yee, and keepe them vntill yee weigh them before the chiefe Priestes and the Leuites, and the chiefe fathers of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of the Lord.

30 So the Priests and the Leuites receiued the weight of the siluer and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring them to Ierusalem, vnto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then wee departed from the Riuer of Ahauah on the twelft day of the first moneth, to goe vnto Ierusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemy, and of such as laid [k] wait by the way.

32 And we came to Ierusalem, and abode there three dayes.

33 And on the fourth day was the siluer weighed, and the golde and the vessell in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the sonne of Uriah the Priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinehas, and with them was Iozabad the sonne of Ieshua, and Noadiah the sonne of Binnui the [l] Leuites, 34 By number and by weight of euery one, and all the weight was written at the same time.

35 Also the children of the captiuity, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israel, twelue bullocks for all Israel, ninetie and sixe rammes, seuentie & seuen lambs, and twelue hee goats for sinne: all was a burnt offering of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the kings commission vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines beyonde the Riuer: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselues from God, and married with the Gentiles. 5 He prayeth vnto God.

WHen * as these things were done, the rulers came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priests, and the Leuites are not [a] separated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Iebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselues, and to their sonnes, & they haue mixed the holy seede with the people of the lands, and the hand of the [b] princes and rulers hath bene chiefe in this trespasse.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sate downe [c] astonied.

4 And there assembled vnto mee all that feared the wozds of the God of Jsrael, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie. And I sate downe astonied vntil the * euening sacrifice.

*Exod.29.39. num.28,3,4.

5 And at the euening sacrifice I arose vp from mine heauinesse, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spred out mine hands vnto the Lozd my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed, to lift vp mine eies vnto thee my God: foz our iniquities are increased ouer [d] our head, and our trespasse is growen vp vnto [e] the heauen.

d That is, we are drowned in sinne.
e They so exceed that they can not grow greater.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great trespasse vnto this day, and foz our iniquities haue wee, our Kings, and our Pziestes bene deliuered into the hande of the kings of the lands, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoile, and into confusion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And now foz a litle space grace hath bin shewed from the Lozd our God, in causing a remnant to escape, and in giuing vs a [f] nayle in his holy place, that our God may light our eies, & giue vs a litle reuiuing in our seruitude.

f In giuing vs a resting place. It is a similitude take of them that remaine still in a place, which smite nailes to hang things vpon, Isa.22,23.

9 Foz though we were bondmen, yet our God hath not fozsaken vs in our bondage, but hath enclined mercie vnto vs in the sight of the Kings of Persia, to giue vs life, and to erect the house of our God, and to redzesse the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Judah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall wee say after this? foz we haue fozsaken thy commandements, 11 Which thou hast commaunded by thy seruants the Pzophets, saying, * The land whereunto yee goe to possesse it, is an vncleane land, because of the filthinesse of the people of the lands, which by their abominations, and by their vncleannesse haue filled it from cozner to cozner.

*Exod.23.32. and 34.12,15, 16.deu.7.23.

12 Now therefoze shall yee not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take their daughters vnto your sonnes, noz seeke their * peace noz wealth foz euer, that ye may bee strong and eate the goodnesse of the land, and leaue it foz an inheritance to your sonnes foz euer.

*Deut.23.6.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs foz our euill deedes, and foz our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast staied vs from being beneath s foz our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

g Hast not vtterly cast vs downe and destroyed vs foz our sinnes, Deut. 28.13.

14 Should we returne to breake thy commandements, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of such abominations? wouldest not thou bee angrie toward vs till thou haddest consumed vs, so that there should be no remnant noz any escaping?

h He sheweth that God is iust in punishing his people, and yet mercifull in reseruing a residue to whom he sheweth fauour.

15 O Lozde God of Jsrael, thou art iust, foz wee haue bene [h] reserued to escape, as appeareth this day: beholde, wee are before thee in our trespasse: therefoze wee cannot stand before thee because of it.

CHAP. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their strange wiues.

WHiles * Ezra prayed thus, and [a] confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Jsrael a very great Congregation of men and women and childzen: foz the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Jehiel one of the sonnes of Elam answered, and saide to Ezra, We haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wiues of the people of the land, yet now there is [b] hope in Jsrael concerning this.

b Meaning, that God would receiue them to mercie.

3 Nowe therefoze let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away [c] all the wiues (and such as are bozne of them) according to the counsell of the Lozd, and of those that feare the commaundements of our God, and let it bee done according to the Lawe.

5 ¶ Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Pziests, the Leuites, and all Jsrael, to sweare that they would doe according to this wozde. So they sware.

6 *And Ezra rose vp from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib: hee went euen thither, but hee did eate neither bread, noz drinke water: foz hee mourned, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie.

4 Nehemiah bewayleth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 He confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

THe wordes of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chilleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, he and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproche, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe & wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted & prayed before ỹ God of heauen,

5 And saide, *O Lorde God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercy for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which wee haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 We haue grieuously †sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commaundements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the word that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Ye will transgresse, and I *will scatter you abroade among the people.

9 But if yee turne vnto mee, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, *though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my Name there.

10 Nowe these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lord, I beseeche thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruaunts, who desire to [d] feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of [e] this man: for I was the Kings butler.

NOw in the moneth [a] Nisan in the twentieth yeere of King [b] Artahshashte, the wine stoode before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. nowe I was not beforetime sad in his presence.

2 And the King said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sadde, seeing thou art not sicke? this is nothing, but sorow of heart. Then was I sore afraid,

3 And I said to the King, God saue the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the King saide vnto mee, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen,

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send mee to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it?

6 And the king said vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shal thy iourney be? & when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, & he sent me, & I set him a time.

7 After I said vnto the King, If it please the King, let them giue mee letters to the captaines beyond the ‖ Riuer, that they may conuay me ouer, till I come into Iudah,

8 And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the kings ‖ Parke, that he may giue me timber to build the gates of the palace (which appertained to the house) and for the walles of the citie, and for the house that I shal enter into. And the king gaue me according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyond the Riuer, and gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had sent captaines of the armie and horsemen with me.

10 But [e] Sanballat the Horonite, & Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, & it grieued them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well, and to the dung porte, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fire.

17 Afterwarde I sayd vnto them, Yee see the miserie that wee are in, how Ierusalem lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more [f] a reproch.

18 Then I tolde them of the hande of my God, (which was good ouer mee) and also of the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise, and build. So they [g] strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruaunt an Ammonite, and [h] Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will yee [i] rebell against the King?

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer-againſt the great tower that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortreſſe.

28 From aboue the horſegate foorth fortified the Prieſts, euery one ouer-againſt his houſe.

29 After them fortified Zadok the ſonne of Immer ouer-againſt his houſe: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the ſonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the Eaſt gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, & Hanun, the ſonne of Zalaph, the [g] ſixt, another portion: after him fortified Meſhullam, the ſonne of Berechiah, ouer-againſt his chamber.

32 And between the chamber of the corner vnto the ſheepegate fortified the goldſmithes and the marchants.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The building of Ieruſalem is hindered, 15 but God breaketh their enterpriſe. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

BUt when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was hee wroth and ſore grieued, and mocked the Iewes,

[a] Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria.

[b] Thus the wicked, that conſider not that Gods power is euer in a readineſſe for the defence of his, make them as though they were weake and feeble.

2 And ſaid before his [a] brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he ſaid, What doe theſe [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie themſelues? will they ſacrifice? will they finiſh it in a day? will they make the ſtones whole againe out of the heaps of duſt, ſeeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beſide him, and ſayd, Although they builde, yet if a fore goe vp, hee ſhall euen breake downe their ſtonie wall.

4 [c] Heare, O our God (for we are deſpiſed) and turne their ſhame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a praie [d] in the land of their captiuitie,

[c] This is the remedie that the children of God haue againſt the deriſion & threatenings of their enemies to flee to God by prayer.

[d] Let them be ſpoyled and led away captiue.

5 And couer not their [e] iniquitie, neither let their ſinne bee put out in thy preſence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

[e] Let thy plagues declare to the world, that they ſet themſelues againſt thee, and againſt thy Church: that be prayeth one hauing reſpect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection, or grudge.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the ‖ halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

‖ Or, halfe height.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat & Tobiah, and the Arabians, & the Ammonites, and the Aſhdodims heard that the walles of Ieruſalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to bee ſtopped) then they were very wroth, † Ebr. make to ſtay, meaning the people.

8 And conſpired all together to come & to fight againſt Ieruſalem, and to † hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and ſet watchmen by them day and night, becauſe of them.

10 And Iudah ſayd, The ſtrength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, ſo that we are not able to build the wall.

11 Alſo our aduerſaries had ſaid, They ſhal not know, neither ſee, til we come into the mids of them and ſlay them, and cauſe the worke to ceaſe.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beſide them) came, they told vs [f] tenne times, & From all places, whence ye ſhal returne, they will be vpon vs.

[f] That is, often times.

[g] They, which brought the tidings, ſaid thus: When you leaue your worke, and goe either to eate, or to reſt, your enemies will aſſaile you.

13 Therefore ſet I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the ſtones, & placed the people by their families, with their ſwords, their ſpeares and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, & roſe vp, and ſaid vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, Be not afraid of them: [h] remember the great Lord, and feareful, and fight for your brethren, your ſonnes, & your daughters, your wiues, and your houſes.

[h] Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therefore ſeeing they ſhould fight for the maintenance of Gods glory, and for preſeruation of their owne liues and of theirs, he encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies hearde that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counſell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the young men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the ſpeares, and ſhields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers ſtood [i] behind all the houſe of Iudah.

[i] To ouerſee them and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other helde the ſworde.

18 For euery one of the builders had his ſworde girded on his loynes, and ſo builded: and he that blew the trumpet, was beſide me.

19 Then ſaide I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are ſeparated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore yee heare the ſound of the trumpet, [k] reſort yee thither vnto vs: our God ſhall fight for vs.

21 So we labored in the worke, and halfe of them held the ſpeares, from the appearing of the morning, till the ſtarres came foorth.

22 And at the ſame time ſayd I vnto the people, Let euery one with his ſeruant lodge within Ieruſalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my ſeruants, nor the men of the ward, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, ſaue euery one put them off [l] for waſhing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppreſſed and in neceſſitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, leſt he ſhould grieue the people.

NOw there was a great cry of the people, and of their wiues [a] againſt their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that ſaid, We, our ſonnes and our daughters are many, therefore wee take vp [b] corne, that we may eate and liue.

3 And there were that ſaid, We muſt gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houſes, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were alſo that ſaid, We haue borowed money for the kings [c] tribute, vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our fleſh is as [d] the fleſh of our brethren, and our ſonnes as their ſonnes: and loe, wee bring into ſubiection our ſonnes and our daughters, as ſeruants, and there be of our daughters now in ſubiection, and there is no power [e] in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crie and theſe words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and ſayde vnto them, You lay [f] burthens euery one vpon his brethren: and I ſet a great [g] aſſemblie againſt them,

8 And I ſaid vnto them, We (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were ſolde vnto the heathen: and will you ſell your brethren againe, or ſhall they be [h] ſolde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not anſwere.

9 [i] I ſayd alſo, That which yee doe, is not good. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproch of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my ſeruants do lend them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this ‖ burden.

‖ Or, vſurie.

11 Reſtore, I pray you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyards, their oliues, and their houſes, and remit the hundreth part of the ſiluer and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle [l] that ye exact of them.

l Which ye take of them for the loue.

12 Then ſaid they, We will reſtore it, and will not require it of them: we will do as thou haſt ſaid. Then I called the Prieſtes, and cauſed them to ſweare, that they ſhould doe according to this promiſe.

13 So I ſhooke my lappe, and ſaide, So let God ſhake out euery man that wil not performe this promiſe from his houſe, and from his labour: euen thus let him bee ſhaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregation ſaide, Amen, and praiſed the Lorde: and the people did according to this promiſe.

14 And from the time that the King gaue me charge to bee gouernour in the land of Iudah, from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of King Artahſhaſhte, that is, twelue yeere, I and my brethren haue not eaten the [m] bread of the gouernour.

m I receiued not that portion, and diet, which the gouernours, that were before mee, exacted: wherein he declareth that he rather ſought the wealth of the people, then his owne commoditie.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had beene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beſides fourtie ſhekels of ſiluer: yea, and their ſeruants bare rule ouer the people: but ſo did not I, becauſe of the feare of God,

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my ſeruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daily an ore, and ſixe choſen ſheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and ‖ within ten dayes wine for all [n] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

‖ Or, once in ten dayes.

n Whereas at other times they had by meaſure, at this time they had moſt liberally.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodneſſe, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

8 Nehemiah anſwereth with great wiſedome, and zeale to his aduerſarie. 11 Hee is not diſcouraged by the falſe prophets.

d By nature the rich is no better then the poore.

e We are not able to redeeme them, but for pouertie are conſtreined to hire them to others.

f You preſſe them with vſury, and ſeeke how to bring all things into your hands.

g Both becauſe they ſhoulde be aſſiſted with pitie, ſeeing how many were by them oppreſſed, and alſo beare the iudgement of others, which ſhould be as it were witneſſes of their dealing toward their brethren.

h Seeing God hath once deliuered them from the bondage of the heathen, ſhall we make them our ſlaues?

me, saying, Come thou that wee may meete together in the villages in the plain of Ono: and they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I can not come downe: [b] why shoulde the woorke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and ‖ Gashmu hath saide it, that thou and the Iewes think to rebel, for the which cause thou buildest the wall: and thou wilt be their king according to these [c] words.

7 Thou hast also ordained [d] the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come nowe therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou saiest: for thou feynest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afraide vs, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore † encourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he was [e] shut vp, and he said, Let vs come together into the house of GOD in the mids of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I saide, [f] Should such a man as I, flee? Who is he, being as I am, that woulde goe into the Temple to liue? I will not go in.

12 And loe, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that he pronounced this prophecy against mee: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was hee hired, that I might be afraid, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me, 14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their workes, and Noadiah the [g] Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fiue and twentieth day of [h] Elul, in two and [i] fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this woorke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the Princes of Iudah, whose [k] letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: & his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they speak in his praise before me, and tolde him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuitie are numbred.

NOwe * when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters, and the singers & the Leuites were appointed.

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the ‖ Prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for hee was doubtlesse a faithful man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heate of the sunne: and while [a] they stand by, let them shut the doores, and † make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, euery one in his warde, and euerie one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie was large and great, but the people were fewe therein, and the houses were not builded,

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the Princes, and the Rulers, and the people, to count their genealogies: & I found a booke of the genealogie of them, * which came vp at the first, and found written therein,

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keepe the feast of Tabernacles or boothes.

AND all the people assembled themselues † together, in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the a Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

† Ebr. as one man.

a Reade Ezra. 7.6.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Lawe before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that b could heare and vnderstande it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth.

b Which had age and discretion to vnderstand.

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the watergate (from the morning vntill c the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstoode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the Booke of the Lawe.

c This declareth the great zeale that the people had to heare the word of God.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stoode vpon a pulpit of wood which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stoode Mattithiah, & Shema, and Ananiah, and Uzziah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hande, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the Booke before all the people: for he was d aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord, e great God, & all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselues, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand ye law, & the people stood in their place,

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weepe for all the people f wept, when they heard the wordes of the Lawe.

e In considering their offences against the Law. Therefore the Leuites doe not reproue them by mourning, but assure them of Gods mercies so much as they are repentant.

10 He said also vnto them, Go, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send parte vnto them, for whome none is g prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sorie therefore: for the h ioy of the Lorde is your strength.

f That is, remember ye poore.

g Reioyce in the Lord, and he will giue you strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence through out all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate and to drink, and to send away part, and to make great ioy, because they had vnderstood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the wordes of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Lawe, (that the Lorde had commaunded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in * boothes in the feast of the seuenth moneth,

* Leuit.23.34.

15 And that they should cause it to bee declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pine branches, and branches of ‖ myrtus, and palme branches and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

‖ Or, goodly branches, as Leuit.23.40.

16 So the people went forth and brought them, them, and made them boothes, euerie one vpon the [b] roofe of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim.

[b] For their houses were made flat aboue, vnde Deu. 22.8

17 And all the congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie made boothes, and sate vnder the boothes: for since the [i] time of Iehua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioy.

[i] Which was almost a thousand yeeres.

18 And he read in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seuen dayes, and on the eight day a solemne assembly, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, and forsake their strange wines. 5 The Leuites exhort them to praise God, 6 Declaring his wonders 26 And their ingratitude, 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

[a] Meaning, the seuenth.

IN the foure and twentieth day of this [a] moneth the children of Israel were assembled with * fasting, and with sackecloth, and earth vpon them.

* 1.Esd.9.4.

2 (And they that were of the seede of Israel were separated from all the †strangers) and they stood and confessed their sinnes, and the iniquities of their fathers.

† Ebr. strange children.

3 And they stoode vp in their place and read in the booke of the Law of the Lorde their God foure times on the day, and they [b] confessed and worshipped the Lorde their God foure times.

[b] They made confession of their sinnes, and vsed prayers.

4 Then stoode vp vpon the staires of the Leuites, Iehua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cried with a loud voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Leuites said, euen Iehua and Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah, Stand vp, and praise the Lord your God for euer, and euer, and let them praise thy glorious name, O God, which excelleth aboue all thankesgiuing and praise.

6 Thou art Lorde alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their host, the earth, and al things that are therin, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preseruest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God, that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of * Ur in Caldea, * and madest his name Abraham,

* Gen.11.31.
* Gen.17.5.

8 And foundest his heart faithful before thee, * and madest a couenaunt with him, to giue vnto his seede the lande of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Iebusites, and Girgashites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art iust.

* Gen.15.18.

9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their cry by the red Sea.

* Exod.3.7. and 14.10.

10 And shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaoh, and on all his seruants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudely against them: therefore thou madest thee a Name, as appeareth this day.

11 * For thou diddest breake vp the Sea before them, and they went through the mids of the Sea on drie land: and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes as a stone, in the mightie waters:

* Exod.14.22.

12 * And leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloude, and in the night with a pillar of fire to giue them light in the way that they went.

* Exod.13.21.

13 * Thou camest down also vpon mount Sinai, & spakest vnto them from heauen, and gauest them right iudgements, & true lawes, ordinances, and good commandements.

* Exod.20.1. and 19.18,20.

14 And declaredst vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commaundedst them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy seruant:

15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hunger, * and broughtest foorth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and * promisedst them that they should goe in, and take possession of the lande, for the which thou haddest lift vp thine hande for to giue them.

* Exod.16.15.
* Exod.17.6.
* Deut.1.8.

16 But they and our fathers behaued themselues proudely, and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commaundements.

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marueilous workes that thou hadst done for them, but hardened their necks, and had in their heades to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercie, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreouer, when they made them a molten calfe (and saide, This is thy GOD that brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies, 16 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wildernesse: * the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shewe them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

* Exo.13.22. numb.14. 1.cor.10.1.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirite to instruct them, and withheldest not thy MAN from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou didst also feed them fourty yeres

in the wildernes: they lacked nothing: *their clothes wared not olde, and their feete [c] swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and [d] scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed *the land of Sihon and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan.

23 And thou diddest multiplie their children, like the starres of heauen, & broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, & possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards, and oliues, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behind their backes, and slew thy Prophets (which [e] protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardst them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest thē sauiours, who saued them out of the hands of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had [f] rest, they returned to do euil before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cried vnto thee, thou heardst them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Lawe: but they behaued themselues proudely, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (*which a man should do and liue in them) and [g] pulled away the shoulder, and were stiffenecked, and would not [h] heare.

30 Yet thou † diddest forbeare them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy spirit, euen by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Nowe therefore our God, * thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest couenant and *mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a little before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the kings of [i] Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou [k] hast dealt truely, but wee haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy law, nor regarded thy commaundements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast [l] protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fatte land which thou didst set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill workes.

36 Beholde, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the [m] fruite thereof, and the goodnes thereof, beholde, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruite vnto the kings whome thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Nowe because of all this wee make [n] a sure couenant, and write it, and our Princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by l the staires of the citie of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyonde the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the seconde companie of them that gaue thankes, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the tower of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the olde gate, and vpon the fishgate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, euen vnto the sheepegate: and they stoode in the gate of the warde

40 So stoode the two companies (of them that gaue thankes) in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiiah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers † sang loude, hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerseer.

†Ebr. caused to heare.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Jerusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at ỳ same time were men appointed m ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings (for the first fruites, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fieldes of the cities, the portions of the Lawe for the Priestes and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests and for the Leuites that serued.

m Which were chambers appointed by Hezekiah to put in the tithes, and such 1 Kings, 2. Chron. 31. 11. and now were repayred againe for the same vse.

45 And both the singers and the Leuites kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification according to the commaundement of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euery day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites n gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

n That is, the tenth part of the tithes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproueth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

AND on that day did they reade in ỳ booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite * should not enter into the Congregation of God,

*Deut. 23. 3.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread & with water, * but hired Balaam against them, that hee should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

*Num. 22. 5, 6.

3 Now when they had heard ỳ Law, they separated separated frō Israel [a] all those y were mixed.

4 ¶ And before [b] this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being [c] kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offrings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priestes.

6 But in all this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two & thirtieth yere of [d] Artahshashte king of Babel, came I vnto the King, and [e] after certaine dayes, I obteined of ỹ king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, I vnderstoode [e] the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieued mee sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commaunded them to clense the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offring and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, euen the Leuites and the singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I the rulers and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of corne & of wine, & of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan ỹ sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my [f] kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes sawe I in Judah them, that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, & that brought in sheaues, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figs, and all burdens, and brought them into Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and [g] I protested to them in the day that they sold vitailes.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Judah euen in Jerusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Judah, and laide vnto them, What euil thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers [h] thus, and our God bring all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Jerusalem began to be [i] darke before the Sabbath, I commaunded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Jerusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tarie ye all night about the wall? If yee doe it once againe, I will lay handes vpon you. from that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I said vnto the Leuites, that they should clense themselues, and that they should come and [k] keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wiues of [l] Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and [m] cursed them, and smote certaine of them, & pulled off their haire, and tooke an othe of them by God, Yee shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 * Did not Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was * beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: * yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall wee then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marrie strange wiues?

28 And one of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, that [n] defile the Priesthoode, and the couenant of the Priesthood, and of the Leuites.

30 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wardes of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, 31 And for the offring of the wood at times appointed, and for the first fruites. Remember me, O my God, [o] in goodnesse.

[a] That is, all such, which had ioyned in vnlawfull marriage, and also those with whom God had forbidden them to haue societie.

[g] Declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Lawe to be vnpunished.

[h] Was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

THE ARGVMENT.

BEcauſe of the diuerſitie of names, whereby they vſed to name their Kings, and the ſupputation of yeeres wherein the Ebrewes, and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authors write diuerſly as touching this Ahaſhueroſh, but it ſeemeth Daniel 6.1. and 9.1. that hee was Darius King of the Medes, and ſonne of Aſtyages, called alſo Ahaſhueroſh, which was a name of honour, and ſignified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God towarde his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greateſt dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, he euer ſtirreth vp ſome, by whom he ſendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein alſo is deſcribed the ambition, pride and crueltie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their ſudden fall when they are at higheſt: and how God preſerueth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahaſhueroſh maketh a royall feaſt, 12 whereunto the Quene Vaſhti will not come, 19 for which cauſe ſhe is diuorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

NOw in the dayes of [a] Ahaſhueroſh (this is Ahaſhueroſh that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an [b] hundreth, and ſeuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In thoſe dayes when the King Ahaſhueroſh [c] ſate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shuſhan,

3 In the third yeere of his reigne, he made a feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruants, euen the power of Perſia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might ſhew the riches and glorie of his kingdome, & the honour of his great maieſtie many dayes, euen an hundreth and foureſcore dayes.

5 And when theſe dayes were expired, the King made a feaſt to all the people that were founde in the palace of Shuſhan, both vnto great and ſmal, ſeuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the Kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue clothes, faſtened with cordes of fine linnen and purple, in ſiluer rings, and pillars of marble: the [d] beds were of golde, and of ſiluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble, and alabaſter, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in veſſels of golde, and changed veſſel after veſſel, and royal wine in abundance according to the [e] power of the King.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might [f] compel: for ſo the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his houſe, that they ſhould do according to euery mans pleaſure.

9 ¶ The Queene Vaſhti made a feaſt alſo for the women in the royall houſe of King Ahaſhueroſh.

10 Vpon the [g] ſeuenth day when the King was merie with wine, he commaunded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the ſeuen eunuches, (that ſerued in the preſence of King Ahaſhueroſh)

11 To bring Queene Vaſhti before the King with the crowne royall, that hee might ſhewe the people and the princes her beautie: for ſhee was fayre to looke vpon.

12 But ỳ Queene Vaſhti refuſed to come at the Kings word, † which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was verie angry, & his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the King ſaid to the wiſe men, [h] that knewe the times (for ſo was the Kings maner towards all that knew the lawe and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carſhena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarſhiſh, Meres, Marſena, and Memucan the ſeuen princes of Perſia, and Media, which ſawe the [i] Kings face, and ſate the firſt in the kingdome)

15 What ſhall wee doe vnto the Queene Vaſhti according to the law, becauſe ſhe did not according to the word of the king Ahaſhueroſh by the commiſſion of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan anſwered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vaſhti hath not onely done [k] euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahaſhueroſh.

17 For the [l] acte of the Queene ſhall come abroad vnto all women, ſo that they ſhall deſpiſe their huſbandes in their owne eyes, and ſhall ſay, The king Ahaſhueroſh commaunded Vaſhti the Queene to bee brought in before him, but ſhe came not.

18 So ſhall the [m] princeſſes of Perſia and Media this day ſay vnto all the kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus ſhall there be much deſpitefulneſſe and wrath.

19 If it pleaſe the king, let a royall decree proceed from him, and let it be written among the ſtatutes of Perſia and Media, (and let it not be tranſgreſſed) that Vaſhti come [n] no more before king Ahaſhueroſh: and let the king giue her royall eſtate vnto her companion that is better then ſhe.

2 And the Kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſaid, Let them ſeeke for the King beautiful yong virgins,

3 And let ẏ king appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shuſhan, into the houſe of the women, vnder the hand of Hege ẏ kings eunuch, c keeper of the women, to giue thē their things d for purification.

c The abuſe of their countries was ſo great, that they inuented many means to ſerue the luſts of princes: and therefore, as they apeined wicked lawes that the King might haue whole daughters he would, ſo they had diuers houſes appointed, as one of them, whither they were brought, another when they were concubines, and for the Queens another.

d Read what this purification was, verſe 12. a 2. Kin. 24. 15.

4 And the maid that ſhal pleaſe the King, let her reigne in the ſtead of Vaſhti. And this pleaſed the king, and he did ſo.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shuſhan, there was a certaine Iew, whoſe name was Mordecai the ſonne of Iair, the ſonne of Shimei, the ſonne of Kiſh a man of Iemini,

6 Which had bin caried away from Ieruſalem * with the captiuitie that was caried away wᵗ Ieconiah king of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caried away)

7 And he nouriſhed Hadaſſah, that is Eſter, his vncles daughter: for ſhee had neither father nor mother, and the maid was faire, and beautiful to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was publiſhed, and many maids were brought together to the palace of Shuſhā, vnder ẏ hand of Hege, Eſter was brought alſo vnto the kings houſe vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maid pleaſed him, & ſhee found fauour in his ſight: therefore hee cauſed her things for purification to be giuen her ſpedily, and her † ſtate, and ſeuen comely maides to bee giuen her out of the kings houſe, and hee gaue change to her and to her maides of the beſt in the houſe of the women.

† Ebr. portions.

10 But Eſter ſhewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that ſhe ſhould not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked e euery day before the court of the womens houſe, to know if Eſter did well, and what ſhould be done with her.

e For though ſhe was taken away by a cruell fact, yet he ceaſed not to haue a fatherly care ouer her, and therefore did reſort oft times to heare of her.

12 And whē the courſe of euery maid came, to go in to king Ahaſhuerosh, after that ſhe had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for ſo were the daies of their purifications accompliſhed, ſix moneths with oile of myrrhe, and ſix moneths with ſweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maids vnto the king) whatſoeuer ſhe required, was f giuen her, to goe with her out of the womens houſe vnto the kings houſe.

f What apparell ſhe aſked of the eunuch, that was he bound to giue her.

14 In the euening ſhe went, & on the morow ſhee returned into the ſecond houſe of the women vnder the hand of Shaaſhgaz ẏ Kings eunuche, which kept the concubines: ſhe came in to the king no more, except ſhee pleaſed the king, and that ſhe were called by name.

15 Now when the courſe of Eſter the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that ſhe ſhould goe in to the King, ſhe deſired nothing but what ‖ Hege ẏ kings eunuch the keeper of the women g ſaid: & Eſter found fauour in the ſight of all them that looked vpon her.

‖ Or, Hegai.

g Wherein her modeſtie appeared, becauſe ſhe ſought not apparel to commend her beautie, but ſtood to the Eunuches appointment.

16 ¶ So Eſter was taken vnto king Ahaſhuerosh into his houſe roial in the tenth moneth, which is the h moneth Tebeth, in the ſeuenth yeere of his reigne.

h Which contained part of December and part of Ianuary.

17 And the king loued Eſter aboue all the women, and ſhe found grace and fauour in his ſight more then al the virgins: ſo that he ſet the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in ſtead of Vaſhti.

18 Then the king made a great feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruaunts, which was i the feaſt of Eſter, and gaue reſt k vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to the l power of a king.

i That is, made for her ſake.

k He releaſed their tribute.

l That is, great and magnifical.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the m ſecond time, then Mordecai ſate in the kings gate.

m That is, at the mariage of Eſter, which was the ſecond mariage of the King.

20 Eſter had not yet ſhewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Eſter did after the worde of Mordecai, as when ſhe was nouriſhed with him.

21 ¶ In thoſe dayes when Mordecai ſate in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuches, Bigthan & Tereſh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and ſought to lay n hand on the king Ahaſhuerosh.

n Meaning, to kill him.

22 And the thing was knowē to Mordecai, and he told it vnto Queene Ester, & Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so; therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the [a] Chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after hee was exalted, obtained of the king, that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

AFter these things did king Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, & set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, & reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commaunded concerning him: but Mordecai [b] bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruaunts which were at the kings gate, sayd vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake daily vnto him, yet hee would not heare them: therefore they [b] told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, that he was a Iewe.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Nowe hee † thought it too litle to laie hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth [c] Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of king Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) [d] before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth [e] Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto king Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the [f] kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profite to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it bee written that they may bee destroyed, and I will † paie ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the kings treasurie.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people, to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings ‖ scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to al that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, & to the captains that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, & to euery prouince, according to the writing therof, & to euery people according to their language: in ỹ name of king Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent † by posts into all the kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong & old, children and wome, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoile them as a praie.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be giuen a commaundement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the [g] citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Iewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

NOwe when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth, and ashes, and went out into the midst of the citie, and cried with a great cry, and a bitter,

2 And he came euen before the kings [a] gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince & place, whither the kings charge & his commission came, there was great sorow among the Iewes, & fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and † many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esters maids and her eunuches came and told it her: therfore the Queene was very heauy, & she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings eunuches, whom hee † had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went foorth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the † summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them.

[a] In the Chronicles of the Iewes and Persians, as Chap. 10, 2.

9 ¶ So whē Hatach came, he told Ester the wordes of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, & commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings seruants and the people of the kings prouinces do know, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shal die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rodde, that hee may liue. Nowe I haue not bin called to come vnto the king these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes.

13 And Mordecai saide, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, †comfort and deliuerance[b] shall appeare to the Iewes out of an other place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for [c]such a time?

15 Then Ester commaunded to answere Mordecai,

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, & fast ye for me, & eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my maides will fast likewise, and so will I goe in to ỳ king, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, [d]I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had cōmanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entreth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallow for Mordecai.

AND on the third [a] day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the kings palace within, ouer against ỳ kings house: and the king sate vpon his royal throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the king sawe Ester the Queene standing in ỳ court, she found fauour in his sight: and the king [b] held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drewe neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then saide the king vnto her, What wilt thou, Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen [c] thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banket, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king saide, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath said. So the King and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And ỳ king said vnto Ester at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and saide, My petition and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the King and Haman come to the banket that I shal prepare for them, and I wil doe to morrowe according to the Kings [e] saying.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth ỳ same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the kings gate, that he stoode not vp, nor mooued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had [f]promoted him, and howe that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the king.

12 Haman said moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the king to the banket that she had prepared, saue me: and to morowe am I bidden vnto her also with the King.

13 But all this doth nothing availe me, as long as I see Mordecai the Iewe sitting at the Kings gate.

14 Then saide Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie [g] cubites hie, and to morowe speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banket. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 and commaundeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

THe same night † the King slept not, and he commanded to bring the Booke of the Records, and the Chronicles: and they were read before the King.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai * had tolde of Bigtana, and Teresh two of the Kings Eunuches keepers of the doore, who sought to lay handes on the King Ahashuerosh.

[c] Fit to deliuer Gods church out of these present dangers.

[d] I will put my life in danger and referre the successe to God, seeing it is for his glory and the deliuerance of his Church.

* Chap. 2, 22.

3 Then the king ſaid, What honour and dignitie hath beene giuen to Mordecai [a] for this? And the kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſaid, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king ſaid, Who is in ỹ court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the kings houſe, that he might ſpeake vnto the king to [b] hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Behold, Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſaid, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king ſaid vnto him, What ſhall be done vnto the man whom the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman anſwered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparel, which the king vſeth to weare, and the [c] horſe that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be ſet vpon his head:

9 And let the raiment and the horſe be deliuered by the hand of one of the kings moſt noble Princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cauſe him to ride vpon the horſe thorowe the ſtreete of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus ſhall it be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king ſaid to Haman, Make haſte, take the raiment and the horſe as thou haſt ſaid, and doe ſo to Mordecai the Iew, that ſitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horſe, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horſe backe thorowe the ſtreete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus ſhall it be done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to ỹ kings gate, but Haman haſted home mourning, and his head couered.

13 And Haman tolde Zereſh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then ſaid his wiſe men, and Zereſh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the ſeede of ỹ Iewes, before whom thou haſt begunne to fall, thou ſhalt not preuaile againſt him, [d] but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches, and haſted to bring Haman vnto the banket: that Eſter had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the King and Haman againe, and prayeth for her ſelfe and her people. 6 She accuſeth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallous, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the King and Haman came to banket with the Queene Eſter.

2 And the king ſaid againe vnto Eſter on the ſecond day at the banket of [a] wine, What is thy petition, Queene Eſter, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? It ſhall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the Kingdome.

3 And Eſter ỹ Queene anſwered, & ſaid, If I haue found fauour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſold, I, and my people, to be deſtroyed, to be ſlaine and to periſh: but if we were ſold for ſeruants, and for handmaides, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduerſarie could not [b] recompence ỹ kings loſſe.

5 Then king Ahaſhuerosh anſwered, and ſaid vnto the Queene Eſter, Who is he? and where is he that † preſumeth to doe thus?

6 And Eſter ſaide, The aduerſarie and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the King and the Queene.

7 And the king aroſe from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman ſtoode vp, to requeſt for his life to the Queene Eſter: for he ſawe that there was a [c] miſchiefe prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the houſe where they dranke wine, Haman was [d] fallen vpon the bedde whereon Eſter ſate: therefore the king ſaid, Will he force the Queene alſo before me in the houſe? As the word went out of ỹ kings mouth they [e] couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, ſaid in the preſence of the king, Beholde, there ſtandeth yet the tree in Hamans houſe fifty cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that [f] ſpake good for the king. Then the king ſaid, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

2 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 comfortable letters are ſent vnto the Iewes.

THe ſame day did king Ahaſhuerosh giue the houſe of Haman the aduerſarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Eſter: and Mordecai [a] came before the king: for Eſter tolde what he was [b] vnto her.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Eſter ſet Mordecai ouer the houſe of Haman.

3 And Eſter ſpake yet more before ỹ king, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and beſought him that he would put away the [c] wickednes

4 And the king held out the golden [d] ſceptter toward Eſter. Then aroſe Eſter, and ſtood before the king,

5 And ſaide, If it pleaſe the king, and if I haue found fauour in his ſight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I pleaſe him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the ſonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which hee wrote to deſtroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces.

6 For howe can I ſuffer and ſee the euill, that ſhall come vnto my people? Or howe can I ſuffer and ſee the deſtruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahaſhuerosh ſaide vnto the Queene Eſter, and to Mordecai the Iew, Behold, I haue giuen Eſter the houſe of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpō the tree, becauſe he ‖ laide hand vpon the Iewes.

‖ Or, went about to ſlay the Iewes.

8 Write ye alſo for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and ſeale it with the kings ring (for the writings written in the kings name, and ſealed with the kings ring, may no [e] man reuoke)

e This was the law of the Medes and Perſians, as Dan. 6.15. notwithſtanding the king reuoked the former decree granted to Haman for Eſters ſake.

9 Then were the kings ſcribes called at the ſame time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth [f] Siuan, on the three & twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to al as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes and captaines & rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth and ſeuen and twenty prouinces, vnto euerie prouince, according to the writing therof, and to euery people after their ſpeach, & to the Iewes according to their writing, and according to their language.

f Which containeth part of May and part of June.

g That is, in ſuch letters and language, as was vſuall in euery prouince.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahaſhuerosh name, and ſealed it with the kings ring: and he ſent letters by poſts on horſebacke and that rode on beaſtes of price, as dromedaries and ‖ colts of mares.

‖ Or, mules.

11 Wherein the king granted the Iewes (in what Cities ſoeuer they were) to gather themſelues together, & to ſtand for [h] their life, and to roote out, to ſlay and to deſtroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to ſpoyle their goods:

h That is, to defend themſelues againſt all that would aſſaile them.

12 Vpon one day in all the Prouinces of king Ahaſhuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth [i] Adar.

i Which hath part of Februarie and part of March.

13 The copie of the writing was, howe there ſhould be a commaundement giuen in all and euery prouince, publiſhed among all the people, and that the Iewes ſhould be ready againſt that day to [k] auenge themſelues on their enemies.

k The king gaue them liberty to kill all that did oppreſſe them.

14 So the poſts rode vpon beaſtes of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with ſpeede, to execute the kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shuſhan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royall apparell of blew, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shuſhan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and [l] ioy and gladnes, and honour.

l He ſheweth by theſe words that follow, what this light was.

17 Alſo in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery citie and place, where the Kings commaundement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnes to the Iewes, a feaſt and good day, and many of the people of the lande [m] became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

m Conformed themſelues to the Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commaundement of the King the Iewes put their aduerſaries to death. 14 The tenne ſonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feaſt in remembrance of their deliuerance.

NOw in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the ſame, when the kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it [a] turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth the ioy of the wicked into ſorrowe, and the teares of the godly into gladneſſe.

2 The Iewes gathered themſelues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the king Ahaſhuerosh, to lay hand on ſuch as ſought their hurt, and no man coulde withſtand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the king [b] exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

b Did them honour and ſhewed them friendſhip.

4 For Mordecai was great in the Kings houſe, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes ſmote all their [c] enemies with ſtrokes of the ſword and ſlaughter, and deſtruction, and did what they would vnto thoſe that hated them.

c Which had conſpired their death by the permiſſion of the wicked Haman.

6 And at Shuſhan the palace ſlewe the Iewes and deſtroyed [d] fiue hundreth men, d Beſides thoſe three hundreth, that they ſlewe the ſecond day, as verſe 15.

7 And Parſhandatha, and Dalphon, and Aſpatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmaſhta, and Ariſai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha,

10 The tenne ſonnes of Haman, the ſonne of Ammedatha, the aduerſarie of the Iewes ſlewe they: but they layde not their hands [e] on the ſpoyle.

e Whereby they declared that this was Gods iuſt iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, ſeeing much as they ſought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

11 On the ſame day came the number of thoſe that were ſlaine, vnto the palace of Shuſhan before the king.

12 And the King ſaide vnto the Queene Eſter, The Iewes haue ſlaine in Shuſhan the palace and deſtroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten ſonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the reſt of the kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy requeſt moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then ſaid Eſter, If it pleaſe the King, let it be granted alſo to morrowe to the Iewes that are in Shuſhan, to do according [f] vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten ſonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe ſo, and the decree was giuen at Shuſhan, and they hanged Hamans ten ſonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shuſhan, aſſembled themſelues vpon the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar, and ſlew three hundreth men in Shuſham, but on the ſpoile they laide not their hand,

16 And the reſt of the Iewes that were in the kings prouinces aſſembled themſelues, and ſtood for their liues, and had reſt from their enemies, and ſlew of them that hated them, [h] ſeuenty and fiue thouſand: but they laid not their hand on the ſpoyle.

17 This they did on the [i] thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and reſted on the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it, a day of feaſting & ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shuſhan aſſembled themſelues on the thirteenth day, and on the foureteenth thereof, and they reſted on the fifteenth of the ſame, and kept it a day of feaſting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, [k] kept the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feaſting, euen a iofull day, and euery one ſent preſents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote [l] theſe words, and ſent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahaſhuerosh, both neere and farre, 21 Inioyning them that they ſhould keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the ſame, euery yeere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes reſted from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from ſorrowe to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyful day, to keep them the dayes of feaſting, and ioy, and [m] to ſend preſents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promiſed to doe as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, 24 Becauſe Haman the ſonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerſarie, had imagined againſt the Iewes, to deſtroy them, and had [n] caſt Pur (that is a lot) to conſume and deſtroy them.

25 And when [o] ſhee came before the king, he commanded by letters, Let this wicked deuice (which he imagined againſt the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his ſonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called theſe dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and becauſe of all the words of this letter, and of that which they had ſeene beſides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes alſo ordained, and promiſed for them and for their ſeede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ faile to obſerue thoſe [q] two dayes euery yere, according to their writing, and according to their ſeaſon,

28 And that theſe dayes ſhould be remembred, & kept throughout euery generation, and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euen theſe daies of Purim ſhould not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them ſhould not periſh from their ſeed.

29 And the Queene Eſter the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with all ‖ authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the ſecond time.)

30 And he ſent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and ſeuen and twentie prouinces of [p] kingdom of Ahaſhuerosh, with [r] words of peace and trueth, 31 To confirme theſe dayes of Purim, according to their ſeaſons, as Mordecai [p] Iewe, and Eſter the Queen had appointed them, and as they had promiſed for them † ſelues and for their ſeed with [ſ] faſting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Eſter confirmed theſe words of Purim, & was written in the booke.

IOB.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things & in his body, but also in his mind and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtill disputations brought him almost to despaire: for they set forth God as a seuere iudge, and mortal enemy vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did al his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie wee haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defende it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secrete iudgements, whereof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should bee conuicted. Moreouer, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, and affliction he brasteth foorth into many inconueniences both of words and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handle well. Againe the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments: that God punisheth continually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14.14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iam. 5.11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holinesse, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 Hee tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

THere was a man in the land of [a] Uz called Iob, and this man [b] was an vpright and iust man, [c] one that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And he had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His [d] substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand Camels, and fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth shee asses, and his familie was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the † men of [e] the East.

4 And his sonnes went [f] banketted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate [g] drinke with them.

5 And when the daies of their banketing were gone about, Iob sent, [f] sanctified them, and rose vp earely in the morning, and offred burnt offrings according to the number of thē al. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, [g] blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob [i] euery day.

6 Now on a day when the [k] children of God came and stoode [l] before the Lord, Satan [m] came also among them.

7 Then [ŷ] Lord said vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, [o] From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruāt Iob, how none is like him in the earth: an vpright [p] iust man, one that feareth God, and eschueth euil?

9 Then Satan answered the Lorde, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for [q] nought?

10 Hast thou not made [q] an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that hee hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out nowe thine hand and [r] touch all that he hath, to see if he wil not blaspheme thee to [s] thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe, all that hee hath is in [t] thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the [u] presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles hee was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The [y] fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe, and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, ano-a That is, of the country of Idumea, as Lamen. 4.21. or bordering thereupon: for the land was called by the name of Uz the sonne of Dishan the son of Seir, Gen. 36.28.

b Forasmuch as he was a Gentile, and not a Iewe, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.

c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright and iust man.

d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his prosperity, and his patience and constancie, when God hath taken them from him.

e Meaning, the Arabians, Chaldeans, Idumeans, &c.

f That is, commaunded them to be sanctified, meaning, that they should consider the faults that they had committed, and reconcile themselues for the same.

g That is, hee offered for euery one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religion toward God, and the care that he had toward his children.

h In Ebrewe it is, and blessed God, which is sometime taken for blaspheming and cursing, as heere, and 1. King. 21.10. and 13. &c.

i While the feast lasted.

k Meaning, the Angels which are called the sons of God, because they are willing to execute his will.

l Because our infirmitie cannot comprehend God in his maiestie, he is set foorth vnto vs as a king, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him.

m This declareth that although Satan be aduersary to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and to doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment hee can doe nothing.

n This question is asked for our instruction for God knewe whence he came.

o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5.8.

p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that he receiueth by thee.

q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob, as a rampart against all tentations.

r This signifieth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it.

s Satan meeteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him.

u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for else he can neuer goe out of Gods presence.

x That is, the Arabians.

y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuously, for as much as hee might see, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God was against him.

ther came, & saide, The Caldeans set out three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slain the seruants with the edge of the swoꝛd: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came an other, and said, Thy [z] sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And beholde, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernesse, and smote the foure cozners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and woꝛshipped, 21 And he said, *Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne [b] thither: the Lord hath giuen, & the Lord hath taken it: [c] blessed be the name of the Lord.

22 In al this did not Iob sinne, noꝛ charge God [d] foolishly.

9 Then said his [k] wife vnto him, Doest thou [l] continue yet in thine vpꝛightnesse? [m] Blaspheme God and die.

10 But he saide vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not [n] receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his [o] lippes.

11 Now when Iobs three [p] friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: foꝛ they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfoꝛt him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knew him not: therefoꝛe they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinckled [q] dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the grounde seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a woꝛde vnto him: foꝛ they saw, that the griefe was very [r] great.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visite him.

AND on a day the [a] children of God came & stood befoꝛe the Lord, and [b] Satan came also among them, and stood befoꝛe the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answeared the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lorde saide vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? *an vpꝛight and iust man, one that feareth God, and eschweth euill? foꝛ yet he continueth in his vpꝛightnesse, [c] although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy [d] him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, [e] Skin foꝛ skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue foꝛ his life.

5 But stretch now out thine hand, & touch his [f] bones and his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe, he is in thine hand, but [g] saue his life.

7 So Satan departed from the presence of the Lorde, and smote Iob with soꝛe [h] boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne,

8 And hee tooke a [i] potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

9 Then said his wife vnto him, Doest thou continue yet in thine vpꝛightnesse? curse God and die.

10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his lippes.

11 Now when Iobs three friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: foꝛ they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfoꝛt him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knew him not: therefoꝛe they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinckled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the grounde seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a woꝛde vnto him: foꝛ they saw, that the griefe was very great.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans miserie.

AFteꝛward [a] Iob opened his mouth, and [b] cursed his day.

2 And Iob cried out and saide,

3 Let the day [c] perish, wherein I was boꝛne, and the night when it was saide, There is a man childe conceiued.

4 Let that day be darknesse, let not God [d] regarde it from aboue, neyther let the light shine vpon it.

5 But let darkenesse, and the [e] shadow of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darknes possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, noꝛ let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate bee that night, and let no ioy be in it.

8 Let them that curse the day, (being ready to renue their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke foꝛ light, but haue none: neither let it see † the dawning of the day,

This last ague declareth that when one plague is past which seemeth yet to be boꝛne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trie his, and teach them obedience.

Which came out of impatiencie, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blocks, but that in their patience they feele affliction, and griefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebel not against God, as the wicked doe. Eccle. 5. 14. Tim. 6. 7.

That is, into the bellie of the earth, which is the mother of all.

Hereby he confesseth that God is iust and good, although his hand be soꝛe vpon him. d But declared that God in all things according to iustice and equitie.

That is, the angels, as Chap. 4. 18.

Reade Chap. 1. 6.

Ezek. 14. 14. Chap. 14. 21.

Hee proueth Iobs integritie by this that hee ceased not to feare God when the plagues were grieuously vpon him.

That is, when thou hadst wrought against me, as when thou wast not assisted by me to bring thy purpose to passe.

Hereby hee meant that a man owes nothing vnto another vnto whom he owes his life.

Meaning, his owne person.

Thus Satan can go no further in punishing, then God hath limited him.

This soꝛe was most vehement wherewith God plagued the Egyptians, Exo. 9. 9.

That is, to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28. 27. so that this tentation was most grieuous: foꝛ if Iob had measured Gods fauoꝛ by the vehemencie of his plagues, he might haue thought that God had cast him off. i As destitute of all other helps and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the soꝛrow of his disease.

k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Meaning, what gaineth thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee as though he were thine enemie? This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assaulted, and when Satan goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in GOD in vaine.

m Foꝛ death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so she meant that hee should be soone ridde out of his paine.

n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce, when he sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to bee both mercifull and iust.

o Hee so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impatiencie did not murmure against God. p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfoꝛt him, but when they sawe howe he was visited, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, & so iustly plagued of God foꝛ his sinnes. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those Countries, as the tearing of their clothes in signe of soꝛrow, &c. r And therefoꝛe thought that hee would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13.

b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great imperfection in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a manner reeleth, yet in the end he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.

c Men ought not to be weary of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God.

d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to leparate it from the light. e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraide of death, that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night. g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day.

† Ebr. The eye lids of the morning.

10 Because it shut not vp the dores of my mothers wombe nor hide sorowe from mine eyes, 11 [h] Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breests?

13 For so should I nowe haue [i] lien and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest,

14 With the kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues [k] desolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with siluer.

16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light?

17 The wicked [l] haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The [m] prisoners rest together, and heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his maister.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and [n] life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

22 Which ioy for gladnesse, and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is [o] hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I [p] feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I rest, [q] yet trouble is come.

h This and that which followeth, declareth that what man giueth place to his passions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euil, except God call him backe.

i The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to vtter these words, as though death were the end of all miseries, & as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the infirmities of his flesh ruled him to burst out into this errour of the wicked.

k Here noteth the ambition of the, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would hereby make their names immortall.

l That is, by death the cruelties of the tyrants hath ceased.

m All they that sustaine any kind of calamitie and miserie in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh.

n He sheweth that the benefits of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.

o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence.

p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to mee as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 and vniustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but [a] who can withholde himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold thou hast taught many, and [b] hast strengthened the wearie hands.

4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.

a Seeing this thine impatiencie.

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy [c] feare, thy confidence, thy patience, & the vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished, being an [d] innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they that [e] plow iniquitie, and sowe wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the [f] blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrels are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the [g] Lion, & the voyce of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelps are broken.

11 The Lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelps are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to me [h] secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoughtes of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones [i] to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, and made the haires of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stoode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in [k] silence heard I a voyce, saying, 17 Shall man bee more [l] iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Beholde, he found no stedfastnes in his seruants, and laid follie vpon his [m] Angels.

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of [n] clay, whose foundation is in the [o] dust, which shalbe destroyed before the moth?

20 They be destroyed from [p] the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, [q] without regard, 21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? do they not die, and that without [r] wisedome?

c Thus he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was reproued, seeing that God had led him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnall men make against the children of God.

e They that be euill, cannot but receiue euill.

f He sheweth how God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.

g Though men according to their office do punish tyrants, (whom for their crueltie he compareth to lyons) & their children to their whelpes: yet God doth as able, and his iustice will punish them.

h A thing that I knew not before was declared vnto me by visions, that is, that whosoeuer thereby himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, whom he commeth before God.

i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ingred, that the authoritie thereof might be had in greater reuerence. k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Eliah, 1. King. 19. 12. l If God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator which were a blasphemie. m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, which they are not mainteined by his power, howe much more shall he lay follie to mans charge, when hee would iustifie himselfe against God? n That is, in the mortall bodie, subiect to corruption, 2. Cor. 5. 1. o They see death continually before their eyes, and daily approching toward them. p No man for all this doeth consider it. q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to think on death.

CHAP. V.

1 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

CAll now, if any will [a] answere thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse [b] anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.

a He willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued as no true godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as he doth. b Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth the paine, and peruerteth mans follie.

3 I haue ſeene the [c] fooliſh well rooted, and ſuddenly I [d] curſed his habitation, ſaying,

4 His [e] children ſhalbe far from ſaluation, and they ſhalbe deſtroyed in the [f] gate, and none ſhall deliuer them.

5 The hungry ſhall eate vp his harueſt: yea, they ſhall take it frō among the [g] thornes, and the thirſtie ſhall drinke vp their ſubſtance.

6 For miſerie commeth not forth of the duſt, [h] neither doeth affliction ſpring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto [i] trauell, as the ſparks flie vpward.

8 But I would inquire [k] at God, and turne my talke vnto God.

9 Which [l] doeth great things and vnſearchable, and marueilous things without number.

10 Hee [m] giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the ſtreetes.

11 And ſetteth vp on hie them that be low, that the ſorowful may be exalted to ſaluation.

12 He ſcattereth the deuiſes of the craftie: ſo that their handes cannot accompliſh that which they doe enterpriſe.

13 * He taketh the wiſe in their craftines, and the counſel of the wicked is made fooliſh.

14 They meete with [n] darkeneſſe in the day time, and [o] grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But hee ſaueth the [p] poore from the ſworde, from their [q] mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie ſhall [r] ſtop her mouth.

17 Behold, bleſſed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuſe not thou the chaſtiſing of the Almightie.

18 For hee maketh the wounde, and bindeth it vp: hee ſmiteth, and his handes make whole.

19 Hee ſhall deliuer thee in [s] ſixe troubles, and in the ſeuenth the euil ſhall not touch thee.

20 In famine hee ſhall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the ſworde.

21 Thou ſhalt bee hid from the ſcourge of the tongue, and thou ſhalt not be afraid of deſtruction when it commeth.

22 But thou ſhalt [t] laugh at deſtruction and dearth, and ſhalt not bee afraide of the beaſt of the earth.

23 For the ſtones of the fielde [u] ſhall be in league with thee, and the beaſtes of the fielde ſhalbe at peace with thee, 24 And thou ſhalt know, that peace ſhall be in thy tabernacle, and thou ſhalt viſit thine habitation, and ſhalt not [x] ſinne.

25 Thou ſhalt perceiue alſo, that thy ſeed ſhall be great, and thy poſteritie as the graſſe of the earth.

26 Thou ſhalt goe to the graue in [y] a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due ſeaſon into the barne.

27 Loe, [z] thus haue we inquired of it, and ſo it is: heare this and know it for thy ſelfe.

[a] That is, the ſinner that hath not the feare of God.
[b] I was not moued with his proſperity, but knew that God had puniſhed him and his.
[c] Though God ſometime ſuffer, the fathers to proſper in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.
[d] By publique iudgement they ſhalbe condemned, & none ſhal pitie them.
[e] Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet theſe ſhalbe taken from him.
[f] That is, the earth is not the cauſe of barrennesſe and mans miſerie, but his owne ſinne.
[g] Which declareth that ſinne is euer in our corrupte nature: and before ſinne he was not ſubiect to paine and affliction.
[h] If I ſuffered as thou doeſt, I would ſeeke vnto God.
[i] He counſelleth Iob to humble himſelfe vnto God, to whom all creatures are ſubiect, and whoſe workes declare that man is vnreuocable, except he glorifie God in all his workes.
[k] He ſheweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are.
[l] 1. Cor. 3. 19.
[m] In things plaine and euident they ſhew themſelues fooles in ſtead of wiſe men.
[n] This declareth that God puniſheth the worldly wiſe, as he threatened, Deut. 28. 29.
[o] That is, he that humbleth himſelfe before God.
[p] He compareth the ſlander of the wicked to ſharpe ſwords.
[q] If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to ſtop their mouthes, much more they that profeſſe God.
[r] Hee will ſende trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually truſt in him: but they ſhall haue a comfortable iſſue, euen in the greateſt and the laſt, which is here called the ſeuenth.
[s] Where as the wicked lament in their troubles, thou ſhalt haue occaſion to reioyce.
[t] When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures ſhall ſerue vs.
[u] To know whether I complaine without iuſt cauſe.
[x] God ſhall ſo bleſſe thee, that thou ſhalt haue occaſion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.
[y] Though the children of God haue not alwayes this proſperous perfection, yet God doth recompenſe it otherwiſe to their aduantage.
[z] Wee haue learned theſe points by experience, that God puniſheth not the innocent, that man can not compare in iuſtice with him, that the hypocrites ſhall not long proſper, and that the affliction which man ſuſteineth, commeth for his owne ſinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob anſwereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his fault. 8 He wiſheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

BUt Iob anſwered, and ſaid,

2 Oh that my griefe were wel weyed, and my miſeries were layed together in the [a] ballance!

3 For it would be now heauier then the ſand of the ſea: therefore my words are [b] ſwallowed vp.

4 For [ẏ] arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venime whereof doth drinke vp my ſpirit, and the terrors of God [c] fight againſt me.

5 Doth the [d] wilde aſſe bray when hee hath graſſe? or loweth the ore when hee hath fodder?

6 That which is [e] vnſauery, ſhall it be eaten without ſalt? or is there any taſte in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my ſoule refuſed to touch, as were ſorowes, are my meat.

8 Oh that I might haue my [f] deſire, and that God would graunt mee the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would deſtroy me: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

10 Then ſhoulde I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with ſorow, let him not ſpare) [g] becauſe I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I ſhould endure? or what is mine [h] end, if I ſhould prolong my life?

12 Is my ſtrength the ſtrength of ſtones? or is my fleſh of braſſe?

13 Is it not ſo, that there is in me no [i] helpe? and that ‖ ſtrength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miſerie, ought to be comforted of his neighbor: but men haue forſaken the feare of the Almightie.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a [k] brooke, and as the riuing of the riuers they paſſe away.

[a] To know whether I complaine without iuſt cauſe.
[b] My griefe is ſo great, that I lacke words to expreſſe it.
[c] Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in bodie, but wounded in conſcience, which is the greateſt baſtel that the faithfull can haue.
[d] Thinke you that I crie without cauſe, ſeeing the brute beaſts do not complaine when they haue what they would?
[e] Can a mans taſte delight in that that hath no ſauor? meaning, that none take pleaſure in affliction, ſeeing they cannot away with things that are vnſauerie to the mouth.
[f] Herein he ſinneth double, both in wiſhing ſharp impatiencie to die, and alſo in deſiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.
[g] That is, let me die at once, before I come to diſtruſt in Gods promiſe through mine impatiencie.
[h] He feareth leaſt he ſhould be brought to inconueniences, if his ſorowes ſhould continue.
[i] Haue I not ſought to helpe my ſelfe as much as was poſſible? ‖ Or, wiſdome, or law.
[k] He compareth thoſe friends which comfort vs not in miſerie, to a brooke, which in Summer, when we need waters, is drie. In Winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine when we haue no need ouerfloweth with water.

16 Which are blackish with ice, and wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hote they faile out of their places, 18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, [l] considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like [m] vnto it: yee haue seene my fearefull plague, & are afraide.

22 Was it because I sayde, Bring vnto me: or giue a reward to me of your [n] substance:

23 And deliuer me frō the enemies hand, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants:

24 Teach mee, and I will [o] holde my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand, wherein I haue erred.

25 How [p] stedfast are the wordes of righteousnesse: and what can any of you iustly reproue:

26 Doe yee imagine to reproue [q] words, that the talke of the afflicted should bee as the winde:

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content to [r] looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there bee none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue: doth not my mouth feele sorrowes:

l They that passe thereby to go into the hote countries of Arabia thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them, that thinke to haue water there in their neede, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

n He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessitie will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfortable words.

o Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

p He that hath a good conscience, doth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.

q Do you cauill at my words because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie?

r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impaciencie through verie sorrow, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortnesse and miserie of mans life.

IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth: and are not his dayes as the dayes of an [a] hireling:

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, & as an hireling looketh for ẏ end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the [b] moneths of vanity, and painfull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layed me downe, I sayde, When shall I arise: and measuring the euening I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is [c] clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skin is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then [d] a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

a Hath not an hired seruant some rest & ease: then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

b By sorowe hath continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning, in consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

8 The eye that hath seene mee, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 [e] As the cloud vanisheth & goeth away, so hee that goeth downe to the graue, shall [f] come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therfore I will not [g] spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and muse in the bitternesse of my minde.

12 Am I a sea [h] or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in ward:

13 When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou me [i] with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule [k] chuseth rather to be strangled & to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: [l] spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.

17 What is man that thou [m] doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him:

18 And doest visit him euery morning, and triest him euery moment:

19 How long will it bee yer thou depart from me: thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may [n] swallow my spettle.

20 I haue [o] sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee: O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set mee as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe:

21 And why doest thou not pardō my trespasse: and take away mine iniquity: for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall [o] not be found.

e If thou beholde me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.

g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words & thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day.

k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorow, and not of iudgement or of ẏ examination of his faith.

l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.

m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honor to contend against him? Ibid. all kinde of perswasion God, that he might stay his hand.

n After all temptations faith buffeteth forth & leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfection, that he could bridle himself from reasoning with God, because that he still tried his faith.

o That is, I shalbe no

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 Howe long wilt thou talke of these things: and how long shall the words of thy mouth [a] be as a mightie winde:

3 Doeth God peruert iudgement: or doth the Almightie subuert iustice:

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and hee hath sent them into the place of their [b] iniquitie,

5 Yet if thou [c] wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightie,

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and hee will make the habitation of thy righteousnesse prosperous.

a He declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the Iustice of God, is but a puffe of wind that vanisheth away.

b That is, he rewarded the offending to their iniquitie: meaning that Iob ought to be iudged by the example of his children that he offended not God.

c That is, if thou turne betime whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

9 (For we are but [f] of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?

11 Can a [g] rush growe without myre? or can the grasse grow without water?

13 So are the paths of al that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a [h] spider.

15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shal not stand: he shall holde him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The [i] tree is greene before the Sunne, & the branches spread ouer the garden therof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it [k] denie, saying, I haue not seene thee,

19 Behold, it wil reioyce [l] by this meanes, that it may grow in another molde, 20 Beholde, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will hee take the wicked by the hand.

21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with [m] laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee, shalbe clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

d These are the names of certain starres, whereby he meaneth that all starres both knowen & vnknowen are at his appointment.
e I am not able to comprehend his workes, which are common and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things, which are hid and secret.
f He sheweth that when God doeth execute his power, he do it iustly, forasmuch as none can controle him.
g God will not be appeased for ought that man can say for himselfe for his iustification.
h That is, all the reasons that men can lay to approue their cause.
i How should I be able to answere him by eloquence? whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart [p] which they spake.
k Meaning, in his own opinion, signifying that man wil sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination.
l Whiles I am in my pangs, I cannot but haste forth into many inconueniences, although I know stil that God is iust.
m I am not able to feele my crimes so great as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this he speaketh to condemne his rudenesse, and to iustifie God.
n After he hath accused his owne weakenesse, he continueth to iustifie God and his power.
o If I would stand in mine owne defence,

Job here answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration touching the iustice of God, and his inocencie, confessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.
Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.
He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe if hee would set foorth his power.

8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 He maketh the starres [d] Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, & the climates of the South.

10 Hee doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous things without number.

11 Loe, when hee goeth [e] by mee, I see him not: and when hee passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Beholde, when he taketh a praye, [f] who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God [g] wil not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpes [h] doe stoope vnder him.

14 How much lesse shall I answere him? or howe should I finde out [i] my wordes with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet coulde I [k] not answere, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I [l] cry, & he answere me, yet would I not beleeue, that he heard my voyce.

17 For hee destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me [m] without cause.

18 He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.

19 If we speake of strength, beholde, hee is [n] strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: [o] if I would be perfit, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I said, He destroyeth the [p] perfit and the wicked.

23 If the scourge should suddenly [q] slay, should God [r] laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hande of the wicked: hee [s] couereth the faces of the Iudges thereof: if not, where [t] is he? or who is hee?

25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a post: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the eagle, that flieth to the praye.

27 If [u] I say, I will forget my complaint, I wil cease from my wrath, and comfort me.

28 Then I am afraide of all my sorrowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I bee wicked, why [x] labour I thus in vaine?

yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart and conscience.
p If God punish according to his iustice, hee will destroy alwell them that are counted perfit as them that are wicked.
q To wit, the wicked.
r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 5. 3. why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?
s That they cannot see to do iustice.
t That can shew the contrary.
u I thinke not to fall into these affections, but my sorowes bring mee to these manifolde infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me.
x Why doeth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousnesse is nothing.

THen Job answered, and said,

2 I knowe verily that it is so: for how should man compared to God be [a] iustified?

3 If he would dispute with him, hee could not answere him one thing of a [b] thousand.

4 He is wise in heart, & mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?

5 He remooueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He [c] remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 He commaundeth the Sunne, & it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.

30 If I wash my selfe with snow water, and purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne [z] clothes shall make me filthy.
32 For hee is not a man as I am, that I should answere him, if wee come together to iudgement.
33 Neither is there any vmpire [a] that might lay his hand vpon vs both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me.
35 Then will I speake, and feare him not:
[b] but because I am not so, I holde me still.

y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.
z Whatsoeuer I would die to couer my filthines withal, that discloseth me so much more.
a Which might make an accord betweene God and me, speaking of impacience, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him.
b Signifying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is wearie of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 Hee desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

MY soule is cut off [a] though I liue: I will leaue my [b] complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitternes of my soule.
2 I will say vnto God, [c] Condemne mee not: shewe mee, wherefore thou contendest with me.
3 Thinkest thou it [d] good to oppresse mee, and to cast off the [e] labour of thine handes, and to fauour the [f] counsell of the wicked?
4 Hast thou [g] carnal eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?
5 Are thy dayes as mans [h] dayes? or thy yeeres, as the time of man, 6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?
7 Thou knowest that I [i] cannot do wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.
8 Thine [k] handes haue made mee, and fashioned me wholly round about, and wilt thou destroy me?
9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as [l] the clay, and wilt thou bring mee into dust againe?
10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke?
and turned me to cruds like cheese?
11 Thou hast clothed mee with skinne and flesh, and ioyned mee together with bones and sinewes.
12 Thou hast giuen mee life, and [m] grace:
and thy [n] visitation hath preserued my spirit.
13 Though thou hast hidde these things in thine heart, yet I know [o] that it is so with thee.
14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt strait-ly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde me guilt-lesse of mine iniquitie.
15 If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.
16 But let it increase: hunt thou mee as a lyon: returne and shewe thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon me.
17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me,
and thou increasest thy wrath against mee:
[r] changes & armies of sorowes are against me.
18 Wherefore then hast thou brought mee out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!
19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!
20 Are not my dayes few? let him [s] cease and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort, 21 Before I go [t] shall not [u] returne, euen to the land of darkenesse and shadowe of death:
22 Into a land, I say, darke as darkenesse it selfe, and into the shadowe of death, where is no [x] order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

a I am more like to a dead man then to one that liueth.
b I will make an ample declaration of my torments, accusing my selfe and not God.
c He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinary meanes that he punisheth others.
d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to doe me wrong?
e Wilt thou be without compassion?
f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked and condemne me?
g Dost thou this of ignorance?
h Art thou inconstant & changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morow an enemie.
i By affliction thou keepest mee as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euil, neither can any set me at libertie.
k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercy of God in the wonderfull creation of man: whereon groundeth that God should not shew himselfe rigorous against him.
l As brittle as a pot of clay.
m That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other giftes whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.
n That is, thy fatherly care and prouidence, whereby thou preseruest mee, and without the which I should perish straightway.
o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needes confesse that it is so.
p I will alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iust before thee.
q Iob being now assaulted in the battel betweene the flesh and the spirit, bursteth out into these affections, wishing rather short dayes then long paine.
r That is, diuersitie of diseases & in great abundance: shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man.
s He wisheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great misery and the brenitie of his life.
t He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions.
u See Distinctly and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore can not apprehende that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection.
x See Distinctly on betweene light and darkenesse, but where all is very darkenesse it selfe.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is merciful to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

THen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great [a] talker be iustified?
3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies?
and when thou mockest others shal none make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast said, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.
5 But, oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!
6 That hee might shewe thee the [c] secrets of wisedome, howe thou hast deserued double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.
7 Canst thou by searching finde out God?
canst thou finde out the Almightie to his perfection?
8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou doe? [d] it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?
9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.
10 If he cut off and [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?
11 For hee knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquity, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.
12 Yet vaine man would bee wise, though man new borne is like a wilde asse [f] colt.
13 If thou [g] prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands toward him:

a Should be perswaded by his great talke, that he is iust.
b He chargeth Iob with this, that he should say, that the thing which he spake, was true, & that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is vnto him iustifying of the sentence he ignorantly gaue against Iob, whereby he was ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, & therefore God must be also of the contrarie side, and ouerthrow mans counsell.
d That is, the perfection of God, and that he is not able to comprehend the height of the heauen, the depth of hell, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine the perfection of the Creator?
e If God shut vp, who could open him?
f That is, without vnderstanding: so that whatsoeuer giftes hee hath afterwards, come of God and not of nature.
g If thou repent, pray vnto him.

turne the state of things, and establish a newe order in nature.

14 If iniquitie bee in thine [h] hande, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without spot, and shalt bee stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shal appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt bee bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee.

20 But the eyes [k] of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be sorow of minde.

CHAP. XII.

Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might, and power of God, 17 and how he changeth the course of things.

THen Iob answered, and said,

2 In deede because that ye are the people onely, [a] wisedome must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as wel as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 *I am [b] as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he [c] heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 [d] Hee that is readie to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers do prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, †whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske nowe the beastes, [e] and they shall teach thee, and the fowles of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hande is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all ‖ mankinde.

11 Doth not the eares [f] discerne ỹ words? and the mouth taste meate for it selfe?

12 Among the [g] ancient is wisedome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisedome and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Beholde, hee will breake downe, and it cannot be built: he shutteth a man vp, and hee cannot be loosed.

15 Beholde, hee withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when hee sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength & wisedome: hee that is deceiued, and that [h] deceiueth, are his.

17 Hee causeth the counsellers to goe as spoyled, and maketh the Iudges fooles.

18 [i] Hee looseth [k] the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 He leadeth away the princes as a prayse, and ouerthroweth the mightie.

20 Hee taketh away the speach from the [l] faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, & maketh the strength of the mightie weake.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe places from their darknesse, and bringeth forth the shadowe of death to light.

23 He [m] increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: hee enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernesse out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and hee maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friendes. 16 The penitent shalbe saued, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

LO, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstood it.

2 I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferiour vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almightie, and I desire [a] to dispute with God.

4 For indeed ye forge lies, and all you are [b] physitions of no value.

5 Oh, that you would holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdome!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake [c] wickedly for God? and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will ye accept his person? or wil ye contend for God?

9 Is it well that hee should seeke of you? will you make a lie for him, as one lyeth for a man?

10 He will surely reproue you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraide? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your

h Renounce thine owne euil workes, and see that they offend not God, ouer whom thou hast charge.

i He declareth what quietnesse of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turne to God by true repentance.

*Leuit. 26. 5, 6.

k He sheweth that contrary things shall come vnto them that do repent.

a Because you seeke not that which you speake, you thinke the whole world is in vaine, and so flatter your selues as though none knew any thing, or could know but you.

*Prou. 14. 2.

b He reproueth these his friends of two faults: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then in deede they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did vexe and despise their friend in his aduersitie.

c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth.

d As the rich do, because not a man dareth touch that goeth with a staffe in his hande, for fear of beating.

e He, to whom God hath brought in with his hand. c He declareth to them that dispute against him, that their wisedome is common to al, and such as the very beastes do daily teach. ‖Or, flesh. f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudgement, and aswell to know the right vse why God hath giuen them eares, as he hath giuen a mouth. g Though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisedome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdome, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alledged, Chap. 8. 8.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this world without Gods will & ordinance: for els he should not be Almightie.

i He taketh wisedome from them.

k He abaseth the honor of princes, & bringeth them into the subiection of others.

l He causeth that their words haue no credit, which is when he not punisheth sinne.

m In this processe of Gods wonderful workes Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this world both in the order & change of things, is by Gods will and appointment: wherein he declareth that he thinketh well of God, & is able to set forth his power in words as they that resisted against, were.

a For although he knew that God had a iustice, which was manifest in his ordinary working, & another in his secret counsel, yet he would bitter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him.

b You doe not well apply your medicine to the disease.

c He condemneth their zeale, which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alwaye grated on Gods iustice, as though it was not suidently seene in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof.

d Your fame shall come to nothing.

12 Your d memories may bee compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

14 Wherefore doe I e take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reproone my wayes in his sight.

16 He shalbe my saluation also: for the f hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my words, and marke my talke.

18 Behold now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I know that I shall be g iustified.

19 Who is he, that will pleade h with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I i die.

20 But doe not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

21 k Withdraw thine hand from mee, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me.

23 l Howe many are m mine iniquities and sinnes? shew me my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?

25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?

26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse n the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feete also in the † stockes, and lookest narrowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in the † heeles of my feete.

28 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is mother eaten.

e Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I doe not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus tormented as though I should teare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?

f Whereby he declareth that he is not an hypocrite, as they charged him.

g That is, cleared, and not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason.

h To proue that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

i If I defend not my cause, euery man will condemne me.

k He sheweth what these two things are.

l His pangs thus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great sinnes that had deserued such rigour, wherein he offended, that hee should know a cause of God why he did punish him.

m Thou punishest me not for the faults that I committed in my youth.

n Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so presse me, that I cannot stirre hand nor foote. † Hebr. rootes.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iob describeth the shortnes and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope susteineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAn* that is borne of woman, is of shore continuance, and full of trouble.

2 He chooseth forth as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as *a shadowe, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such b one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthines? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, c as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the roote of it ware old in the earth, and the stocke thereof bee dead in the ground,

9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 d But man is sicke, and dieth, and man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the Sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor bee raised from his sleepe, till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide mee in the graue, and keepe me secrete, vntil thy e wrath were past, and wouldest giue mee terms, and f remember me.

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the daies of mine appointed time will I waite, till g my changing shal come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I will h answere thee: thou louest the worke of thine own hands.

16 But now thou * numbrest my steppes, and doest not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquity is sealed vp, as in a i bag, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the k rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroiest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that hee passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall bee of lowe degree, 22 But while his l flesh is vpon him, he shal bee sorowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

a Taking occasion of his answeres words, he describeth the state of mans life from his birth to his death.

* Chap. 8. 9. psal. 144. 4.

b His meaning is, that seeing that man is so fraile a creature, God should not handle him so extremely: whereas in Iob he meeteth the wickednes of the flesh, when it is not subiect to the Spirite.

* Psal. 51. 5, 7.

c Vntil the time that thou hast appointed for him to die, which he desireth, as the hireling waiteth for the end of his labour to receiue his wages.

d He speaketh not heere as though he had no hope of the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is ouercome by affections and torments.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to die.

f That is, release my paines, and take me to mercie.

g Meaning, due to the day of the resurrection when he should bee changed, and renued.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercie, and answere when thou callest me.

* Prouer. 5. 21.

i Thou lapest them all together, and sufferest none of my sins vnpunished.

k He murmurreth through the impatiencie of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great seueritie against him as against the hard rockes, or waters that ouerflowe, so that thereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in paine and miserie.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisedom, and pureness to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shall a wise man speake wordes of the a winde, and fill his bellie b with the East winde?

3 Shall hee dispute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

a That is, hauing words, and without consideration.

b Meaning, with matters that are of no importance, which are forgotten as soone as they are vttered, as the East wind driueth vp the moisture almost as it falleth.

4 Surely thou hast cast off [c] feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen [d] the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the [e] first man, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hils?

8 Hast thou heard the secrete counsell of God, and doest thou restraine wisedome [f] to thee?

9 What knowest thou that we know not? and understandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this strange vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart [h] take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God † at thy pleasure, and bringest such wordes out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that hee should [i] be iust?

15 Beholde, he found no stedfastnes in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, & filthie, which [k] drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare mee, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wise men haue told, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was [l] giuen, and no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauelleth of childe, and the number [m] of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 Hee beleeueth not to returne out of [n] darkenesse: for hee seeth the sword before him, 23 He wandreth [o] to & fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darknesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and [p] anguish shall make him afraid: they shal preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almightie.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, & against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because hee hath couered his face with [q] his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though he dwel [r] in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shal not be rich, neither shal his substance continue, neither shall her prolong the [s] perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darknesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and he shal goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He [t] beleeueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shal not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sowre [u] grape, and shall cast him off, as the Oliue doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of [x] bribes.

35 For they [y] conceiue mischiefe, and bring forth vanitie, and their bellie hath prepared deceit.

c As one that casteth off all feare of God, and restraineth prayer before him. d That is, thou speakest as not the most modest and consciencious of God. e That is, the most ancient, and so by reason the most wise? f Art thou onely wise? g He accuseth Iobs pride and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell. h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite? † Hebr. in thy spirite. i His purpose is to proue that Iob as an vnholy man and an hypocrite, is punished for his sins, like as he did before. Chap. 4. 18. k Which hath a desire to sinne as he that is thirstie to drinke. l Who by their wisedome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, and so the land seemed to be giuen to them alone. m The cruell man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. n Out of that misery wherein he once falleth. o Iob worthy not onely impugneth the wicked of crimes: but euen in their prosperitie he punisheth them with a greedines euer more to gather: which is as a beggerie. p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked, which left vp themselues against him, to their terrour of conscience, and outward afflictions. q That is, he was so puffe vp with great pompe and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: nothing, that Iob in his felicitie, had not the true feare of God. r Though he build, and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought he, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie. s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection. t He flattereth himself in his owne conceite, that he will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction. u As one that gathereth grapes before they bee ripe. x Which were built of maintained by pouling, and briberie. y And therefore all their vain deuises shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the importunacy of his friends, 7 Cometh in what extremitie he is, 19 And taketh God witnesse of his innocencie.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none end of the wordes of [a] wind? or what maketh thee bold so to [b] answere?

4 I could also speake as ye do: (but would God your [c] soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, & could [d] shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you [e] with my mouth, & the comfort of my lips should asswage your sorow.

6 Though I speake, my sorow [f] cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But nowe [g] he maketh me wearie: O God, thou hast made all my [h] congregation desolate,

8 And hast made mee full of [i] wrinkles which is a witnesse thereof, and my leanenesse riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.

9 [k] His wrath hath torne me, & he hateth mee, and gnasheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon mee, and smitten mee on the [l] cheeke in reproch: they gathered themselues together aa Which serue for vaine ostentation, and for no true comfort. b For Eliphaz did reply against Iobs answere. c I would you felt that which I doe. d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you doe at mine. e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to me. f If they would say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to asswage either by words or silence. g Meaning, God. h That is, destroyed most of my familie. i In token of sorowe and griefe. k That is, God by his wrathe and in this diuersitie of wordes and high stile, he expresseth both griefe and the hand of God vpon him. l That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheeke signified, 1. King. 22. 24. mat. 14. 65.

gainſt me.

11 God hath deliuered mee to the vniuſt, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the [m] hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken mee by the necke, and beaten me, and ſet me as a marke for himſelfe.

13 His [n] archers compaſſe mee round about: he cutteth my reines, & doth not ſpare, and powreth my gall [o] vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon mee like a Gyant.

15 I haue ſowed a ſackecloth vpon my ſkinne, and haue abaſed mine [p] horne vnto the duſt.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the ſhadow of death is vpon mine eyes, 17 Though there be no wickednelle in [q] mine hands, and my prayer [r] be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my [ſ] blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For loe, now my [t] witnes is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

20 My friendes [u] ſpeake eloquently againſt me: but mine eie powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might [x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I ſhall goe the way, whence I ſhall not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob ſaith that he conſumeth away, and yet doth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 ſhewing that he looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is readie for me,

2 There are none but [a] mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternes.

3 [c] Lay downe nowe and put me in ſuretie for thee: who is he, that [d] will touch mine hand?

4 For thou haſt hid their heart from [e] vnderſtanding: therefore ſhalt thou not let them vp on high.

5 [f] For the eyes of his children ſhall faile, that ſpeaketh flatterie to his friends.

6 He hath alſo made me as by word of the people, and I am as a Tabret [h] before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my ſtrength is like a ſhadow.

8 The righteous ſhall be aſtonied at [i] this, and the innocent ſhall be mooued againſt the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will holde his [k] way, and he whoſe hands are pure, ſhall increaſe his ſtrength.

10 All [l] you therefore turne you, and come nowe, and I ſhall not finde one wiſe among you.

11 My dayes are paſt, mine enterpriſes are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart

12 Haue changed the [m] night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenes.

13 Though I hope, [n] yet the graue ſhall be mine houſe, and I ſhall make my bed in the darke.

14 I ſhall ſay to corruption, Thou art my [o] father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my ſiſter.

15 Where is then nowe mine hope? or who ſhall conſider the thing, that I hoped for?

16 [p] They ſhall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: ſurely it ſhall lie together in the duſt.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearſeth the paines of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

THen anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaide,

2 When will [a] ye make an ende of your wordes? [b] cauſe vs to vnderſtand, and then we will ſpeake.

3 Wherefore are wee counted as beaſts, and are vile in your ſight?

4 Thou art [c] as one that teareth his ſoule in his anger. Shall the [d] earth be forſaken for thy ſake? or the rocke remooued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked ſhall be [e] quenched, and the ſparke of his fire ſhal not ſhine.

6 The light ſhal be darke in his dwelling, and his candle ſhall be put out with him.

7 The ſteppes of his ſtrength ſhall bee reſtrained, and his owne counſell ſhall caſt him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his feete, and he [f] walketh vpon the ſnares.

9 The grenne ſhall take him by the heele, and the theefe ſhall come vpon him.

10 A ſnare is laide for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnes ſhall make him afraide on euery ſide, and ſhall driue him to his feete.

12 His ſtrength ſhall be [g] famine: and deſtruction ſhall be ready at his ſide.

13 It ſhall deuoure the inner partes of his ſkinne, and the [h] firſt borne of death ſhall deuoure his ſtrength.

14 His hope ſhall bee rooted out of his dwelling, and ſhall cauſe him to goe to the [i] King

m They haue led me whither they would.
n His manifold afflictions.
o I am wounded to the heart.
p Weaning, his glorie was brought lowe.
q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cauſe of this his grieuous punishment.
r That is, vnfained, and without hypocriſie.
ſ Let my ſinne be knowen if I be ſuch a ſinner as mine aduerſaries accuſe me, and let me finde no fauour.
t Though man condemne me, yet God is witnes of my cauſe.
u Vſe painted words in ſtead of true conſolation.
x Thus by his great torments hee is caried away, & hasteth out into paſſions, and ſpeaketh vnadviſedly as though God ſhould intreate man more gently, ſeeing he hath but a ſhort time here to liue.

a In ſtead of comfort, being nowe at deaths doore, he had but them that mocked at him, and diſcouraged him.
b I ſee ſtill that they ſeeke but to deare me.
c He reaſoneth with God as a man beſide himſelfe, to the intent that his cauſe might be brought to light.
d And anſwere for thee.
e That theſe mine afflictions are thy iuſt iudgments, though man know not the cauſe.
f He that flatteretth a man, and onely iudgeth him happie in his proſperitie, ſhall not himſelfe onely but in his poſteritie be puniſhed. g God hath made all the world to ſpeake of me, becauſe of mine afflictions. h That is, as a continuall ſound in their eares. i To wit, when they ſee the godly puniſhed, but in the ende they ſhal come to vnderſtanding, and know what ſhall be the reward of the hypocrite.

k That is, will not be diſcouraged, conſidering that the godly are puniſhed as well as the wicked.
l Iob ſpeaketh to them three, that came to comfort him.
m That is, haue brought me ſorowe in ſtead of comfort.
n Though I ſhould hope to come from aduerſitie to proſperitie, as your diſcourſe pretendeth.
o I haue no more hope in father, mother, ſiſter, or any worldly thing: for the duſt and wormes ſhall be to me in ſtead of them.
p All worldly hope, and proſperitie faile, which you ſay, are onely ſignes of Gods fauour: but ſeeing that theſe things periſh, I ſet mine hope in God, and in the life euerlaſting.

a Which come your ſelues inſt, as Chap. 12.4. b Whom you take to be but beaſts, as chap. 12.7.
c That is, like a mad man.
d Shall God change the order of nature for thy ſake by dealing with thee otherwiſe then he doeth with all men.
e When the wicked is in his proſperitie, then God changeth his ſtate: and this is his ordinarie working for their ſinnes.
f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger.
g That which ſhould nourith him, ſhalbe conſumed by famine.
h That is, ſome ſtrong and violent death ſhall conſume his ſtrength: as all the Ebrew words ſignifieth, his members or parts.

i King of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not k his) l and brimstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall bee dried vp beneath, and aboue shal his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and hee shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall driue him out of the m light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world.

19 He shal neyther haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posterity in his dwellings.

20 The posterity shall bee astonied at his n day, and feare shal come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproueth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grieuous paines. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

BUt Iob answered and said,

2 How long wil ye vexe my soule, and torment me with words?

3 Ye haue nowe a ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: yee are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had in deede erred, mine errour b remaineth with me.

5 But indeed if ye wil aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

6 Know now, that God hath c ouerthrown me, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Beholde, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there is no iudgement.

8 He hath hedged vp my way that I cannot d passe, and hee hath set darkenesse in my pathes.

9 He hath spoiled mee of mine honour, and taken the e crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like f a tree.

11 And hee hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His g armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my Tabernacle.

13 Hee hath remooued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 h They that dwel in mine house, and my maides tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruaunt, but he would not answer, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine i owne bodie.

18 The wicked also despised me, and when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

20 My bone k cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the l skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue m pitie vpon me, (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe yee persecute mee, as n God: and are not satisfied with my o flesh?

23 Oh that my words were now written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 And grauen with p an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure, that my q redeemer liueth, and he shal stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God r in my flesh.

27 Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eies shal behold, and none other for me, though my reines are consumed within me.

28 But yee saide, Why is he persecuted? And there was a s deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for the sword will be r auenged of wickednesse, that yee may knowe that there is a iudgement.

1 That is, with most great feare.

k Meaning, not truely come by.

l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

m He shal fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.

n When they shall see what come vnto him.

a That is, many times, as Nehe. 4.12.

b That is, I my selfe shal be punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.

c He wresteth out againe into his passions, and declareth still that his affliction commeth of God, though he be not able to feele the cause in himselfe.

d Meaning, out of his afflictions.

e Meaning his children, and whatsoeuer was deare vnto him in this world.

f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to growe.

g His manifold afflictions.

h Mine houshold seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.

i Which were hers and mine.

k Besides these great losses and most cruel vnkindnes, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.

l All my flesh was consumed.

m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye which should comfort me.

n Is it not ynough that God doeth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorowe?

o To see my body punished, except ye trouble my minde?

p He protesteth that notwithstanding his late passions his religion is perfite, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.

q I doe not so inflicte my selfe before the world, but I know that I shall come before the great Iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Sauiour.

r Herein Iob declareth plainely that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection.

s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the triall of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others.

t God will be reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby you condemned me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth, that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a short end, 22 though for a time they flourish.

THen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and saide,

2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answere, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard a the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirite of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde: & since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though b his excellency mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet shal he perish for euer, like his dung, & they which haue seene him, shal say, Where is he?

8 He shal flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.

vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shal [c] flatter the poore, and and his hands shal [d] restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and [e] it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednes [f] was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and he shal vomite it: for God shall draw it out of his belie.

16 He shall sucke the [g] gall of Aspes, & the vipers tongue shal slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the [h] riuers, nor the floods and streames of honie and butter.

18 He shall restore the labour, and shall deuour no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, [i] and he shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely he shall feele no quietnes in his body, neither shall he reserue of that which hee desired.

21 There shall none of his [k] meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shall be filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, and the hand [l] of all the wicked shall assaile him.

23 Hee shall bee about to fill his belly, but God shal send vpon him his fierce wrath, [m] and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.

24 He shal flee from the iron weapons, and the bowe of steele shal strike him through.

25 The arrowe is drawen out, & commeth foorth of the [n] body, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.

26 [o] All darkenesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not [p] blowen, shal deuour him, & that which remaineth in his Tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shal declare his wickednes, and the earth shal rise vp against him.

28 The [q] increase of his house shall goe away: it shal flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from [r] God, and the heritage that he shal haue of God, for his [s] words.

c Whereas the father through ambition and tyrannie oppressed the poore, the children through pouertie and miserie shal seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.

e Meaning, that he shal carie nothing away with him, but his sinne.

f As poison that is sweete in the mouth, bringeth destruction, whē it commeth into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compareth euill gotten goods to the venim of aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: meaning that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.

h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shal haue no part thereof.

i That is, these ruiners and spoylers of the poore, shall enioy their theft but for a time: for after God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange.

k He shall leaue nothing to his posteritie.

l The wicked shal neuer be at rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another.

m Some reade, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab.

n Some reade, of the quiuer.

o All feare and sorow shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.

p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath. q Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flowe away like riuers, and be dispersed in diuers places. r Thus God will plague the wicked. s Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, & to escape Gods hand.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth howe the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, 15 insomuch that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

BUt Iob answered, and said,

2 Heare diligently my words, and this [a] shalbe in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it [b] were so, howe should not my spirite be troubled?

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your [c] mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraide, and feare taketh holde on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked [d] liue, and waxe olde, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendreth, and faile not: their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send foorth their children [e] like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their daies in wealth, and suddenly [f] they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for wee desire not the [g] knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almightie, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Loe, their wealth is not in their [h] hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked [i] bee farre from me.

17 Howe oft shall the candle of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil diuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shalbe as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorrowe of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall knowe it.

20 [k] His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shal drinke of the wrath of the almightie.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shal any teach [l] God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One [m] dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

a Your diligent marking of my words shall be to me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who wil not answere me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.

d Iob proueth against his aduersaries, that God punisheth not straightwayes the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of children, lusty and healthy all, and in their points bee diuerteth to that which Zopher alleaged before.

f Not being tormented with long sickues.

g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should be ars to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason onely by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him.

h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them.

i God keepe me from their prosperitie.

k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperitie was but vanitie. l Who seeketh to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the godly. m Meaning, the wicked.

24 His

24 His byestes are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe.

26 And another [a] dieth in the bitternes of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in [o] the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I knowe your thoughts, and the enterprises, wherewith ye doe me wrong.

28 For yee say, Where is the Princes [p] house? and where is the Tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?

29 May ye not [q] aske them that goe by the way? and ye can not deny their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of [r] destruction, and they shall be brought foorth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shal declare his way [s] to his face? and who shall rewarde him for that hee hath done?

32 Yet shall hee bee brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The [t] slimie valley shall be sweete vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort [u] ye me in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lies?

a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne.

* Chap. 35.7.

b Least thou houldest reproue or hurt him.

c Thou hast bin cruell and without charitie, and wouldest doe nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power and authoritie, thou diddest not iustice, but iniury.

e Thou hast not onely not shewed pitie, but oppressed them.

f That is, manifold afflictions.

g He accuseth Iob of impietie and contempt of God, as though he would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods Maiestie.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou maiest feare God, and reuerence him.

i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

k How God hath punished them from the beginning.

l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.

m He answereth to that, which Iob had saide, Chap. 21.7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this world: beleeuing that hee might not be partaker of the like.

n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth himselfe Iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glorie: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his in that hee punisheth their enemies.

o That is, the state and preseruation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings.

p Meaning, of the wicked.

q He exhorteth Iob to repentance, and to returne to God.

r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance.

s Which shalbe in abundance like dust.

t That is, the fauour of God.

u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodome. x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

u Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie, and the wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnes, 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and saide,

2 May a man be [a] profitable vnto God, as he that is wise may be profitable to himselfe?

3 * Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare [b] of thee that he wil accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the [c] pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.

8 But the mightie man [d] had the earth, and he that was in authoritie, dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of [e] the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:

11 Or darknes that thou shouldest not see, and [f] abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on [g] hie in the heauen? and beholde the height of the [h] starres howe hie they are.

13 But thou sayest, Howe should God [i] knowe? can hee iudge through the darke cloude?

14 The cloudes hide him that hee cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, [k] wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were [l] cut down before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed:

17 Which saide vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almightie coulde doe for them.

18 Yet he [m] filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, [n] and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely [o] our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of [p] them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, [q] with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the almightie, thou shalt [r] be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy Tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for [s] dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flints of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almightie shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the [t] light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 [u] When others are cast down, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

40 The innocent shall deliuer the [x] Iland, and it shalbe preserued by the purenes of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

BUt Iob answered and said, a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Chap. 22.21. he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him.

2 Though my talke bee this day in [a] bitternes, and my plague greater then my groning,

3 Would God yet I knewe how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would plead the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I woulde knowe the wordes, that hee would answere mee, and would vnderstande what he would say vnto me.

6 Would hee [b] pleade against me with his great power? No, but he would [c] put strength in me.

7 [d] There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Judge.

8 Behold, if I go to [y] East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: hee will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot beholde him.

10 But hee knoweth my [f] way, and trieth me, and I shall come foorth like the golde.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lips, and I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.

13 Yet he is in one mind, [g] who can [h] turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he will performe that, which is decreed of me, and [i] many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, [k] in considering it, I am afraide of him.

16 For God [k] hath softened mine heart, and the Almightie hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in [l] darknesse, but he hath hid the darkenesse from my face.

b Vsing his absolute power, and saying, Because I am God, I may not what I will.
c Of his mercy he would giue me power to answere him.
d When he of his mercy hath giuen strength to maintaine their cause.
e Meaning, that if he considered Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or part soeuer he turneth himselfe.
f God hath this preeminence aboue me, that he knoweth my wayes: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he knoweth also his conscience that God doeth vilifie him for his profite.
g His worth is more precious vnto me, then the meane wherewith the body is sustained.
h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured that he had appointed him to a good ende.
i In many points man is not able to attreine to Gods iudgements.
k That I should not be without feare.
l Hee sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none ende, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

WHy should not the times [a] bee hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which know him, see not his [b] dayes?

2 Some remoue the land markes, that rob the flocks and feede thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse: and take the widowes oxe to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues [c] together.

5 Behold, others as wilde asses in the wildernesse, goe foorth to their businesse, and [d] rise early for a praye: the wildernesse [e] giueth him and his children foode.

6 They reape [f] his prouision in the fielde, but they gather the late [g] vintage of y wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde.

8 They are wet with the showres of the mountaines: [h] and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherlesse [i] from the breast, and take the pledge [k] of the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungrie.

11 They that make oyle [l] betweene their walles, & tread their wine presses, suffer thirst.

12 Men [m] cry out of the citie, and the soules of the slaine [n] cry out: yet God doeth [o] not charge them with follie.

13 These are they, that abhorre the light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murtherer riseth early and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night hee is as a thiefe.

15 The eye also of the [p] adulterer waiteth for the twilight & saith, None eye shal see me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselues in the day: they know not the light.

17 But the morning is euen vnto them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrour of the shadow of death.

18 Hee is swift vpon the [q] waters: their [r] portion shalbe cursed in the earth: he will not beholde the way of the vineyards.

19 As the dry ground & heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue [s] the sinners.

20 [t] The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shal feede his sweetenesse: he shalbe no more remembred, and the wicked shall be broken like a tree.

21 Hee [x] doeth euill increate the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth hee good to the widowe.

22 Hee draweth also the [y] mightie by his power, & whē he riseth vp, none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to bee in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an eare of corne.

25 But if it bee not [z] so, where is hee? or who will proue me a lyar, and make my words of no value?

a Thus Iob speaketh in his passions and after the iudgement of the flesh: that is, that he seeth not the things y are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer all, because he punisheth not the wicked, nor reuengeth the godly.
b When he punisheth the wicked and rewardeth the good.
c And for cruelties and oppressions dare not shewe their faces.
d That is, spare no diligence.
e Hee and his, liue by robbing and murthering.
f Meaning, the poore mans.
g Signifieth that one wicked man will not spoyle another, but the godly.
h The poore returne by night wicked into rocks and where they lye all the raine.
i That is, the to pouch and the poore mans that she cannot haue to sustain her selfe that she may be able to giue her child sucke.
k That is, his garment, wherewith he should be couered or clad.
l In such places which are appointed for that purpose: meaning that these that labour for the wicked, are pinch for hunger.
m For the great oppression and extortion.
n Cry out & call for vengeance.
o God doeth not condemne the wicked, but sometymes passe ouer it by his long sufferance.
p That is, God knoweth, because they are reserued vnto iudgement.
q By these particular vices he shewes the licentious life of the wicked & reprobate doeth the iust.
r He seeth to the waters for fishes.
s They shall be brent against the sunne, & yet not be by the brightnesse.
t As the dry ground is heated with waters & shall change into dust: euen so shall the wicked with their sinnes.
u Though God suffer the wicked for a time, yet their ende shall be most vile destruction, and in this point Iob answereth to his friends, who affirmed that the wicked shall not be long vnpunished, but shall perish in this life.
x That is, he declareth that after that the wicked haue destroyed the weakest, they will do like to the strongest, and therefore they are euill preuented by Gods iudgements.
y That is, that contrary to your reasoning no man can giue a perfit triall of Gods iudgements for vs be reserued.
z That is, that no man can proue me a lyar, nor make my words of no value.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 [a] Powre and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.

3 Is there any number in his armies: and vpon whom [b] shall not his light arise:

4 And howe may a man [c] bee iustified with God: or howe can he be cleane, that is borne of woman:

5 Behold, he wil giue no light to ỹ moone, [d] and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

6 How much more man, a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme:

a This purpose is to your, that afore God ye and afflict the iust, yet soone after he sendeth prosperitie, and because he did not so to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked.

b Who can hide him from his presence.

c That is, be iust in respect of God.

d If God shewe his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and prooueth it by his miracles.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 [a] Whom helpest thou: him that hath no power: sauest thou the arme that hath no strength:

3 Whom counsellest thou: him that hath no wisedome: thou [b] shewest right well as the thing is.

4 To whome doest thou declare these words: or whose spirit [c] commeth out of thee:

5 The [d] dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.

6 The graue is [e] naked before him, & there is no couering for [f] destruction.

7 Hee stretcheth out the [g] North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 Hee bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them.

9 Hee holdeth backe the face of his throne: [h] and spreadeth his cloude vpon it.

10 Hee hath set bounds about the waters, vntil the [i] day and night come to an ende.

11 The [k] pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride therof.

13 His spirite hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked [l] serpent.

14 Loe, these are part of his wayes: but [m] howe little a portion heare wee of him: and who can vnderstand his fearefull power:

a Thou concludest nothing: for neither thou helpest me, which am destitute of all helpe, neither yet speakest sufficiently as Gods behalfe, who hath no need of thy defence.

b But thou doest not apply it to the purpose.

c That is, moueth thee to speake this.

d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power and prouidence in the mines and metals in the deepe places of the earth.

e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth, but he seeth it.

f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.

g He causeth the whole heauen to turne about the North pole.

h That is, he hideth the heauens, which are called his throne.

i So long as this world endureth. k Not that heauen hath pillars to vpholde it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though hee would say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproche. l Which is a figure of starres fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse. m If these few things, which we see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constantie and perseuerance of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The liuing God hath taken away my [a] iudgement: for the Almightie hath put my soule in bitternesse.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shall speake no wickednes, [b] and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should [c] iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine [d] innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousnesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reproue me of my [e] dayes.

7 Mine enemie shal be as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.

8 For what [f] hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule:

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him:

10 Will hee set his delight on the Almightie: will he call vpon God at all times:

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of [g] God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almightie.

12 Beholde, all ye your selues [h] haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish [i] in vanitie:

13 This is the [k] portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almightie.

14 If his children be in great number, the sworde shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shalbe buried in death, and his widowes [l] shall not weepe.

16 Though hee should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay.

17 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the [m] moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleepeth, [n] he shall not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours shal take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

21 The East winde shall take him away, and hee shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place, 22 And God shal cast vpō him & not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand.

23 Euery man shall clap their handes at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnesse: for they iudge onely by outward signes.

b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet wil I not speake contrary to that, which I haue said, and so doe wickedly in betraying the trueth.

c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.

d I will not confesse that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

e Of my life past.

f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing he shall loose his owne soule?

g That is, what God reserueth to himselfe, and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all.

h That is, their secret iudgements of God, and yet do not vnderstand them.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisedome of God is vnsearchable.

THe siluer surely hath his veine, [a] and the golde his place, where they take it.

2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an ende to darkenesse, [b] and a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehende the wisedome of God. b There is nothing but it is compassed within certaine limits, and hath an ende, but Gods wisedome.

he

he trieth the perfection of all things: hee setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, and the waters [d] forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth [e] bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place [f] of saphirs, and the dust of it is golde.

7 There is a path which no foule hath knowen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The lyons whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby.

9 Hee putteth his hande vpon the [g] rockes, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 Hee breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisedome founde? [h] and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not [i] the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in mee: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

15 [k] Golde shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not bee valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious Onix, nor the saphir.

17 The golde nor the chrystall shall bee equall vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde.

18 No mention shalbe made of coxall, nor of the [l] gabish: for wisedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not bee equall vnto it, neither shall it bee valued with the wedge of pure golde.

20 Whence then commeth wisdome? and where is the place of vnderstanding, 21 Seeing it is hidde from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hidde from the [m] foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the [n] way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When hee made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightening of the thunders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: hee prepared it and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he saide, Beholde, * the [o] feare of the Lord is wisedome, and to depart from euil is vnderstanding.

* Prou.1.7.

d Which a man cannot wade thorow.
e That is, coyne, and vnderneath is himselfe or coale, which easily conceiueth fire.
f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, wherevnto neither foules nor beasts can enter.
g After that he hath declared the wisdome of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.
h Though Gods power, and wisedome may be vnderstand in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisedome can not be atteined vnto.
i It is too hie a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world.
k It can neither be bought for golde nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.
l Which is thought to be a kinde of precious stone.
m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes, whereby man might attaine to the heauenly wisdome: which he meaneth by the foules, that flie hie.
n He maketh God onely the author of this wisdome, and the giuer thereof.
o He declareth that man hath so much of this heauenly wisedome, as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euill.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7. 21 His authoritie, 12 iustice and equitie.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as † in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his [a] light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorowe the [b] darkenesse,

4 As I was in ỹ dayes of my youth: when [c] Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almightie was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths [d] with butter, and when the rocke powred mee out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seate, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete.

8 The yong men saw mee, and [e] hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stoode vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and layde their hand on their [f] mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, & their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the eare heard mee, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witnesse to [h] me.

12 For I deliuered the [i] poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 [k] The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put [l] on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, & when I knew not ỹ cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous men, & pluckt the praye out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my [m] nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is [n] spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renue toward mee, and my bowe shalbe restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto mee men gaue eare, and wayted, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke [o] dropped vpon them.

23 And they wayted for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth [p] as for the latter raine.

24 If I [q] laughed on them, they beleeued it not:

† Ebr. monethes before.

b I was free from affliction.
c That is, seemed by euident tokens to be more present with me.
d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperitie, that he was in, so that he had none occasion to be such a sinner as they accused him.
e Being ashamed of their lightnesse and afraid of my grauitie.
f Acknowledging my wisedome.
g All that heard me, praised me.
h Testifying that I did good iustice.
i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednesse, he is compelled to render account of his life.
k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, and so he had cause to praise me.
l I delited to do iustice, as others did to weare costly apparel.
m That is, at home in my bed, without all trouble, and vnquietnesse.
n My felicitie doeth increase.
o That is, was pleasant vnto them.
p As the rye ground thirsteth for the raine.
q That is, they thought it not to be a iest, or they thought not that I would condescend vnto them.

not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance [r] to fall.

25 I appointed out [s] their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that hee is contemned of the most contemptible, 11.21 because of his adversitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

BUt nowe they that are yonger then I, [a] mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the [b] dogs of my flockes.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hands haue serued me, seeing age [c] perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fleeing into the wildernesse, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp ‖nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate.

5 They were [d] chased foorth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselues.

8 They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And nowe am I their [e] song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre mee, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my [f] cord and humbled me, [g] they haue loosed the bridle before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hande: they haue pusht my feete, and haue trode on me as on the [h] paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none [i] helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and [k] vnder this calamitie they come on heaps.

15 Feare is turned vpon mee: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude.

16 Therefore my soule is nowe [l] powred out vpon mee, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

17 [m] It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coate.

19 [n] He hath cast mee into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, neither regardest me, whē I stād vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe [o] cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto mee with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest mee vp and causest mee to ride vpon the [p] winde, and makest my ‖strength to faile.

23 Surely I knowe that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doubtlesse none can stretche his hand [q] vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?

26 Yet when I looked for good, [r] euill came vnto mee: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse.

27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning [s] without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation [t] and cried.

29 I am a brother to the [u] dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My [x] skinne is blacke vpon mee, and my bones are burnt with [y] heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reckeneth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to bee the life of the faithfull.

I Made a couenant with mine [a] eyes, why then should I thinke on a [b] mayde?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almightie from on hie?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked and strange punishment to [c] the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit,

6 Let God weigh mee in the iust balance, and he shall know mine [d] vprightnesse.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath [e] walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

16 If I reſtrained the poore of their deſire, or haue cauſed the eyes of the widowe [m] to faile, 36 Would not I take it vpon my ſhoulder, and binde it as [b] a crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a [c] prince.

38 If my land [d] cry againſt mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

SO theſe three men ceaſed to anſwere Job, becauſe he † eſteemed himſelfe iuſt.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the [a] Buzite, of the familie of [b] Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I ſay, was kindled againſt Job, becauſe he iuſtified himſelfe [c] more then God.

3 Alſo his anger was kindled againſt his three friendes, becauſe they coulde not finde an anſwere, and yet condemned Job.

4 (Nowe Elihu had waited till Job had ſpoken: for [d] they were more ancient in yeeres then he)

5 So when Elihu ſawe, that there was none anſwere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the Buzite anſwered, and ſaide, I am yong in yeeres, & ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to ſhew you mine opinion.

7 For I ſaid, The dayes [e] ſhall ſpeake, and the multitude of yeeres ſhall teach wiſedome.

8 Surely there is a ſpirit in man, [f] but the inſpiration of the Almightie giueth vnderſtanding.

9 Great men are not alway wiſe, neither doe the aged alway vnderſtand iudgement.

10 Therefore I ſay, Heare me, and I will ſhewe alſo mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did waite vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you ſought out reaſons.

12 Yea, when I had conſidered you, loe, there was none of you that reproued Job, nor anſwered his wordes:

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuſeth Iob of ignorance. 14 He ſheweth that God hath diuers meanes to inſtruct man and to draw him from ſinne. 19.29 He afflicteth man & ſuddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered giueth thanks to God.

WHereforе, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, & hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath ſpoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vprightneſſe of mine heart, and my lippes ſhall ſpeake pure knowledge.

6 Beholde, I am according to thy will in [b] Gods ſteade: I am alſo formed of the clay.

7 Beholde, my terrour ſhall not feare thee, neither ſhall mine hand [c] be heauie vpon thee.

8 Doubtleſſe thou haſt ſpoken in mine eares, & I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.

9 I am [d] cleane, without ſinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Lo, he hath found occaſions againſt me, and counted me for his enemie.

11 Hee hath put my feete in the ſtockes, and looketh narowly vnto all my paths.

12 Beholde, in this haſt thou not done right: I will anſwere thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why doeſt thou ſtriue againſt him: for hee doeth not [e] giue account of all his matters.

14 For God ſpeaketh [f] once or twiſe, and one ſeeth it not.

15 In dreames and viſions of the night, when ſleepe falleth vpon men, and they ſleepe vpon their beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had ſealed, 17 That hee might cauſe man to turne away from his enterpriſe, & that hee might hide the [i] pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his ſoule from the pit, and that his life ſhould not paſſe by the ſworde.

19 He is alſo ſtricken with ſorow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is ſore.

20 So that his [k] life cauſeth him to abhorre bread, and his ſoule daintie meate.

22 So his ſoule draweth to the graue, and his life [l] to the buriers.

23 If there be a [m] meſſenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thouſande [n] to declare vnto man his righteouſneſſe, 24 Then will hee haue [o] mercie vpon him, and will ſay, [p] Deliuer him, that hee goe not downe into the pitte: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then ſhall his fleſh bee [q] as freſh as a childes, and ſhall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He ſhal pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and hee ſhall ſee his face with ioy: for hee will render vnto man his [r] righteouſneſſe.

27 Hee looketh vpon men, and if one ſay, I haue ſinned, and [s] peruerted righteouſnes, and it did not profit [t] me:

28 [u] Hee will deliuer his ſoule from going into the pit, and his life ſhall ſee the light.

29 Loe, all theſe things will God worke [x] twiſe or thriſe with a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his ſoule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe ſilence, and I will ſpeake.

l To them that ſhall burie him.

m A man ſent of God to declare his will.

n A ſingular man and as one choſen out of a thouſand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto ſinners: and wherein mans righteouſnes ſtandeth, which is through the iuſtice of Ieſus Chriſt and faith therein.

o He ſheweth that it is a ſure token of Gods mercie toward ſinners, when hee cauſeth his worde to be preached vnto them.

p That is, the miniſter ſhall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiueneſſe of his ſinnes.

q He ſhall feele Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby, wherein ſtandeth the true ioy of the faithfull: and that God will reſtore him to health of body, which is a token of his bleſſing.

r God will forgiue his ſinnes and accept him as iuſt.

s That is, done wickedly.

t But my ſinne hath bene the cauſe of Gods wrath toward me.

u God will forgiue the penitent ſinner.

x Meaning oft times, euen as oft as a ſinner doeth repent.

y If thou doubt of any thing, or ſee occaſion to ſpeake againſt it.

z That is, to ſhewe thee wherein mans iuſtification conſiſteth.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called himſelfe righteous. 12 He ſheweth that God is iuſt in his iudgments. 24 God deſtroyeth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

MOreouer Elihu anſwered, and ſaid,

2 Heare my wordes, ye [a] wiſe men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare trieth the wordes, as the mouth taſteth meate.

4 Let vs ſeeke [b] iudgement among vs, and let vs knowe among our ſelues what is good.

5 For Iob hath ſaide, I am righteous, and God hath taken [c] away my iudgement.

a Which are eſteemed wiſe of the world.

b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me without meaſure.

6 Should

6 Should I lie in my [d] right? my wound of the arrowe is [e] grieuous without my ſinne.

7 What man is like Job, that drinketh [f] ſcornfulneſſe like water?

8 Which goeth in the [g] company of them that worke iniquity, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath ſaide, [h] It profiteth a man nothing that he ſhould [i] walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, yee men of wiſdom, God forbid that wickednes ſhould be in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.

11 For hee will render vnto man according to his worke, and cauſe euery one to find according to his way.

12 And certainely God will not doe wickedly, neither wil the almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whome * hath he appoynted ouer the earth beſide himſelfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If [k] he ſet his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himſelfe his ſpirit [l] and his breath, 15 All fleſh ſhall periſh together, and man ſhall returne vnto duſt, 16 And if thou haſt vnderſtanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my words.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, [m] gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is moſt iuſt?

18 Wilt thou ſay vnto a King, Thou art [n] wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much leſſe to him that accepteth not the perſons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be al the worke of his hands.

20 They ſhall die ſuddenly, [o] and the people ſhalbe troubled at midnight, [p] and they ſhal paſſe foorth and take away the mighty without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he ſeeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkeneſſe nor ſhadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might bee hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man ſo much, that hee ſhould [q] enter into iudgement with God.

24 Hee ſhall breake the mightie without [r] ſeeking, and ſhall ſet vp other in their ſtead.

25 Therfore ſhal he declare their [s] works: he ſhall turne the [t] night, and they ſhall be deſtroyed:

26 He ſtriketh them as wicked men in the places of the [u] ſeers,

27 Becauſe they haue turned backe from him, and would not conſider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue cauſed the voyce of the poore to [x] come vnto him, and he hath heard the crie of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble? and when hee hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Becauſe the [y] hypocrite doeth reigne, and becauſe the people are ſnared.

31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God [z] to ſay, I haue pardoned, I will not deſtroy.

32 [a] But if I ſee not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33 Will hee performe the thing through [b] thee? for thou haſt reproued [c] it, becauſe that thou haſt choſen, and not I, now ſpeake what thou knoweſt.

34 Let men of vnderſtanding tell me, and let a wiſe man hearken vnto me.

35 Job hath not ſpoken of knowledge: neither were his words according to wiſedome.

36 I deſire that Job may bee [d] tried, vnto the end touching [ρ] anſweres for wicked men.

37 For he [e] addeth rebellion vnto his ſinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words againſt God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlineſſe profite, or vngodlineſſe hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crie vnto God, and are not heard.

ELihu ſpake moreouer, and ſaid,

2 Thinkeſt thou this right, that thou haſt ſaide, I am [a] more righteous then God?

3 For thou haſt ſaide, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it mee, to purge me from my ſinne?

4 Therefore will I anſwere thee, and thy [b] companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and ſee and behold the [c] clouds which are higher then thou.

6 If thou ſinneſt, what doeſt thou [d] againſt him, yea, when thy ſinnes be many, what doeſt thou vnto him?

7 If thou bee righteous, what giueſt thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteouſnes may profit the ſonne of man.

9 They cauſe many that are oppreſſed, [e] to crie which cry out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none ſaieth, Where is God that made me, which giueth ſongs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beaſts of the earth, and giueth vs more wiſedome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie becauſe of the violence of the wicked, but [f] he anſwereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although

d Should I ſay, I am wicked, being an innocent?
e I am ſorer puniſhed then my ſinne deſerueth.
f Which is compelled to receiue the reproch and leaſnes of many for his foolish words.
g Meaning, that Job was like to the wicked, becauſe he ſeemed not to glorifie God and ſubmit himſelfe to his iudgements.
h He wresteth Jobs words, who ſaid that Gods children are oft times puniſhed in this world, and the wicked goe free.
i That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5.22.
* Chap. 36.23.
k To deſtroy him.
l The breath of life which he gaue man.
m If God were not iuſt, howe could he gouerne the world?
n If man of nature feare to ſpeake euill of ſuch as haue power, then much more ought they to be afraide to ſpeake euill of God.
o When they looke not for it.
p The meſſengers of viſitation that God ſhall ſend.
q God doeth not afflict mē aboue meaſure, ſo that he ſhould haue occaſion to contend with him.
r For all his creatures are at hand to ſerue him, ſo that hee needeth not to ſeeke for any other army.
ſ Make them manifeſt that they are wicked.
t Declare the things that were hidde.
u Meaning, openly in the light of all men.
x By their crueltie and extortion.

a Job neuer ſpake theſe words: but becauſe he maintained his innocencie, it ſeemed as though hee would ſay, that God tormented him without iuſt cauſe.
b Such as are in the like error.
c If thou canſt not controll the clouds, wilt thou preſume to inſtruct God?
d Neither doeth thy ſinne hurt God, nor thy iuſtice profite him for he will be glorified without thee.
e The wicked may hurt man and cauſe him to crie, who if hee ſought to God, which ſendeth comfort, ſhould be deliuered.
f Becauſe they pray not in faith, as feeling Gods mercies.

d That hee may ſpeake as much as he can, that we may anſwere him and all the wicked that ſhall die ſuch arguments. e He ſtandeth ſtubburnely in the maintenance of his cauſe.

y When tirants ſit in the throne of iuſtice which vnder pretence of executing iuſtice are but hypocrites and oppreſſe the people, it is a ſigne that God hath drawen backe his countenance and fauour from that place.
z Only it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.
a Thus Elihu ſpeaketh in the perſon of God, as it were mocking Job, becauſe he would be wiſer then God.
b Will God vſe thy counſel in doing his workes? c Thus hee ſpeaketh in the perſon of God, as though Job ſhould chuſe and refuſe affliction at his pleaſure.

14 Although thou ſayeſt to God, Thou wilt not regard it, g yet iudgement is before him: truſt thou in him.

15 But nowe becauſe his anger hath not viſited, nor called to count the euill with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob h openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu ſheweth the power of God, 6 And his iuſtice, 9 And wherefore he puniſheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

ELihu alſo proceeded and ſaid,

2 Suffer me a little, and I wil inſtruct thee: for I haue yet to ſpeake on Gods behalf.

3 I will fetch a my knowledge a farre off, and will attribute righteouſnes vnto my Maker.

4 For truely my wordes ſhall not be falſe, and he that is b perfect in knowledge, ſpeaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mighty God caſteth away none that is c mighty and valiant of courage.

6 d He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with e Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound with fetters and tyed with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will he ſhewe them their f woorke and their ſins, becauſe they haue bene proude.

10 He openeth alſo their eare to diſcipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 *If they obey and ſerue him, they ſhall end their dayes in proſperitie, and their yeres in pleaſures.

12 But if they will not obey, they ſhal paſſe by the ſword, and periſh s without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites h of heart increaſe the wrath: for they i call not when hee bindeth them.

14 Their ſoule dyeth in k youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen ſo would he haue taken thee out of the ſtraite place into a broade place and not ſhut vp beneath: and l that which reſteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the m iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18 n For Gods wrath is, leaſt hee ſhould take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regarde thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in ſtrength.

20 o Be not carefull in the night, howe he deſtroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heed: looke not to p iniquity: for thou haſt choſen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can ſay, Thou haſt done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his woorke, which men behold.

25 All men ſee it, and men behold it q afarre off.

26 Behold, God is excellent, r & we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be ſearched out.

27 When he reſtraineth the drops of water, the raine ſ powreth downe by the vapour thereof.

28 Which raine the cloudes doe drop and let fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuiſions of the clouds, and the thunders of his t tabernacle?

30 Behold, he ſpreadeth his light vpon u it, and coureth the x bottome of the ſea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth y the people, and giueth meate abundantly.

32 He coureth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to go z againſt it.

33 a His companion ſheweth him thereof, and there is anger in riſing vp.

a He ſheweth that when we ſpeake of God, we muſt lift vp our ſpirites more hie, then our naturall ſenſe is able to reach.
b Thou ſhalt perceiue that I am a faithful inſtructour, and that I ſpeake to thee in the name of God.
c Strong and conſtant, and of vnderſtanding: for theſe are the giftes of God, and he loueth them in man: but foraſmuch as god puniſhed nowe Iob, it is a ſigne that theſe are not in him.
d Therefore he will not preſerue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted heart he will ſhew grace.
e He preferreth the godly to honour.
f He will moue their hearts to feele their ſins that they may come to him by repentance as he did Manaſſeh.
* Iſa. 1. 19.
g That is, in their follie or obſtination, and ſo ſhalbe cauſe of their owne deſtruction.
h Which are malicioully bent againſt God and flatter themſelues in their vices.
i When they are in affliction they ſeeke not to God for ſuccour, as Aſa 2. Chron. 16. 12. Reue 16. 11.
k They die of ſome vile death, and that before they come to age.
l If thou hadſt bene obedient to God, he would haue brought thee to liberty and wealth.
m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou doeſt murmure againſt the iuſtice of God.
n God doeth puniſh thee, leaſt thou ſhouldeſt forget God in thy wealth and ſo periſh.
o Be not thou curious in ſeeking the cauſe of Gods iudgements, when he deſtroyeth any.
p And ſo murmure againſt God through impatiencie.
q The woorkes of God are ſo manifeſt, that a man may ſee them a farre off, and know God by the ſame.
r Our infirmitie hindereth vs ſo, that we cannot attaine to the perfit knowledge of God.
ſ That is, the raine commeth of thoſe drops of water, which he keepeth in the clouds.
t Meaning, of the cloudes, which he calleth the Tabernacle of God.
u Vpon the cloude.
x That men cannot come to the knowledge of the ſpringe thereof.
y Hee ſheweth that the raine hath double vſe: the one, that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflowe any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitfull.
z That is, one cloude to daſh againſt another.
a The cold vapour ſheweth him: that is, the cloude of the hote exhalation, which being taken in the colde cloude mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and ſo anger is ingendred: that is, noyſe and thunder clappes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Elihu prooueth that the vnſearchable wiſedome of God is manifeſt by his woorkes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The ſnowe. 9 The whirlewind, 11 And the raine.

AT this alſo mine heart is a aſtonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the b ſounde of his voyce, and the noiſe that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it a noyſe ſoundeth: hee thundreth with the voyce of his maieſtie, and hee will not ſtay c them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth marueilously with his voyce: hee woorketh great things, which wee know not.

6 For he ſaith to the ſnowe, Be thou vpon the earth: d likewiſe to the ſmall raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force therof he e ſhutteth vp a At the marueiling of the thunder and lightnings: wherby he declareth that the faithful are liuely touched with the maieſtie of God, when they behold his woorkes.

b That is, the thunder, wherby he ſpeaketh to men to waken their dulneſſe, and to bring them to the conſideration of his woorkes.
c Meaning, the raines and thunders.
d So that neyther ſmall raine nor great, ſnow nor anything elſe commeth without Gods appointment.
e By raines and thunders God cauſeth men to keepe themſelues within the houſes.

euery

euery man, that al men may know his worke.

8 Then the beaſtes goe into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewinde commeth out of the South, and the cold from the [f] Northe winde.

10 At the breath of God the froſt is giuen, and the breadth of the waters [g] is made narow.

11 He maketh alſo the cloudes to [h] labour, to water the earth, and ſcattereth the cloud of [i] his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatſoeuer hee commandeth them vpon the whole world.

13 Whether it be for [k] puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercie, he cauſeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: ſtande and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddeſt thou knowe when God diſpoſed them: and cauſed the [l] light of his cloude to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the [m] varietie of the cloude, and the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are [n] warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, and as a molten [o] glaſſe?

19 Tell vs what wee ſhall ſay vnto him: for wee cannot diſpoſe our matter becauſe of [p] darkneſſe.

20 Shal it bee [q] told him when I ſpeake? or ſhall man ſpeake when hee ſhall be [r] deſtroyed?

21 And now men ſee not the light, [ſ] which ſhineth in the clouds, but the wind paſſeth and cleanſeth them.

22 The [t] brightneſſe commeth out of the North: the praiſe thereof is to God, which is terrible.

23 It is the Almightie: we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iuſtice: he [u] afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regarde any that are wiſe in their owne conceite.

f In Ebrew it is called the ſcattering winde, becauſe it driueth away the clouds and purgeth the aire.
g That is, froſen by the driefh.
h Gather the vapours, and moue to and fro water & earth.
i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it.
k Raine, colde, heate, tempeſts, and ſuch like are ſent of God, either to puniſh man, or to profite the earth, or to declare his fauor toward man, as Chap. 36.31.
l That is, the lightning to breake forth in the cloudes.
m Which is ſometime changed into raine, or ſnow, or haile, or ſuch like.
n Why thy clothes ſhoulde keepe thee warme, when the South winde bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth?
o For their cleerenes.
p That is, our ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was ſo preſumptuous that he would controll the workes of God.
q Hath God neede that any ſhould tell him when man murmureth againſt him?
r If God would deſtroy a man ſhould he repine?
ſ The cloude ſtoppeth the ſhining of the ſun, that man cannot ſee it till the wind haue chaſed away the cloud: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of theſe things, how much leſſe of Gods iudgements?
t In Ebrew, golde: meaning faire weather and cleare as golde.
u Meaning, without cauſe.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakeneſſe of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice and prouidence of the Creatour is knowen.

THen anſwered the Lord vnto Iob out of the [a] whirlewinde, and ſaid, 2 Who is this that [b] darkneth the counſel by words without knowledge?

a That his wordes might haue greater maieſtie, and that Iob might knowe with whom hee had to do.
b Which by ſeeking out the the ſecret counſel of God by mans reaſon, maketh it more obſcure and ſheweth his owne follie.

3 Girde vp now thy loynes like a man: I [c] will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where waſt thou when I laid the [d] foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding,

5 Who hath laide the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt, or who hath ſtretched the line ouer it?

6 Whereupon are the foundations thereof ſet: or who laide the corner ſtone thereof?

7 When the ſtarres of the morning [e] praiſed me together, and all the [f] children of God reioyced?

8 Or who hath ſhut vp the ſea with doores, when it iſſued and came forth as out of the wombe?

9 When I made the clouds as a couering thereof, and darkenes as the [g] ſwadling bands thereof?

10 When I eſtabliſhed my commaundement vpon it, and ſet barres and doores, 11 And ſaid, Hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no farther, and heere [h] ſhall it ſtay thy proude waues.

12 Haſt thou commaunded the [i] morning ſince thy dayes? haſt thou cauſed the morning to know his place, 13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be [k] ſhaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to faſhion, [l] and all ſtand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light ſhalbe taken away, and the hie arme ſhall bee broken.

16 Haſt thou entred into the bottomes of the ſea? or haſt thou walked to ſeeke out the [m] depth?

17 Haue the gates of death beene opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſeene the gates of the ſhadow of death?

18 Haſt thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knoweſt all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkneſſe, 20 That thou [n] ſhouldeſt receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt know the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Knoweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then borne, and becauſe the number of thy dayes is great?

22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnowe? or haſt thou ſeene the treaſures of the haile, 23 Which I haue [o] hid againſt the time of trouble againſt the day of warre and battell?

24 By what way is [p] light parted, which ſcattereth the Eaſt winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath diuided the ſpoutes for the raine?

c Becauſe he had wiſhed to diſpute with God. Chap. 13. God reaſoneth with him to declare his raſhnes.
d Seeing hee could not iudge of thoſe things which were done ſo long before he was borne, he was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much leſſe the ſecret cauſes of his iudgements.
e The ſtarres & dumme creatures are ſaide to praiſe God, becauſe his power, wiſedome, and goodneſſe is manifeſt and knowen therein.
f Meaning, the Angels.
g As though the great ſea were but as a little babe in the hand of God to turne to and fro.
h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as verſe 10.
i To wit, to riſe, ſince thou waſt borne?
k Who hauing in the night bin giuen to wickednes, cannot abide the light, but hide themſelues.
l The earth which ſeemed in the night to haue no forme, by the riſing of the ſun is as it were created anew, and all things there in clad with new beautie.
m If thou art not able to ſeeke out the depth of the ſea, how much leſſe art thou able to comprehend the counſel of God?
n That thou mighteſt appoint it his way and limits.
o To puniſh mine enemies with them, as Exo. 9.18. Ioſh. 10, 11.

raine: or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wildernes where there is no man:

27 To fulfil the wild and waste place, and to cause the bud of the hearbe to spring forth:

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the droppes of the dewe?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yce? who hath ingendred the frost of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid [p] as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canst thou restraine the sweete influences of [q] the Pleiades? or loose the bands of [r] Orion?

32 Canst thou bring forth [s] Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide [t] Arcturus with his [illegible]?

33 Knowest thou the course of Heauen? or canst thou set [u] the rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes that the abundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canst thou sende the lightnings that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, here we are?

36 Who hath put wisdome in the [x] reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?

37 Who can number clouds by wisdome? or who can cause to cease the [y] bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardnes, [z] and the clots are fast together?

p The yce couereth it, as though it were paued with stone.

q Which starres arise when the sunne is in Taurus, which is the spring time, and bring floures.

r Which starre springeth in winter.

s Certaine starres so called: some thinke they were the twelue signes.

t The Beare with those that are about him.

u Canst thou cause the heauenly bodies to haue any power ouer the earthly bodies?

x In the secret parts of man.

y That is, the cloudes wherein the water is conceiued as in bottels.

z For when God openeth not open these bottels, the earth commeth in this inconuenience.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie & prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauens, giueth manifull occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humbleth himself.

WIlt [a] thou hunt the pray for the lyon? or fil the appetite of the lions whelps,

2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lie in waite?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meate, when his birdes [b] crie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?

4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth yong? or doest thou marke when the [c] hindes doe calue?

5 Canst thou number the moneths that they [d] fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bow themselues: they [e] bruse their yong and cast out their sorrowes.

7 Yet their yong ware fat, and growe vp with corne: they goe forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bondes of the wilde asse?

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he shewed his marueilous prouidence in earth, euen toward the brute beasts.

b Reade Psal. 147. 9.

c He chiefly marketh mention of wilde goates and hindes, because they bring forth their yong with most difficultie.

d That is, how long they goe with young?

e They bring forth with great difficultie.

9 It is I which haue made the wildernesse his house, and the [f] salt places his dwellings.

10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crie of the driuer.

11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the Unicorne [g] serue thee? or will he tarie by thy cribbe?

13 Canst thou binde the Unicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will hee plow the valleys after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleeue him, that he wil bring home thy seed, and gather it vnto thy barne?

16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich?

17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh [h] them hote in the dust,

18 And forgetteth that the foot might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.

19 Hee sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauelled [i] in vaine.

20 For God hath depriued him of [k] wisdome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.

21 When [l] time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider.

22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or couered his necke with [m] neying?

23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grasshopper? his strong neying is fearefull.

24 He [n] diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in his strength: hee goeth forth to meete the harnesse man.

25 He mocketh at feare, and is not afraide, and turneth not backe from the sword.

26 Though the quiuer rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield.

27 He [o] swalloweth the ground for fiercenesse and rage, and hee beleeueth not that it is the noyse of the trumpet.

28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he smelleth the battell a farre off, and the noise of the captaines, and the shouting.

29 Shall the Hawke flie by thy wisedome, stretching out his wings toward the [p] South?

30 Doeth the Eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on hie?

31 Shee abideth and remayneth in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

32 From thence she spieth for meate, and her eyes beholde a farre off.

f That is, the barren ground where no good fruites grow.

g Is it possible to make the vnicorne tame? signifying that if man cannot rule a creature, that it is much more impossible that he should appoint the wisedome of God, whereby he gouerneth all the world.

h They write that the ostrich couereth her egs in the sand, and because the colde ayre is hote and the sunne still keepeth them warme, they are hatched.

i If he should take care for them.

k That is, to haue a care and naturall affection toward his yong.

l When the yong ostrich is growne vp, he ouerrunneth the horse.

m That is, giue him courage: which is meant by neying & shaking his mane: for with his breath he couereth his necke.

n He breaketh with his foote.

o He so riddeth the ground, that it seemeth nothing vnder him.

p That is, when colde commeth to flee into the warme countreies.

33 His young ones also ſucke vp blood: and where the ſlaine are, there is ſhe.

34 Moreouer, the Lorde ſpake vnto Iob, and ſaide,

35 Is this to [q] learne, to ſtriue with the Almightie? he that reproueth God, let him anſwere to it.

36 Then Iob anſwered the Lord ſaying,

37 Beholde, I am [r] vile: what ſhall I anſwere thee? I will lay mine hande vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I ſpoken, but I will anſwere no more, yea twiſe, but I will proceede no further.

q Is this the way for a man that will learne, to ſtriue with God? which thing he reproueth in Iob.

r Whereby he ſheweth that he repented, and deſired pardon for his faults.

CHAP. XL.

1 How weake mans power is, being compared to the works of God: 10 Whoſe power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beaſts.

AGaine the Lorde anſwered Iob out of [*] the whirlewinde, and ſaide,

* Chap.38.1.

2 Gird vp nowe thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou diſanull [a] my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayeſt bee iuſtified?

a Signifying they that iuſtifie themſelues, condemne God as muſh.

4 Or haſt thou an arme like God? or doeſt thou thunder with a voyce like him?

5 Decke thy ſelfe nowe with [b] maieſtie and excellencie, and aray thy ſelfe with beautie and glorie.

b Meaning, that theſe were proper vnto God, and belonged to no man.

6 Caſt abroade the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abaſe him.

7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and deſtroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the duſt together, and bind [c] their faces in a ſecret place.

c Cauſe them to die if thou canſt.

9 Then will I confeſſe vnto thee alſo, that thy right hand can [d] ſaue thee.

d Ment by that whoſoeuer attributeth to himſelf power and abilitie to ſaue himſelfe, maketh himſelfe God.

10 Beholde now [e] Behemoth (whom I made [f] with thee) which eateth graſſe as an oxe.

e This beaſt is thought to be the elephant, or ſome other, which is vnknowen.

f Whom I made as well as thee.

11 Beholde nowe, his ſtrength is in his loines, and his force is in the nauill of his belly.

12 When he taketh pleaſure, his taile is like a cedar: the ſinewes of his ſtones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like ſtaues of braſſe, and his ſmall bones like ſtaues of yron.

14 [h] He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: he that made him, will make his ſworde to approch vnto him.

g This commeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to deuoure, as a lyon, nothing were able to reſiſt him or contend him.

h He is one of the chiefeſt workes of God among the beaſts.

15 Surely the mountains bring him forth graſſe, where all the beaſts of the field play.

16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes.

17 Can the trees couer him with their ſhadowe? or can the willowes of the riuer compaſſe him about?

i Though man dare not come neere him yet God can kill him.

18 Behold, he ſpoyleth the riuer, [k] and haſteth not: he truſteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.

k He drinketh at leaſure, and feareth no body.

19 He taketh it with his eies, and thruſteth his noſe through whatſoeuer meeteth him.

20 Canſt thou draw out [l] Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou ſhalt caſt downe vnto his tongue?

l Meaning, the whale.

21 Canſt thou caſt an hooke into his noſe? canſt thou pierce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will he make many [m] prayers vnto thee, or ſpeake thee faire?

m Becauſe hee feareth leſt thou ſhouldeſt take him.

23 Will hee make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take [n] him as a ſeruaunt for euer?

n To do thy buſineſſe, and be at thy commandement.

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?

25 Shall the companions banket with him? ſhall they diuide him among the Marchants?

26 Canſt thou fil the baſket with his ſkin? or the fiſhpanier with his head?

27 Lay thine hande vpon him: remember [o] the battel, and doe no more ſo.

o If thou euer conſider the danger, thou wilt not meddle with him.

28 Behold, [p] his hope is in vaine: for ſhall not one periſh euen at the ſight of him?

p To wit, that truſteth to take him.

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatneſſe of this monſter Liuiathan God ſheweth his greatneſſe, and his power, which nothing can reſiſt.

NOne is ſo fierce that dare ſtirre him vp. Who is he then that can ſtande [a] before me?

a If men dare ſtand againſt a whale, which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God the Creator?

2 Who hath preuented mee that I ſhould [b] make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

b Who hath taught me to accompliſh my worke.

3 I will not keepe ſilence concerning [c] his partes, nor his power nor his comely proportion.

c The partes, and members of the whale.

4 Who can diſcouer the face [d] of his garment? or who ſhall come to him with a double [e] bridle?

d That is, who dare pull off his ſkinne?

e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth?

5 Who ſhall [f] open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

f Who dare looke in his mouth?

6 The maieſtie of his ſcales is like ſtrong ſhields, and are ſure ſealed.

7 One is ſet to another, that no winde can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they ſticke together, that they cannot be ſundered.

9 His nieſings [g] make the light to ſhine, and his eyes are like the eye lidds of the morning.

g Charis, caſteth out flames of fire.

10 Out of his mouth go lamps, and ſparks of fire leape out.

11 Out of his noſtrils commeth out ſmoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth ſtrength, and [h] labour is reiected before his face.

h Nothing is painful or hard vnto him.

14 The members of his body are ioyned: they they are strong in themselues, and cannot be moued.

15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.

16 The mighty are afraide of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselues.

17 When the sworde doeth touch him, hee will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergeon.

18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as strawe: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharpe stones [i] are vnder him, and hee spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.

22 He [k] maketh the depth to boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of ointment:

23 Hee maketh a path to [l] shine after him, one would thinke the depth an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth [m] all hie things: hee is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 Hee prayeth for his friendes. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

Then Iob answered the Lord, and said,

2 I know that thou canst do al things, and there is no [a] thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsell without [b] knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderful for me [c] and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaund of thee, [d] and declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue [e] heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of mee the thing that is [f] right, like my seruant Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you nowe seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruaunt Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shal [h] pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because yee haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite, went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 Then the Lord turned the [i] captiuity of Iob, when hee prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him al his [k] brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had beene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a ‖ peece of money, and euery one an earing of golde.

12 So the Lord blessed [p] last daies of Iob more then the first: for he had [l] fourteene thousand sheep, and sixe thousand camels, & a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.

13 Hee had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one [m] Iemimah, and the name of the second [n] Keziah, and the name of the third [o] Keren-happuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob died, being olde, and full of dayes.

a His skinne is so hard that he hardly wish as great ease on the stones as in the myre.
b Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boyled by his walowing, or else he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.
l That is, a white froth, and shining streame before him.
m He despiseth all other beastes and monsters, and is the proudest of all others.

a No thought so secret, but thou doest see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe.
b Is there any but I? for this God laide to his charge, Chap. 38. 2. c I confesse herein mine ignorance, and that I spake I wist not what.
d He sheweth that he will be Gods scholler to learne of him.
e I knew thee only before by hearesay, but now thou hast caused me to feele what thou art to me, that I may resigne my self vnto thee.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions and not comforted him with my mercies.
g Who had a good cause, but bandies it euill.
h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for the fault that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him.
i He deliuered him out the affliction wherein he was.
k That is, all his kinred, reade Chap. 19. 13.

‖ Or, lambe, or money so marked.

l God made him twise so rich in cattell as he was afore, and gaue him as many children, as he had taken from him.
m That is, of long life, or beautifull as the day.
n As pleasant as tassia or sweete spice.
o That is, the horne of beautie.

THE * PSALMES OF DAVID.

* Or, prayses, according to the Ebrewes: for were chiefly instituted to prayse & giue thankes to God for his benefites. They are called the Psalmes or Songes of Dauid, because the most part were made by him.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are conteined that appertaine to true felicitie: aswell in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenly wisedome are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great, and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnes thereof shine most clearely. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisedome, here is the schole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approche neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we would knowe wherein standeth our saluation, and how to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediatour most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shal see how the hand of God is euer against them, and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touch an haire of ones head, except he permit them, and howe in the ende their destruction is most miserable. Briefely, here we haue most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glorie, which is laide vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSALME. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalme first in maner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to studie, and meditate on the heauenly wisedome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue themselues wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

BLessed is the man
ẏ doeth not walke in the [a] counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scornefull:

2 But his delight is in the * Lawe of the Lord, and in his [b] Lawe doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a * tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring foorth her fruite in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so [c] whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 [d] The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe which the winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the [e] iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord [f] knoweth the way of the righteous, & the way of the wicked shal perish.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euill counsel, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seate of the scorners. *Deu. 6. 8. Ios. 1. 8. prou. 6. 20.

b In the holy Scriptures. *Iere. 17. 8.

c Gods children are so mooued euer with his grace, that whatsoeuer commeth vnto them, tendeth to their saluation.

d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous.

e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath.

f Doeth approoue and prosper, like as not to knowe, is to reproue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth, that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer and aduance it euen to the end of the world, 10 And Therefore exhorteth Kings and Rulers, that they would humbly submit themselues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

WHy doe the [a] heathen * rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The kings of ẏ earth band themselues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his ‖ Christ.

3 [b] Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 * But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shal laugh: the Lord shal haue them in derision.

5 [c] Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his sore displeasure, saying,

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the [d] decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, * Thou art my sonne: this [e] day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the [f] endes of the earth for thy possession.

9 * Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessell.

10 [g] Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lorde in feare, and reioyce a The conspiracie of the Gentiles, the murmuring of the Iewes, & power of Kings, cannot preuaile against Christ. *Actes 4. 25.

‖ Or, anoynted.

b Thus the wicked say, that they will cast off the yoke of God, and of his Christ. *Prou. 1. 26.

c Gods plagues will declare that in resisting his Christ, they fought against him.

d To shew that my vocation to the kingdome, is of God. *Act. 13. 23, 33. hebr. 1. 5.

e That is to say, as touching mans knowledge, because it was the first time that Dauid appeared to be elected of God. So is it applied to Christ his first comming & manifestation to the world.

f Not onely the Iewes but the Gentiles also. * Reuel. 2. 27.

g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time.

in trembling.

12 [h] Kisse the sonne, least he be angry, & ye [i] perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne, blessed are all that trust in him.

[h] In signe of homage.

[i] When the wicked shall say, Peace and rest, seeming yet to be but in the midway of their purposes, then shall destruction suddenly come, 1. Thessa. 5. 3.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bolde through his promises against the great railings & terrours of his enemies: yea, against death it selfe, which he sawe present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good successe, that God gaue him, and all the Church.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

LOrd, howe are mine aduersaries [a] increased: howe many rise against me:

2 Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. [b] Selah.

3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

4 I did call vnto ỹ Lord with my voice, & he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I laid me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord susteined me.

6 I will not be afraid for [c] ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.

7 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 [d] Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

[a] This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his troubles he had his recourse to God.

[b] Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cause vs to consider the sentence, as a thing of great importance.

[c] When he conquered the truth of Gods promes, and tried the same, his faith increased marueilously.

[d] Be the daungers neuer so great, or many, yet God hath other meanes to deliuer his.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promes, and therefore boldly reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion. 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before al worldly treasures.

[a] To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare me when I call, [b] O God of my righteousnesse: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was [c] in distresse: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye [d] sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, [e] louing vanitie, and seeking lyes: Selah.

3 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe [f] a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 [g] Tremble, & sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be [h] still. Selah.

5 [i] Offer the sacrifices of righteousnesse, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shewe vs any good: but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lord, [i] onely makest me dwell in safetie.

[a] Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instruments, or was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin who had the charge, because he was most excellent, and he begannie this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.

[b] Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.

[c] Both of mind and body.

[d] Ye that thinke your selues noble in this world.

[e] Though your enterprises succeede you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.

[f] A king that walketh in his vocation.

[g] For feare of Gods iudgement.

[h] Cease your rage.

[i] Serue God purely, and not with outward ceremonies.

[i] This word in Ebrewe may be referred to God, as it is here translated, or to Dauid, signifying that he shoulde dwell as iopfully alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

PSAL. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, & fearing great dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, he conceiueth cõfort, 12 Concluding that when God shal deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid.

‖ Or, a musicall instrument or tune.

HEare my wordes, O Lord: vnderstand my [a] meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will [b] waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth [c] wickednes: neither shall euil dwel with thee.

5 [d] The foolish shal not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull.

7 But I [e] will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousnesse, [f] because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their * throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: ‖ let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And [h] let all them ỹ trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, & couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt ‖ blesse the righteous, and with fauour [i] wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

[a] That is, my vehement prayer and secret complaint and sighings.

[b] With patience and trust till I be heard.

[c] Seeing that God of nature hateth wickednesse, he must needes punish the wicked, and saue the godly.

[d] Which runne most ragingly after their carnall affections.

[e] In the deepest of his tentations he putteth his full confidence in God.

[f] Because thou art iust, therefore leade me out of the dangers of mine enemies.

* Rom. 3. 13.

‖ Or, cause them to erre.

[g] Let their deuices come to nought.

[h] Thy fauour toward me shall confirme the faith of all others.

‖ Or, giue good successe.

[i] So that he shalbe safe from all dangers.

PSAL. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and nowe felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceiued the horrors of death euerlasting, he desireth forgiuenesse, 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe while he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharpely rebuketh his enemies which reioyced in his affliction.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

OLord * [a] rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

* Iere. 10. 24.

[a] Though I deserue destruction, yet let thy mercy pitie my frailtie.

2 Haue

2 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my [b] bones are vexed.

3 [c] My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in [d] death there is no remẽbrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bedde euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 ‖ Mine eie is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being falsly accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, he calleth to God to be his defender. 3 To whom he cõmendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill towards Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to award sentẽce against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies and promes, he waxeth bold & derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that it shall fall on their owne neckes that which they haue purposed for others.

5 For thou hast made him a litle lower thẽ [c] God, and crowned him with glory & worship.

6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete:

7 All [d] sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beastes of the fielde:

1 After he had giuen thankes to God for the sundry victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also prooued by manifolde experience howe ready God was at hand in all his troubles: 14 He being nowe likewise in danger of new enemies, desireth God to helpe him according to his wont, 17 And to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

2 I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing prayse to thy Name, O most High.

3 For that mine enemies are turned back: they shall fall, and perish at thy presence.

4 For [b] thou hast maintained my right, and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgest right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 [c] O enemie, destructions are come to a perpetuall ende, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them.

7 But the Lord ‖ shall sit for euer: he hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

8 For he shall iudge ỹ world in righteousnesse, and shall iudge the people with equitie.

9 The Lord also will be a refuge for the [d] poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

10 And they that knowe thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lorde, hast not failed them that seeke thee.

11 Sing prayses to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes.

12 For [e] when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

14 That I may shew all thy prayses within the [f] gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation.

15 The heathen are [g] sunken downe in the pit that they made: in the net that they hid, is their foote taken.

PSAL. X.

WHy standest thou farre of, O Lorde, and hidest thee in [a] due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath [b] made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.

9 He lieth in waite secretly, euen as a lion in his den: he lieth in waite to spoile the poore: he doeth spoile the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth and boweth: therefore heapes of the [e] poore doe fall by his might.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotte, he hideth away his face, & wil neuer see.

12 [f] Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemne God: he saieth in his heart, Thou wilt not [g] regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischiefe and wrong, that thou mayest [h] take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednes, and thou shalt finde [i] none.

5 The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

6 Upon the wicked he shall raine snares, [e] fire, and brimstone, and stormy tempest: this is the [f] portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doth behold the iust.

17 He hath deliuered me from my [n]strong enemy, & from them which hate me: for they were [o]too strong for me.

18 They preuented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: [p]he deliuered me because hee fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my [q]righteousnes: according to the pureneſſe of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his [r]commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, and haue kept me from my [s]wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lorde rewarded me according to my righteousnesse, and according to the pureneſſe of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the [t]godly thou wilt shew thy self godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shewe thy selfe vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt [u]cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darknesse.

29 For by thee I haue [x]broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the [y]word of the Lorde is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my [z]way vpright.

33 He maketh my feete like Hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine [a]high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of ‖ brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the [b]shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy [c]louing kindnesse hath caused mee to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 [d]I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe til I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded mee with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast [e]giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They [f]cried but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lorde, but hee answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the wind: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the [g]heathen: a people, whom I haue not [h]knowen, shall serue me.

44 Assoone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shal [i]be in subiection to me.

4 I haue not [d] hanted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

d He declareth that they cannot walke in simplicitie before God, that delite in the company of the vngodly.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euil, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will [e] wash mine hands in innocency, O Lord, and compasse thine altar, e I will serue thee with a pure affection, & with the godly that sacrifice vnto thee.

7 That I may declare with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and set forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lorde, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 [f] Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloodie men:

f Destroy me not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.

10 In whose hands is [g] wickednesse, and their right hand is full of bribes.

g Whose cruel hands not execute the malicious deuises of their hearts.

11 But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and bee mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote standeth in [h] vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lorde, in the Congregations.

h I am preserued from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praise him openly.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the praises & thanksgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein wee may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the cause wherefore he desireth to liue and to be deliuered, namely to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalme of Dauid.

THe Lorde is my [a] light and my saluation, whom shal I feare? the Lord is [b] the strength of my life, of whom shal I be afraid?

a Be sure he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyrannie of his enemies.

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in [b] this.

b That God will deliuer me, and giue me faith the victorie.

4 [c] One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwel in the house of the Lorde all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

c The losse of countrey, wife, all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not praise thy Name in the midst of the congregation.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secrete place of his pauilion shall he hide me, & set me vp vpon a rocke.

6 [d] And now shall he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.

d Dauid assureth himselfe by the Spirit of prophecie that he should ouercome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercie also vpon mee and heare me.

8 When thou saidest, [e] Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I wil seeke thy face.

e He grounded vpon Gods promes, & shewed that he is most willing to obey his commandement.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 [f] Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

f He magnifieth Gods loue towards his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the [g] lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the goodnesse of the [h] Lord in the land of the liuing.

h In this present life before Iesus Christ, as Isa. 53. 11.

14 [i] Hope in the Lord: be strong, & he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

i He exhorteth himselfe to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauines of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to bee rid of them, 4 And crieth for vengeance against them: and at length assureth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all the faithfull.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

VNto thee, O Lorde, doe I crie: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, least, if thou answere me not, I be [a] like them that goe downe into the pit.

a He counteth himselfe as a dead man, till God shew his fauour toward him, and graunt him his petition.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I hold vp mine handes toward thine [b] holy Oracle.

b He vseth this outward meanes to help the weakenes of his faith: for in that place was the Arke, and there God promised to shew the tokens of his fauour.

3 [c] Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity: which speak friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

c Destroy not the good with the bad.

4 [d] Reward them according to their deeds, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense thē after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

d He thus prayeth in respect of Gods glory, and not for his owne cause, being assured that God would punish the persecuters of his Church.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore e breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 f Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shal reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is g their strength, and hee is the strength of the deliuerances of his annointed.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

e Let them be vtterly destroied, as Malac. 1.4.
f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises.
g Meaning, his souldiers, who were as means, by whom God declared his power.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes & rulers of the world, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

GIue vnto the Lorde, yee a sonnes of the mightie: giue vnto the Lorde glory and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in y glorious Sanctuarie.

3 The b voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The c voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe Lebanon also and d Sirion like a yong Unicorne.

7 The voyce of the Lorde deuideth the e flames of fire.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wildernesse to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernesse of f Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hindes to g calue, and h discouereth the forrests: therefore in his i Temple doeth euery man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the k flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lorde shall blesse his people with peace.

a He exhorteth the proud tyrants to humble themselues vnder Gods hand, and not to be inferiour to brute beasts and dumme creatures.
b The thunders cleyms that are heard out of the clouds, ought to make the wicked to tremble for feare of Gods anger.
c That is, the thunderbolt breaketh the most strong trees, and shall men thinke their power to be able to resist God?
d Called also Hermon.
e It causeth the lightning to come out of the clouds.
f In places most desolate, where seemeth there is no presence of God.
g For feare maketh them to cast their calues.
h Maketh the trees bare, or pearceth the most secret places.
i Though the wicked are nothing moued with these sights, yet the faithfull praise God.
k To moderate the rage of the tempest and waters, that they destroy not all.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great danger, he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then seuere and rigorous towards his children, 7 And also that the fall from prosperity to aduersity is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

¶ *A Psalme or song of the * dedication of the a house of Dauid.

IWill magnifie thee, O Lord: b for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast c restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued mee from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing praises vnto the Lorde, yee c his Saints, and giue thankes f before the remembrance of his Holinesse.

5 For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning.

6 And in my g prosperitie I sayd, I shall neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lorde of thy goodnesse hadst made my b mountaine to stand strong: but thou diddst hide thy face, & I i was troubled.

8 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lorde, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profite is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust k giue thanks vnto thee? or shal it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded mee with gladnesse.

12 Therefore shall my l tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lorde my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

*2. Sam. 7.2. *Deut. 20.5.
a After that Absalom had polluted it with most filthy fornication.
b He condemneth them of great ingratitude, which doe not praise God for his benefits.
c Restored from the rebellion of Absalom.
d Meaning, that he escaped death most narrowly.
e The word signifieth them that haue receiued mercy, and shew mercy liberally vnto others.
f Before his Tabernacle.
* Psal. 145.8. isai. 54.7, 8. 2. cor. 4.17.
g I put too much confidence in my quiet state, as Jere. 22.21.2. Chro. 32. 24, 25.
h I thought thou hast established me in Zion most surely.
i After that thou hadst withdrawen thine helpe, I felt my misery.
k Dauid meaneth that the dead are not profitable to the Congregation of the Lord here in earth: therefore he would liue to praise his Name, which is the ende of mans creation.
l Because thou hast preserued me, that my tongue should praise thee, I will not be vnmindfull of my duetie.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, whē death was before his eyes, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 Then he affirmeth that the fauor of God is alwaies ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally he exhorteth all the faithful to trust in God & to loue him, because he preserueth & strengtheneth thē, as they may see by his exāple.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN * thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer mee in thy a righteousnesse.

2 Bowe downe thine eare to mee: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rocke, & an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortresse: therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me.

4 Drawe mee out of the b net, that they haue laied priuilie for mee: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine c hand I commend my spirite:

*1. Sam. 23. 14. psal. 71. 1.
a For then God declareth himself iust, when he preserueth his accepting as he hath promised.
b Preserue me from the crafty counsels & subtill practises of mine enemies.
c He desireth God not onely to take care for him in this life, but that his soule may be saued after this life.

rite: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of trueth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselues to deceitful vanities: for I [d] trust in the Lord.

7 I wil be glad and reioyce in thy mercy: for thou hast seen my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities,

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feete at [e] large.

9 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lorde: for I am in trouble: mine [f] eie, my soule and my belie are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my pain, & my bones are consumed.

11 I was a [g] reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbors: and a feare to mine acquaintance, [h] who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of mind: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the railing of [i] great men. feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against me, & consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, [k] Thou art my God.

15 My [l] times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercy.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, & [m] to silence in the graue.

18 Let the lying lippes bee made dumme, which cruelly, proudly and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou [n] hast laid vp for them, that feare thee! & done to them, that trust in thee, euē before the sonnes of men!

20 Thou doest hide them † [o] priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest thē secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his marueilous kindnes toward me in a [p] strong citie.

22 Though I sayd in mine [q] haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voice of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee.

23 Loue ye the Lord all his ‖ Saints: for the Lord preserueth the faithfull. & rewardeth abundantly the proud doer.

24 Al ye that trust in the Lord, be [r] strong, and he shal establish your heart.

d This affection ought to be in all Gods children, to hate whatsoeuer thing is not grounded vpon a sure trust in God, as deceitfull and vaine.

e Largenes signifieth comfort, as straightnes, sorow and peril.

f Meaning, that his sorow and torment had continued a great while.

g Mine enemies had drawen all men to their part against me, euen my chief friends.

h They were afraid to shew me any token of friendship.

i They that were in authority, condemned me as a wicked doer.

k I had this testimonie of conscience, that thou wouldest defend mine innocencie.

l Whatsoeuer changes come, thou gouernest them by thy prouidence.

m Let death destroy them to the intent that they may hurt no more.

n The treasures of Gods mercy are alwayes layd vp in store for his children, albeit at all times they doe not enioy them.

† Ebr. in the secret of thy face.

o That is, in a place where they shall haue thy comfort, and be hid safely from the enemies pride.

p Meaning, there was no citie so strong to preserue him, as the defence of Gods fauour.

q And so by my rashnes and infirmitie deserued to haue bene forsaken.

‖ Or, ye that feele his mercies.

r Be constant in your vocation, and God will confirme you with heauenly strength.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 Dauid punished with grieuous sickenesse for his sinnes, counseth them blessed to whom God doth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that hee had confessed his sinnes, and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

A Psalme of Dauid to giue [a] instruction.

BLessed is he whose wickednesse is [b] forgiuen, & whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, & in whose spirite there is no guile.

3 When I held my [c] tongue, my bones consumed, or when I [d] roared all the day,

4 (For thine hand is heauie vpon mee, day and night: and my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.)

5 Then I [e] acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thoght, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednes vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

6 Therefore shal euery one, that is godly, make his praier vnto thee in a [f] time, whē thou maiest be found: surely in the flood of great waters they shal not come neere him.

4 Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassest me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah.

8 I will [h] instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt go, & I wil guide thee with mine eie.

9 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose [i] mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, least they come neere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but hee, that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compasse him.

11 Bee glad ye righteous, and [k] reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpright in heart.

a Concerning the free remission of sinnes, which is the chiefest point of our faith.

b To be iustified by faith, is to haue our sinnes freely remitted, and to be reputed iust, Rom. 4.6.

c Before we hope & despaire, d Neither by silence nor crying found I ease: signifying, that before the sinner be reconciled to God, he feeleth a perpetual torment.

e He sheweth that as Gods mercy is the only cause of forgiuenes of sinne, so the meanes thereof are repentance and confession which proceed of faith.

f When necessitie causeth him to seeke to thee for helpe, Isa. 55.6.

g To wit, the waters, & great dangers.

h Dauid promiseth to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefites which he felt, and that he will diligently looke and take care to direct them in the way of saluation.

i If men can not rule brute beasts, thinke they that God will not bridle and tame their rage. k He sheweth that peace and ioy of conscience in the holy Ghost is the fruit of faith.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God for that he hath not onely created all things, and by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsell of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preserued by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercy, shalbe preserued from all aduersities.

REioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it [a] becommeth vpright men to be thankful.

2 Praise the Lorde with harpe: sing vnto him with viole & [b] instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerefully with a loud voyce.

4 For the [c] word of the Lord is righteous, and all his [d] works are faithfull.

5 Hee [e] loueth righteousnesse and iudge-a It is the duetie of the godly to set forth the praises of God for his mercy and power shewed towards them.

b To sing on instruments belonged a part of the ceremonial seruice of the Temple, which doeth not moze appertaine vnto vs, then the sacrifices, censings and lights. c That is, counsel or commandement in gouerning the world. d That is, the effect & execution. e Howsoeuer the world iudgeth of Gods works, yet he doeth all things according to iustice and mercy.

ment: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, f all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 Hee gathereth the waters of the Sea together as vpon an heape, and laieth vp the depths in his treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

9 For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it ‖ stood.

10 The Lord breaketh the g counsel of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuises of the people.

11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed is that nation, whose h God is the Lord: euen the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lorde i looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwel in the earth.

15 He k fashioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their works.

16 The l King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

18 Behold, m the eie of the Lorde is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercy, 19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.

20 n Our soule waiteth for the Lorde: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.

22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

f By the creation of the heauens and beautiful ornament, with the gathering also of the waters, he stirreth foorth the power of God, that al creatures might feare him.

‖ Or, was created.

g No counsell can preuaile against God, but he defeateth it, and it shall haue euil successe.

h He sheweth that all our felicitie standeth in this, that the Lord is our God.

i He proueth that all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence and not by fortune.

k Therefore he knoweth their secret enterprises.

l If kings and the mighty of the world cannot be saued by worldly meanes, but only by Gods prouidence, what shall others to trust in, that haue not like meanes.

m God sheweth his fauour toward his seruants by his mercy, which man by no meanes is able to compasse.

n Thus he speaketh in the name of the whole Church, which onely depend on Gods prouidence.

PSAL. XXXIIII.

1 After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. 11. whom in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a general name to all the Kings of the Philistims) he praiseth God for his deliuerance, 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, to feare & serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 15 And vtterly destroieth the wicked in their sinnes.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed.

I Will a alway giue thankes vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shall glory in the Lorde: the b humble shall heare it, and be glad.

3 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

a He promiseth neuer to become vnmindfull of Gods great benefits for his deliuerance.

b They that are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils.

4 I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my c feare.

5 They d shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not bee ashamed, saying,

6 The poore man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The e Angell of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste ye and see, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The f Lions doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto mee: I will teach you the b feare of the Lord.

12 What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to i see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euill, & thy lips, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschew euil and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it.

15 The eies of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their cry.

16 But the k face of the Lorde is against them that do euil, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will saue such as bee afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 m He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shall slay the n wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord o redeemeth the soules of his seruaunts: and none that trust in him shall perish.

c Which I conceiued for the dangers wherein I was.

d They shall be bold to flee to thee for succour, when they shall see thy mercies toward me.

e Though Gods power be sufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels to watch ouer vs.

f The godly by their patient obedience, ouercome more then they, which rauine and spoile.

g If they abide the last triall.

h That is, the true religion and worship of God.

*1. Pet. 3. 10.

i Seeing all men naturally desire felicitie, he wondreth why they cast themselues willingly into miserie.

k The anger of God doeth not onely destroy the wicked, but also aboliseth their name for euer.

l When they seeme to be ouerwhelmed by their afflictions, then God is at hand to deliuer them.

m As in Christ faith, all the haires of his head.

n Their wicked enterprises shall turne to their owne destruction.

o For when they seeme to be ouercome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him, to flatter their king (as is the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid: against whom he prayeth God to pleade and to auenge his cause, 8 That they may be taken in their nets & snares, which they laied for him, that his innocencie may bee declared, 27 And that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and prayse the Name of the Lorde, that thus deliuereth his seruant. 28 And so he promiseth to speake foorth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

PLeade thou my a cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them that fight against me.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against them y^t persecute him & slander him.

2 b Lay

2 [b] Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare and stop the way against them, that persecute me: say vnto my [c] soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them be confounded & put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord [d] scatter them.

6 Let their way bee darke and slipperie: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For [e] without cause they haue hid the pit & their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon [f] him at vnwares, and let his net, that hee hath layd priuily, take him: let him fall into [g] the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my [h] bones shall say, Lorde, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is too strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoileth him!

11 [i] Cruel witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to [k] haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and [l] my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine [m] aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselues together: the abiects assembled themselues against me, and I knew not: they tare [n] me and ceased not,

16 With the false scoffers at [o] bankets, gnashing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the Lions.

18 So will I giue thee thankes in a great Congregation: I wil praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer mee, neither let them [p] winke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speake not as friends: but they imagine deceitfull words against the ‖ quiet of the land.

21 And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, [q] our eye hath seene.

22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord.

23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.

24 Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy [r] righteousnes, and let them not reioyce ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, [s] O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, Wee haue deuoured him.

26 Let them bee confounded, and put to shame [t] together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them be clothed [u] with confusion & shame, that lift vp themselues against me.

27 But let them be ioyfull and glad, [x] that loue my righteousnes: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lorde be magnified, which loueth the [y] prosperitie of his seruant.

28 And my tongue shall vtter thy righteousnes, and thy praise euery day.

b Albeit God can with his breath destroy al his enemies, yet the holy Ghost attributeth vnto him these outward weapons, to allure vs of his present power.

c Assure me against these tentations, that thou art the author of my saluation.

d Smite them with the spirit of giddinesse, that their enterprises may be foolish, and they receiue iust reward.

e Shewing that he may not call God to be a reuenger, but only for his glory, and when our cause is iust.

f When he prouideth to himself peace.

g Which he prepared against the children of God.

h He attributeth his deliuerance onely to God, praying him therefore both in soule and body.

i That would not suffer me to purge my selfe.

k To haue taken from me all comfort, and brought me into despaire.

l I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection with bowing downe mine head.

m When they saw me ready to slip, and as one that halted for infirmitie.

n With their railing words.

o The word signifieth cakes: meaning, that the proud Courtiers at their daintie feasts, scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.

p In token of contempt and mocking.

‖ Or, clefts of the earth: meaning himselfe and others in their miserie.

q They reioiced as though they had now seene Dauid ouerthrowen.

r It is the iustice of God to giue to the oppressors affliction and torment, and to the oppressed, ease and reliefe. 2. Thes. 1. 6 s Because we haue that which we sought for, seeing he is destroied.

t That is, at once, were they neuer so many or mighty.

u This prayer shall alwayes be verified against them that persecute the faithful.

x That at least knowe my right, though they be not able to helpe me.

y He exhorteth the Church to praise God for the deliuerance of his seruaunts, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grieuously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednes. 6 Then hee turneth to consider the vnspeakeable goodnesse of God towards all creatures: 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he may bee comforted and assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke, 13 Who in the ende destroyeth the wicked, and saueth the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

WIckednesse saieth to the wicked man, [a] euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eies.

2 For he [b] flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found woorthie to be hated.

3 The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and [c] deceite: he hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.

4 He [d] imagineth mischiefe vpon his bed: he setteth himself vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

5 Thy [e] mercy, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, & thy faithfulnes vnto the clouds.

6 Thy righteousnes is like the † mightie mountaines: thy iudgements are like a great [f] deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast.

7 How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shalbe [g] satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

a I let euidently by his deeds, that sinne prospereth fauourably to reprobate from wickednes to wickednes, albeit he giue about to couer his impietie.

b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not.

c The reprobate mocke at wholsome doctrine, and put no difference betweene good and euil.

d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, he admonisheth the godly to beware of their vices.

e Though wickednes seemeth to ouerflow all the world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth.

† Eb. the mountaines of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called.

f The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.

g Onely Gods children haue enough of all things both concerning this life, and the life to come.

h He sheweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that know him, & lead their liues vprightly.
i Let not the proud aduance himselfe against me, neither the power of the wicked vtterly me away.
k That is, in their pride wherin they flatter themselues.

10 Extend thy louing kindnesse vnto them that [h] know thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the [i] foote of pride come against me, & let not the hand of the wicked men moue me.

12 [k] There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalme containeth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked doe liue for the time, he doth affirme their felicitie to bee vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God: but in the end they are destroied as his enemies, 11 And how miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the worle, yet his end is peace and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked, and preserued.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a He admonisheth vs neither to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better.
b For Gods iudgement cutteth downe their state in a moment.
c To trust in God, and to accompting to his will, are sure tokens, that his prouidence will neuer faile vs.
d Be not led by thine owne wisedome, but obey God, and he will finish his worke in thee.
e As the hope of the day light causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenesse of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause, and restore vs to our right.
f When God suffereth the wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoureth their doings, Iob 21. 7. &c.
g Meaning, except he moderate his affections, he shall be led to doe as they doe.
h He correcteth the impatiencie of our nature, which cannot abide till the fulnesse of Gods time be come. * Matth. 5. 5. i The godly are assured that the power and craft of the wicked shall not preuaile against them, but fall on their owne neckes, and therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, and in the meane while bewaile their sinnes, and offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

FRet not [a] thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shall soone be [b] cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 [c] Trust thou in the Lord and doe good: dwell in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 [d] Commit thy way vnto the Lorde, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring foorth thy righteousnes as the light, & thy [e] iudgement as the noone day.

7 Waite patiently vpon the Lorde, and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him [f] which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfes also to doe euil.

9 For euil doers shall be cut off, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shal inherite the land.

10 [h] Therefore yet a litle while, & the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But *meeke men shal possesse the earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 [i] The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his day is comming.

14 The wicked haue drawen their sword, & haue bent their bowe, to cast down the poore and needie, & to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sword shal enter into their own heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 [k] A smal thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked & mighty.

17 For the armes of the wicked shalbe broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lorde [l] knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetuall.

19 They shal not be confounded in the perilous time, & in the dayes of famine they shall haue [m] ynough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the [n] fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shal they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth and paieth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and [o] giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherite the land, and they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.

23 [p] The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he [q] fall, he shal not be cast off, for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong, and am old: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his [r] seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euil and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, & forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwel therein [s] for euer.

30 The [t] mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisedome, & his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shal not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lorde will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is [u] iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, & spreading himselfe like a greene Bay tree.

36 Yet he [x] passed away, and loe, hee was gone, and I sought him, but he could not bee found.

37 [y] Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shall bee destroied together, and the ende of the wicked shall be k For they are daily fed as with Manna from heaue, and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hunger.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.
m For God will giue them contented mindes, and that which shall be necessarie.
n They shal vanish away vtterly: for they are led for the day of slaughter.
o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.
p God prospereth the faithful, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conscience.
q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.
r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporall benefites, yet he recompenseth him with spirituall treasures.
s They shal continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue a leal inward rest.
t These three points are requited of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.
u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approoue their cause, & reuenge their wrong.
x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.
y He exhorteth the faithfull to marke diligently the examples both of Gods mercies, & also of his iudgements.

be cut off.

39 But the [z] saluation of the righteous men shall be of the Lorde: he shall be their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good successe, though for a time God proue them by sundry tentations.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 Dauid lying sicke of some grieuous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, & therfore praieth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many wordes and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friendes, euill intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the ende with firme confidence hee commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedie helpe at his hand.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid for [a] remembrance.

O Lorde, rebuke me not in thine [b] anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine [c] arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.

3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my [d] sinne.

4 For [e] mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weightie burthen they are too heauie for me.

5 My woundes are putrified, and corrupt, because of [f] my foolishnes.

6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe ‖ mourning all the day.

7 For my reines are full of mourning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lorde, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart † panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen [h] they are not mine owne.

11 My louers [g] my friends stand aside frō my plague, and my [i] kinsemen stand afarre off.

12 They also, that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that goe about to doe me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually.

13 But I as [k] a deafe man heard not, & am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes.

15 For on thee, O Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for [l] when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to [m] halt, and my sorowe is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, and am sorie for my sinne.

19 Then mine [n] enemies are aliue and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also, that reward euil for good, are mine aduersaries, because I folow [o] goodnesse.

12 Forsake me not, O Lord: be not thou farre from me, O my God.

22 Haste thee to helpe me, O my Lord, my [p] saluation.

a To put himselfe and others in mind of Gods chastisement for sinne.
b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he would so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it.
c Thy sickenes wherewith thou hast visited me.
d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishmēts, because his sins had deserued much more.
e He confesseth his sinnes, Gods iustice, and maketh prayer his refuge.
f That rather gaue place to mine owne lusts, then to the will of God.
‖ Or, blacke, as one that is disfigured and consumed with sickenesse, g This example warneth vs neuer to despaire, be the tormēt neuer so great: but alwayes to crie vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance.
† Ebr. runneth about, or his tossed to and fro: meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe & counsel.
h My sight faileth me for very sorowe.
i Partly for feare and partly for pride, they denied all duetie and friendship.
k For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently waite for the helpe of God.
l That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will macke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me.
m I am without hope to recouer my strength.
n In my greatest miserie they most reioyce.
o He had rather haue the hatred of all the world, then to faile in any part of his duetie to Godward.
p Which art the author of my saluation: and this declareth that he prayed with sure hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great griefe and bitternesse of minde hee was driuen to these outragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he brast foorth yet into words that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmities of man, 8 And mixeth with them many prayers: but all doe shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainly appeare how he did striue mightily against death and desperation.

¶ To the excellent musician [a] Iedūthun. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Thought, [b] I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorowe was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and [d] I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord let me knowe mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me knowe how long I haue to liue.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether [e] vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, & cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what waite I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the [f] foolish.

9 I should haue bin dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because [g] thou didst it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth [h] makest his [i] beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my crie: keepe not silence at my teares, a This was one of the three singers, 1. Chron. 16. 41.

b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patience to beare tarying Gods leasure, yet the vehemencie of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.
c Though when the wicked rule, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to chāge his mind.
d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering the greatnesse of his sorowes and the shortnesse of his life.
e Yet Dauid offended in that that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too seuere toward his weake creature.
f Make me not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrappe me not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame.
g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured them patiently.
h Though thine open plagues light not euer more vpon them, yet thy secret curse continually fretteth them.
i The word signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beautie, and in whatsoeuer he hath delite, so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world.

for k For his sowre caused him to thinke that God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saints to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despaire assaile them.

for I am a stranger with thee, and a soiourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, k before I goe hence and be not.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered fro great danger, doth magnifie & praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his prouidence towards al mankind. 5 Then doth he promise to giue himself wholy to Gods seruice, & so declareth how God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aide and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Though God deferred his helpe, yet he patiently abode, till he was heard.

I Waited a patiently for the Lord, and he inclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought me also out of the b horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

b He hath deliuered me fro most great dangers.

3 And he hath put in my mouth c a newe song of prayse vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

c That is a speciall occasion to praise him: for Gods benefites are so many occasions for vs to praise his name.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth d not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lies.

d To follow their example, which he must needes doe, that trusteth not onely in the Lord.

5 e O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts towarde vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse.

e Dauid goeth from one kind of Gods fauour, to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, & confesseth that his collects towards vs are far aboue our capacities: we cannot so much as tell them in order.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire: (for f mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering & sinne offring hast thou not required.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand the spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: & here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the Law nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.

7 g Then said I, Loe, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Lawe is within mine heart.

g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was readie to obey thee, being assured þ I was written in the booke of thine elect for this end.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnesse in the h great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuarie.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy i trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercie and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

i Dauid here numbreth three degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection, and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercie from me, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken such hold vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the haires of mine head: therfore mine heart hath k failed me.

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsell: yet faith inwardly mooued mine heart to pray.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be l confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

l He desireth Gods mercie may contend for him against the rage of his enemies.

15 Let them be m destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

m Let the same shame, and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon me.

16 Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say alway, n The Lord be praysed.

n As the faithfull alwayes prayse God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

17 Though I be poore and needie, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them, that pitie his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars as came to passe in Iudas, Iohn 13. 18 After he feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giueth most hartie thankes vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Not condemning him as accursed, whom God doth hate, knowing that there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hand vpon diuers, and afterward pitieth them.

BLessed is he that a iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lorde shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliue: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the b bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his c bed in his sickenesse.

b When he sorow and griefe of mind he casteth himselfe vpon his bed.

c Thou hast reuiued him in his sicke bed and sent him comfort.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

d That is, curse me, and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched but with my shameful death.

5 Mine enemies d speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and bragge reth thereof.

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh e lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments, that God was become his mortall enemie.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 f A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lieth, shall no more rise.

†Ebr. the man of my peace.

9 Yea, my † familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, g hath lifted vp the heele against me.

g As Dauid felt this falsehoode, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 18, 11. so shall his members continually prooue the same.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.

11 By this I knowe that thou fauourest me, because mine enemie doeth not triumph against me.

h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in the true feare of God against all tentations.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me h in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy i face for euer.

i Shewing me euident signes of thy fatherly prouidence.

13 Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel world without end. k So be it, euen so be it.

k By this experience he stirreth vp the faithfull to prayse God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecuters, he could not be present in the Congregation gation of Gods people, proteſting that although he was ſeparated in body from them, yet his heart was ſtedfaſtly affectioned: 7 And laſt of all he ſheweth, that he was not ſo farre ouercome with theſe ſorowes and thoughts 8 but that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme to giue inſtruction, [a] committed to the ſonnes of Korah.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid, when the Prophet Nathan [a] came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-ſheba.

HAue mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindneſſe: according to the multitude of thy compaſſions put away mine iniquities.

2 Waſh me [c] throughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanſe me from my ſinne.

3 For I [d] knowe mine iniquities, and my ſinne is euer before me.

4 Againſt thee, againſt thee onely haue I ſinned, and done euill in thy ſight, that thou mayeſt be iuſt when thou [e] ſpeakeſt, and pure when thou iudgeſt.

5 Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in ſinne hath my mother conceiued me.

6 Beholde, thou [f] loueſt trueth in the inward affections: therefore haſt thou taught me wiſedome in the ſecret of mine heart.

7 Purge me with * hyſſope, and I ſhall be cleane: waſh me, & I ſhalbe whiter then ſnow.

8 Make me to heare [g] ioy and gladneſſe, that the [h] bones, which thou haſt broken, may reioyce.

9 Hide thy face from my ſinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 [i] Create in me a cleane heart, O God, and renue a right ſpirit within me.

11 Caſt me not away from thy preſence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me.

12 Reſtore to me the ioy of thy ſaluation, and ſtabliſh me with thy [k] free Spirit.

13 Then ſhall I teache thy [l] wayes vnto the wicked, and ſinners ſhalbe conuerted vnto thee.

14 Deliuer me from [m] blood, O God, which art the God of my ſaluation, and my tongue ſhal ſing ioyfully of thy righteouſneſſe.

15 [n] Open thou my lippes, O Lord, and my mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy praiſe.

16 For thou deſireſt no ſacrifice, though I would giue it: thou deliteſt not in burnt offering.

17 The ſacrifices of God are a [o] contrite ſpirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not deſpiſe.

PSAL. LX.

1 Dauid being now King ouer Iudah, and hauing had many victories, sheweth by euident signes, that God elected him King, assuring the people that God will prosper them, if they approue the same. 11 After he prayeth vnto God to finish that that he hath begunne.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [a] Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of Dauid to teach. * When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against ‖ Aram [b] Zobah, when Ioab returned and slewe twelue thousand Edomites in the salt valley.

O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast [c] scattered vs, thou hast beene angry, turne againe vnto vs.

2 Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to [d] gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.

3 Thou hast [e] shewed thy people heauie things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddinesse.

4 But nowe thou hast giuen a [f] banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trueth. Selah.

5 That thy beloued may be deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

6 God hath spoken in his [g] holines: therefore I will reioyce: I shall deuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shall be mine: Ephraim also shalbe the [h] strength of mine head: [i] Iudah is my lawgiuer.

8 Moab shall be my [k] washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: [l] Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull for me.

9 Who will leade me into the [m] strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest cast vs off, and diddest not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

11 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

12 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

c For when Saul was not able to resist the enemie, the people fled hither and thither: for they could not be safe in their owne houses.
d As cleft with an earthquake.
e Thou hast handled thy people sharpely in taking from them sense and iudgement, in that they ayded Saul the wicked king, & pursued him, to whom God had giuen the iust title of the Realme.
f In making me King, thou hast performed thy promes, which seemed to haue lost the force.
g It is so certaine as if it were spoken by an oracle, that I shall possesse these places, which Saul hath left to his children.
h For it was strong and well peopled.
i Dauid meaneth, that in this tribe his kingdome shalbe established, Gen. 49. 10. k In most vile subiection. l For thou wilt dissemble, and faine as though thou werest glad. m He was assured that God would giue him the strong cities of his enemies wherein they thought themselues sure.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my crie, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer.

2 From [a] the ends of the earth will I crie vnto thee: when mine heart is oppreſt, bring me vpon the rocke that is [b] higher then I.

3 For thou haſt beene mine hope, and a ſtrong tower againſt the enemie.

4 I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my truſt ſhall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God, [c] haſt heard my deſires: thou haſt giuen an heritage vnto thoſe that feare thy Name.

6 Thou ſhalt giue the king a [d] long life: his yeeres ſhall be as many ages.

7 He ſhall dwell before God for euer: prepare [e] mercie and faithfulneſſe that they may preſerue him.

8 So will I alway ſing praiſe vnto thy Name in performing dayly my vowes.

a From the place where I was baniſhed, being driuen out of the citie and Temple by my ſonne Abſalom.
b Vnto the which without thy helpe I cannot attaine.
c There is nothing that doeth more ſtrengthen our faith, then the remembrance of Gods ſuccour in times paſt.
d This chiefly is referred to Chriſt, who liueth eternally not onely in himſelfe, but alſo in his members.
e For the ſtabilitie of my kingdome ſtandeth in thy mercie and trueth.

PSAL. XLII.

This Pſalme partly conteineth meditations, whereby Dauid encouрageth himſelfe to truſt in God againſt the aſſaults of tentations. And becauſe our mindes are eaſily drawen from God by the allurements of the worlde, hee ſharpely reproueth his vanitie, to the intent he might cleaue faſt to the Lord.

¶ To the excellent Muſician * Ieduthun. A Pſalme of Dauid.

*1. Chro. 16. 41.

YEt [a] my ſoule keepeth ſilence vnto God: of him commeth my ſaluation.

2 [b] Yet he is my ſtrength and my ſaluation, and my defence: therefore I ſhall not much be mooued.

3 Howe long will ye imagine miſchiefe againſt a [c] man: ye ſhall be all ſlaine: ye ſhall be as a bowed wall, or as a [d] wall ſhaken.

4 Yet they conſult to caſt him downe from his dignitie: their delite is in lies, they bleſſe with their mouths, but curſe with their hearts. Selah.

5 [e] Yet my ſoule keepe thou ſilence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.

6 Yet is he my ſtrength, and my ſaluation, & my defence: therefore I ſhal not be moued.

7 In God is my ſaluation and my [f] glory, the rocke of my ſtrength: in God is my truſt.

8 Truſt in him alway ye people: [g] powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.

9 Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 Truſt not in oppreſſion nor in robberie: [h] be not vaine: if riches increaſe, ſet not your heart thereon.

11 God ſpake [i] once or twiſe, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God.

12 And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou [k] rewardeſt euery one according to his worke.

a Though Satan tempted him to murmure againſt God, yet he diuided his affections, and reſting vpon Gods promiſe, beareth his croſſe patiently.
b It appeareth by the oft repetition of this word, that the Prophet abode manifold tentations, but by reſting on God, and by patience he ouercame them all.
c He meaneth himſelfe, being the man whom God had appointed to the kingdome.
d Though ye ſeeme to be in honour, yet God will ſuddenly deſtroy you.
e Dauid was greatly mooued with theſe troubles, therefore he ſtirred vp himſelfe to truſt in God.
f Theſe vehement and often repetitions were neceſſarie to ſtrengthen his faith againſt the horrible aſſaults of Satan. g He admoniſheth vs of our wicked nature, which rather hide our ſorowe, and bite on the bridle, then vtter our griefe to God to obtaine remedie. h Giue your ſelues wholy to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Lawe.
i He hath plainely borne witneſſe of his power, ſo that none needeth to doubt thereof.
k So that the wicked ſhal feele thy power, and the godly thy mercie.

PSAL. LXIII.

Dauid after he had beene in great danger by Saul in the deſert of Ziph, made this Pſalme, 3 Wherein he giueth thankes to God for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whoſe mercies he truſted, euen in the middes of his miſeries, 9 Prophecying the deſtruction of Gods enemies. 11 And contrariwiſe happineſſe to al them that truſt in the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid. When he was in the [a] wilderneſſe of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, earely will I ſeeke thee: my ſoule [b] thirſteth for thee: my fleſh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and dry land without water.

2 Thus [c] I behold thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I behold thy power and thy glory.

3 For thy louing kindneſſe is better then life: therefore my lips ſhall praiſe thee.

4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy name.

5 My ſoule ſhall be ſatisfied, as with [d] marowe and fatneſſe, and my mouth ſhall praiſe thee with ioyfull lips.

6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpō thee in the night watches.

7 Becauſe thou haſt bene mine helper, therefore vnder the ſhadowe of thy wings will I reioyce.

8 My ſoule [e] cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.

9 Therefore they that ſeeke my ſoule to deſtroy it, they ſhall goe into the loweſt partes of the earth.

10 [f] They ſhall caſt him downe with the edge of the ſword, and they ſhall be a portion for Foxes.

11 But the King ſhal reioyce in God, and all that ſweare by him ſhall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that ſpeake lies, ſhall be ſtopped.

a To wit, of Ziph, 1. Sam. 23. 14.
b Though he was both hungry and in great diſtreſſe, yet he made God his ſufficiencie and aboue all meate and drinke.
c In this miſerie I exerciſe my ſelfe in the contemplation of thy power and glory, as if I were in thy Sanctuarie.
d The remembrance of thy fauour is more ſweete vnto me, then all the pleaſures and dainties of the world.
e He aſſureth himſelfe by the ſpirit of God to haue the gift of conſtancie.
f He propheſieth of the deſtruction of Saul and them that take his part, whoſe bodies ſhall not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beaſtes.
g All that ſweare by God aright, or profeſſe him, ſhall reioyce in this worthy king.

PSAL. LXIIII.

Dauid prayeth againſt the furie and falſe reports of his enemies. 7 He declareth their puniſhment and deſtruction, 10 To the comfort of the iuſt and the glory of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

HEare my [a] voyce, O God, in my prayer: preſerue my life from feare of yenemie.

2 Hide me from the [b] conſpiracie of the wicked, and from the [c] rage of the workers of iniquitie.

3 Which haue whette their tongue like a ſworde, and ſhotte for their arrowes [d] bitter wordes.

4 To ſhoote at the vpright in ſecrete: they a In that he calleth to God with his voyce, it is a ſigne that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger.

b That is, from their ſecret malice.
c To wit, their outward violence.
d Falſe reports and ſlanders.

e To be without feare of God and reuerence of man, is a ſigne of reprobation.
f The more that the wicked ſee Gods children in miſerie, the more bold and impudent are they in oppreſſing them.
g There is no way ſo ſecrete and ſubtill to doe hurt, which they inuented not for his deſtruction.
h To ſee Gods heauie iudgements againſt them, and howe he hath caught them in their owne ſnares.
i When they ſhal conſider that he will be fauourable to them as he was to his ſeruant Dauid.

ſhoote at him ſuddenly, and e feare not.

5 They f encourage themſelues in a wicked purpoſe: they commune together to lay ſnares priuily, and ſay, Who ſhall ſee them?

6 They haue ſought out iniquities, and haue accompliſhed that which they ſought out, euen euery one s his ſecrete thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

7 But God will ſhoote an arrowe at them ſuddenly: their ſtrokes ſhall be at once.

8 They ſhall cauſe their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whoſoeuer ſhall ſee them, ſhall h flee away.

9 And all men ſhall fee it, and declare the worke of God, and they ſhall vnderſtand, what he hath wrought.

10 But the righteous i ſhall be glad in the Lord, and truſt in him: and all that are vpright of heart, ſhall reioyce.

d Thou wilt declare thy ſelfe to be the preſeruer of thy Church in deſtroying thine enemies, as thou diddeſt in the red ſea.

2 Becauſe thou heareſt the prayer, vnto thee ſhall all b flesh come.

3 Wicked deedes c haue preuailed againſt me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our tranſgreſſions.

4 Bleſſed is he, whom thou chuſeſt and cauſeſt to come to thee: he ſhall dwell in thy Courtes, and we ſhall be ſatisfied with the pleaſures of thine houſe, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our ſaluation, thou wilt d anſwere vs with fearefull ſignes in thy righteouſnes, O thou the hope of all the endes of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the e ſea.

6 He ſtabliſheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with ſtrength.

7 He appeaſeth the f noiſe of the ſeas, and the noiſe of the waues thereof, and the tumultes of the people.

8 They alſo that dwell in the vttermoſt partes of the earth, ſhall be afraide of thy ſignes: thou ſhalt make † the Eaſt and the Weſt to reioyce.

9 Thou viſiteſt the earth, and watereſt it: thou makeſt it very riche: the h Riuer of God is full of water: thou prepareſt them corne: for ſo thou appointeſt i it.

10 Thou k watereſt abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou cauſeſt the raine to deſcend into the valleis thereof: thou makeſt it ſoft with ſhowres, and bleſſeſt the bud thereof.

11 Thou crowneſt the yere with thy goodneſſe, and thy ſteps drop fatneſſe.

12 They drop vpon the paſtures of the wilderneſſe: and the hilles ſhall be compaſſed with gladneſſe.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God, and to be lightened with his countenãce, 2 To the end that his way & iudgements may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which should be vniuersally erected at the comming of Christ.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalme Dauid setteth forth as in a glasse the wonderfull mercies of God towards his people: 5 Who by all meanes & most strange sorts declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces and victories doeth excell without comparison all worldly things. 34 Hee exhorteth therefore all men to prayse God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

God a will arise, and his enemies shall be scattered: they also that hate him, shal flee before him.

a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffereth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length he wil be reuenged of them.

2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: & as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

b He sheweth that when God declareth his power against the wicked, that it is for the commoditie and saluation of his Church, which praise him therefore.

3 b But the righteous shall be glad, & reioyce before God: yea, they shal leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing prayses vnto his name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name c Iah, & reioyce before him.

c Iah and Iehouah are the names of God, which doe signifie his essence and maiestie incomprehensible, so that hereby is declared, that all idoles are but vanitie, and that the God of Israel is the onely true God.

5 He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.

6 God d maketh the solitary to dwell in families & deliuereth them that were prisoners in stockes: but the rebellious shall dwell in a e dry land.

d He giueth children to them that be childelesse, and increaseth their families.

e Which is barren of Gods blessings, which before they had abused.

7 f O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wildernesse, (Selah)

f He teacheth that Gods fauor peculiarly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderfull deliuerance out of Egypt.

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was mooued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sendedst a gracious raine, vpon thine inheritance, and thou didst refresh it when it was weare.

17 The charets of God are twentie thousand thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuarie of Sinai.

18 Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast o led captiuitie captiue, & receiued giftes for men: yea, euen the rebellious, hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwel there.

35 O God, thou art [d] terrible out of thine holy [e] places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

PSAL. LXIX.

1 The complaints, prayers, feruent zeale and great anguish of Dauid is set forth as a figure of Christ & all his members: 21 The malicious cruelties of the enemies, 22 And their punishment also, 26 Where Iudas and such traitors are accursed. 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth praises vnto God, 32 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort. 35 Finally he doeth prouoke all creatures to prayses, prophesying of the kingdom of Christ, and the preseruation of the Church, where all the faithful, 37 and their seed shall dwell for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon [a] Soshannim. A Psalme of Dauid.

SAue mee, O God: for the [b] waters are entred euen to my saule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no [c] stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames run ouer me.

3 I am wearie of crying: my throate is drie: mine [d] eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are moe then the haires of mine head: they that would destroy me, & are mine enemies [e] falsely, are mightie, so that I restored that which I [f] tooke not.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hosts, be ashamed for [h] me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.

9 [i] For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

15 Let not the water flood drowne me, neither let the deepe swallow me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And [o] hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste & heare me.

18 Draw neere vnto my soule & redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemie.

19 Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonor: all mine [p] aduersaries are before thee.

a Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance. *Psal. 40.13.

O *God, b haste thee to deliuer me: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

2 Let them bee c confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their d shame, which sayd, Aha, aha.

4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praysed.

5 Now I am e poore and needie: O God, make haste to mee: thou art mine helper, & my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.
c He was assured that the more they raged, the neerer they were to destruction, and he the neerer to his deliuerance.

PSAL. LXXI.

1 Hee prayeth in faith, established by the word of the promise, 5 And confirmed by the workes of God from his youth. 10 He complaineth of the crueltie of his enemies, 17 And desireth God to continue his graces toward him, 22 Promising to be mindfull and thankefull for the same.

6 Upon thee haue I bene staied from the wombe: thou art he that tooke mee out of my mothers bowels: my prayse shall bee alwaies of thee.

7 I am become as it were a f monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.

8 Let my mouth bee filled with thy prayse, & with thy glory euery day.

9 Cast mee not off in the time of g age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speake of mee, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, 12 Goe not farre from mee, O God: i my God, haste thee to helpe me.

a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries.

g Thou that didst helpe me in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now so much the more in mine old age and weakenesse.
h Thus the wicked doth blaspheme God, and triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands.

23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my [r] soule, which thou hast deliuered.

PSAL. LXXII.

1 Hee prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdome of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Vnder whom shall be righteousnesse, peace & felicitie, 10 Vnto whom all Kings and all nations shall doe homage, 17 Whose name and power shall endure for euer, and in whom all nations shall be blessed.

¶ A Psalme [a] of Salomon.

GIue thy [b] iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousnesse to the Kings [c] sonne.

2 Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousnesse, and thy poore with equitie.

3 The [d] mountains and the hils shall bring peace to the people by iustice.

4 He shall [e] iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needie, and shal subdue the oppressor.

5 They shall [f] feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.

6 He shall come s downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.

7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall be so long as the moone endureth.

8 His dominion shall be also from [h] sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the endes of the land.

9 They that dwell in the wildernesse, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall licke the dust.

10 The kings of [i] Tarshish and of the iles shall bring presents: the kings [k] of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts.

11 Yea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

12 For he shall deliuer the poore when hee crieth: the needie also, and him that hath no helper.

13 He shalbe merciful to the poore and needie, and shal preserue the soules of the poore.

14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceite and violence, and [l] deare shall their blood be in his sight.

15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shal they giue of the [m] gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, & daily blesse him.

16 An handfull of corne shall be sowen in the earth, euen in the top of the mountains, & the [n] fruite thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall florish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.

17 His name shall bee for euer: his name shall endure as long as the sunne: all nations shall blesse [o] him, and be blessed in him.

18 Blessed bee the Lorde God, euen the God of Israel, which only doeth [p] wonderous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE [q] prayers of Dauid, the sonne of Ishai.

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon.

b Endue the King with the Spirit of wisedome and iustice, that he reigne not as doe the worldly tyrants.

c To wit, to his posteritie.

d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren shalbe enriched with his blessings.

e He sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to kings: as wit, to defend the innocent and suppresse the wicked.

f The people shal imbrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King, that ruleth according to thy word.

g As this is true in all godly kings, so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heauenly doctrine maketh his Church euer to florish.

h That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christes kingdom should be large and vniuersall.

i Of Cilicia, one of all other countries beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the iles.

k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.

l Though tyrannes passe not to shed blood, yet this godly King shall preserue his subiects from all kind of wrong.

m God will both prosper his life, and also make the people most willing to obey him.

n Vnder such a king shalbe most great plentie, both of fruit and also of the increase of mankind.

o They shal pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doeth prosper them, for his sake p He confesseth that except God miraculously preserue his people, that neither the king nor the kingdom can continue.

q Concerning his sonne Salomon.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers prouidence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 And the godly enter into life euerlasting. 28 In hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

YEt [a] God is good to Israel, euen to the pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had wel neere slipt.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are [b] no bands in their death, but they are lusty and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 [c] Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, & cruelty couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eies stand out for fatnesse: [†] they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously, 9 They [d] set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therfore his [e] people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they [f] say, How doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Loe, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine handes in innocencie.

a As it were betweene hope and despaire he hasteth forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly in deed, and not hypocrites.

b The wicked in this life line at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners: that is by sicknesse which is death messenger.

c They glory in their pride as some doe in their chaines: and in cruelnie, as some doe in apparel.

† Ebr. they passe the desires of the heart.

d They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and raile vpon men, because they esteeme themselues as aboue all others.

e Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrow, thinking that God considereth not right the state of the godly.

f Thus the flesh mooueth euen the godly to dispute with God, touching their poore estate and the prosperitie of the wicked.

14 For daily haue I bene punished, & chastened euery morning.

15 If I say, g I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painful for me, 17 Untill I went into the h Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, & castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished & i horribly consumed, 20 As a dreame whē one awaketh! O Lord, when k thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a l beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway m with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsel, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 ¶ Whom haue I in n heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my o portion for euer.

27 For lo, they that withdraw themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that p go awhoring from thee.

28 As for me, it is good for me q to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lorde God, that I may declare all thy workes.

f If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy prouidence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and preseruest thy children in their greatest dangers.

h Until I entred into thy schoole and learned by thy word & holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely & iustly.

i By thy fearefull iudgement.

k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicity, we contemne all their vain pomp.

l For the more that a mā goeth about by his own reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himselfe a beast.

m By faith I was assured that thy prouidence did watch alwayes ouer me to preserue me.

n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any saue of God only.

o He teacheth vs to deny our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.

p That is, forsake thee to seeke others. q Though all the world shrinke from God, yet he promiseth to trust in him, and to magnifie his works.

PSAL. LXXIIII.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 Vnder the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed. 11 And trusting in the might & free mercies of God, 20 By his couenant, 21 They require helpe & succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruant, 23 And the confusion of his proud enemies.

¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, a why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

8 They said in their e hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

18 Remember this, that the enemie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy n turtle doue vnto the beast, & forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy couenant: for o the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruel.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needy praise thy Name.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercy chose his Church of the posterity of Abraham, 8 Reproching the stubburne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not only vnderstand, 11 That God of his free mercy made his couenant with their ancestours, 17 But also seeing them so malicious and peruerse, might bee ashamed and so turne wholy to God. In this Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefits, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in few words the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

¶ A Psalme to giue [a]instruction, committed to Asaph.

HEare my [b]doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the words of my mouth.

2 I wil open my mouth in a parable: I wil declare high sentences of old.

3 Which we haue heard and known, and our [c]fathers haue told vs.

4 We will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come we wil shew the praises of the Lord, his power also, and his wonderful works that he hath done.

5 How he established a [d]testimony in Iaakob, and ordeined a Lawe in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

6 That the [e]posteritie might know it, and the children, which should be born, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

7 That they might [f]set their hope on God, and not forget the works of God but keepe his commandements:

8 And not to be as their [g]fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithful vnto God.

9 The children of [h]Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the couenaunt of God, but refused to walke in his Law, 11 And forgate his Acts, & his wonderfull works that he had shewed them.

12 He did marueilous things in the sight of their [i]fathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 *Hee deuided the Sea, and led them through: hee made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 *In the day time also he led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 *He claue the rocks in the wildernesse, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 *He brought floods also out of the stony rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.

17 Yet they [k]sinned stil against him, & prouoked the Highest in the wildernes, 18 And tempted God in their hearts in [l]requiring meate for their lust.

19 *They spake against God also, saying, Can God [m]prepare a table in the wildernesse?

20 *Behold, hee smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the *fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel.

22 Because they beleeued not in God, and [n]trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had cõmanded the [o]clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, & had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.

25 *Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meate inough.

26 He caused the [p]East wind to passe in the heauen, and through his power hee brought in the Southwind.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the mids of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their [q]lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slewe the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, they [r]sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did hee consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God earely.

35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their [u]heart was not vpright with him:

4 They haue sayd, Come and let vs [d] cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together [e] in heart, & haue made a league [f] against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims:

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amaleth, the Philistims with the inhabitants of ‖ Tyrus:

8 Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou to them as vnto the [h] Midianites: as to Sisera & as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon.

10 They perished at En-dor, & were [i] dung for the earth.

11 Make them, euen their princes like [*] Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmuna.

12 Which haue sayd, Let vs take for our possession the [k] habitations of God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a [l] wheele, and as the stubble before the wind.

14 As the fire burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountains on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may [m] seeke thy Name, O Lord.

17 Let them bee confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, 18 That they may [n] know that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

b He calleth the Gods enemies, which are enemies to his Church.

c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he keepeth them in the secret of his tabernacle, and preserueth them from all dangers.

d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner, but sought vtterly to destroy it.

e By all secret meanes.

f They thought to haue subuerted thy counsel, wherein the perpetuitie of the Church was established.

‖ Or, Tzor.

g The wickednesse of the Ammonites & Moabites is described, in that they prouoked their other nations to fight against the Israelites their brethren.

h By these examples, they were confirmed that God would not suffer his people to be vtterly destroied, Iudg. 7. 21. and 4. 15.

i Troden vnder feete as mire. *Iudg. 7. 25. and 8. 21.

k That is, Iudea: for where his Church is, there dwelleth he among them.

l Because the reprobate could by no meanes be amended, he prayeth that they may vtterly be destroied, be vnstable & led with all windes.

m That is, be compelled by thy plagues to confesse thy power, beleeue not, yet they may proue by experience, that it is in vaine to resist thy counsell in establishing thy Church.

n Though they will not beleeue nor confesse thy power, yet they shall be compelled to confesse it.

PSAL. LXXXIIII.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his countrey, 2 Desireth most ardently to come againe to the tabernacle of the Lord and the assembly of the Saints to prayse God, 4 Pronouncing them blessed that may so doe. 6 Then he prayseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wildernes to assemble themselues in Zion. 10 Finally with prayse of this matter and confidence of Gods goodnes he endeth this Psalme.

3 Yea, the Sparow hath found her an house, and the Swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine [c] altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praise thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man, whose [d] strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes.

6 They going through the vale of [e] Baca, make Wels therein: the raine also couereth the pooles.

7 They goe from [f] strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iaakob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine [g] Anointed.

10 For [h] a day in thy Courts is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwel in the Tabernacles of wickednes.

11 For the Lord God is the sunne & shield vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no [i] good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly.

12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 Because God withdrew not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, first they put him in mind of their deliuerance, to the intent that he should not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfite. 5 Next, they complaine of their long affliction. 8 And thirdly they reioyce in hope of felicitie promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christes kingdom, vnder the which should be perfite felicitie.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

LOrd, thou hast bene [a] fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iaakob.

2 Thou hast forgiuen the iniquitie of thy people, & [b] couered all their sinnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the [c] fiercenesse of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.

5 Wilt thou be angry with vs [d] for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe & quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lord, & grant vs thy [e] saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake [f] peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to follie.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and trueth shall meete: righteousnesse and peace shall kisse one another.

11 [g] Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnesse shal looke downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.

13 [h] Righteousnesse shall goe before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 Dauid sore afflicted and forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerance: 5 sometime rehersing his mercies receiued, 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he may feare him and glorifie his Name. 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requireth to be deliuered from them.

A Prayer of Dauid.

INcline [a] thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am [b] mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I [c] crie vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and [d] mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and [e] hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there [f] is none that can doe like thy workes.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made, shall come and [g] worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.

11 [h] Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lorde my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercie towarde me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from [i] the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, & the assemblies of violent men haue [k] sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God, e That is, of Mulberie trees, which was a barren place: so they which passed through, must dig pits for water: signifying that no lets can hinder them that are fully bent to come to Christes church, neither yet that God will euer faile them.

f They are neuer wearie, but increase in strength and courage, till they come to Gods house.

g That is, for Christes sake, whose figure I represent.

h He would with to liue but one day rather in Gods Church, then a thousand among the world lings.

i But will from time to time increase his blessings towards his more & more.

a They confesse that Gods free mercy was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued the land, which he had chosen.

b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudgement.

c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing our sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.

d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies: so now being oppressed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them.

e He confesseth that our saluation consisteth onely of Gods mercy.

f He will send all prosperitie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them, also by his punishments the faithfull shall learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.

g Though for a time God thus exerciseth them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdom of Christ they should haue peace and ioy.

h Iustice shall then flourish and haue free course and passage in euery place.

a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, ioyning the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.

b I am not enemy to them, but pitie them, though they be cruell to warre me.

c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.

d He doeth confesse that God is good to all, but onely merciful to poore sinners.

e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we may not be weary, though God graunt not speedily with our request, but that we must earnestly and often call vpon him.

f He compareth all idoles, farre much as they can doe to worke so declare that they are gods.

g This prooueth that Dauid prayed in y name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdom he doeth here prophecie.

h He confesseth himselfe ignorant till God hath taught him, and his heart be riuded and separate from God, till God ioyne it to him, and confirme it in his obedience.

i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which, none but only the mighty hand of God, could deliuer him.

k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where pryde reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and cruelt

1 He boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free goodnes hath ever bene merciful vnto him, and giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne houshold.

and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindnesse and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, & saue the [1] sonne of thine handmaid.

17 Shew a token of thy goodnes toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

¶ A song or Psalme of *Heman the Ezrahite to giue instruction, committed to ỹ sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Malath [a] Leannoth.

*1. King. 4. 31. psal. 89.

a That is, to humble. It was the beginning of a song, by the tune whereof this Psalme was sung.

OLord God of my saluation, I cry day and night [b] before thee.

b Though many cry in their sorowes, yet they cry not earnestly to God for remedie as he bid: whom he confessed to be the author of his saluation.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

c For he that is dead, is free from all cares and businesse of this life, and thus he saieth, because he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off frō this world.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 [c] Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou remembrest no more, and they are cut off from thine [d] hand.

d That is, from thy prouidence and care, which is meant according to the iudgement of the flesh.

6 Thou hast laied me in the lowest pit, in darknesse, and in the deepe.

e The flames of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon mee, and thou hast vexed mee with all thy [e] waues. Selah.

f He attributeth the losse and displeasure of his friends to Gods prouidence, where by he partly punisheth, and partly tryeth him.

8 Thou hast put away mine [f] acquaintance farre from me, and made me to be abhorred of them: & I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.

g I see none end of my sorowes.

9 [h] Mine eie is sorowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call daily vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

h Mine eies and face declare my sorowes.

10 Wilt thou shew [i] a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise & praise thee? Selah.

i He sheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to tary till they be dead, and then raise them vp againe.

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulnesse in destruction?

k That is, in the graue, where onely the body lieth without all sense and remembrance.

12 Shall thy wonderous workes be knowen in the darke? and thy righteousnesse in the land [k] of obliuion?

l I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment.

13 But vnto thee haue I cried, O Lorde, and early shall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted and at the point of death: [l] from my youth I suffer thy terrors, doubting of my life.

† Ebr. were in darknesse.

16 Thine indignations goe ouer mee, and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about mee daily like water, and compassed me together.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many words doeth the Prophet praise the goodnes of God, 23 For his Testament and couenant, that he had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdom of Dauid, so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally he prayeth to bee deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause the to despaire of Gods fauour, yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they haue none occasion.

I Will [a] sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.

b As he that surely beleeueth in heart.

2 For I [b] said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou [c] stablish in the very heauens.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shall the trueth of thy promise be vnchangeable. d The Prophet sheweth what was the promise of God, wherein he grounded his faith. e The Angels shall praise thy power and faithfulnes in deliuering thy Church.

3 [d] I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant,

4 Thy seed will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the [e] heauens shall praise

thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the [f]Congregation of the Saintes.

6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? & who is like the Lord among ỹ sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the [h] Saints, and to bee reuerenced aboue all, that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mighty Lord, and thy trueth is about thee?

9 [i] Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beate downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: [k] Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, & high is thy right hand.

14 [l] Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercy and trueth goe before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people, that can [m] reioyce in thee: they shal walk in the light of thy [n] countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shall they exalt themselues.

17 For thou art ỹ [o] glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our horne shall be exalted.

18 For our [p] shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto [q] thine holy one, and saidest, I haue laid helpe vpon one that is [r] mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oile haue I anointed him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall bee established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemie shal not oppresse him, neither shal the wicked hurt him.

23 But I wil [s] destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My trueth also and my [t] mercie shalbe with him, and in my Name shall his [u] horne be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the [x] floods.

26 He shal cry vnto me, Thou art my [y] Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the Kings of the earth.

28 My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shal stand fast with him.

29 His seede also will I make to endure [z] for euer, & his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:

31 *If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:

32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes.

33 [a] Yet my louing kindnes wil I not take from him, neither wil I falsifie my trueth.

34 My couenant wil I not breake, nor [b] alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue [c] swore once by mine holinesse, † that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull [d] witnesse in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine Anointed.

39 Thou hast [d] broken the couenant of thy seruant, and prophaned his [e] crowne, casting it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast laid his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that goe by the way, spoile him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his [f] youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 [g] Lord, howe long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember [h] of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine al the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my [i] bosome of all the mightie people.

51 For [k] thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the [l] footesteps of thine Anointed.

52 Praised

f That is, in the heauens.
g Meaning, the Angels.
h If the Angels tremble before Gods Maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God?
i For as he deliuered the Church by the red sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will he effoone deliuer it, when the dangers be great.
k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Jerusalem, and Hermon Eastward: by the Prophet signifieth that all places and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church.
l For hereby he iudgeth the world, and sheweth himselfe a mercifull father, and faithfull protector vnto his.
m Feeling in their conscience that God is their Father.
n They shall be preserued by thy fatherly prouidence.
o In that they are preserued and continue, they ought to giue the praise and glory onely to thee.
p In that that our King hath power to defend vs, it is the gift of God.
q To Samuel and to others, to assure that Dauid was thy chosen one.
r Whom I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.
s Though there shalbe euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.
t I wil mercifully performe my promises to him notwithstanding his infirmities and offences.
u His power, glory, and estate. x He shall enioy the land round about. y His excellent dignitie shall appeare heere in that he shalbe named the Sonne of God, and the first borne wherein he is a figure of Christ.
z Though for the sinnes of the people the state of this kingdome decaied: yet God reserued still a roote, till he had accomplished this promes in Christ.
*2. Sam. 7. 14.
a Though the faithful answere not in all points to their profession, yet God will not breake his couenant with them.
b For God in promising hath respect to his mercie, and not to mans power in performing.
† Ebr. If I lie vnto Dauid, which is a manner of othe.
c As long as the sunne and moone endure, they shall be witnesses to me of this promes.
d Because of the horrible confusion of kingdoms, the Prophet complaineth to God, as though he saw not the performance of his promes. And thus discharging his cares on God, he reuiueth doubte and impatiencie.
e By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Jeroboam: as elsewhere by the Spirit of prophecie Esther speaketh of those great miseries, which came soone afterward to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.
f He meeteth that ỹ kingdome fell before it came to perfection or was ripe.
g The Prophet in forming prayer with his complaint, sheweth that his faith neuer failed.
h Seeing mans life is short, and thou hast created man to destroie thy benefites vpon him, except thou hast to doe, death will preuent thee.
i He meaneth that Gods enemies did not only slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, and as it were cast their iniuries in his bosome. k So he calleth them that persecute the Church. l That laugh at vs, which patiently waite for the comming of thy Christ.

52 Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankefull, 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts, and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

¶ A prayer of Moses, the [a] man of God.

LOrd, thou hast bene our [b] habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the [c] mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou [d] turnest man to destruction: againe thou saiest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 [e] For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast [f] ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we [g] are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath we are troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue [h] spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is three score yeres and ten, and if they be of strength, [i] foure score yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickely, and we flee away.

11 [k] Who knoweth ỹ power of thy wrath: for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto [l] wisedome.

13 Returne (O Lord, [m] how long?) and be ‖ pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 [n] Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their [o] children.

17 And let the [p] beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen [q] direct the worke of our hands.

a Thus the Scripture vseth to call the Prophets.
b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels nowe this foure hundreth yeeres.
c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were laide.
d Moses by lamenting the frailtie and shortnesse of mans life, mooueth God to pitie.
e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short, yea though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.
f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.
g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, and for our sinnes thou ouerthrowest our dayes.
h Our dales are not onely short, but miserable, and as much as we sinne dayly we shake thy wrath.
i Meaning, according to the common state of life.
k If mans life be the breuitie be miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they, which feare thee, onely knowe.
l Which is, by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditacing the heauenly ioyes.
m Meaning, whether thou be angrie or no, which is thy chiefest worke.
‖ Or, take comfort in thy seruants.
n Euen thy mercie, which is thy chiefest worke.
o As Gods promises apperteines as well to their posteritie, as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie.
p Meaning, that it was obscured, when he ceassed to doe good in his Church.
q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

PSAL. XCI.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promes of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him, to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glorie.

WHo so dwelleth in the [a] secrete of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almightie.

2 [b] I will say vnto the Lorde, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely hee will deliuer thee from the [c] snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.

4 He wil couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his [d] trueth shalbe thy shield and buckler.

5 [e] Thou shalt not be afraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flyeth by day.

6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine [f] eyes shalt thou behold, and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.

11 [g] For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the [h] yong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete.

14 [i] Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because he hath knowen my Name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With [k] long life wil I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

a He that maketh God his defence and trust, shal perceiue his protection to be a most sure safegard.
b Being assured of this protection, he prayeth vnto the Lord.
c That is, Gods help is most readie for vs, whether Satan assaile vs secretly, which he calleth a snare: or openly, which is here meant by the pestilence.
d That is, his faithfull keeping of promes to help thee in thy necessitie.
e The care that God hath ouer vs, is most sufficient to defend them from all dangers.
f The godly shal haue some experience of Gods iudgements against the wicked euen in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day, when all things shall be reuealed.
g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be ministers of his prouidence to keepe vs and defend them in their vocation, which is the way to walke in safety without tempting God.
h Thou shalt not onely be preserued from all euill, but ouercome it whether it be secret or open.
i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection he bringeth in God to confirme the same.
k For he is contented with that life, that God giueth: for by death the shortnesse of this life is recompensed with immortalitie.

PSAL. XCII.

1 This Psalme was made to be song on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God, and to prayse him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly, when he is most flourishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the ende is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to prayse the Lord.

¶ A Psalme or song for the [a] Sabbath day.

a Which teacheth that the vse of the Sabbath ordained to prayse God, is not onely in ceasing from worke.

It

IT is a good thing to praiſe the Lord, and to ſing vnto thy Name, O moſt High,

2 To declare thy louing kindneſſe in the [b] morning, and thy trueth in the night,

3 Vpon an [c] inſtrument of ten ſtrings, and vpon the viole, with the ſong vpon the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, haſt made me glad by thy [d] workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

5 O Lord, howe glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An [e] vnwiſe man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderſtand this,

7 (When the wicked growe as the graſſe, and all the workers of wickedneſſe doe floriſh) that they ſhall be deſtroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art [f] moſt High for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies ſhall periſh: all the workers of iniquitie ſhall be deſtroyed.

10 [g] But thou ſhalt exalt mine horne like the Vnicornes, and I ſhall be anointed with freſh oile.

11 Mine eye alſo ſhall ſee my deſire againſt mine enemies: and mine eares ſhall heare my wiſh againſt the wicked, that riſe vp againſt me.

12 The righteous ſhall [h] floriſh like a palme tree, and ſhall growe like a Cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the houſe of the Lord, ſhall floriſh in the Courts of our God.

14 They ſhall ſtill bring foorth fruite in their [i] age: they ſhall be fat and flouriſhing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 He praiſeth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateth downe all people which lift them vp againſt his maieſtie, 5 And prouoketh to conſider his promiſes.

THe Lord [a] reigneth, and is clothed with maieſtie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world alſo ſhall be eſtabliſhed, that it cannot be mooued.

2 Thy [b] throne is eſtabliſhed of olde: thou art from euerlaſting.

3 [c] The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the Sea are marueilous through the noiſe of many waters, yet the Lord on High is meere mightie.

5 Thy [d] teſtimonies are very ſure: holineſſe becommeth thine Houſe, O Lorde, for euer.

PSAL. XCIIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God againſt the violence and arrogancie of tyrants, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth he comfort the afflicted by the good iſſue of their afflictions, as he felt in himſelfe, and did ſee in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whom the Lord will deſtroy.

O Lord God [a] the auenger, O God the auenger, ſhewe thy ſelfe [b] clearely.

2 Exalt thy ſelfe, O Iudge of the worlde, and render a reward to the proude.

3 Lord howe long ſhall the wicked, howe long ſhall the wicked [c] triumph?

4 They ſpeake and ſpeake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themſelues.

5 They [d] ſmite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thy heritage.

6 They ſlay the widowe and the ſtranger, and murther the fatherleſſe.

7 [e] Yet they ſay, The Lord ſhall not ſee: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.

8 Vnderſtand ye vnwiſe among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wiſe?

9 He that [f] planted the eare, ſhall he not heare? or he that formed the eie, ſhall he not ſee?

10 Or he that chaſtiſeth the [g] nations, ſhall he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, ſhall he not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Bleſſed is the man whom thou [h] chaſtiſeſt, O Lord, and teacheſt him in thy Lawe, 13 That thou mayeſt giue him reſt from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forſake his inheritance.

15 For [i] iudgement ſhall returne to iuſtice, and all the vpright in heart ſhall followe after it.

16 Who will riſe vp with me againſt the wicked? or who will take my part againſt the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not [k] holpen me, my ſoule had almoſt dwelt in ſilence.

18 When I ſaide, [l] My foote ſlideth, thy mercie, O Lord, ſtaied me.

19 In the multitude of my [m] thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my ſoule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie [n] fellowſhip with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together againſt the ſoule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he will recompence them their wickedneſſe, and [o] deſtroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God ſhall deſtroy them.

b For Gods mercie and fidelitie in his promiſes toward his, bind them to praiſe him continually both day & night.
c Theſe inſtruments were then permitted, but at Chriſtes coming abolished.
d He sheweth what is the vſe of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods workes.
e That is, the wicked conſider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements againſt them, and therefore moſt iuſtly periſh.
f Thy iudgements are moſt conſtant againſt the wicked, and paſſe our reach.
g Thou wilt ſtrengthen them with all power, and bleſſe them with all felicitie.
h Though the faithfull ſeeme to wither and be cut downe by the wicked, yet they ſhall growe againe and flouriſh in the church of God as the Cedars doe in mount Lebanon.
i The children of God ſhal haue a power aboue nature, and their age ſhall bring foorth moſt freſh fruites.

a As God by his power and wiſedome hath made and gouerneth the world: ſo muſt the ſame be our defence againſt all enemies and dangers.
b Wherein thou ſitteſt and gouerneſt the world.
c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.
d Beſides Gods power and wiſedome in creating and gouerning, his great mercie alſo appeareth in that he hath giuen his people his word and couenant.

a Whoſe office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.
b Shew by effect that thou art Iudge of the world to puniſh the wicked.
c That is, brag of their crueltie and oppreſſion or eſteeme themſelues aboue all other.
d Seeing the Church was then ſo ſore oppreſſed, it ought not to ſeeme ſtrange to vs, if we ſee it ſo now, and therefore we muſt call to God to take our cauſe in hand.
e He sheweth that they are deſperate in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue themſelues wholy to doe wickedly.
f He sheweth that it is impoſſible, but God ſhould heare, ſee and vnderſtand their wickednes.
g If God puniſh whole nations for their ſinnes, it is meere follie for any one man, or elſe a fewe to thinke that God will ſpare them.
h God hath care ouer his and chaſtiſeth them for their wealth, that they ſhould not periſh for euer with the wicked.
i God will reſtore the ſtate and gouernment of things to their right vſe, and then the godly ſhall follow him cheerefully.
k He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to reſiſt the enemies: yet was aſſured that Gods helpe would not faile.
l When I thought there was no way but death.
m In my trouble and diſtreſſe I euer found thy preſent helpe.
n Though the wicked Iudges pretend iuſtice in oppreſſing the Church, yet they haue not the authoritie of God. o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpoſe of the wicked is broken, but moſt, when they are deſtroyed in their owne malice.

PSAL. XCV.

1 An earneſt exhortation to praiſe God. 4 For the gouernment of the world, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the old Fathers, that tempted God in the wildernesse: 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

COme, let vs reioyce vnto the Lorde: let vs ſing [a] aloud vnto the rocke of our ſaluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with prayſe: let vs ſing loud vnto him with Pſalmes.

3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great king aboue all [b] gods.

4 In whoſe hand are the deepe places of the earth, and the [c] heights of the mountaines are his:

5 To whom the Sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

6 Come, let vs [d] worſhip and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his paſture, and the ſheepe of his [e] hand: to day, if ye will heare his voyce,

8 ‖ Harden not your heart, as ‖ in Meribah, & as in the day of ‖ Maſſah in the wildernesse.

9 [f] Where your fathers *tempted me, proued me, though they had ſeene my worke.

10 Fourtie yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and ſaide, They are a people that [g] erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes.

11 Wherefore I ſware in my wrath, ſaying, Surely they ſhall not enter into my [h] reſt.

a He ſheweth that Gods ſeruice ſtandeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the ſacrifice of praiſe & thankeſgiuing.
b Euen the Angels (who in reſpect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his ſight: much leſſe the idoles which mans braine inuenteth.
c All things are gouerned by his prouidence.
d By theſe three words he ſignifieth one thing: meaning, that they muſt wholy giue themſelues to ſerue God.
e That is, the flocke whom he gouerneth with his owne hand.
f He ſheweth wherein they are Gods flocke: that is, if they heare his voyce.
f By the cōming of Gods word.
‖ Or, in ſtrife: whereof the place was ſo called. ‖ Or, tentation, reade Exodus 17.7. *Exodus 17.2. numb. 14.22. g They were without iudgement and reaſon. h That is, into the land of Canaan, where he promiſed them reſt.

PSAL. XCVI.

1 An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to prayſe God for his mercie. And this ſpecially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Chriſt.

SIng [a] vnto the Lord a new ſong: ſing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and prayſe his Name: declare his ſaluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is [b] great and much to be prayſed: he is to be feared aboue all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are ‖ idoles: but the Lord [c] made the heauens.

6 [d] Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuarie.

7 Giue vnto the Lorde, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and [e] power.

8 Giue vnto the Lorde the glory of his Name: bring [f] an offering, and enter into his Courts.

9 Worſhip the Lord in the glorious ſanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the [g] nations, The Lord reigneth: ſurely the world ſhall be ſtable, and not moue, and he ſhall iudge the people in righteouſneſſe.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, [g] let the earth be glad: let the ſea roare, and al that therein is.

12 Let the fielde be ioyful, and all that is in it: let all the [i] trees of the wood then reioyce

13 Before the Lord: for he commeth, for he commeth to iudge the earth: he will iudge the world with righteouſnes, and the people in his trueth.

a The Prophet sheweth that the time ſhall come, that all nations ſhall haue occaſion to praiſe the Lord for the reſtoring of his Goſpel.
b Seeing he will reueile himſelfe to all nations contrary to their olde expectation, they ought all to worſhip him contrary to their olde imaginations, and onely as he hath appointed.
‖ Or, vanities.
c Then ‖ idoles, or whatſoeuer made not the heauens, are not God.
d God cannot be knowen, but by his ſtrength and glory: the ſignes whereof appeare in his Sanctuarie.
e As by experience ye ſee that it is onely due vnto him.
f By offering vp your ſelues wholy vnto God, declare that you worſhip him onely.
g He propheſieth that the Gentiles ſhalbe partakers with the Iewes of Gods promiſe.
h He ſhall regenerate them a newe with his ſpirite, and reſtore them to the image of God.
i If the inſenſible creatures ſhall haue cauſe to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whom he hath taken malediction and ſinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Chriſt, 7 Dreadfull to the rebels & idolaters, 8 And ioyfull to the iuſt, whom he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioycing, and thankeſgiuing.

THe [a] Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the [b] multitude of the yles be glad.

2 [c] Cloudes and darkenes are round about him: righteouſneſſe and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.

3 There ſhall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth ſawe it and was [d] afraide.

5 The mountaines melted like ware at the preſence of the Lord, at the preſence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The heauens declare his righteouſneſſe, and all the people ſee his glory.

7 [e] Confounded be all they that ſerue grauen images, and that glory in idoles: worſhip him [f] all ye gods.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the [g] daughters of Judah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou, Lord, art moſt High aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods.

10 Ye that [h] loue the Lord, hate euill: he preſerueth the ſoules of his Saintes: he will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 [i] Light is ſowen for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

12 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thankes for his holy [k] remembrance.

a He sheweth that where God reigneth, there is all felicitie, and ſpirituall ioy.
b For the Goſpel ſhall not be onely preached in Judea, but through all yles and countries.
c He is thus deſcribed to keepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power.
d This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but moueth them to runne away from God.
e He ſignifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readines to deſtroy the idolaters.
f Let all that which is eſteemed in the world, fal downe before him.
g The Iewes ſhall haue occaſion to reioyce that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour.
h He requireth two things of his children: the one, that they deteſt vice, the other, that they put their truſt in God for their deliuerance.
i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not ſuddenly, yet it is ſowen and laide vp in hope for them.
k We mindfull of his benefites, and onely truſt in his defence.

PSAL. XCVIII.

1 An earneſt exhortation to all creatures to prayſe the Lord for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promiſe by Chriſt, 10 By whom he hath communicated his ſaluation to all nations.

¶ A Pſalme.

SIng [a] vnto the Lorde a newe ſong: for he hath done marueilous things: *his right hand, and his [b] holy arme haue gotten him the victorie.

a That is, ſome long newly made in token of their wonderful deliuerance by Chriſt. *Iſai. 59.16.
b He preſerueth his Church miraculouſly.

c For the deliuerance of the Church.
d God was moued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes and Gentiles, but because hee would performe his promes.
e By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue prayses with instrumẽts, and also of the dumme creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

2 The Lord declareth his c saluation: his righteousnesse hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations,

3 He hath d remembred his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Israel: and all the endes of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing prayses.

5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With e shalmes and sounde of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousnes shall he iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

PSAL. XCIX.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie, and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles. 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same and to serue the Lord, 6 Following the example of the auncient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble.
* Exod. 25, 22.
b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall praise his Name and mightie power.
c That is, before his Temple or Arke, where he promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promiseth his spirituall presence, where soeuer his church is allembled.
d Under these three he compreheudeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promes.
e For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doeth he punish them that abuse his benefites.

THe Lord reigneth, let the a people tremble: he sitteth betweene ỳ * Cherubins, let the earth be moued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people.

3 They shall b praise thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy)

4 And the kings power, that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his c footestoole: for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priestes, d and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 He spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar, they kept his testimonies, and the Lawe that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou diddest take vengeance for e their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

PSAL. C.

1 He exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 Who hath chosen vs and preserued vs, 4 And to enter into his assemblies to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalme of prayse.

a He prophecieth that Gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall haue wonderfull occasion to prayse his mercie and reioyce.

SIng a yee loude vnto the Lorde, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnesse: come before him with ioyfulnesse.

b He chiefely meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.
c He sheweth that God wil not be worshipped, but by that meanes, which he hath appointed.
d He declareth that we ought neuer to be weatie in praysing him, seeing his mercies toward vs last for euer.

3 Knowe ye that euen the Lord is God: he hath b made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.

4 c Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courts with reioycing: prayse him and blesse his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercy is d euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

PSAL. CI.

1 Dauid describeth what gouernment he will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 He will punish and correct, by rooting foorth the wicked, 6 And cherishing the godly persons.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

a Dauid considereth what maner of King he would be when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull and iust.
b Though as yet thou deferrest to place me in the Kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my selfe to wisedome and vprightnes being a priuate man.
c He sheweth that Magistrats doe not their duties, except they be enemies to all vice.
d In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernicious in them that are about Kings, he declareth that he will punish all.
e He sheweth what is the true

I Will a sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfite way, b till thou commest to me: I will walke in the vprightnes of mine heart in the midses of mine house.

3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eies: I hate c the worke of them that fal away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shall depart from me: I will know none euill.

5 Him that priuily d slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and high heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shall be vnto the e faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 f Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the citie of the Lord.

ble of the sword: to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good. f Magistrates must immediatly punish vice, least it growe to farther inconuenience: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God.

PSAL. CII.

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth the prayse of God to be published vnto all posteritie. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 28 And the stabilitie of the Church.

¶ A prayer a of the afflicted, when he shalbe in distresse, and powre foorth his meditation before the Lord.

a Whereby is signified, that albeit we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euer place left for prayer.
b He declareth that in our prayer we must liuely feele that, which we desire and stedfastly beleeue to obtaine.

O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my b crie come vnto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.

3 For

3 For my daies are [c] conſumed like ſmoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

4 Mine heart is ſmitten [e] withereth like graſſe, becauſe I forgate [d] to eate my bread.

5 For the voyce of my grouing my bones doe cleaue to my ſkinne.

6 I am like a [e] pelicane of the wildernesſe: I am like an owle of the deſertes.

7 I watch and am as a ſparow alone vpon the houſe top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage againſt me, haue [f] ſworne againſt me.

9 Surely I haue [g] eaten aſhes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping.

10 Becauſe of thine [h] indignation, and thy wrath: for thou haſt heaued me vp, and caſt me downe.

11 My daies are like a ſhadow that fadeth, and I am withered like graſſe.

12 But thou, O Lord, doeſt [i] remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

13 Thou wilt ariſe and haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the [k] appointed time is come.

14 For thy ſeruants delite in the [l] ſtones thereof, and haue pitie on the duſt thereof.

15 Then the heathen ſhall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glory,

16 When the Lord ſhal build vp Zion, and ſhall appeare [m] in his glory, 17 And ſhall turne vnto the prayer of the deſolate, and not deſpiſe their prayer.

18 This ſhalbe written for the generation to come: and the people, which ſhalbe [n] created, ſhall praiſe the Lord.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth, 20 That he might heare the mourning of the priſoner, [o] deliuer the [o] children of death.

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praiſe in Ieruſalem, 22 When the people ſhall be gathered [p] together, and the kingdomes to ſerue the Lord.

23 He [q] abated my ſtrength in the way, and ſhortened my dayes.

24 And I ſaid, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou haſt aforetime laid the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 [r] They ſhall periſh, but thou ſhalt endure: euen they all ſhall ware olde as doeth a garment: as a veſture ſhalt thou change them, and they ſhalbe changed.

27 But thou art the ſame, and thy yeeres ſhall not faile.

28 The children of thy ſeruants ſhall continue, and their ſeede ſhall ſtand [f] faſt in thy ſight.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praiſe the Lord, which hath pardoned his ſinnes, deliuered him from deſtruction, and giuen him ſufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he ſheweth like a moſt tender Father towards his children. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man & Angels to praiſe the Lord.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

MY ſoule, [a] praiſe thou the Lorde, and all that is within me, praiſe his holy Name.

2 My ſoule, praiſe thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which [b] forgetteth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life frō the [c] graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compaſſions.

5 Which ſatisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy [d] youth is renued like the Eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteouſneſſe and iudgement to all that are oppreſſed.

7 He made his wayes knowen vnto [e] Moſes, and his workes vnto the children of Iſrael.

8 The Lord is full of compaſſion and mercie, ſlowe to anger, and of great kindneſſe.

9 He will not alway [f] chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not [g] dealt with vs after our ſinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, ſo great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as [h] the Eaſt is from the Weſt: ſo farre hath he removed our ſinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compaſſion on his children, ſo hath the Lord compaſſion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but duſt.

15 The dayes of [i] man are as graſſe: as a flowre of the fielde, ſo flouriſheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof ſhall knowe it no more.

17 But the louing kindneſſe of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his [k] righteouſneſſe vpon children's children.

18 Unto them that keepe his [l] couenant, and thinke vpon his commaundements to doe them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, c These exceſſiue kindes of ſpeech ſhew how much the affliction of the Church ought to wound the hearts of the godly.

d My ſorowes were ſo great, that I paſſed not for mine ordinarie foode.

e Euer mourning and ſolitarie calling out fearefull cries.

f Haue conſpired my death.

g I haue not riſen out of my mourning to take my refection.

h He ſheweth that the afflictions did not onely thus moue him, but chiefly the feeling of Gods diſpleaſure.

i Howſoeuer we be fraile: yet thy promes is ſure and the remembrance thereof ſhal confirme vs for euer.

k That is, the ſeuentie yeeres, which by the prophet Jeremie thou didſt appoint, Jer. 29. 12

l The more that the Church is in miſerie and deſolation, the more ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it.

m That is, when he ſhall haue drawen his Church out of the darkeneſſe of death.

n The deliuerance of ꝓ church is a moſt excellent benefite, and therefore he compareth it to a new creation: for in their baniſhment the body of the Church ſeemeth to haue bin dead, which by deliuerance was as it were created anewe.

o Who nowe in their baniſhment could looke for nothing but death.

p He ſheweth that Gods name is neuer more praiſed, the when religiō flouriſheth and the Church increaſeth: which thing is chiefly accompliſhed vnder the kingdome of Chriſt.

q The Church lament that they ſee not the time of Chriſt, which was promiſed, but haue but few yeeres and ſhort dayes.

r If heauen and earth periſh, much more man ſhall periſh: but the Church by reaſon of Gods promes endureth for euer.

f Seeing thou haſt choſen thy Church out of the world and ioyned it to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerlaſting.

a He wakeneth his dulneſſe to praiſe God, ſhewing that both vnderſtanding and affections, mind and heart are too little to ſet forth his prayſe.

b This is the beginning and chiefeſt of all benefites: remiſſion of ſinne.

c For before that we haue remiſſion of our ſinnes, we are as dead men in ꝓ graue.

d As the eagle, when her beake ouergroweth, ſucketh blood, and ſo is renued in ſtrength, euen ſo God miraculouſly giueth ſtrēgth to his Church aboue all mans expectation.

e As to his chiefe miniſter, and next to his people.

f He ſheweth firſt his ſeuere iudgement, but ſo ſoone as the ſinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie.

g We haue proued by continual experience, that his mercie hath euer preuailed againſt our offences.

h As great as the world is, ſo full is it of ſignes of Gods mercies toward his faithfull, when he hath removed their ſinnes.

i He declareth that man hath nothing in himſelfe to moue God to mercie, but onely the confeſſion of his infirmitie and miſerie.

k His iuſt and faithfull keeping of his promiſe.

l To whom he giueth grace to feare him, and to obey his word.

heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Prayse the Lord, ye [m] his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his word.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Prayse the Lorde, all ye his workes, in al places of his dominion: my soule, prayse thou the Lord.

m In that that we, which naturally are slowe to praise God, exhort the Angels which willingly doe it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our duetie, and awake out of our sluggishnesse.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marueilous prouidence, 35 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminished his blessings.

MY soule, prayse thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art [a] clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which [b] maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the [c] deepe as with a garment: the [d] waters would stand aboue the mountaines:

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleis descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleis, which runne betweene the mountaines.

11 They shal giue drinke to all the [e] beasts of the fielde, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these [f] springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his [g] chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattel, and herbe for the vse of [h] man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, 17 That the birdes may make their nestes there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines are for ‖ goates: the rockes are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointed the [i] moone for certaine seasons: [k] y sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darknesse, and it is night, wherein all the beastes of the forest creepe forth.

21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meate [l] at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couche in their dennes.

23 [m] Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.

24 O Lord, how [n] manifold are thy workes! in wisedome hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both smal beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea, that ‖ Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 [o] All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them foode in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou [p] hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they dye and returne to their dust.

30 Againe if thou send [q] forth thy spirite, they are created, and thou renuest the face of the earth.

31 Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they [r] smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will prayse my God, while I liue.

34 Let my words be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be [s] consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, prayse thou the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

2 The Prophet sheweth that we nede not to enter into the heauens to seeke God, forasmuch as al the order of nature, with the propriete & placing of the elements, are most liuely mirrours to see his maiestie in.

b As y Prophet here sheweth that al visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to the Ebre. 1.7. beholdeth in this glasse howe the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddst not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God prouide for the very beastes, much more will he extend his prouident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From the cloudes.

h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessary things for him, as herbs and other meate: but also things to reioyce & comfort him, as wine, and oyle or ointments.

[n] Or, does, roes, and such like.

i As to separate the night fro the day, and to note dayes, moneths and yeeres.

k That is, by his course, either for or neere, it noteth summer, winter, & other seasons.

l That is, they only finde meate according to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for y brute beasts.

m To wit, when y day springeth: for the light is as it were a shielde to defend man against the tyrannie and fiercenes of beastes.

n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods works, nor minde to comprehend them.

‖ Or, whale.

o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their daily foode.

p As by thy presence all things haue life: so, if thou withdraw thy blessings, they all perish.

q As the death of creatures sheweth that we are nothing of our selues: so their generation declareth that we receiue al things of our Creator.

r Gods merciful face giueth strength to the earth, but his seuere countenance burneth y mountaines.

s Who infect the world, & so cause God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.

PSAL. CV.

1 He prayseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good, euen for his promes sake.

PRaise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: [a] declare his workes among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.

3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

4 Seeke the Lord and his [b] strength: seeke a Forasmuch as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to be Gods people, the Prophet willeth them to shew themselues mindfull by thankesgiuing. b By the strength and face, he meaneth the Arke where God declared his power and his presence. c Which he hath wrought by the deliuerance of his people. d Because his power was thereby as liuely declared, as if he should haue declared it by mouth.

his face continually.

5 Remember his [c] marueilous woꝛkes, that he hath done, his wonders and the [d] iudgements of his mouth.

6 Ye ſeede of Abꝛaham his ſeruant, ye chil-dꝛen of Iaakob, which are his elect.

7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are thꝛough all the earth.

8 He hath alway remembꝛed his couenant and pꝛomes, that he made to a thouſand gene-rations.

9 Euen that which he [e] made with Abꝛa-ham, and his othe vnto Izhak:

10 And ſince hath confiꝛmed it to Iaakob foꝛ a lawe, and to Iſrael foꝛ an euerlaſting couenant.

11 Saying, [f] Unto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.

12 Albeit they were fewe in number, yea, very fewe, and ſtrangers in the land,

13 And walked about from nation to nati-on, from one kingdome to another people,

14 Yet ſuffered hee no man to doe them wꝛong, but repꝛoued [g] Kings foꝛ their ſakes, ſaying, 15 Touch not mine [h] anointed, and doe my [i] Pꝛophets no harme.

16 Moꝛeouer, he called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly bꝛake the [k] ſtaffe of bꝛead.

17 But he ſent a man befoꝛe them: Joſeph was ſold foꝛ a ſlaue.

18 They held his feete in the ſtockes, and he was laide in pꝛons.

19 Untill [l] his appointed time came, and the counſell of the Lord had tried him.

20 The King ſent and looſed him: euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him.

21 He made him lord of his houſe, and ru-ler of all his ſubſtance, 22 That he ſhould bind his [m] pꝛinces vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wiſedome.

23 Then Iſrael came to Egypt, and Iaa-kob was a ſtranger in the land of Ham.

24 And he increaſed his people exceeding-ly, and made them ſtronger then their oppꝛeſ-ſours.

25 [n] He turned their heart to hate his peo-ple, and to deale craftily with his ſeruants.

26 Then ſent he Moſes his ſeruant, and Aaron whom he had choſen.

27 They ſhewed among them the meſſage of his ſignes, and wonders in the land of Ham.

28 He ſent darkeneſſe, and made it darke: and they were not [o] diſobedient vnto his com-miſſion.

29 *He turned their waters into blood, and ſlew their fiſh.

30 *Their land bꝛought foꝛth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers.

31 He [p] ſpake, and there came ſwarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters.

32 He gaue them [q] haile foꝛ raine, and flames of fire in their land.

33 He ſmote their vines alſo & their figge trees, & bꝛake downe the trees in their coaſtes.

34 [r] He ſpake and the graſſhoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable.

35 And did eate vp all the graſſe in their land, and deuoured the fruite of their ground.

36 *He ſmote alſo all ỹ firſt boꝛne in their land, euen the beginning of all their ſtrength.

37 He bꝛought them foꝛth alſo with ſiluer and golde, and there was [ſ] none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was [t] glad at their departing: foꝛ the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 He ſpꝛed a cloude to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.

40 They [u] aſked, and he bꝛought quailes, and he filled them with the bꝛead of heauen.

41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the dꝛie places like a riuer.

42 Foꝛ he remembꝛed his holy [x] pꝛomes to Abꝛaham his ſeruant, 43 And he bꝛought foꝛth his people with [y] ioy, and his choſen with gladneſſe.

44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in poſſeſſion, 45 That they might [z] keepe his ſtatutes, and obſeꝛue his Lawes. Pꝛayſe ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVI.

1 The people diſperſed vnder Antiochus doe magniſie the goodneſſe of God among the iuſt and repentant. 8 Deſiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods merciful viſitation. 8 And after the manifold marueiles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, & the great ingratitude of the people rehearſed, 47 They doe pray and deſire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may praiſe the Name of the God of Iſrael.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

PRaiſe [a] ye the Lord becauſe he is good, foꝛ his mercie endureth foꝛ euer.

2 Who can expꝛeſſe the noble actes of the Lord, oꝛ ſhew foꝛth all his pꝛayſe?

3 Bleſſed are they that [b] keepe iudgement, and doe ꝛighteouſneſſe at all times.

4 Remember me, O Lord, with the [c] fa-uour of thy people: viſite me with thy ſaluatiõ,

5 That I may ſee the felicitie of thy cho-ſen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and gloꝛie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue [d] ſinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderſtood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembꝛed they the multi-tude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the ꝛed ſea.

the number of thine.

d By earneſt confeſſion aſwell of their owne, as of their fathers ſinnes, they ſhewe that they had hope that God according to his pꝛomiſe would pitie them.

e The inestimable goodnesse of God appeareth in this, that he would change the order of nature, rather then his people should not be deliuered, although they were wicked.

8 Neuertheleſſe he [c] ſaued them for his Names ſake, that he might make his power to be knowen.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wildernesſe.

10 And he ſaued them from the aduerſaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemie.

11 *And the waters couered their oppreſſours: not one of them was left.

*Exod.14.27.

12 Then [f] beleeued they his wordes, and ſang prayſe vnto him.

f The wonderfull workes of God cauſed them to beleeue for a time, and to prayſe him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his [g] counſell.

g They would preuent his wiſdome and prouidence.

14 But luſted with concupiſcenſe in the wildernesſe, and tempted God in the deſert.

15 Then he gaue them their deſire, but he ſent [h] leanneſſe into their ſoule.

h The abundance that God gaue them, prayſed not, but made them pine away, becauſe God curſed it.

16 They enuied Moſes alſo in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and [i] ſwallowed vp Dathan, and couered the companie of Abiram.

i By the greatneſſe of the puniſhment the heinous offence may be conſidered: for they that riſe againſt Gods miniſters, rebell againſt him.

18 And the fire was kindled in their aſſemblie: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten image.

k He ſheweth that all idolaters renounce God to be their guyde, when in ſtead of him they worſhip any creature, much more wood, ſtone, metall or raines.

20 Thus they turned their [k] glory into the ſimilitude of a bullocke, that eateth graſſe.

21 They forgate God their Sauiour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in [p] land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.

l If Moſes by his interceſſion had not obtained Gods fauour againſt their rebellions.

23 Therefore he minded to deſtroy them, had [l] not Moſes his choſen ſtand in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, leſt hee ſhould deſtroy them.

m That is, Canaan, which was as it were an earneſt penie of the heauenly inheritance.

24 Alſo they contemned that [m] pleaſant land, and beleeued not his word.

25 But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.

n That is, he ſware. Sometime he meaneth to punish.

26 Therefore [n] he lifted vp his hand againſt them, to deſtroy them in the wildernes, 27 And to deſtroy their ſeede among the nations, and to ſcatter them throughout the countries.

o Which was the idole of the Moabites.

p Sacrifices offered to the dead idoles.

28 They ioyned themſelues alſo vnto [o] Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the [p] dead.

q Signifying, that whatſoeuer man inuenteth of himſelfe to ſerue God by, is deteſtable and prouoketh his anger.

29 Thus they [q] prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

r When all other neglecters Gods glory, he in his zeale killed the aduulterers and preuented Gods wrath.

30 But [r] Phinehas ſtood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was ſtayed.

*Num.25.12.

31 *And it was [ſ] imputed vnto him for righteouſneſſe from generation to generation for euer.

ſ This acte declareth his liuely faith, and for his faiths ſake was accepted.

32 They angred him alſo at the waters of *Meribah, ſo that [t] Moſes was puniſhed for their ſakes.

*Num.20.13. pſal.95.8.

t If ſo notable a Prophet of God eſcape not puniſhment though others prouoked him to ſinne, how much more ſhall they be ſubiect to Gods iudgement, which cauſe Gods children to ſinne?

33 Becauſe they vexed his ſpirit, ſo that he ſpake vnaduiſedly with his lippes.

34 Neither deſtroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes.

36 And ſerued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Yea, they offered their [u] ſonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, u He ſheweth how monſtrous a thing idolatrie is, which can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, whereas Gods worde cannot obteine moſt ſmall things.

38 And ſhed innocent blood, euen [x] blood of their ſonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.

x Then true chaſtitie is to create wholy and onely vnto God.

39 Thus were they ſtained with their owne workes, and went [x] a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.

41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them.

42 Their enemies alſo oppreſſed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

y The Prophet ſheweth that neither by menaces, nor promiſes we can come to God, except we be altogether newly reformed, and that his mercie ouercome and kille our malice.

43 Many [y] a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counſels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

z Not that God is changeable in himſelfe, but that then he ſeemeth to vs to repent, when he altereth his puniſhment, and forgiueth vs.

44 Yet he ſawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crie.

45 And hee [z] remembred his couenant toward them and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.

a Gather thy Church which is diſperſed, and giue vs conſtancie vnder the croſſe, that with one conſent we may all prayſe thee.

46 And gaue them fauour in the ſight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and [a] gather vs from among the heathen, that we may prayſe thine holy Name, & glory in thy prayſe.

48 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſrael for euer and euer, and let all the people ſay, So be it. Prayſe ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all thoſe that are redeemed by the Lord, and gathered vnto him, to giue thankes, 9 For this mercifull prouidence of God, gouerning all things at his good pleaſure, 20 Sending good and euill, proſperitie and aduerſitie to bring men vnto him. 43 Therefore as the righteous therein reioyce, ſo ſhall the wicked haue their mouthes ſtopped.

PRaiſe [a] the Lorde becauſe he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

a This notable ſentence was in the beginning before, as the ſoule of tenour of the ſong, which was oftentimes repeated.

2 Let them, [b] which haue beene redeemed of the Lord, ſhewe how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppreſſour, b As this was true in Iſraell, ſo is there none of Gods elect, meaning the ſoul that feele not his helpe in their neceſſitie.

3 And gathered them out of the landes, from the Eaſt and from the Weſt, from the North and from the ‖ South.

‖ Or, from the ſea: ſea, which is on the South part of the land.

4 When they wandred in the desert and wildernesse out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in,

5 [c] Both hungrie and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse,

7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.

8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnesse.

10 They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadowe of death, being bound in miserie and yron.

11 Because they [d] rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High.

12 When hee humbled their heart with heauinesse, then they fell downe and there was no helper.

13 Then they [e] cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought them out of darkenesse, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bandes asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For he hath broken the [f] gates of braſſe, and brast the barres of yron asunder.

17 [g] Fooles by reason of their transgression, [g] because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths dooze.

19 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

20 [h] He sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their [i] graues.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of [k] praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the [l] Sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, 24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule [m] melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and staggar like a drunken man, and all their [n] cunning is gone.

28 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

30 When they are [o] quieted, they are glad, and he bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be.

31 Let them therfore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the [p] Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drinesse.

34 And a fruitfull land into ‖ barrennesse for the wickednesse of them that dwel therein.

35 Againe he [q] turneth the wildernesse into pooles of water, and the drie land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull [r] increase.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell.

39 [s] Againe men are diminished, & brought lowe by oppression, euill and sorowe.

40 He poureth [t] contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The [u] righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that he may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before the seuen and fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That Dauid giueth himselfe with heart and voyce to prayse the Lord, 7 And assureth himselfe of the promes of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though hee seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet he alone will in the ende cast downe our enemies.

¶ A song or Psalme of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is [a] prepared, so is ‖ my tongue: I will sing and giue prayse.

2 Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the [b] people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

[c] He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous, out of the which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them that are deliuered, to be mindfull of so great a benefite.

[d] Then the true way to obey God, is to follow his expresse commandement: also hereby all are exhorted to descend into themselues, for although as none are punished, but for their sinnes.

[e] He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we can be brought vnto him by none other meanes.

[f] When there seemeth to mans iudgement no recouerie, but all things are brought to dispaire, then God chiefly sheweth his mightie power.

[g] They that haue no feare of God, by his sharpe rods, are brought to call vpon him, and so finde mercie.

[h] By healing them he declareth his good will toward them.

[i] Meaning their diseases, which had almost brought them to the graue and corruption.

[k] Praise and confession of Gods benefites are the true sacrifices of the godly.

[l] He sheweth by the sea what care God hath ouer man, for in that that he deliuereth them from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were from a thousand deathes.

[m] Their feare and danger is so great.

[n] When their art and meanes faile them, they are compelled to confesse that onely Gods prouidence doeth preserue them.

[o] Though before euery man seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandement they are as still, as though they were frosen.

[p] This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places and assemblies.

‖ Or, fatnesse.

[q] For the loue that he beareth to his Church he changeth the order of nature for their commodity.

[r] Continuall increase and peeresly.

[s] As God by his prouidence doeth exalt men, so doth he also humble them by afflictions to know themselues.

[t] For their wickednesse & tyrannie he causeth the people and subiects to contemne them.

[u] They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shall reioyce to see Gods iudgements against the wicked and vngodly.

[a] This earnest affection declareth that a free conscience, and a fluggishnes keepeth him not.

‖ Or, my glory, because it chiefly setteth forth the glory of God.

[b] He prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles: for except they were called, they could not heare the goodnesse of God.

4 For thy mercie is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

5 [c] Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may be deliuered: [d] helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath spoken in his [e] holines: therefore I will reioyce, I shall diuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shall be mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my lawgiuer.

9 *Moab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom?

11 [f] Wilt not thou, O God, which hadest forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shal do valiantly: for he shall treade downe our enemies.

c Let all thy workes testifie thy iudgements in that that thou art God ouer all, and so confesse that thou art glorious.

d When God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admoniseth vs to be earnest in praier, to desire him to continue and finish his graces.

e As he hath spoken to Samuel concerning me, so will he shewe himselfe constant, and holy in his promes, so that these nations following shall be subiect vnto me.

*Psal.60.8.

f From the first verse of this Psalme, vnto the last, reade the exposition in the 1. Psalme, and fift verse.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to be of God. 30 Then doeth he promise to giue prayses vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HOlde not thy tongue, O God of my [a] prayse.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceite are opened vpon me: they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed me about also with wordes of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, [b] but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded me euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 [c] Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall be iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [d] prayer be turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes be fewe, and let another take his [e] charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let [f] the extortioner catch all that he hath, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him: neither let there be any to shew mercy vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be put out.

14 [g] Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

16 Because [h] he remembred not to shewe mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowfull hearted to slay him.

17 As he loued cursing, [i] so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oile into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle wherewith he shall be alway girded.

20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie [k] from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy [l] Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good)

22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the [m] grashopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh [n] hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: [o] saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shall knowe, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they [p] curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I wil giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my [q] mouth and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would [r] condemne his soule.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, & that is a sufficient praise to me.

b To declare, I had none other refuge, but thee, in whom my conscience was at rest.

c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friend that had betrayed him he prayeth not of priuate affection, but moued by Gods spirite, that God would take vengeance vpō him.

d As to the elect all things turne to their profite: so to the reprobate, euen those things that are good, turne to their damnation.

e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Act. 1. 20

f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners, who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawful gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all.

g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third & fourth generation, the wickednes of the parents in their wicked children.

h He sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort that shew themselues cruell toward other.

i Thus giueth the Lord to euery man the thing, wherein he delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lustes and reprobate mindes.

k For being destitute of mans help, he fully trusted in the Lord, that he would deliuer him.

l As thou art named mercifull, gracious & long suffering, so shew thy selfe in effect.

m Meaning, that he hath no stay nor assurance in this world.

n For hunger, that came of the colde, he was leane, and his naturall moysture failed him.

o The more grieuous that Satan assailed him, the more earnest and instant was he in prayer.

p They shall gaine nothing by cursing me.

q Not onely in confessing it secretly in my selfe, but also in declaring it before all the congregation.

r Hereby doe shewe, that he had not to doe with them, that were of meane power, but with the Iudges and princes of the people.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe [a] Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntil I make thine enemies thy footestoole.

2 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of [b] Zion: be thou ruler in the mids of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling [c] thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shall be as the morning dewe.

4 The Lord sware and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of [d] Melchi-zedek.

5 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shall wound Kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He shalbe iudge among the heathen: he shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the [e] head ouer great countreis,

7 He shal [f] drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

a Iesus Christin the two & twenty of March, verse 44. giueth the interpretatiō hereof, and sheweth that this cannot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to himselfe.
b And thence it shall stretche throughout all the world: and this power chiefely standeth in the preaching of his word.
c By thy word thy people shalbe assembled in to thy Church, whose increase shalbe so abundant and wonderful, as þ dropps of the dewe.
d As Melchi-zedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot be accomplished in any King saue onely in Christ. Heb. 7. 26.
e No power shalbe able to resist him.
f Under this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedie to destroy his enemies, that he will not scarce drinke by the way, he sheweth howe God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thankes to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, 20 And declareth wherein true wisedome and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

I Will [a] praise the Lorde with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust.

2 The workes of the Lord are [b] great, and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

5 He hath giuen [c] a ‖portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindfull of his couenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his works in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The [d] workes of his handes are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commaunded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.

10 [e] The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue [f] them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

a The Prophet declareth that he will prayse God both priuately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrateth himselfe wholly and onely vnto God.
b He sheweth that Gods workes are a sufficient cause, wherefore we should prayse him, but chiefely his benefites towards his Church.
c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessarie for them, and will doe still euen for his couenants sake, and in this sense the Hebrew worde is taken, Deu. 30. 3. and 31. 15.
‖ Or, pray, and goode.
d As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust and true in the gouernment of the same.
e They onely are wise, that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word.
f To wit, his commandements, as verse 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He prayseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

BLessed is the man that feareth the Lorde, and delighteth greatly in his commandements.

2 His seede shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shalbe blessed.

3 [b] Riches and treasures shall be in his house, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 Vnto þ [c] righteous ariseth light in darkenesse: he is merciful and full of compassion and righteous.

5 A good man is mercifull and [d] lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shall be had in euerlasting remembrance.

7 He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleeueth in the Lord.

8 His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.

9 He hath [e] distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnesse remaineth for euer: his [f] horne shalbe exalted with glory.

10 The wicked shall see it, and be angrie: he shall gnash with his teeth, and [g] consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delite onely in the word of God.
b The godly shall haue abundance and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.
c The faithfull in all their aduersities, knowe that all shall goe well with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.
d He sheweth what is the fruit of mercie, to lend freely and not for gaine, and to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where neede requireth, and not to be slow all on himselfe.
e The godly pinche not niggardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able.
f His power and prosperous estate.
g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrary to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise, O ye seruants of the Lord, [a] prayse the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

3 The Lords Name is praysed from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high aboue all [b] nations, and his glory aboue the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high!

6 Who abaseth himselfe to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth!

7 He raiseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung.

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, and a ioyful mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our colde dulnesse to prayse God, seeing his works are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause.
b If Gods glory shine through all the earth, and therefore of all ought to bee prayed, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whom chiefely it shineth, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name?
c By preferring the poore to high honour, & giuing the barren children, she sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

PSAL. CXIIII.

1 How the Iſraelites were deliuered foorth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercy toward his Church, who, when the courſe of nature faileth preſerueth his miraculouſly.

WHen *Iſrael went out of Egypt, and the houſe of Iaakob from the [a] barbarous people,

2 Iudah was [b] his ſanctification, & Iſrael his dominion.

3 The Sea ſaw it and fled: Iorden was [c] turned backe.

4 The [c] mountains leaped like Rammes, and the hils as Lambes.

5 What ayled thee, O Sea, that thou fleddeſt? O Iorden, why waſt thou turned backe?

6 Yee mountaines why leaped yee like Rammes, and ye hils as Lambes?

7 The [d] earth trembled at the preſence of the Lorde, at the preſence of the God of Iaakob, 8 Which [e] turneth the rocke into waterpooles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

*Exo.13.3.

a That is, from them that were of a ſtrange language.

b The whole people were witneſſes of his holy maieſtie, in adopting them, and of his mightie power in deliuering them.

c Seeing that theſe dead creatures felt Gods power, & after a ſort ſaw it, much more his people ought to conſider it & glorifie him for the ſame.

d Ought then his people to be inſenſible, when they ſee his power and maieſtie?

e That is, cauſed miraculouſly water to come out of the rocke in moſt abundance, Exo.17.6.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppreſſed by idolatrous tyrants, againſt whom they deſire that God would ſuccour them, 9 Truſting moſt conſtantly that God will preſerue them in this their need, ſeeing that he hath adopted and receiued them to his fauour, 18 Promiſing finally that they will not bee vnmindfull of ſo great a benefite, if it would pleaſe God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

NOt [a] vnto vs, O Lorde, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glory, for thy louing mercy, and for thy truethes ſake.

2 Wherefore ſhal the heathen ſay, [b] Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: he doeth what ſoeuer he [c] will.

4 Their idoles are [d] ſiluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth and ſpeake not: they haue eyes and ſee not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noſes and ſmell not.

7 They haue [e] hands and touch not: they haue feete and walke not: neither make they a ſound with their throte.

8 They that make thē are [f] like vnto them: ſo are all that truſt in them.

9 O Iſrael, truſt thou in the Lord: for hee is their helpe and their ſhield.

10 §O houſe of Aaron, truſt ye in the Lord: for he is their helper and their ſhield.

11 Ye that feare the Lord, truſt in the Lord: for he is their helper and their ſhield.

a Becauſe God promiſed to deliuer them, not for their ſakes, but for his name, Iſa.48.11. therefore they ground their prayer vpon this promiſe.

b When the wicked ſee that God accompliſheth not his promes as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he bloweth euen the impediments to ſerue his will.

d Seeing that neither the matter nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing, why they ſhould be eſteemed.

e He ſheweth what great vanitie it is to aſke help of thē, which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke ſenſe and reaſon. f As much without ſenſe, as blocks and ſtones. g For they were appointed by God as inſtructers and teachers of faith & religion for others to follow.

12 The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will bleſſe, he [h] will bleſſe the houſe of Iſrael, he will bleſſe the houſe of Aaron.

13 He will bleſſe them that feare the Lord, both ſmall and great.

14 The Lorde will increaſe his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children.

15 Ye are bleſſed of the Lord, which [i] made the heauen and the earth.

16 The [k] heauens, euen the heauens are the Lordes: but he hath giuen the earth to the ſonnes of men.

17 The dead prayſe not the Lord, neither any that [l] goe downe into the place of ſilence.

18 But we wil praiſe the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Praiſe ye the Lord.

h That is, he will continue his graces toward his people.

i And therefore doeth ſtill gouern and continue all things therein.

k And they declare enough his ſufficiencie, ſo that the world ſeeketh him nothing, but to ſhew his fatherly care toward me.

l Though the dead ſet foorth Gods glory, yet he meaneth here, that they prayſe him not in his Church and Congregation.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the deſert of Maon, perceiuing the great and inеſtimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth ſuch great mercies, 13 And proteſteth that he will be thankefull for the ſame.

I [a] Loue the Lord, becauſe he hath heard my voyce and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call vpon him [b] in my dayes.

3 When the ſnares of death compaſſed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I found trouble and ſorow,

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, ſaying, I beſeech thee, O Lord, deliuer my ſoule.

5 The Lord is [c] mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compaſſion.

6 The Lord preſerueth the ſimple: I was in miſerie, and he ſaued me.

7 Returne vnto thy reſt, O [d] my ſoule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee,

8 Becauſe thou haſt deliuered my ſoule from death, mine eies from teares, & my feete from falling.

9 I ſhal [e] walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 [f] I beleeued, therefore did I ſpeake: for I was ſore troubled.

11 I ſaid in mys feare, All men are liers.

12 What ſhall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?

13 I will [h] take the cup of ſaluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the preſence of all his people.

15 Precious in the ſight of the Lord is the [i] death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy ſeruant, I am thy ſeruaunt, and the ſonne of thine handmaid: thou haſt broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a ſacrifice of prayſe, a He graunteth that no pleaſure is ſo great, as to feele Gods helpe in our neceſſitie, neither that any thing more ſtireth vp our loue toward him.

b That is, in conuenient time to ſeeke helpe, which was when he was in diſtreſſe.

c He ſheweth foorth the fruite of his loue in calling vpon him, confeſſing him to be iuſt and mercifull, and to help them that are deſtitute of aid and counſell.

d Which waſt vnquieted before, now reſt vpō the Lord, for he hath bene beneficiall towards thee.

e The Lord will preſerue me, and ſaue my life.

f I felt all theſe things, and therefore was mooued by faith to confeſſe them, 2. Cor.4.13.

g In my great diſtreſſe I thought God would not regard man, which is but lies and vanitie, yet I ouercame this temptation, and felt the contrary.

h In the Lawe they vſed to make a bankrie[illegible] they gaue ſolemne thanks to God, and to take the cup and drinke in ſigne of thankſgiuing. i I perceiue that God hath a care ouer his, ſo that he both diſpoſeth their death, and taketh an account.

and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my [k] vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the Courtes of the Lordes house, euen in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

k I will thanke him for his benefites: for that is a iust paiment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 He exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because he hath accomplished aswell to them as to the Iewes, the promise of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

ALl * nations, prayse ye the Lord: all ye people, prayse him.

2 For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the [a] trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

*Rom. 15. 11.

a That is, the most certaine and continuall testimonies of his fatherly grace.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reiected of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obtained the kingdom. 4 For the which he biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankefull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ liuely set foorth, who should be of his people reiected.

PRaise [a] ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

2 Let Israel now say, That his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Let the house of Aaron now say, That his mercy endureth for euer.

4 Let them that feare the Lord, nowe say, That his mercy endureth for euer.

5 I called vpon the Lord in [b] trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large.

6 The Lord is with me: therefore I wil not feare what [c] man can doe vnto me.

7 The Lord is with me among them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence [d] in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in Princes.

10 All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

12 They came about mee like Bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 [e] Thou hast thrust sore at mee, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and [f] song: for he hath bene my deliuerance.

15 The [g] voice of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: [h] the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die, but liue, and declare the works of the Lord.

a Because God by creating Dauid King, shewed his mercy toward his afflicted Church, the Prophet doeth not onely himselfe thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to doe the same.

b We are here taught, that the more that troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer.

c Being exalted to this estate, he assured himselfe to haue man euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God would maintain him, because he had placed him.

d He sheweth that he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue bene preferred to the kingdom, and therefore he put his trust in God, and obteined.

e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemie.

f In that he was deliuered, it came not of himselfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour, therefore he will praise him.

g He promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to doe the same, because that in his person the Church was restored. h So that all, that are both farre and neere, may see his mightie power.

18 The Lord hath chastened mee sore, but he hat not deliuered me to death.

19 Open ye vnto me the [i] gates of righteousnesse, that I may go into them, & praise the Lord.

20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.

21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliuerance.

22 * The stone, which the builders [b] refused, is the head of the corner.

23 This was the Lordes doing, & it is marueilous in our eies.

24 This is the [l] day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 [m] O Lorde, I pray thee, saue now: O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.

26 Blessed be he, that commeth in y Name of the Lord: [n] wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.

27 The Lord is mighty, and hath giuen vs [o] light: bind the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, & I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I wil exalt thee.

29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

i He willeth the doores of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankful mind.

*Isai. 28. 16. mat. 21. 42. acts 4. 11. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet. 2. 6, 7.

k Though Saul and the chiefe powers refused me to be king, yet God hath preferred me aboue them all.

m The people pray for the prosperitie of Dauids kingdom, who was the figure of Christ.

o Because he hath restored vs from darknes to light, we willoffer sacrifices & praises vnto him.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their lines according to his holy worde. 123 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth: that is, when we serue him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

BLessed are [a] those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the law of the Lord.

2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, & seeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they worke [b] none iniquitie, but walke in his wayes.

4 Thou hast commanded to keepe thy precepts diligently.

5 [c] Oh that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!

6 Then should I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements.

7 I wil praise thee with an vpright [d] heart, when I shall learne the [e] iudgements of thy righteousnes.

8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not [f] ouerlong.

a Here they are not called blessed, which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselues a certaine holines, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrisie.

b For they are ruled by Gods spirit, & imbrace no doctrine but his.

c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word.

d For true religion standeth in seruing God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, which conteine perfite righteousnes. f He refuseth not to be tried by y cruentations, but feareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

9 Where with shall a [a] yong man redresse his way? in taking heed thereto according to thy word.

10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

a Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnes, he chiefly warneth them to frame their lines betime to Gods word.

b If Gods word be grauen in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him daily more & more therein.

c The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth forth an example for others to follow Gods word and leaue worldly vanities.

11 I haue [b] hid thy promes in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes.

13 With my lips haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great [c] delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, & consider thy wayes.

16 I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

GIMEL.

a He sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that we cannot serue him aright, except he open our eyes & mindes.

b Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if the word were not his guide?

c In all places thou hast plagued all such, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy truth.

d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against me, thy word was a guide and counseller to teach me what to do and to comfort me.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may [a] liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Lawe.

19 I am a [b] stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.

21 Thou [c] hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.

22 Remoue from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.

23 [d] Princes also did sit, and speake against mee: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.

24 Also thy testimonies are my delite, and my counsellers.

DALETH.

a That is, it is almost brought to the grane, and without thy word I cannot liue.

b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholy on thee.

c If God did not maintain vs by his word, our life would dyo away like water.

d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my mind may be purged from vanitie, and taught to obey thy will.

e By this he sheweth that we can neither shall good, cleaue to Gods word, nay run forward in his way, except hee make our hearts large to receiue his grace, and willing to obey.

25 My soule cleaueth to the [a] dust: quicken me according to thy word.

26 I haue [b] declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.

27 Make me to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I wil meditate in thy wondrous workes.

28 My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise me vp according vnto thy [c] word:

29 Take from me the [d] way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Lawe.

30 I haue chosen the way of truth, & thy iudgements haue I laid before me.

31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.

32 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou [e] shalt enlarge mine heart.

HE.

a He sheweth that he cannot fulfill ons to the end, except God teach him oft times and lead him forward.

33 Teach [a] mee, O Lorde, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.

34 Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I will keepe it with my whole [b] heart.

b Not onely in outward conuersation, but also in inward affection.

c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is [h] roote of al euil.

d Meaning, all his senses.

e Let me not fal to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delight in thy gracious word.

f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

35 Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delight.

36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to [c] couetousnes.

37 Turne away mine [d] eyes from regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy way.

38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.

39 Take away [e] my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.

40 Behold, I desire thy commandements: [f] quicken me in thy righteousnesse.

VAV.

a He sheweth that Gods mercy and loue is the first cause of our saluation.

b By trusting in Gods word he assureth himself to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.

c They, that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to intangle them, whereas they that doe contrary, are euer in nets and snares.

d He sheweth that the children of God ought not to suffer their fathers glory to be obscured by the vaine pompe of Princes.

41 And let thy [a] louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise.

42 So shall I [b] make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.

43 And take not the word of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.

44 So shall I alway keepe thy Lawe for euer and euer.

45 And I will [c] walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.

46 I wil speake also of thy testimonies before [d] kings, and will not be ashamed.

47 And my delite shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued.

48 Mine hands also wil I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, & I wil meditate in thy statutes.

ZAIN.

a Though he feele Gods hand still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promes, and comforteth himself therein.

b Meaning, the wicked, which contemne Gods word, and treade his religion vnder foote.

c That is, the examples, whereby thou declarest thy selfe to be iudge of the world.

d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glory, and indignation against the wicked.

e In the course of this life our 49 Remember [a] the promes made to thy seruaunt, wherein thou hast caused mee to trust.

50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promes hath quickened me.

51 The [b] proud haue had mee exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Lawe.

52 I remembred thy [c] iudgements of old, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.

53 [d] Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe.

54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my [e] pilgrimage.

55 I haue remembred thy name, O Lord, in the [f] night, and haue kept thy Lawe.

56 [g] This I had because I kept thy precepts.

sorowfull exile. f Euen when other sleepe. g That is, all these benefits.

CHETH.

a I am perswaded that to keep thy Law is an heritage & great gaine to me.

57 O Lorde, that art my [a] portion, I haue determined to keepe thy words.

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: bee mercifull vnto mee according according to thy promes.

59 I haue considered my [b] wayes, and turned my feet into thy testimonies.

60 I made haste and delaied not to keepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue [c] robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am [d] companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: [e] teach me thy statutes.

TETH.

65 O Lord, thou hast delt [a] graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.

66 Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy commaundements.

67 Before I was [b] afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes.

69 The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 [c] Their heart is fat as grease: but my delite is in thy Lawe.

71 It is [d] good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.

72 The Lawe of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of gold and siluer, IOD.

73 Thine hands haue [a] made me and fashioned me: giue me vnderstanding therfore, that I may learne thy commandements.

74 So they that [b] feare thee, seeing me shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, & that thou hast afflicted me † iustly.

76 I pray thee that thy mercy may comfort me, according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto mee, that I may [c] liue: for thy law is my delight.

78 Let the proud be ashamed: for they haue delt wickedly and falsly with mee: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let such as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and they that [e] know thy testimonies.

80 Let mine heart bee vpright in thy statutes that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

81 My soule [a] fainteth for thy saluation: yet I waite for thy word.

82 Mine eies faile for thy promise, saying, when wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a [b] bottle in the smoke: yet doe I not forget thy statutes.

84 How many are the [c] dayes of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?

85 The proud haue [d] digged pits for mee, which is not after thy law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsly: [e] helpe me.

87 They had almost consumed [f] mee vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken mee according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth.

LAMED.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in [a] heauen.

90 Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast laied the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.

91 They [b] continue euē to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants.

92 Except thy Lawe had bene my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.

93 I wil neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.

94 I am [c] thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I wil consider thy testimonies.

96 I [d] haue seene an ende of all perfection: but thy commaundement is exceeding large.

MEM.

97 Oh how loue I thy Law! it is my meditation continually.

98 Thy commandements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with me.

99 I haue had more [b] vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrained my feete from euery euil way, that I might keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for [c] thou didst teach me.

103 Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then honie vnto my mouth.

104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood.

NVN.

105 Thy word is a [a] lanterne vnto my feet, and a light vnto my path.

b He sheweth that none can embrace the word of God, except he consider his owne imperfections and wayes.

c They haue gone about to draw me into their company.

d Not onely in mutuall consent, but also with aid and succour.

e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

a Hauing proued by experience that God was true in his promes, he desireth that he would increase in him knowledge and iudgement.

b So Jeremie saith, that before the Lord touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so the vse of Gods rods is to call vs home to God.

c Their heart is inuurate and hardened, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.

d He confesseth that before that he was chastened, he was rebellious, as man by nature is.

a Because God keepeth not his worke that he hath begun, he desireth a new grace: that is, that he would continue his mercies.

b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he reuiueth others that he faileth not them that trust in him.

† Ebr. in trueth.

c He declareth, that when he felt not Gods mercies, he was as dead.

d That is, he comforted by mine example.

e He sheweth that there can be no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.

a Though my strength faile me yet my soule groweth and sigheth, resting stil in thy word.

b Like a thin bottle or bladder that is parched in the smoke.

c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?

d They haue not onely oppressed me violently, but also craftily conspired against me.

e He assureth himselfe, that God will deliuer his, and destroy such as vniustly persecute them.

f Finding no helpe in earth, he lifteth vp his eies to heauen.

a Because none should esteeme Gods word according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.

b Seeing the earth & all creatures remaine in that estate, wherein thou hast created them, much more thy truth remaineth constant and vnchangeable.

c He proueth by effect, that he is Gods child, because he seeketh to vnderstand his word.

d There is nothing so perfite in earth, but it hath an end: onely Gods word lasteth for euer.

a He sheweth that we cannot loue Gods word except we exercise our selues therein & practise it.

b Whosoeuer doth submit himself only to Gods word, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisdom, then they that professe it, and are men of experience.

c So then of our selues we can do nothing, but vnlesse God doeth inwardly instruct vs with his Spirite, we seeke his graces sweeter then hony.

a Of our selues we are but barbanes, and cannot see, except we be lightened with Gods word.

106 I haue [b] sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lorde, quicken me according to thy word.

108 O Lorde, I beseech thee accept the [c] free offerings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.

109 My [d] soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Law.

110 The wicked haue laid a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an [e] heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the end.

SAMECH.

113 I hate [a] vaine inuentions: but thy Law doe I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy word.

115 [b] Away from me, ye wicked: for I wil keepe the commandements of my God.

116 Stablish me according to thy promes, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope.

117 [c] Stay thou mee, & I shall be safe, and I will delite continually in thy statutes.

118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their [d] deceit is in vaine.

119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like [e] drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

120 My flesh [f] trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraid of thy iudgements.

AIN.

121 I haue executed iudgement & iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressors.

122 [a] Answere for thy seruaunt in that, which is good, and let not the proude oppresse me.

123 Mine eies haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promes.

124 Deale with thy [b] seruant according to thy mercy, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: grant me therfore vnderstanding, that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is [c] time for thee Lord to worke: for they haue destroied thy Law.

127 Therfore loue I thy commandements aboue gold, yea, aboue most fine gold.

128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false [d] wayes.

PE.

129 Thy testimonies are [a] wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them.

130 The entrance into thy [b] words sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding vnto the simple.

131 I opened my mouth and [c] panted, because I loued thy commandements.

132 Looke vpon me and be mercifull vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steps in thy word, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.

135 Shew the light of thy countenaunce vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.

136 Mine eyes gush [d] out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Law.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements.

138 Thou hast commanded [a] iustice by thy testimonies and truethe specially.

139 * My zeale hath euen consumed me: because mine enemies haue forgotten thy words.

140 Thy word is proued [b] most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.

141 I am [c] small and despised: yet doe I not forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteousnesse is an euerlasting righteousnesse, and thy Law is trueth.

143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delite.

144 The righteousnes of thy testimonies is euerlasting: grant me vnderstanding, and I shall [d] liue.

KOPH.

145 I haue [a] cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.

146 I called vpon thee: saue me, and I wil keepe thy testimonies.

147 I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word.

148 Mine eies [b] preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word.

149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnes: O Lord, quicken me according to thy ‖ iudgement.

150 They drawe neere, that follow after [k] malice, and are farre from thy Law.

151 Thou art neere, O Lorde: for all thy commandements are true.

152 I haue knowen long since [d] by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

RESH.

153 Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer me:

SCHIN.

161 Princes haue [a] persecuted mee without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy words.

162 I reioyce at thy word, as one that findeth a great spoyle.

163 I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Law doe I loue.

164 [b] Seuen times a day do I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

165 They [c] that loue thy Lawe, shall haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt.

166 Lorde, I haue [d] trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements.

167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loued them exceedingly.

168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: [e] for all my wayes are before thee.

TAV.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, & giue me vnderstanding [a] according vnto thy word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer mee according to thy promise.

171 My lips shall [b] speake praise, when thou hast [c] taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shal intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.

173 Let thine hand helpe mee: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Law is my delite.

175 Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy [d] iudgements shall helpe me.

176 I haue [e] gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

a For without Gods promise there is no hope of deliuerance.
b According to thy promises made in his Law, which because the wicked lacke, they can haue no hope of saluation.
c My zeale consumed me, when I saw their malice and contempt of thy glory.
d It is a sure sign of our adoption, when we loue the Law of God.
e Since thou first promisedst, doen to the end all thy sayings are true.

a The threatnings & persecutions of princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee, whom I more feare then men.
b That is, often & sundry times.
c For their conscience assureth them, that they please thee, whereas they that loue not thee, haue the contrary.
d He sheweth that we must first haue faith before we can worke and please God.
e I had no respect of men, but serued alwayes before mine eies, as the iudge of my doings.

a As thou hast promised to be the schoolemaster vnto all them that depend vpon thee.
b The word signifieth to powre forth continually.
c All his prayer and desire, is to profite in the word of God.
d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies.
e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The prayer of Dauid being vexed by the false reportes of Sauls flatterers: 5 And therfore he lamenteth his long abode among those infidels, 7 Who were giuen to all kind of wikednesse and contention.

¶ A song of [a] degrees.

I Called vnto the Lord in my [b] trouble, and he heard me.

2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue.

3 What doth thy [c] deceitful tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaile thee?

4 It is as the [d] sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and as the coales of iuniper.

5 Woe is to me that I remaine in [e] Meshech, and dwel in the tents of [f] Kedar.

6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.

7 I seeke peace, [g] & when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

a That is, of lifting vp the tune and tuning in singing.
b Albeit the children of God ought to reioyce when they suffer for righteousnes sake, yet it is a great griefe to the flesh to heare euil for well doing.
c He assured himselfe that God would turne their craft to their owne destruction.
d He sheweth that there is nothing so sharpe to pierce, nor so hote to set on fire as a slanderous tongue. e These were people of Arabia, which came of Japhet, Genesis 10.2. f That is, of the Ismaelites. g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, and Kedar: to wit, the Israelites which had degenerate from their godly fathers, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull ought onely to looke for helpe at God, 7 Who onely doeth maintaine, preserue and prosper his Church.

¶ A song of degrees.

I Will lift mine eyes ‖ vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.

2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lorde, which hath made the [a] heauen and the earth.

3 He will not suffer thy foote to slip: for he that keepeth thee, will not [b] slumber.

4 Behold, he that keepeth Israel, wil neither slumber nor sleepe.

5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.

6 The sunne shall not [c] smite thee by day, nor the moone by night.

7 The Lord shall preserue thee from all euil: he shall keepe thy soule.

8 The Lord shall preserue thy [d] going out, and thy comming in from hencefoorth and for euer.

‖ Or, aboue the mountains: meaning, that there is nothing so high in this world, wherein he can trust, but onely in God.
a He accuseth mans ingratitude, which cannot depend on Gods power.
b He sheweth that Gods prouidence not onely watcheth ouer his Church in generall, but also ouer euery member thereof.
c Neither heate nor cold, nor any incommodities shall be able to destroy Gods Church, albeit for a time they may molest it. d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise shall haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promes, & placed his Arke in Zion.
5 For the which he giueth thanks, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

I *[a] Reioiced, when they said to me, We wil goe into the house of the Lord.

2 Our [b] feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is [c] compact

*1. Chro. 39.4.
a He resisteth if God hath appointed a place, where the Arke shuld stil remain.
b Which were woont to wander too & fro, as the Arke remoued.

c By the artificiall ioyning and beautie of y houses, he meaneth the concord, and loue y was betweene y citizens.

c compact together in it selfe.

4 Whereunto d the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord goe vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to praise the name of the Lord.

d All y tribes according to Gods couenant shall come vp to pray there

5 For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of e Dauid.

e In whose house God placed the throne of Iustice, and made it a figure of Christes kingdome.

6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy f wals, & prosperitie within thy palaces.

f The fauour of God prosper thee both within and without.

8 For my brethren and neighbors sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.

9 Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings & contemners of God.

¶ A song of degrees.

a He compareth the condition of y godly to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, assuring that when all others helpes faile, God is euer at hand and like himselfe.

I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.

2 Behold, as the eies of a seruants looke vnto the hand of their maisters, and as the eies of a maiden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes waite vpon the Lorde our God vntill he haue mercy vpon vs.

b He declareth that when the faithfull are so ful, that they can no more endure the oppressions & scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe at hand, if with hungry desires they call for it.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercy vpon vs: for we haue b suffred too much contempt.

4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, & of the despightfulnesse of the proud.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God escaping a great perill, do acknowledge themselues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatnesse of the perill, 6 And prayse the Name of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a He sheweth that God was ready to helpe at need, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his onely means.

IF the Lord had not a bene on our side, (may Israel now say)

2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs, b So vnable were we to resist.

3 They had then swallowed vs vp b quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs, c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger that the Church was in, and our of the which God miraculously deliuered them.

4 Then the c waters had drowned vs, & the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

6 Praised be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.

d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the d snare of the foulers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.

8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, 4 And desireth their wealth, 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

¶ A song of degrees.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God that stand sure and be defended by Gods prouidence.

THey that trust in the Lorde, shall bee as mount Zion, which cannot be a remoued, but remaineth for euer.

2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people frō henceforth and for euer.

b Though God suffer his rod vnder the crosse least they should imbrace wickednes, yet this crosse shal not rest vpon thē, that it should driue them from hope.

3 For the b rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, least the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednesse.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that bee good and true in their hearts.

c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites, & such as haue no zeale of the truth.

5 c But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord lead with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shall bee vpon Israel.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeres of captiuitie foretolde by Ieremie, chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible: therefore they awake all excited of ingratitude.

WHen the Lorde brought againe the captiuity of Zion, we were like them that a dreame.

b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce when God graciously deliuereth his Church or deliuereth it.

2 Then was our mouth b filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioy: then sayd they among the c heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull works, the faithfull can neuer shew themselues sufficiently thankfull.

3 The Lorde hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the d riuers in the South.

d It is no maruell impossible to the vnbeleeuer.

5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping and caried c precious seede: but they shall returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to run in the barren places. c That is, seely which was scarce and deare: meaning, that they which trusted in Gods promes to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politicall standeth by Gods meere prouidence and blessing. 3 And that to haue children well nurtured, is an especiall grace and gift of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Solomon.

a That is, gouerne & dispose all things pertaining to y common wealth.

EXcept the Lorde a build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the b citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine,

b The publike estate of the common wealth.

c Which watch & ward, & are ministers of iustice of the citie.

2 It is in vaine for c you to rise early, and to lie downe late, and eate the bread [d] of sorow: but he will surely giue [e] rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lorde, and the fruite of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the [f] children of youth.

5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: for they [g] shall not bee ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

d Either that which is gotten by hard labour, or eaten with griefe of mind.
e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest.
f That is, endued with strength and vertues from God: for these are signs of Gods blessings, and not the number.
g Such children shall be able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciously accused before Iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednes appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

BLessed is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his [a] wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine [b] hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shal be well with thee.

3 Thy wife shalbe as the fruitful vine on the sides of thine house, and thy [c] children like the oliue plants round about thy table.

4 Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall [d] blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of [e] Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

a God approueth not our life except it be reformed, according to his word.
b The world esteemeth them happy, which liue in wealth, & idlenes: but the holy Ghost approueth the best, that liue of the meane profite of their labours.
c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing, more then in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithful with this gift.
d Because of the spirituall blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these tempozal things shalbe granted.
e For except Church publikely, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall bee deliuered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shew, shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

THey haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth (may [a] Israel now say)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.

4 But the [b] righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

6 [c] They shalbe as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the glainer his lap.

8 [d] Neither they, which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember, how her condition hath euer bin such from the beginning: to be molested most grieuously by the wicked: yet in deed it hath euer bene deliuered.
b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as corn out of the plough.
c The enemies that lift themselues most high, and as it were approch neere to the sun, are consumed with the heate of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie.
d That is, the wicked shal perish and none shall passe for them.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe crie vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes, and flee vnto Gods mercy.

¶ A song of degrees.

OUt of the [a] deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, [b] who shall stand?

4 But mercy is with thee, that thou [c] maiest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning,

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is [d] mercy, and with him is great redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

a Being in great distresse and sorow.
b He declareth that we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiuenes of sins.
c Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee.
d He sheweth to whom the mercy of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church and not to the reprobate.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedy desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men what they should doe.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

LOrd, [a] mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eies loftie, neither haue I walked in great [b] matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is [c] wained.

3 Let Israel wait on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

a He setteth forth his great humilitie, as an example to all rulers and gouernors.
b Which passe the measure and limites of his vocation.
c He was voyd of ambition and wicked desires.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promes made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie and the building of the temple, to pray there as was foresposken, Deut. 12. 5.

¶ A song of degrees.

LOrde, remember Dauid with all his [a] afflictiõ.

2 Who sware vnto the Lorde, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying,

3 I [b] will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Untill I finde out a place for the [c] Lorde, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob.

a That is, how great difficultie he came to the kingdome, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build the Temple.
b Because the chiefe charge of the King was to set foorth Gods glory, he meeth that he could take no rest, neither would goe about any worldly thing, vntil it were so necessary, before he had executed his office.
c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence.

6 Loe, we heard of it in [d] Ephrathah, and found it in the fields of the foreſt.

7 Wee will enter into his Tabernacles, & worſhip before [e] his footeſtoole.

8 Ariſe, O Lorde, to come into thy reſt, thou, and the Arke of thy ſtrength.

9 Let thy Prieſts be clothed with [f] righteouſneſſe, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy ſeruant Dauids ſake refuſe not the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lorde hath ſworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not ſhrinke from it, ſaying, Of the fruite of thy body will I ſet vpon thy throne.

12 If thy ſonnes keepe my couenant, and my teſtimonies, that I ſhall teache them, their ſonnes alſo ſhall ſit vpon thy throne for [h] euer.

13 For the Lord hath choſen Zion, and loued to dwel in it, ſaying, 14 This is my reſt for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a [i] delight therein.

15 I will ſurely bleſſe her vitailes, & will ſatiſfie her poore with bread, 16 And wil clothe her Prieſts with [k] ſaluation, and her Saints ſhall ſhoute for ioy.

17 There will I make the [l] horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe with ſhame, but on him his crowne ſhall flouriſh.

d The common opinion was that the Arke ſhould remaine in Ephrathah: that is, in Beth-lehem a plentifull place: but after we perceiued that thou wouldeſt place it in Ieruſalem, which was barren as a foreſt and compaſſed about onely with hils.

e That is, Ieruſalem, becauſe that afterward his Arke ſhould remoute to none other place.

f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Prieſts and in the people.

g As thou firſt madeſt promes to Dauid, ſo continue it to his poſteritie, that whatſoeuer they ſhall aſke for their people, it may be granted.

h Becauſe this cannot be accompliſhed but in Chriſt, it followeth that the promes was ſpirituall.

i Meaning, for his owne ſake, and not for the plenifulneſſe of the place: for he promiſeth to bleſſe it, declaring before, that it was barren.

k That is, with my protection, whereby they ſhalbe ſafe.

l Though his force for a time ſeemed to be broken, yet he promiſeth to reſtore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

8 This Pſalme conteineth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the ſeruants of God.

¶ A ſong of degrees, or Pſalme of Dauid.

BEhold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen [a] together.

2 It is like to the precious [b] ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went down on the border of his garments:

3 And as the deaw of [c] Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountains of Zion: for [d] there the Lorde appointed the bleſſing and life for euer.

a Becauſe the greateſt part were againſt Dauid, though ſome fauoured him, yet when he was eſtabliſhed King, at length they ioyned all together like brethren: and therefore he ſheweth by theſe ſimilitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue.

b The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come from Chriſt the head vnto his Church.

c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentifull country about Ieruſalem.

d Where there is ſuch concord.

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites watching in the Temple, to praiſe the Lord.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

BEhold, praiſe ye the Lord, all ye [a] ſeruants of the Lord, yee that by night ſtand in the houſe of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your [b] hands to the Sanctuarie, and praiſe the Lord.

3 The Lord, that hath [c] made heauen and earth, bleſſe thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites & chiefly appointed to this office.

b For their charge was not onely to keep the Temple, but to pray there and to giue God thanks

c And therefore hath all power, bleſſe thee with his Fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vſed to praiſe the Lord, and bleſſe the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what eſtate ſoeuer they be, to praiſe God for his marueilous works, 12 And ſpecially for his graces toward his people, wherein hee hath declared his maieſtie, 15 To the confuſion of all idolaters and their idoles.

Praiſe ye the Lord.

PRaiſe the Name of the Lord: ye ſeruants of the Lord, praiſe him.

2 Ye that ſtand in the [a] Houſe of the Lord, & in the [b] courtes of the Houſe of our God.

3 Praiſe ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: ſing praiſes vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lorde hath [c] choſen Iaakob to himſelfe, & Iſrael for his chiefe treaſure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatſoeuer pleaſed the Lord, that [d] did he in heauen and in earth, in the ſea, and in all the depths.

7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the * lightnings with the raine: hee draweth foorth the wind out of his treaſures.

8 *He ſmote the firſt borne of Egypt both of man and beaſt.

9 He hath ſent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his ſeruants.

10 *He ſmote many nations, & ſlew mighty Kings:

11 As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Baſhan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan:

12 And [e] gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Iſrael his people.

13 Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lorde will [f] iudge his people, and be pacified towards his ſeruants.

15 The [g] idoles of the heathē are ſiluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, & ſpeake not: they haue eyes and ſee not.

17 They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them, are like vnto them: ſo are all that truſt in them.

19 Praiſe the Lorde, ye houſe of Iſrael: praiſe the Lord, ye houſe of Aaron.

20 Praiſe the Lord, ye houſe of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praiſe the Lord.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuarie.

b Meaning the people: for the people & Leuites had their courts, which were places of the Temple ſeparate.

c That is, hath freely loued the poſteritie of Abraham.

d He ioyneth Gods power with his will, to the intent that we ſhould not ſeparate them: and hereby he willeth Gods people to depend on his power, which he confirmeth by examples.

*Iere. 10. 13.

*Exod. 12. 29.

*Num. 21. 24, 34

e He ſheweth what fruite the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they ſee how he deſtroieth his enemies, and deliuereth his people.

f That is, gouern and defend his people.

g By ſhewing what punishment God appointeth for the heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware the like offence, ſeeing that idoles haue neither power nor life.

e That their deliuerance came not by idols, but by the mightie power of God. Read Pſal. 115. verſe 4.

21 Prayſed bee the Lorde out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ieruſalem. Prayſe yee the Lord.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A moſt earneſt exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things, which ſtandeth in confeſſing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalitie.

PRayſe ye the Lord, becauſe he is good: for his [a] mercy endureth for euer.

2 Prayſe ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Prayſe ye the Lord of lords: for his mercie endureth for euer:

4 Which onely doth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer.

5 Which by his wiſedome made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer:

6 Which hath ſtretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his [b] mercie endureth for euer:

7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer:

8 As the ſunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer:

9 The moone and the ſtarres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer:

10 Which ſmote Egypt with their firſt borne, (for his mercie endureth for euer:)

11 And [c] brought out Iſrael from among them (for his mercie endureth for euer)

12 With a mightie hand and [d] ſtretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer:

13 Which diuided the Red Sea in two parts: for his mercie endureth for euer:

14 And made Iſrael to paſſe thorow the mids of it: for his mercie endureth for euer:

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his hoſte in the Red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer:

16 Which ledde his people thorow the [e] Wildernesse: for his mercie endureth for euer:

17 Which ſmote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

18 And ſlew [f] mighty Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

19 As Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer:

20 And Og the King of Bashan: for his mercie endureth for euer:

21 And gaue their lande for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer:

22 Euen an heritage vnto Iſrael his ſeruant: for his mercie endureth for euer:

23 Which remembred vs in our [g] baſe eſtate: for his mercie endureth for euer:

24 And hath reſcued vs from our oppreſſours: for his mercie endureth for euer:

25 Which giueth food to all [h] flesh: for his mercie endureth for euer:

26 [i] Praiſe yee the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits bind vs to thanksgiuing: but chiefly his mercy, which is principally declared towards his Church.

b This was a common kind of thanksgiuing, which the whole people vsed, when they had receiued any benefite of God, as 2. Chro. 7. 6. and 20. 21. meaning that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued the same to their posteritie.

c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.

d In doing such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe.

e Where for the space of fortie yeeres he shewed infinite and most strange wonders.

f Declaring thereby that no power nor authoritie was so deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

g In our greatest affliction & miserie, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.

h Seeing that God prouideth euen for the beasts, much more hath he care ouer his.

i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their baniſhment ſeeing Gods true religion decay, liued in great anguiſh and ſorow of heart: the which griefe the Chaldeans did ſo little pitie, 3 that they rather increaſed the ſame dayly with taunts, reproches and blaſphemies againſt God. 7 Wherefore the Iſraelites deſire God, firſt to puniſh the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians againſt them, 8 and moued by the Spirit of God, propheſie the deſtruction of Babylon, where they were handled ſo tyrannouſly.

BY the riuers of Babel we [a] ſate, and there we wept, when we remembred Zion.

2 Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes [b] thereof.

3 Then they that ledde vs captiues, [c] required of vs ſonges and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harpes, ſaying, Sing vs one of the ſongs of Zion.

4 How ſhall we ſing, ſaid we, a ſong of the Lord in a ſtrange land?

5 [d] If I forget thee, O Ieruſalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ieruſalem to my [e] chiefe ioy.

7 Remember the children of [f] Edom, O Lorde, in the [g] day of Ieruſalem, which ſayde, Raſe it, raſe it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthie to be deſtroyed, bleſſed ſhal he be that rewardeth thee, as thou haſt ſerued vs.

9 [h] Bleſſed ſhall he be that taketh and daſheth thy children againſt the ſtones.

a That is, we abode a long time: and albeit that the country was pleaſant, yet could it not ſtay our teares, nor turne vs from the true ſeruice of our God.

b To wit, of that country.

c The Babylonians ſpake thus in mocking vs, as though by our ſilence we ſhould ſignifie that we hoped no more in God.

d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefs, yet the common ſorowe of the Church is moſt grieuous vnto them, and is ſuch as they cannot but remember & lament.

e The decay of Gods religion in their country was ſo grieuous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were reſtored.

f According as Ezekiel 25. 13. and Ieremie 49. 7. verſe propheſied: and Abadiah, verſe 10. threwth that the Edomites, which came of Eſau, conſpired with the Babylonians againſt their brethren and kinſefolke.

g When thou didſt diſſe Ieruſalem.

h He alludeth to Iſaiahs propheſie, Chapter 13. and 16. verſe, promiſing good ſucceſſe to Cyrus and Darius, whom ambition moued to fight againſt Babylon: but God vſed them as his rods to puniſh his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1 Dauid with great courage praiſeth the goodneſſe of God toward him, the which is ſo great, 4 that it is knowen to forren Princes, who ſhall praiſe the Lord together with him. 6 And he is aſſured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

I Will praiſe thee with my whole heart: euen before the [a] gods will I praiſe thee.

2 I will worſhip toward thine holy [b] Temple, and praiſe thy Name, becauſe of thy louing kindeneſſe and for thy truetie: for thou haſt magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.

3 When I called, then thou heardeſt mee, and haſt [c] encreaſed ſtrength in my ſoule.

4 All the [d] Kings of the earth ſhall praiſe thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they ſhall ſing of the wayes of b Both the Temple and ceremonial ſeruice at Chriſtes comming were abolished: ſo that now God will be worſhipped onely in ſpirit and truth. Joh. 4. 23.

c Thou haſt ſtrengthened me againſt mine outward and inward enemies.

d All the worlde ſhall confeſſe that thou haſt wonderfully preſerued me, and performed thy promiſe.

the Lorde, because the glorie of the Lorde is great.

6 For the Lorde is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth [e] a farre off.

7 Though I walke in the mids of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me.

8 The Lord will [f] performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercy endureth for euer: forsake not the works of thine hands.

e Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercy to his, and to iudge the wicked, though they thinke that he is farre off.

f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 Dauid to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not, 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to be enemy to all them that contemne God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lorde, thou hast tried mee and knowen me.

2 Thou knowest my [a] sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off.

3 Thou [b] compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in [c] my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholy, O Lord.

5 Thou holdest me straite behind and before, and laiest thine [d] hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for mee: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I goe from thy [e] spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, & dwell in the vttermost partes of the sea:

10 Yet thither shall thine [f] hand leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 If I say, Yet the darkenesse shall hide mee, euen the night shall bee [g] light about me.

12 Yea, the darknes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darknesse and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast [h] possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am [i] fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secrete place, and fashioned [k] beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: [l] for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How [m] deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I wake, [n] I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, & being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I [o] hate them, O Lorde, that hate thee? and do not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and know mine heart: proue me and know my thoughts, 24 And consider if there bee any [p] way of wickednesse in me, and leade me in the [q] way for euer.

a He confesseth that neither our actions, thoughts or any part of our life can be hid from God, though he seeme to be farre off.

b So that they are euidently knowen to thee.

c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.

d Thou so guidest me with thine hand, that I can turne no way, but where thou appointest me.

e From thy power & knowledge.

f Thy power doth so fast hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.

g Though darknes be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eies as well as the light.

h Thou hast made me in all parts: wherefore I needs know it.

i Considering thy wonderful worke in forming me, I cannot but praise thee, and feare thy mighty power.

k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward partes of the earth.

l Seeing that thou diddest know me before I was compacted of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me when thou hast fashioned me.

m How ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisdome in the creation of man?

n I continually see new occasions to me diuers, in thy wisdome, and to praise thee.

o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely.

p Or any heinous way or rebellious meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was he not given to wickednes, and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the cruelties, falshood and iniuries of his enemies, 8 Against the which he praieth vnto the Lord, and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to prayse the Lord, and to assure themselues of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Deliuer me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the [a] cruel man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their [b] heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a Serpent: [c] Adders poison is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe [d] me, O Lorde, from the handes of the wicked: preserue mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide.

5 The proud haue laid a snare for me, and spred a net with cordes in my path way, & set grens for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lorde, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou [e] hast couered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: [f] performe not his wicked thought, least they be proud. Selah.

9 As for [g] the chiefe of them, that compasse

b That is, by their false cauillations and lies they kindle the hatred of the wicked against me.

c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and force faile them.

d He declareth what is the remedy of the godly, when they are oppressed by the worldlings.

e He calleth to God with liuely faith, being afflicted of his mercies, because he had before time proued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.

f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrow the counsels and enterprises of the wicked. g It seemeth that he alludeth to Saul.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let [h] him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not.

11 For the backbiter shal not be established vpon the earth: euill shall [i] hunt the cruel man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, and the iust shall [k] dwell in thy presence.

h To wit, Gods: for Dauid saw that they were reprobate, and that there was no hope of repentance in them.
i Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape.
k That is, shall be defended and preserued by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously persecuted vnder Saul, onely fleeth vnto God to haue succour, 3 Desiring him to bridle his affections, that hee may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, I [a] call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the [b] lifting vp of mine handes as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the [c] doore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their [d] delicates.

5 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let [e] him reproue me, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen [f] pray in their miseries.

6 When their Iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall [g] heare my wordes, for they are sweete.

7 Our bones lie scattred at the [h] graues mouth, as he that heweth wood, or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eies looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue laid for me, and from the grens of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into [i] his nets [k] together, whiles I escape.

a He sheweth that there is none other refuge in our necessities, but only to flee vnto God for comfort of soule.
b He meaneth his earnest zeale and gesture, which he vsed in prayer: alluding to the sacrifices, which were by Gods commandement offred in the olde Law.
c Hee desireth God to keepe his thoughts and wayes either from thinking or executing vengeance.
d Let not their prosperity allure me to be wicked as they are.
e He could abide all corrections, that came of a louing heart.
f By patience I shall see the wicked so sharply handled, that I shall for pitie pray for them.
g The people, which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, shall repent and turne to God, when they see their wicked rulers punished.
h Heere appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 2. Chron. 1. 9, 10.
i Into Gods nets, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice.
k So that none of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither astonied with feare, nor caried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kil Saul, but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God who did preserue him.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, to giue instruction, and a praier when he was in the caue.

I Cried vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I [a] prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirite †was in perplexitie in mee, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laied a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would know me: all refuge failed mee, and none ‖ cared for my soule.

5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lorde, and said, thou art mine [b] hope, & my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer mee from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of [c] prison, that I may praise thy Name: then shall the righteous [d] come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

a Dauids patience and instant praier to God condemneth their wicked rage, which in their troubles either despaire or murmure against God, or els seeke to others, then to God, to haue releefe in their miseries.
† Ebr. Was folden or wrapped in me: meaning, as a thing that could haue no issue.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirite, that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my prayer, O Lord, & hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy [a] truth, & in thy [b] righteousnes.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy [c] sight shall none that liueth, be iustified)

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laid me in the darknesse, as they that haue bene dead [d] long agoe:

4 And my spirite was in perplexity in me, & mine [e] heart within me was amased.

5 Yet doe I remember the time [f] past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I do meditate in the works of thine hands.

6 I stretch foorth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirsty land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirite faileth: hide not thy face from me, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindnes in the [g] morning, for in thee is my trust: [h] shew me the way that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

b That is, according to thy free goodnes, whereby thou defendest thine.
c He knew that his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his sinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners.
d He acknowledgeth that God is the onely & true physician to heale him and that he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long agoe, and turned to ashes.

12 And for thy mercie [m] slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy [n] seruant.

i I hid my selfe vnder the shadowe of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power.
k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the spirite of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth vnderstanding by his spirite, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He prayseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, and for his victories obteined, 5 Demaunding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of prayses, 15 And declareth wherein the felicitie of any people consisteth.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

BLessed be the Lorde my strength, which [a] teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnesse and my fortresse, my towre and † my deliuerer, my shielde, and in him I trust, which subdueth my [b] people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou [c] regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadowe, that vanisheth.

5 [d] Bowe thine heauens, O Lorde, and come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke.

6 [e] Cast foorth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great [f] waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand [g] of falshood.

9 I will sing a [h] newe song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth Dauid his [i] seruant from the hurtfull sword.

11 Rescue me and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood:

12 That our [k] sonnes may bee as the plantes growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our [l] corners may be full and abounding with diuers sortes, and that our sheepe may bring foorth thousands and tenne thousand in our streetes:

14 That our [m] oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes.

15 Blessed are the people, that be [n] so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

a Who of a poore sheepeheard hath made me a valiant warriour and mightie conquerour.
† Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me: for the Prophet cannot satisfie himselfe with any wordes.
b He confesseth that neither by his owne authoritie, power nor policie, his kingdome was quiet, but by the secrete grace of God.
c To giue vnto God iust praise, is to confesse our selues to be vnworthy of so excellent benefites, and that he beholdeth them vpon vs of his free mercie.
d He desireth God to continue his graces, and to send helpe for the present necessitie.
e By these maner of speeches he sheweth that all the lets in the world cannot hinder Gods power, which he apprehendeth by faith.
f That is, deliuer me from the tumults of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement & enterprises, as though they were strangers.
g For though they shake hands, yet they keepe not promes.
h That is, a rare and excellent song, as thy great benefites deserue.
i Though wicked kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. 1. yea much as he vseth them to execute his iudgements, yet Dauid because of Gods promes, and they, that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set foorth Gods glory.
k He desireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefites.

m He attributeth not onely y great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour.
n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed when the kingdome of Dauid florished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God, aswell in gouerning man, as in preseruing all the rest of his creatures. 17 He prayseth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But specially for his louing kindnes toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promiseth to prayse him for euer.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid of praise.

OMy God and King, [a] I will extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee dayly, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 [b] Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praysed, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy workes vnto [c] generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes,

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy [d] fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse.

8 * The Lord is gracious and [e] mercifull, slow to anger, and of great mercie.

2 I will praiſe the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will ſing vnto my God.

3 Put not your truſt in [b] Princes, nor in the ſonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his [c] thoughts periſh.

5 Bleſſed is he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whoſe hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made [d] heauen and earth, the ſea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iuſtice [e] for the oppreſſed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looſeth the priſoners.

8 The Lord giueth ſight to the blind: the Lord raiſeth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord keepeth the [f] ſtrangers: he relieueth the fatherleſſe and widow: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord ſhall [h] reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Praiſe ye the Lord.

a He ſtirreth vp himſelfe and all his affections to praiſe God.
b That God may haue the whole prayſe, wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, ſhewing that of nature we are more inclined to put our truſt in creatures, then in God the Creator.
c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flatter themſelues, and ſo imagined wicked enterpriſes.
d He encourageth the godly to truſt onely in the Lord, both for that his power is able to deliuer them from all dangers, and for his promes ſake his will is moſt ready to doe it.
e Whoſe faith & patience for a while he trieth, but at length he puniſheth the aduerſaries, that he may be knowen to be iudge of the world.
f Though he viſite them by affliction, hanger, impriſonment and ſuch like, yet his fatherly loue and pitie neuer faileth them, yea rather to his theſe are ſignes of his loue and ſuccour.
g Meaning, all them that are deſtitute of worldly meanes and h Dee aſſureth the Church that God reigneth for euer for the preſeruation of the ſame.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet prayſeth the bountie, wiſedome, power, iuſtice and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But ſpecially vpon his Church, which hee gathereth together after their diſperſion, 19 Declaring his worde and iudgements ſo vnto them, as hee hath done to none other people.

PRaiſe ye the Lord, for it is good to ſing vnto our God: for it is [a] a pleaſant thing, and prayſe is comely.

2 The Lord doeth builde vp [b] Ieruſalem, and gather together the diſperſed of Iſrael.

3 He healeth thoſe that are [c] broken in heart, and bindeth vp their ſores.

4 He [d] counteth the number of the ſtarres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wiſedome is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaſeth the wicked to the [e] ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lorde with prayſe: ſing vpon the harpe vnto God.

8 Which [f] coureth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the graſſe to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beaſts their foode, and to the yong rauens that [g] crie.

10 He hath not pleaſure in the [h] ſtrength of an horſe, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lorde delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praiſe the Lord, O Ieruſalem: praiſe thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates [i] ſtrong, and hath bleſſed thy children within thee.

14 He ſetteth peace in thy borders, and ſatisfieth thee with the † floure of wheate, 15 He ſendeth forth his [k] commaundement vpon earth, and his worde runneth very [l] ſwiftly.

16 He giueth ſnow like wooll, and ſcatereth the hoare froſt like aſhes, 17 He caſteth forth his yce like morſels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He ſendeth his word and melteth them: he cauſeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flowe.

19 He ſheweth his [m] worde vnto Iaakob, his ſtatutes and his iudgements vnto Iſrael.

20 He hath not dealt ſo with euery nation, neither haue they [n] knowen his iudgements. Prayſe ye the Lord.

a He ſheweth wherein wee ought to exerciſe our ſelues continually, and to take our paſtime: to wit, in prayſing God.
b Becauſe the Lord is the founder of his Church, it cannot be deſtroyed, though the members thereof be diſperſed, and ſeeme, as it were, for a time to be cut off.
c With affliction, or ſorowe for ſinne.
d Though it ſeeme to man incredible, that God ſhould aſſemble his Church, being ſo diſperſed: yet nothing can be too hard to him, that can number and name all the ſtarres.
e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the ende.
f He ſheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodneſſe and wiſedome, that we can neuer want matter inough to prayſe God.
g For their crying is as it were a confeſſion of their neede, which cannot be relieued, but by God onely: for if God threw himſelfe vnmindfull of the moſt contemptible foules, can he ſuffer them to die with famine, whom he hath aſſured of life euerlaſting?
h Though to vſe lawfull meanes is both profitable and pleaſeth God, yet to put our truſt in them, is to defraude God of his honour.
i He doeth not onely furniſh his Church with all things neceſſarie, but preſerueth alſo the ſame, and maketh it ſtrong againſt all outward force. † Ebr. fat. k His ſecrete working in all creatures is as a commaundement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediatly and without reſiſting all things obey him. m As before he called Gods ſecrete working in all his creatures his word: ſo he meaneth heere by his word, the doctrine of life euerlaſting, which hee hath left to his Church, as a moſt precious treaſure. n The cauſe of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his Sonne Chriſt Ieſus to ſaluation: and his iuſt iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places, 14 Specially his Church, for the power that hee hath giuen to the same, after that hee had chosen them, and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places.

2 Praise ye him, all [a] ye his Angels: praise him, all his armie.

3 Praise ye him, [b] Sunne and Moone: praise ye him all bright starres.

4 Praise ye him, [c] heauens of heauens, and [d] waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And hee hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, ye [e] Dragons and all depths:

8 [f] Fire and haile, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees and all Cedars:

10 Beastes and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules:

11 [g] Kings of the earth and al people, princes and all iudges of the world:

12 Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath exalted the [h] horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Saintes, euen for the [i] children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

a Because they are members of the same body, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to doe our duetie.
b In that Gods glorie shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beautie is as a continuall praysing of God.
c Not that there are diuers heauens, but because of the spheres and of the situation of the fired starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this word the whole heauen.
d That is, the raine, which is in the middle region of the aire, which hee here comprehendeth vnder the name of the heauens.
e Meaning, the great and monstrous fishes, as Whales, and such like.
f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance.
g For the greater giftes that any hath receiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bound is he to praise God for the same: but neither high nor lowe condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie. h That is, the dignitie, power and glory of his Church. i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to prayse the Lorde for his victorie and conquest, that he giueth his Saintes against all mans power.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

SIng ye vnto the Lorde [a] a newe song: let his praise be heard in the Congregation of Saintes.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that [b] made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their [c] King.

3 Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrel and harpe.

4 For the Lorde hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saints be ioyfull with glorie: let them sing loude vpon their [d] beds.

6 Let the high actes of God be in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands.

7 [e] To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To binde [f] their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is [g] written: this honour shall be to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

a For his rare and manifold benefites bestowed on his Church.
b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a newe creation, and therefore Psal. 95.7. they were called the sheepe of Gods hand.
c For God as he is to the Creator of the soule and body, so will hee that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him, as to their most lawfull king.
d He alludeth to that continuall rest and quietnes, which they should haue, if they would suffer God to rule them.
e This is chiefely accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Godsiudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries. f Not onely the people, but the Kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and mindes of all his, to enterprise no farther then he appointeth.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without ceese by all maner of wayes for all his mightie and wonderful workes.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise ye God in his [a] Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the [b] firmament of his power.

2 Praise ye him in his mightie acts: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Praise ye him in the sound of the [c] trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginals and organs.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbales: praise ye him with high sounding cymbales:

6 Let euery thing that hath [d] breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen.
b For his wonderfull power appeareth in the firmament, which in Ebrew is called a stretching out, or spreading abroade, wherein the mightie worke of God shineth.
c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in praysing God, he maketh mention of those instruments which by Gods commaundement were appointed in the olde Lawe, but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church. d He sheweth that all the order of nature is bound to this duetie, and much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to praise him, till they be gathered into that kingdome, which he hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euerlasting prayse.

THE * PROVERBES OF SALOMON.

* This word Proverbe, or Parable signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to bee kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euil part for a mocke or iesse.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly conteine doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a Preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the Parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church, of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1. Kin. 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Solomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the entising of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

THe Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel,

2 To knowe wisedome, [a] and instruction, to vnderstand the wordes [b] of knowledge,

3 To receiue [c] instruction to do wisely, by [d] iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the [e] simple, sharpenesse of wit, and to ỹ childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of [f] vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke saying.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy [g] fathers instruction, and forsake not thy [h] mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be † a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, [i] if sinners doe entise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for [k] blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause.

12 We will swallow them vp aliue like a [l] graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoile:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one [m] purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their [n] path.

16 For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainely as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood and lie priuily for [o] their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine: he would take away the [p] life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ [q] Wisedome crieth without: she vttereth her voyce in the [r] streetes.

21 She calleth in the high streete among the preasse in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying,

22 Ye [s] fooliſh, howe long will ye loue foolishnes: and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my minde vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, † none would regard.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction:

26 I will also [t] laugh at your destruction, and mock, when your feare commeth.

27 When [u] your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shal come like a whirle winde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me earely, but they shall not [x] finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, but [y] despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the [z] fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.

32 For [a] ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwel safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God, 10 She preserueth from wickednesse.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and [a] hide my commaundements within thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisedome, and encline [b] thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, [c] and criest for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for [d] treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the [e] knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisedome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 He ‖ preserueth the state of the righteous: he is a shielde to them that walke vprightly,

8 That they may keepe ỹ wayes of iudgement: and hee preserueth the way of his Saints)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, a That is, what we ought to know and folow, and what we ought to refuse.

b Meaning, the word of God wherein is the only true knowledge.
c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise.
d By liuing iustly, and rendring to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him.
e To such as haue not discretion to rule themselues.
f As he sheweth that these parables conteining the effect of religion as touching maners and doctrine doe appertaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.
* Psal. 111. 10. eccles. 1, 16.
g He speaketh this in the name of God, which is the vniuersall father of al creatures, or in the name of the pastor of ỹ Church, who is as a father.
h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods word.
† Ebr. increase of grace.
i To wit, the wicked which haue not the feare of God.
k He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour.
l As the graue is neuer satiate, so the auarice of the wicked and their crueltie hath none ende.
m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoile of the innocent.
n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.
o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice and crueltie.
p Whereby he concludeth that the couetous man is a murtherer.
q This wisedome is the eternall word of God.
r So that none can pretend ignorance.

s Wisedome reproueth three kindes of men: the foolish as simple which erre of ignorance, and the mockers that cannot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are ouerwhelmed in worldly lustes, and hate the knowledge of godlinesse.
t This is spoken according to our capacity, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking.
u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.
x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.
y Shewing that without faith and obedience, we cannot call vpon God aright.
z They shall feele what commoditie their wicked life shall giue them.
a That is, the prosperitie, and sensualitie, wherein they delight.

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou keepe thy selfe to the true knowledge of God without hypocrisie.
c Meaning, that we must seeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing, that no labour must be spared.
e This (saith he) is the true wisedome, to know and feare God.
‖ Or, hideth the saluation.

f The word of God shal teach thee and counsell thee howe to gouerne thy selfe.
g That is, the word of God, which is the only light to followe their owne fantasies which are darkenesse.
h When they see any giuen to euill as they are.
i Meanig, that wisedome, which is the worde of God, shall preserue vs from all vices: naming this vice of whatsoeuer whereunto man is most prone.
k That is, her husband, which is her head and gide to gouerne her, from whom she ought not to depart, but remaine in his subiection.
l Which is the promes made in marriage.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars and them that haunt her.
n To them that are dead in body and soule.
o They shall enioy the temporall and spirituall promises of God, as they which shal be voide of them.

nes, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.

10 ¶ When wisedome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule,

11 Then shal [f] counsell preserue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things.

13 And from them that leaue the [g] wayes of righteousnesse to walke in the wayes of darkenesse:

14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight [h] in the frowardnesse of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewde in their paths.

16 And it shall deliuer thee frō the strange [i] woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes, 17 Which forsaketh ỹ [k] guide of her youth, and forgetteth the [l] couenant of her God.

18 Surely her [m] house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto [n] the dead.

19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in ỹ way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwell in the [o] land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.

22 But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressours shall be rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that followe the word of God, all things shall succeede well.

MY sonne, forget not thou my Lawe, but let thine heart *keepe my commaundements.

2 For they shall increase the length of thy [a] dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie.

3 Let not [b] mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy [c] necke, and write them vpon the table of thine [d] heart.

4 So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with al thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisedome.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy [e] nauell, and marowe vnto thy bones.

9 [f] Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruites of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall [g] burst with newe wine.

11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieued with his correction.

12 *For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the childe in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisedome, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then golde.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, [h] and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree [i] of life to them that lay hold on her, & blessed is he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisedome hath laide the [k] foundation of the earth: and hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dewe.

21 My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisedome, and counsell.

22 So they shall be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy ‖ necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraide: and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the [l] destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.

26 For the Lord shalbe for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from [m] the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe and come againe, and to morowe will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he dooth dwell [n] without feare by thee.

27 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Be not [o] enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his [p] secret is with the righteous.

33 The

*Deu. 8.1, and 30.16.
a Long life is the blessing of God which he giueth to this, so farre forth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercy and trueth, he meaneth the obseruation of the first and second table: or els the mercy and faithfulnes that we ought to vse toward our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a most precious iewell.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, and by health he meaneth all the benefites promised in the Lawe both corporall and spirituall.
f As was commaunded in the Lawe, Exod. 23.19. Deut. 26.2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of al things, and that they were ready to de-dicate all at his commaundement.
g For to the faithfull distributer God giueth in greater abundance.
*Hebr. 12.5. Reuel. 3.19.
h Meaning, that he that seeketh wisedome, that is, suffereth him selfe to be gouerned by the worde of God, shal haue all prosperitie both corporall and spirituall.
i Which bringeth forth such fruite that they that taste thereof, haue life euen as assuredly as the tree of life in Paradise.
k Hereby he sheweth that this wisdome, wherof he speaketh, is euerlasting, because it was before al creatures, and that all things, euen the whole world were made by it.
‖ Or, throate, reade Chap. 1.9.
l For when God destroyeth the wicked, he will saue his, as he did Lot in Sodom.
m Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue neede of the vse thereof.
n That is, protected his trust in thee.
o Desire not to be like vnto him.
p That is, his couenant and fatherly affection which is hid and secret from the world.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous.

q He will shewe by his plagues, that their scorns shall turne to their owne destruction, as Chap.1.26.

34 Surely he q scorneth the scornefull, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shal inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Wisedome and her fruites ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

HEare, O ye children, the instruction of a [a] father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding.

a He speaketh this in the person of a Preacher and minister which is as a father vnto the people, reade Chap.1.8.

2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my lawe.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother, b Meaning, Dauid his father.

4 When he [b] taught me, and said vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my wordes: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisedome: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preserue thee.

c He sheweth that we must first beginne at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last thing, or else, care not for it at all.

7 [c] Wisedome is the beginning: get wisedome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shal bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

d Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many.

11 I haue [d] taught thee in the way of wisdome, and led thee in the paths of righteousnesse.

e Thou shalt walke at libertie without offence.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be [e] straite, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take holde of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auoide it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

f Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke.

16 For they cannot [f] sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause some to fall.

g Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression.

17 For they eate the bread of [g] wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

h Signifying, that the godly increase dayly in knowledge, and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is, when they shall be taken to their head in the heauens.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfite day.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkenesse: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, incline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the middes of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their [i] flesh.

i That is, they shall haue health of body: vnder the which all other blessings promised in the lawe are conteined.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth [k] life.

k For as the heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lippes farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eye lidde direct thy way before thee.

26 [l] Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

l Keepe a measure in all thy doings.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy foote from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to liue on his labours, and to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisedome, and incline thine eare vnto my ‖ knowledge, ‖ Or, vnderstanding.

2 That thou mayest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

a That is, an harlot which giueth her selfe to another then to her husband.

3 For the lips [a] of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then [b] oile.

b By oile and hony he meaneth flattering and craftie enticements.

4 But the ende of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

c All her workes leade to destruction.

5 Her [c] feete goe downe to death, and her steps take holde on hell.

d She hath euer new meanes to allure to wickednesse.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her pathes are [d] moueable: thou canst not knowe them.

7 Heare ye me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth.

e That is, the strength and goods of her that will haue no pity vpon them: as is read of Samson, and the prodigall sonne.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house, f The goods gotten by chyrauell.

9 Lest thou giue thine [e] honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:

g Although I was faithfully instructed in the truth, yet am I almost fallen to bitter shame and destruction, notwithstanding my good bringing vp in the assemblie of the godly.

10 Lest the stranger should be filled with thy [f] strength, and thy labours be in the house of a stranger, h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to vse of our owne labours, and to be beneficiall to the godly that want.

11 And thou mourne at thine ende, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body)

i Distribute them not to the wicked and Infidels, but reserue them for thy self, thy familie, and them that are of the houshold of faith.

12 And say, Howe haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the middes of the Congregation and [g] assemblie.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of [h] thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne Well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow foorth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes.

17 But let them be thine, euen [i] thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let

18 Let thy [k] fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy [l] youth.

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breastes satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldest thou ‖ delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the [m] eies of the Lord, & he pondereth al his paths.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.

23 He shall [n] die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

k Thy children which shall come of thee in great abundance, shewing that God blesseth mariage, and enricheth whosoeuer hath.

l Which thou yndest marrie in thy youth.

‖ Or, goe astray with a stranger?

m He declareth that except man doe repent to his wife both in heart & in outward conuersation, that he shall not escape the iudgements of God.

n Because he will not giue care to Gods worde, and be admonished.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for sureties. 6 The slouthfull and sluggish is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The thing that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

MY sonne, if thou be suretie for thy neighbour, and hast striken handes with the stranger.

2 Thou art [a] snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and solicite thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eies, nor slumber to thine eielids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a birde from the hand of the fouler.

6 ¶ Goe to [b] the pismire, O sluggard: beholde her wayes, and be wise.

7 For she hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meate in the sommer, and gathereth her foode in haruest.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

10 *Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, [c] a litle folding of the hands to sleepe.

11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that [d] trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an [e] armed man.

12 The vnthriftie man [f] and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.

13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he † signifieth with his feete: he instructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shall be destroyed suddenly without recouerie.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become surety one for an other, according to the rule of charitie, but that we consider for whom and after what sort, so that the creditor may not be defrauded.

b If the words of God cannot instruct thee, yet learne at the litle pismire to labour for thy selfe, and not to burden others.

*Chap. 24. 33.

c He expresseth liuely the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neuer so long, yet haue neuer ynough, but euer seeke occasions thereunto.

d That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.

e It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.

f He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons and sluggards come, by calling them vnthriftie, or the men of Belial, and slanderous.

† Ebr. speaketh.

§ Thus all his gesture tendeth to wickednesse.

16 ¶ These sixe things doth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:

17 The hautie eies, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, 18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, [h] feete that be swift in running to mischiefe.

19 A false witnesse that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contentions among ‖ brethren.

20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine [i] heart, and tie them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the [k] commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and [l] corrections for instruction are the way of life.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her [m] eie lids.

26 For because of the whorish woman a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 [n] Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth into his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoeuer toucheth her.

30 Men doe not [o] despise a theefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his [p] soule, because he is hungrie.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seuen folde, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he † is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shall finde [q] a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For iealousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not [r] spare in the day of vengeance.

35 He cannot beare the sight of any ransome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

h Meaning, the raging affections, which carrie a man away in such sort that he cannot tell what he doeth.

‖ Or, neighbours.

i Reade Chap. 3. 3.

k By the commandement he meaneth the word of God: and by the instruction, the preaching and declaration of the same, which is committed to the Church.

l And reprehensions, when the word is preached, bring vs to life.

m With her wanton lookes and gesture.

n Meaning, that she will neuer cease, till thee haue brought thee to beggerie, and then seeke thy destruction.

o He approueth not theft, but sheweth that it is not so abominable as whoredome, forasmuch as theft might be redeemed: but adulterie was a perpetuall infamie, and death by the law of God.

p Meaning, for very necessitie.

† Ebr. faileth in heart.

q That is, death appointed by the Lawe.

r He sheweth that man by nature seeketh his death, that hath abused his wife, and so concludeth that neither Gods Law nor the law of nature admitteth any ransome for the adulterie.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisedome and to the word of God. 5 Which will preserue vs from the harlot. 6 Whose maners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

a By this diuerſitie of words he meaneth that nothing ought to be ſo deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor minde any thing ſo much.

b Salomon byeth this parable to declare their follie, that ſuffer themſelues to be abuſed by harlots.

‖Or, garment.

‖Or, hid.

d He deſcribeth certaine conditions, which are peculiar to harlots.

†Ebr. ſhe ſtrengthened her face.

e Becauſe that in peace offerings a portion returned to them that offered, ſhe ſheweth him that ſhe had meate at home to make good cheere with, if ſo be he would vſe ſome cloke of holineſſe till ſhe had gotten him in her ſnares.

f Which declareth that harlots outwardly will ſeeme holy and religious: both becauſe they may the better deceiue others, and alſo thinking by obſeruing of ceremonies and offrings to make ſatisfaction for their ſinnes.

‖Or, carued worke.

†Ebr. in his hand.

g Which thinking he goeth to the paſture, goeth willingly to his owne deſtruction.

h Which goeth cheerefully, not knowing that he ſhalbe chaſtiſed.

a apple of thine eies.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wiſedome, thou art my ſiſter: and call vnderſtanding thy kinſewoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger that is ſmooth in her wordes.

6 ¶ b As I was in the windowe of mine houſe, I looked through my windowe,

7 And I ſawe among the fooles, and conſidered among the children a yong man deſtitute of vnderſtanding.

8 Who paſſed through the ſtreete by her corner, and went toward her houſe,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots ‖ behauiour, and ‖ ſubtill in heart.

11 (She d is babling and loude: whoſe feete cannot abide in her houſe.

12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtreets, and lieth in waite at euery corner)

13 So ſhe caught him and kiſſed him, and † with an impudent face ſaid vnto him, 14 I haue e peace offerings: this f day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might ſeeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue decked my bed with ornaments, ‖ carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleaſure in daliance.

19 For mine huſband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

20 He hath taken † with him a bag of ſiluer, and will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft ſhe cauſed him to yeeld, and with her flattering lippes ſhe entiſed him.

22 And he followed her ſtraight wayes, as an oxe that goeth to the ſlaughter, and h as a foole to the ſtockes for correction, 23 Till a dart ſtrike through his liuer, as a bird haſteth to the ſnare, not knowing that † it is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For ſhe hath cauſed many to fall downe wounded, and the i ſtrong men are all ſlaine by her.

27 Her houſe is the way * vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wiſedome declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and followe her.

DOth * not a wiſedome crie: and vnderſtanding vtter her voyce?

2 She ſtandeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 She cryeth beſides b the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores,

4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voyce to the children of men.

5 O ye fooliſh men, vnderſtand wiſedome, and ye, O fooles, be wiſe in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will ſpeake of excellent things, and the opening of my lips ſhall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth ſhall ſpeake the trueth, and my lips abhorre wickedneſſe.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdneſſe, nor frowardneſſe in them,

9 They are all c plaine to him that will vnderſtand, and ſtreight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine inſtruction, and not ſiluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.

11 For wiſedome is better then precious ſtones: and all pleaſures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wiſedome d dwell with d prudence, and I finde forth knowledge and counſels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate e euill: as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that ſpeaketh lewd things, I doe hate.

14 I haue counſell and wiſedome: I am vnderſtanding, and I haue ſtrength.

15 By me, Kings f reigne, and princes decree iuſtice.

16 By me Princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: and they that ſeeke me ſ earely, ſhall finde me.

18 Riches and honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteouſneſſe.

19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine ſiluer.

20 I cauſe to walke in the way of righteouſneſſe, and in the middes of the paths of i iudgement, 21 That I may cauſe them that loue me, to inherite ſubſtance, and I will fill their treaſures.

22 The Lord hath poſſeſſed me in the beginning of his way: I was k before his workes of olde.

23 I was ſet vp from euerlaſting, from the beginning and before the earth.

24 When a Salomon declareth that man is cauſe of his owne perdition, and that he can pretend no ignorance, ſeeing ſuch as God calleth to all men by his word, and by his workes to followe vertue and to flee from vice.

b Where the people did reſort, and which was the place of iuſtice.

c Meaning, that the word of God is calle vnto all, that haue a deſire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this world.

d That is, except a man haue wiſedome, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counſeller.

e So that he that doeth not hate euill, ſtaieth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honour, dignitie or riches come not of mans wiſedome or induſtrie, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, ſeeke the word of God diligently, and with a deſire to profite.

h Signifying, that he chiefely meaneth the ſpirituall treaſures and heauenly riches.

i For there can be no true iuſtice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wiſedome.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wiſedome, which he magnifieth and prayſeth through this Booke: meaning thereby the eternall ſonne of God Jeſus Chriſt our Sauiour, whom Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning, Ioh. 1. 1.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: and before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was [l] there, when he set the compasse vpon the deepe.

28 When hee established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe,

29 When he gaue his decree to the Sea, that the waters should not passe his commaundement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as [m] a nourisher, and I was daily his delight reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my [n] solace in the compasse of [o] his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore nowe hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daply at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For he that sinneth me, sinneth life, and shall obteine fauour of the Lord.

35 But hee that sinneth against me hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word wisedome, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.

m Some reade a cheefe worker: signifying that the Wisedome, euen Christ Iesus, was equall with God his father, and created, preserueth and still worketh with him, as Iohn 5.17.

n Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisdome of God.

o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom wisedome tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine wisedome tooke mans nature, & dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

a Wisedome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner will not be corrected, 10 The feare of God. 13 The conditions of the harlot.

WIsedome hath built her [a] house, and hewen out her [b] seuen pillars.

2 She hath killed her vitailes, drawen her wine, and [c] prepared her table.

3 She hath sent foorth her [d] maidens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,

4 Who so is [e] simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisedome, she saith,

5 Come, and eate of my [f] meate, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.

6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and hee that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.

b That is, many chiefe staies and principall partes of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors & Doctors.

c He compareth wisedome with great Princes that keepe open house for all that come.

d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisedome.

e He that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is bolde of malice.

f By the meate and drinke, is meant the worde of God and the ministration of the Sacraments, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.

8 Rebuke not a [h] scorner, least he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdome is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is [i] vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe augmented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for [k] thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.

13 ¶ A [l] foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seate in the hie places of the citie,

15 To call them that passe by the way, that goe right on their way, saying,

16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisedome, she sayeth also,

17 Stolen waters are sweete, and hidde bread is pleasant.

18 But hee knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her ghestes are in the depth of hell.

h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogges & swine & he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profite.

i He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things.

k Thou shalt haue the cheefe profite & commoditie thereof.

l By the foolish woman, some vnderstand, the wicked preachers, who counterfaite the word of God, as appeareth verse 16. which were the wordes of the true preachers, as verse 4. but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the worde of God: and therefore they themselues boast thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter and all that followe vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which he calleth Parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profite commeth of wisedome, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

THE PARABLES OF Salomon.

A Wise * sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother. * Chap. 15, 20.

2 The treasures of [a] wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death. a That is, wickedly gotten.

3 The Lord will [b] not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked. b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he will send him comfort in due season.

4 A ‖ slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich. ‖ Or, deceitfull.

5 He that gathereth in sommer, is [p] sonne of wisedome: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of [c] the wicked.

7 The memorial of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall [d] rotte.

8 The wise in heart wil receiue commandements: but the foolish in † talke shall be beaten.

c When their wickednesse shall be discouered, they shall be as dumme, and not know what to say.

d Shall be vile and abhorred both of God and man, contrary to their owne expectation, which thinke to make their name immortall.

† Hebr. lippes.

g For the wicked will contemne him and labour to defame him.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh ‖ boldely: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shalbe knowen.

10 He that [c] winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is [f] foolish in talke, shalbe beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: * but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisedome is found, and [g] a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisedome.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his [h] strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth destruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe [i] feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisedome.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde [k] no sorowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisedome is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will graunt the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthful to them that [l] send him.

27 The feare of the Lorde increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked [m] shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall * neuer bee remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shalbe fruitful in wisedome: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

FAlse [a] balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite † weight pleaseth him.

2 When pride commeth, then commeth [b] shame: but with the lowly is wisedome.

3 The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressers shall destroy them.

4 *Riches auaile not in the day of wrath: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousnesse of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousnesse of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressers shalbe taken in their owne wickednesse.

7 *When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his [c] steade.

9 An [d] hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: and the righteous shalbe deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie [e] reioyceth: and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.

11 By the ‖ blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by ỹ mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisedome: but a man of vnderstanding will [f] keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but hee that is of a faithfull heart concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many [g] counsellers are, there is health.

15 He shalbe sore vexed, that is suretie for a [h] stranger, and he [i] that hateth suretishp, is sure.

16 A ‖ gracious woman atteineth honour, and the strong men atteine riches.

17 He that is mercifull, [k] rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruell, 18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but he that soweth righteousnes, shall receiue a sure reward.

22 As a iewell of gold in a ſwines ſnoute: ſo is a faire woman, which ‖ lacketh diſcretion.

23 The deſire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked [m] is indignation.

24 There is that ſcattereth, [n] and is more increaſed: but he that ſpareth more [o] then is right, ſurely commeth to pouertie.

CHAP. XII.

HE that loueth inſtruction, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.

2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will bee condemne.

3 A man cannot be eſtabliſhed by wickedneſſe: but the [a] roote of the righteous ſhall not be mooued.

4 A † vertuous woman is the crowne of her huſband: but ſhee that maketh him aſhamed, is as corruption in his bones.

11 *He that tilleth his land, ſhalbe ſatisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is deſtitute of ‖ vnderſtanding.

12 The wicked deſireth the [e] net of euils: but the [f] roote of the righteous giueth fruite.

13 The euil man is ſnared by the wickednesſe of his lips, but the iuſt ſhall come out of aduerſitie.

14 A man ſhalbe ſatiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompenſe of a mans hands ſhall God giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole is [g] right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counſel, is wiſe.

16 A foole in a day ſhall be knowen by his anger: but he [h] that couereth ſhame, is wiſe.

17 He that ſpeaketh trueth, will ſhewe righteouſneſſe: but a falſe witneſſe vſeth deceite.

18 * There is that ſpeaketh wordes like the prickings of [i] a ſword: but the tongue of wiſe men is health.

19 The lip of trueth ſhalbe ſtable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently.

20 Deceite is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counſellers of peace ſhall be ioye.

21 There ſhall none iniquitie come to the iuſt: but the wicked are full of euill.

22 The lying lippes are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely are his delight.

A Wiſe ſonne will obey the inſtruction of his father: but a ſcorner will heare no rebuke.

2 A man ſhall eate good things by the fruite [a] of his mouth: but the ſoule of the treſpaſſers ſhall ſuffer violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, deſtruction ſhall be to him.

4 The ſluggard [b] luſteth, but his ſoule hath nought:

a If he vſe his tongue to Gods glory, and the profite of his neighbour, God ſhall bleſſe him.
b He euer deſireth, but taketh no paines to get anything.

nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6 Righteousnesse preserueth the vpright of † life: but wickednesse ouerthroweth the sinner.

†Ebr. way.

7 There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man will giue his riches for the ransome of his life: but the poore [c] cannot heare the reproche.

c For his pouertie, he is not able to escape the threatnings, which the cruell oppressers vse against him.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shalbe put out.

10 Only by pride [d] doth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisedome.

d When as euery man contendeth to haue the preeminence, and will not giue place to another.

g Meaning, the word of God, whereby he is admonished of his duetie.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the welspring of life, to turne away from ỹ snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Euery wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroade follie.

19 A desire accomplished delighteth the soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euill.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a cõpanion of fooles shalbe [i] afflicted.

i As he is partaker of their wickednesse and beareth with their vices, so shall he be punished alike as they are.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the [k] riches of the sinner is laid vp for the iust.

k Reade Iob 27. 16, 17.

23 Much foode is in the field of the [l] poore: but the fielde is destroyed without discretion.

l God blesseth the labour of the poore, and consumeth their goods, which are negligent, because they thinke they haue ynough.

* Chap. 23. 13. ecclus. 30. 1.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIIII.

A Wise woman [a] buildeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne handes.

a That is, taketh paine to profite her familie, and to doe that which concerneth her estate in her house.

2 *He that walketh in his [b] righteousnes, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

* Iob. 12. 4.
b That is, in vprightnesse of heart and without hypocrisie.

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the [c] rod of pride: but the lippes of the wise preserue them.

c His proude tongue shall cause him to be punished.

4 Where none [d] oren are, there the crib is emptie: but much increase commeth by the strength of the ore.

d By the ore is ment labour, and by the crib the barne: meaning, without labour there is no profite.

5 A faithfull witnesse will not lie: but a false record will speake lies.

6 A scorner [e] seeketh wisedome, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstand.

e For the maintenance of his owne ambition and not for Gods glory, as Simon Magus.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisedome of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnesse of the fooles is deceite.

9 The foole maketh a mocke of [f] sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

f Doeth not know the grieuousnesse thereof, nor Gods iudgements against the same.

10 The heart knoweth the [g] bitternesse of his soule, and the stranger shall not meddle with his ioy.

g As a mans conscience is witnesse of his owne griefe: so another cannot feele the ioy and comfort, which a man feeleth in himselfe.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed.

22 Doe not they erre that imagine euill? but to them that thinke on good things, shall be mercie and trueth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lips bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wise is their riches, and the follie of fooles is foolishnesse.

25 A faithfull witnesse deliuereth soules: but but a deceiuer speaketh lies.

26 In the feare of the Lorde is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a welspring of life, to auoid the snares of death.

1 That is, the strength of a King standeth in many people.

28 In the multitude of the [1] people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince.

29 He that is slow to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an hastie mind, exalteth follie.

m Forasmuch as they are conuict thereby, and put to silence.

33 Wisedome resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen [m] in the mids of fooles.

‖ Or, the mercy of the people is a sacrifice for sinne.

34 Iustice exalteth a nation, ‖ but sinne is a shame to the people.

35 The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewd.

4 A wholsome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnesse thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is [a] trouble.

a For though they haue much, yet it is full of trouble & care.

7 The lips of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doeth not so.

b That thing is abominable before God, which the wicked think to be most excellent, and where by they thinke most to be accepted.

8 The [b] sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lorde: but hee loueth him that followeth righteousnesse.

c He that swarueth from the word of God, can not abide to be admonished.

f Read Chap. 11. 14.

23 A ioy commeth to a man by the answere of his mouth: and how good is a word [g] in due season?

g If we will that our talke be comfortable, we must waite for time and season.

24 The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoid from hell beneath.

25 The Lord will destroy the house of the proud men: but he will stablish the borders of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lorde: but the pure haue [h] pleasant words.

h That is, wholsome and profitable to the hearers.

27 He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth gifts, shall liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euil things.

deepenesse, and the [e] kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the [f] drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceed a vessell for the finer.

5 Take [g] away the wicked from the King, & his throne shalbe stablished in righteousnesse.

6 Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 *For it is better, that it bee sayd vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presence of the Prince whom thine eyes haue seene.

8 Go not forth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another,

10 Least hee that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not [h] cease.

11 A worde spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of siluer.

12 He that reproueth the wise, & the obedient eare, is as a golden earering and an ornament of fine gold.

13 As the [i] cold of the snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like [k] cloudes and wind without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by staying [l] of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the [m] bones.

16 If thou haue found honie, eate that is [n] sufficient for thee, least thou be ouer full, and vomite it.

17 Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbors house, least he be weary of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witnes against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe.

19 Confidence in an vnfaithful mã in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a sliding foote.

20 Hee that taketh away the garment in the cold season, is like vineger powred vpon [o]‖ nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

21 *If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

22 For thou shalt lay [p] coales vpõ his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee.

23 As the Northwind driueth away [p] rain, so doeth an angry countenance the slandering tongue.

25 As are the cold waters to a wearie soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey, 27 It is not good to eate much hony: *so to search their owne glory is not glory.

CHAP. XXVIII.

a Because their owne conscience accuseth them. b The state of the common weale is oftentimes changed. THe wicked a flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a Lion.

2 For the transgression of the land b there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no food.

4 They that forsake the Lawe, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the law, set themselues against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things.

*Chap.19.2. 6 *Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that peruerteth his waies, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Lawe, is a child of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father.

c For God wil take away the wicked vsurer, and giue his goods to him that shall deale them well. 8 He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth c them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

d Because it is not of faith, which is grounded of Gods word, or Law, which the wicked contemne. 9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shall be d abominable.

10 Hee that causeth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shal inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceite: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie [e] him.

12 * When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man [f] is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, & forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.

14 Blessed is the man that [g] feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euil.

15 As a roaring Lion, and an hungrie Beare, so is [h] a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not [i] stay him.

18 Hee that walketh vprightly, shall be saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 * He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread, but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouertie.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and * he that maketh hast to be rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of [k] bread.

22 A man with a wicked [l] eie hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shal come vpon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shal find more fauour at length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father and mother, and saieth, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroieth.

25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be [m] fat.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisedome, shall be deliuered.

27 He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselues: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke when hee is rebuked, shall suddenly bee destroyed and cannot be cured.

2 * When the righteous ‖ are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisedome, reioyceth his father: but * he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.

4 A King by iudgement maintaineth the countrey: but a man receiuing gifts, destroieth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, [a] spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his [b] snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornful men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with [c] a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 * The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 * A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shall be established for euer.

15 The rod and correction giue wisdome: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 [d] Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law, is blessed.

19 A [e] seruant will not bee chastised with words: though he vnderstand, yet he will not ‖ answere.

20 Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him.

21 He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will bee euen as his sonne.

22 * An angry man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression.

23 * The pride of a man shall bring him lowe: but the humble in spirite shall enioy glory.

2 Surely I am more [c] foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

3 For I haue not learned wisedome, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things.

4 Who hath ascended vp to [d] heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell?

5 *Euery worde of God is pure: he is a shield to those that trust in him.

6 *Put nothing vnto his wordes, least he reproue thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two [e] things haue I required of thee: deny me them not before I die.

8 Remoue farre from me vanitie & lies: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feed me with food conuenient for me,

9 Least I be full, and deny thee, and say, [f] Who is the Lorde? and least I be poore and steale, and take the name of my God in vaine.

f Meaning, that they that put their trust in their riches, forget God, & that by too much wealth men haue an occasion to the same.
g In accusing him without cause.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, least he curse thee, & when thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceite, and yet are not washed from their filthinesse.

13 There is a generation whose eyes are hautie, and their eie lids are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as kniues to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men.

h The leach hath two foldes in her tongue, which here he calleth her two daughters, whereby she sucketh the blood, & is neuer satiate: euē so are the couetous extortioners insatiable.

15 The horse leache hath two [h] daughters which crie, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is inough.

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot bee satisfied with water, and the fire that saith not, It is inough.

17 The eie that mocketh his father, and despiseth the instructiō of his mother, let the Rauens [i] of the valley picke it out, and the yoong Eagles eate it.

i Which haunt in the valley lay carions.

18 There bee three things hid from mee: yea, foure that I know not.

19 The way of an Eagle in the aire, ỹ way of a Serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the mids of the Sea, and the way of a mā with a maid.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: shee eateth and [k] wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

k She hath her desires, and also counterfeiteth as though she were an honest woman.

21 For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe.

22 For [l] a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate, l These commonly abuse the state whereunto they are called.

23 For the hatefull woman, when shee is maried, and for a handmaid that is [m] heire to her mistresse.

m Which is maried to her master after the death of her mistresse.

24 These be foure smal things in the earth, yet they are [n] wise, and full of wisedom.

n They contein great doctrine and wisedom.

25 The Pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in sommer:

26 The Conies a people not mightie, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The Grashopper hath no King, yet goe they foorth all by bands:

28 The Spider taketh holde [o] with her hands, and is in Kings palaces.

o If man be not able to compasse these common things by his wisedom, we can not attribute wisedom to man but folie.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going,

30 A lion which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lustie grayhound, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, laie thine hand [p] vpon thy mouth.

p Make a stay and continue not in doing euil.

33 When one churneth milke, he bringeth foorth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so hee that forceth wrath, bringeth foorth strife.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He exhorteth to chastitie and iustice. 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthie woman.

1 THE WORDS OF KING [a] LEmuel: The [b] prophecie which his mother taught him.

a That is, of Salomon, who was called Lemuel, that is of God, because God had ordeined him to be king ouer Israel.
b The doctrine which his mother Bath-sheba taught him.

2 WHat my sonne! and what the sonne of [c] my wombe! and what, O sonne of my desires!

c By this often repetition of one thing she declareth her motherly affection.

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, [d] nor thy wayes, which is to destroy Kings.

d Meaning, that women are the destruction of Kings, if they haunt them.

4 It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for Princes [e] strong drinke.

5 Least hee drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

e That is, the King must not giue himselfe to wantonnesse and neglect his office which is to execute iudgement.

6 Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is ready to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.

7 Let him drinke, that he may forget [f] his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the [g] dumme in the cause of all the children of destruction.

9 Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore.

10 ¶ Who shall find a vertuous woman: for her price is farre aboue the pearles.

11 The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no need of [h] spoile.

12 She will doe him good, and not euil all the dayes of her life.

13 She seeketh wool and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her hands.

14 She is like the ships of merchants: she bringeth her food from afarre.

15 And she riseth, whiles it is yet night: and giueth ‖ the portion to her household, and the [i] ordinarie to her maides.

16 She considereth a field, and [k] getteth it: and with the fruite of her hands she planteth a vinepard.

17 Shee girdeth her loines with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.

18 Shee feeleth that her merchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.

19 She putteth her hands to the wheele, and her hands handle the spindle.

20 Shee stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth foorth her hands to the needie.

21 She feareth not the snow for her familie: for all her familie is clothed with ‖ skarlet.

22 She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment.

23 Her husband is knowen in the [l] gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

24 She maketh ‖ sheetes, & selleth them, and giueth girdles vnto the merchant.

25 [m] Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.

26 She openeth her mouth with wisedom, and the [n] law of grace is in her tongue.

27 She ouerseeth the wayes of her household, and eateth not the bread of idlenes.

28 Her children rise vp, and [o] call her blessed: her husband also shall praise her, saying,

29 Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all.

30 Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lorde, she shall be praised.

31 Giue [p] her of the fruit of her hands, and let her owne workes praise her in the [q] gates.

f For wine doeth comfort the heart as Psal. 104.15.

g Defend their cause that are not able to helpe themselues.

h He shall not need to vse any vnlawful means to gaine his liuing.

i Or, meate, as Psal. 111.5.

k She prepareth their meate before. l She purchaseth it with the gaines of her trauaile.

‖ Or, with double.

l In the assemblies and places of iudgement.

‖ Or, linen cloth.

m After that he had spoken of the apparell of the body, he now declareth the apparel of the spirit.

n Her tongue is as a booke whereby one might learne many good things: for she delighteth to talke of the word of God.

o That is, doe her reuerence.

p Confesse her diligent labours, and commend her therefore.

q For asmuch as the most honorable are clad in the apparell that she made.

ECCLESIASTES, OR THE PREACHER.

THE ARGVMENT.

SAlomon as a Preacher, and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiuable vanities of this world: that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne, but rather enflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that he is vnited with God, and shall enioy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, & cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisedom is but follie and griefe.

THe wordes of the [a] Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Jerusalem.

2 [b] Vanitie of vanities, saieth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his [c] trauaile, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth, & another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for [d] euer.

5 The Sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth.

6 The [e] winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuites.

7 * All the riuers go into the Sea, yet the Sea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto the place, [f] whence they returne, and goe.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eie is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 [g] What is it that hath bene? that that shall be: and what is it that hath bene done? that which shall be done: and there is no newe thing vnder the Sunne.

10 Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is new? it hath bene already in the old time that was before vs.

11 There

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory world.

b He condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this world all things are as vanitie and nothing.

c Salomon doeth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no ful contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitorie.

d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.

e By the sunne, wind, & riuers, he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this world.

* Ecclus. 40.11.

f The sea which compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out springs and riuers, into the sea againe.

g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

11 There is no memorie of ỹ former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ [h] I the Preacher haue beene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem.

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search and finde out wisedome by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, [i] to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the Sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and veration of the spirite.

15 That which is [k] crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth cannot be numbred.

16 I thought in mine heart, and saide, Beholde, I am become great, and excell in wisedome all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisedome and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisedome and knowledge, [l] madnes and foolishnesse, I knewe also that this is a veration of the spirite.

18 For in the multitude of wisedome is much [m] griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

h He proueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and studie, he chiefly should haue obteined it, because he had gifts and aides of God thereunto aboue all other.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can he number the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience.

m Wisedome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and minde: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 14 The wise and the foole haue both one ende touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to nowe, I will proue [a] thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and beholde, this also is vanitie.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though he would trie whether there were contentations in ease and pleasures.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart †to giue my self to wine, and to leade mine heart in [b] wisdome, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they † enioy vnder the sunne the whole number of the dayes of their life.

†Ebr. draw my flesh to wine.

b Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisedome and the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue plãted me vineyards.

†Ebr. doe.

5 I haue made me gardens & † orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

†Ebr. paradises.

6 I haue made me cisterns of water, to water therewith ỹ woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the [c] house: also I had great possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and golde, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and Prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, and [d] the delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman [e] taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

c Which were the most beautifull of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges 5.30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women but instruments of musike.

9 And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisedome [f] remained with me.

10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrewe not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my [g] portion of all my trauaile.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wisedome from me.

g This was the fruite of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and beholde all is vanitie and veration of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold [h] wisedome, and madnes and follie: (for who is the man that ‖ will come after the King in things, which men nowe haue done?)

h I bethought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisedome, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

‖ Or, compare with the King. * Prou. 17.24.

13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisedome, more then in follie: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 * For the wise mans [i] eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I knowe also that the same [k] condition falleth to them all.

i He foreseeth things, which the foole cannot for lacke of wisdome.

k For both die and are forgotten, as vers. 16. they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to ỹ foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I saide in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole [l] for euer: for that that nowe is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And [m] howe dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

l Meaning, in this world.

m He wondereth that men forget a wise man being dead, alloone as they doe a foole.

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder ỹ sunne is grieuous vnto me: for al is vanitie, & veration of the spirite.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shall be wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart [n] abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisedome, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed therein, shal he [o] giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

o Among other griefes this was not the least, to leaue that vnto him he had gotten by great trauaile, one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profite to man: but that he eate, and drinke, and [p] delight his soule with the profite of his labour: I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who coulde eate, and who coulde haste to [q] outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisedome, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirite.

p When man hath al laboured he can get no more then foode, and refreshing, yet he confesseth also that this commeth of Gods blessing, as Chap. 3. 13.

q Meaning, to pleasures.

CHAP. III.

1 [a] All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfite, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust, and vniust.

TO all things there is an [a] appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to builde.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profite hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men [b] to humble them thereby.

11 He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also he hath set the [c] world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I knowe that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to do good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour, this is the [d] gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoeuer God shal doe, it shalbe for [e] euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath beene? that is nowe: and that that shall be, hath nowe beene: for God [f] requireth that which is past.

16 And moreouer I haue seene vnder the Sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had [h] purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one [i] condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanitie.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who [k] knoweth whether the spirite of man ascend vpward, and the spirite of the beast descend downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should [l] reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first, to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next, to teach vs not to be grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

b Reade Chap. 1. 13.

c God hath giuen man a desire, and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein.

d Reade Chap. 2. 24. these places declare that we should doe all things with sobriety, and in the feare of God, for although he giueth his gifts to the intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.

f God only causeth that, which is past, to returne.

g Meaning, with God, howsoeuer man neglect his duety.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is not able by his reason and iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eie cannot iudge any otherwise of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God and faith we easily knowe the diuersity, as verse 21.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein.

l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and 3. 12, 22. and Chap. 5. 17. and Chap. 8. 15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know farther is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A yong man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an olde King that is a foole.

SO [a] I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and beholde the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.

a He maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyrannie of them that oppressed the poore.

2 Wherefore I prayed the [b] dead which nowe are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.

b Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

3 And I count him [c] better then them both, which hath not yet beene: for he hath not seene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the sunne.

c He speaketh according to the iudgement of the flesh, which cannot abide to feele, or see troubles.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all [d] perfection of workes that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

d The more perfite that the worke is, the more is it enuied of the wicked.

5 The foole foldeth his hands, [e] eateth vp his owne flesh.

e For inforce he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eie be satisfied with riches: neither

doeth

doeth he thinke, For whom doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

9 [f] Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one howe should there be heate?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefolde [g] coard is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish King, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the [h] prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is [i] borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, [k] with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is none [l] ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shal not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy [m] foote when thou entrest into the House of God, & be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of [n] fooles: for they know not that they doe euill.

f For asmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

g By this prouerbe he declareth how necessarie it is, that men should liue in societie.

h That is, from a poore, and base estate, or out of trouble, and prison, as Ioseph did, Gen. 41. 14.

i Meaning, that is borne a King.

k Which follow and flatter the Kings sonne, or him that shall succeede, to enter into credite with them in hope of gaine.

l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedie desires, they thinke themselues abused, as other haue beene in time past, and so care no more for him.

m That is, with what affection thou commest to heare the word of God.

n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue ynough. 11 The labourers sleepe is sweete. 14 Man when he dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented mind, is the gift of God.

BE not [a] rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be [b] fewe.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.

3 *When thou hast vowed a vow to God, deferre not to pay it: for he delighteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast [c] vowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not vowe, then that thou shouldest vowe and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy [d] flesh to sinne: neither say before the [e] Angel, [illegible] this is ignorance: wherefore shall God be angrie by thy power, and destroy the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God.

a Either in vowing or in praying: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to Godward.

b He heareth thee not for thy many wordes sake, or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith, and feruent mind.

*Deut. 23. 21.

c He speaketh of vowes which are approoued by Gods word and serue to his glorie.

d Cause not thy flesh to sinne by vowing rashly as [illegible] which like.

e That is, before Gods messeger, when he shal examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for he that is [f] higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the [g] abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King [h] also consisteth by the fielde that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shall be without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners therof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauaileth, is sweete, whether he eate litle or much: but the [i] satiatie of the rich wil not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches [k] reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill trauell, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his [l] hand is nothing.

14 *As he came forth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickenesse that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and what profite hath he that he hath trauailed for the [m] winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in [n] darkenesse with much griefe, and in his sorowe and anger.

17 Beholde then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to [o] eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his [p] life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

f Meaning, that God will redresse these things, and therfore we must depend vpon him.

g The rentes of the earth are to be preferred aboue all things which appertaine to this life.

h Kings and Princes cannot maintaine their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

i That is, his great abundance of riches, or the suffering, which commeth by his great feeding.

k When couetous men heape vp riches, which turne to their destruction.

l He doth not enioy his fathers riches.

*Iob 1. 21. wisdome 7. 6. 1. tim. 6. 7.

m Meaning, in vaine, and without profite.

n In affliction and griefe of minde.

o Reade Chap. 3. 22.

p He will take no great thought for the paines that he hath indured in time past.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

THere is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches, and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but [a] God giueth him not power to eate therof, but a strange man shall eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this a He sheweth that it is the plague of God when the riche man hath not a liberall heart to vse his riches.

this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, & the daies of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not [b] satisfied with good things, and he be not [c] buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he.

4 For [d] he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shalbe couered with darkenesse.

5 Also he hath not seene the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the [e] soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that [f] knoweth howe to walke before the liuing?

9 The [g] sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lustes: this also is vanitie, and veration of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is nowe named: and it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is [h] stronger then he.

b If he can neuer haue enough.
c As we see often times, that the couetous man either falleth into crimes that deserue death, or is murthered or drowned or hangeth himselfe or such like, and so lacketh the honor of buriall, which is the last office of humanitie.
d Meaning, the vntimely fruite whole life dis neither profite or hurt any.
e His desire and affection.
f That knoweth to vse his goods well in the iudgement of men.
g To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to followe the desires that neuer can be satisfied.
h Meaning, God who will make him to feele that he is mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoide the contrary.

SUrely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaileth it man?

2 For who knoweth what is [a] good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a * shadowe? For who can shewe vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

3 * A good name is better then a good ointment, and the day of [b] death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the house of [c] mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the [d] thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man [e] mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The [f] ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

a There is no state, wherein man can liue to haue perfite quietnesse.
*Iob 14.2. psal.144.4.

*Prou.22.1.
b He speaketh this after the iudgement of the flesh, which thinketh death to be the ende of all euils: or els, because that this corporall death is the entring into life euerlasting.
c Where wee may see the hand of God, and learne to examine our liues.

d Which crakle for a while and profite nothing.
e A man that is esteemed wise, when he falleth to oppression, becommeth like a beast.
f He noteth their lightnesse which enterprise a thing, and suddenly leaue it off againe.

11 Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire [g] wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an [h] inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadowe of wisedome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessours thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make * straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In ỳ day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction [i] consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should finde [k] nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his [l] iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust [m] ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked [n] ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on [o] this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from [p] that: for he that feareth God, shall come foorth of them all.

21 Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 *Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine [q] heart also to all the wordes that men speake, least thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For ofte times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast ‖ cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisedome: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may [r] it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisedome, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of follie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse, 28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes and snares and her hands as bandes: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the Preacher, this haue I founde, seeking one by one to [s] finde the count:

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.
h He answereth to them that esteeme not wisdome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wisdome is farre more excellent, and may be without riches.
*Chap.1.15.
i Consider wherefore God doeth send it, and what may coūfort thee.
k That man should be able to controle nothing in his workes.
l Meaning, that cruel tyrants put the godly to death and let the wicked goe free.
m Boast not too much of thine owne iustice and wisedome.
n Tary not long when thou art admonished to come out of the way of wickednesse.
o To wit, on these admonitions that goe before.
p Consider what desolation and destruction shall come, if thou doe not obey them.

q Credite them not, neither care for them.
‖Or, spoken euill of others.
r Meaning, wisedome.
s That is, to come to a conclusion.

30 And

30 And yet my ſoule ſeeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thouſand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

32 Onely loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue ſought many [t] inuentions.

t And ſo are cauſe of their owne deſtruction.

CHAP. VIII.

2 To obey Princes and Magiſtrates 17 The workes of God paſſe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wiſe man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wiſedome of a man doeth make his [a] face to ſhine: and the [b] ſtrength of his face ſhall be changed.

a That is, doeth get him fauour and proſperitie.
b Whereas before he was proud and arrogant, he ſhall become humble and meeke.

2 I aduertiſe thee to take heede to the [c] mouth of the King, and to the word of the oth of God.

c That is, that thou obey the King, and keepe the othe that thou haſt made for the ſame cauſe.

3 [d] Haſte not to goe foorth of his ſight: ſtand not in an euill thing: for hee will doe whatſoeuer pleaſeth him.

d Withdraw not thy ſelfe lightly from the obedience of the prince.

4 Where the word of the King is, there is power, and who ſhall ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandement, ſhall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wiſe ſhall know the [e] time and iudgement.

e That is, when time is to obey, and howe farre he ſhould obey.

6 For to euery purpoſe there is a time and iudgement, becauſe the [f] miſerie of man is great vpon him.

f Man of himſelfe is miſerable, and therefore ought to doe nothing to increaſe the ſame, but to worke all things by wiſedome and counſell.

7 For he knoweth not that which ſhalbe: for who can tell him when it ſhalbe?

8 Man is not Lord ouer the ſpirit to retaine the ſpirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither ſhall wickednes deliuer the poſſeſſers thereof.

g Man hath no power to ſaue his owne life, and therefore muſt not raſhly caſt himſelfe into danger.

9 All this haue I ſeene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the ſunne, and I ſawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne [h] hurt.

h As commeth oft times to tyrants, and wicked Rulers.

10 And likewiſe I ſaw the wicked buried, and [i] they returned, and they that came from the holy [k] place, where yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this alſo is vanitie.

i That is, others as wicked as they.
k They that feared God, and worſhipped him according as he had appointed.

11 Becauſe ſentence againſt an euil worke is not [l] executed ſpeedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully ſet in them to doe euill.

l Where iuſtice is delayed, there ſinne reigneth.

12 Though a ſinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it ſhall be well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it ſhal not be well to the wicked, neither ſhal he prolong his dayes: he ſhalbe like a ſhadow, becauſe he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to the [m] worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whō it commeth according to the worke of the iuſt: I thought alſo that this is vanitie.

m Which are puniſhed as though they were wicked, as Chap.7.17.

15 And I praiſed ioy: for there is no goodneſſe to man vnder the ſunne, ſaue [n] to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the ſunne.

n Reade Chap.3.22.

16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wiſedome, and to beholde the buſineſſe that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take ſleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the ſunne: for the which man laboureth to ſeeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wiſe man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whom God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wiſdome excelleth ſtrength.

I Haue ſurely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuſt, and the wiſe, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or [a] hatred of all that is before them.

a Meaning, what things he ought to chuſe or refuſe: or man knoweth not by theſe outward things, that is, by proſperitie or aduerſitie, whom God doeth fauour or hate: for he ſendeth them alwell to the wicked as to the godly.

2 All things come alike to all: the ſame condition is to the iuſt and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that ſacrificeth, and to him that ſacrificeth not: as is the good, ſo is the ſinner, he that ſweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

b In outward things, as riches and pouertie, ſickneſſe and health, there is no difference betweene the godly and the wicked: but the difference is that the godly are aſſured by faith of Gods fauour and aſſiſtance.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the ſunne, that there is one [b] condition to all, and alſo the heart of the ſonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whoſoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a [c] liuing dog, then to a dead Lyon.

c He meeteth the Epicures and carnall men, which make their belly their god, and haue no pleaſure but in this life, wiſhing rather to be an abiect, and vile perſon in this life, then a man of authoritie, and ſo to die, which is meant by the dog and lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they ſhall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Alſo their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is nowe periſhed, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the ſunne.

7 Goe eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheereful heart: for God now [d] accepteth thy workes.

d They flatter themſelues to be in Gods fauour, becauſe they haue all things in abundance.

8 At all times let thy garments be [e] white, and let not oile be lacking vpon thine head.

e Reioyce, be merie, and ſhewe forth no ſorrow: that ſpeaketh of inward deliberate ioy.

9 † *Reioyce with the wife whom thou haſt loued al the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the ſunne al the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou laboureſt vnder the ſunne.

† Ecc. regard the life.

10 All that thine hand ſhall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke

a Chap.5.18.

worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time & f chance commeth to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his s time, but as the fishes, which are taken in an euill nette, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisedome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compasses it about, and builded fortes against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisedome, but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisedome then strength: yet the wisedome of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the crie of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisedome then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisedome. 12 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish Kings and drunken Princes, 17 And of good Kings and Princes.

DEad flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the Apoticary: so doth a litle follie him that is in estimation for wisedome, and for glorie.

2 The heart of a [a] wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he [b] telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the [c] spirite of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenesse pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an [d] errour that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Follie is set in great excellencie, and the [e] riche set in the lowe place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 * He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shalbe in danger thereby.

10 If the iron bee blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more [f] strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisedome.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babbler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuour himselfe.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter ende of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth wearie him: for he knoweth not to goe into the [g] citie.

16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy King is a [h] childe, and thy princes [i] eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne [k] of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slouthfulnesse the roofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idlenes of the hands the house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the [l] foule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods prouidence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

CAst thy bread vpon the [a] waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the [b] cloudes be full, they will powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the [c] tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe.

4 He that obserueth the [d] winde, shall not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirite, nor howe the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or [e] that, or whether both shall be a like good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eies to see the sunne.

8 Though

f Without wisedome what soeuer a man taketh in hand, turneth to his owne hurt.

g The ignorance and dulnesse of the wicked is such, that they know not common things, and yet will they discusse high matters.

h That is, without wisedome and counsell.

i Are giuen to their lustes and pleasures.

k Meaning, when he is noble for vertue and wisedome, and withall godly of God.

l Thou canst not worke euill in secrets, but it shalbe knowen.

a That is, be liberall to the poore, though it seeme to be as a thing bestowed on the sea, yet it shall bring thee profite.

b As the cloudes that are full, powre out raine, so the rich that haue abundance, must distribute it liberally.

c He exhorteth to be liberall while we liue: for after there is no power.

d He that feareth inconueniences when necessitie requireth, shall neuer doe his duetie.

e Be not wearie of well doing.

f That is, which of thy workes are most agreeable to God.

§ Thus the worldlings say to proue that all things are lawfull for them, and attribute that to chance and fortune, which is done by the prouidence of God.

g That is, he doeth not foresee what shall come.

a So that he doeth all things iustly, whereas the foole doeth the contrary.

b By his doings he bewrayeth himselfe.

c If thy superiour be angrie with thee, be thou vncareful, and not mooued.

d Meaning, that it is an euill thing when they that are in authoritie faile, and doe not their duetie.

e They that are rich in wisedome and learning.

* Exod. 7. 15. Psal. 26. 27. Prou. 27. 26.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of f darkenesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.

f That is, of affliction & trouble.

9 h Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

h He deriderh them that set their delight in worldly pleasures, as though God would not call them to an account.

10 Therefore take away i griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill k to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanitie.

i To wit, anger, and enuie.

k Meaning, carnall lusts, whereunto youth is giuen.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisedome is the gift of God, and consisteth in fearing him and keeping his commandements.

REmember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approche, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

a Before thou come to a continuall miserie: for when the cloudes remaine after the raine, mans griefe is increased.

2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the a cloudes returne after the raine:

b The hands, which keepe the body.

c The legges.

d The teeth.

e The eyes.

f The lippes, or mouth.

g When the chawes shall scarse open and not be able to chewe no more, or the eares shall be deafe, and not able to heare singing.

3 When the b keepers of the house shall tremble, and the c strong men shall bowe themselues, and the d grinders shall cease, because they are fewe, and they ware darke that e looke out by the windowes:

4 And the f doores shalbe shut without by the base sound of the g grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the h birde: and all the i daughters of singing shalbe abased.

h He shall not be able to sleepe.

i That is, the wind pipes,

5 Also they shalbe afraid of the k hie thing, and feare shall be in l the way, and the almond tree shal m flourish, and the n grashopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete.

k To climbe bie because of their weakenesse they [illegible] downe, as though they were afraid lest any thing should hit them.

l They shall tremble as they goe, as though they were afraid.

m Their heare shalbe as white as the blossomes of almond trees.

n They shalbe able to beare nothing.

6 Whiles the o siluer coard is not lengthened, nor the golden p ewer broken, nor the q pitcher broken at the r well, nor the s wheele broken at the t cisterne:

o Meaning, the marowe of the backe bone and the finewes.

p The little skin that couereth the braine, which is in colour like golde.

q That is, the veines.

r Meaning, the liuer.

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the u spirite returne to God that gaue it.

s Which is the heart.

t That is, the heart, out of the which the heat draweth the powers of life.

u The soule and contimencly either goeth to ioy or torment, and sleepeth not as the wicked imagine.

8 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wiser the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched foorth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of trueth.

11 The wordes of the wise are like goades, and like nailes x fastened by the maisters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one y pastour.

x Which are well applied by the ministers, whom he calleth maisters.

y That is, by God. z These things cannot be comprehended in bookes aa die, but God must instruct thy heart that thou mayest onely know that is the true felicitie, and the way thereunto is to feare God.

12 And of other things beside these, my sonne, take thou heede: for there is none end in making many z bookes, and much reading is a wearinesse of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the ende of all: feare God and keepe his commandements: for this is the whole duetie of man.

14 For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

AN † EXCELLENT SONG WHICH WAS SALOMONS.

† Ebr. a song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005. which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this Song Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which hee hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefites, wherewith hee doeth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her deseruings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithfull soule inflamed in the desire of Christ, whom she loueth.

b The feeling of thy great benefites.

LEt a him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the b sauour of thy good ointments, thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the c virgins loue thee.

c They that are pure in heart and conuersation.

3 d Draw me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his e chambers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

d The faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ except they be drawen.

e Meaning, the better or chiefest roomes [illegible]

4 I am f blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tents of g Kedar, and f The Church confesseth her spottes and sinne, but hath confidence in the fauour of Christ.

g Kedar was Ismaels sonne, of whom came the Arabians that dwelt in tents.

as the [h] curtaines of Salomon.

5 Regard ye me not because I am [i] blacke: for the [k] sunne hath looked vpon me. The [l] sonnes of my mother were angry against me: they made me the keeper of the vines: but I [m] kept not mine owne vine.

6 Shewe me, [n] O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as the that turneth aside to the flockes of [o] thy companions?

7 If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among-women, get thee foorth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepheards.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the [q] charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 We will make thee borders of golde, with studdes of siluer.

11 [r] Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My welbeloued is as a bũdle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my [s] breastes.

13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, beholde, thou art [t] faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire, and pleasant: also our [u] bed is greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

h Which within were all set with pyecious stones and iewels.
i Consider not the Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature through sinne and afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren, which should haue most fauoured me.
m She confesseth her owne negligence.
n The spouse feeling her fault, fleeth to her husband onely for succour.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set foorth their owne deuises in stead of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the pastors to learne.
q For thy spirituall beautie and excellencie there was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church rejoyceth that she is admitted to the company of Christ.
s He shall be most deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Church and commendeth her beautie. u That is, the heart of the faithfull wherein Christ dwelleth by his Spirit.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the fielde, and the lilie of the valleys.

2 Like a lilie among the thornes, so is my [a] loue among the daughters.

3 [b] Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadowe had I delight, & sate downe: and his fruite was sweete vnto my mouth.

4 He brought me into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me.

7 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the fielde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.

8 [d] It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, he commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a young hart: loe, he [e] standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the [f] grates.

10 My welbeloued spake and saide vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For beholde, [g] winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figge tree hath brought forth her young figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My doue, that art in the [h] holes of the rocke, in the secret places of ỹ staires, shewe me thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the fores, the [i] litle fores, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies, 17 Untill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a [k] roe, or a young hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.
b The spouse testifieth her great desire toward her husband, but her strength faileth her, and therefore she desireth to be comforted, and tasteth it.
c Christ chargeth them which haue to doe in the Church, as it were by a solemne othe, that they trouble not the quietnesse thereof.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e For asmuch as his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our flesh.
f So that we cannot haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, sinne and errour is driuen backe by the comming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.
h Thou that are ashamed of thy sinnes, come and shewe thy selfe vnto me.
i Suppresse the heretikes whiles they are yong, that is, when they begin to shew their malice, and destroy the vine of the Lord.
k The Church desireth Christ to be most ready to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseperably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wildernesse.

IN my bed by [a] night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and go about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and will [b] seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The [c] watchmen that went about the citie, found me: to whom I said, Haue you seene him, whom my soule loueth?

4 When I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke hold on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

5 [d] I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the fielde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please.

6 Who is she that commeth vp out of the [e] wildernesse like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the [†] spices of the marchant?

7 Beholde his [f] bed, which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the swoorde, and are expert a The Church by night, that is, in troubles seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.

b Shewing that although we be not heard at the first, yet we must still continue in prayer till we feele comfort.
c Which declareth, that we must seeke vnto all, of whom we hope to haue any succour.
d Reade Chap. 2, 7.
e This is referred to ỹ Church of Israel, which was led by the wildernesse fourtie yeeres.
† Ebr. powder.
f By the bed is meant the Temple, which Salomon made.

expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

g He alludeth to the watch, which kept the Temple.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a ‖palace of the trees of Lebanon.

‖Or, chaire.

10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose mids was paued with the loue of the daughters of Jerusalem.

h All ye, that are of the number of the faithfull.

i Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinitie.

11 Come foorth, ye h daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the i crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The prayses of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ toward her.

a Because Christ delighteth in his Church, he commendeth all that is in her. *Chap. 6. 4.

b He hath respect to the multitude of the faithfull which are many in number.

BEholde, thou art a faire, my loue: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues: among thy lockes *thine haire is like the b flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lippes are like a threed of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

c Wherein are knowledge, and zeale, two precious iewels.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, and al the targates of the strong men.

5 Thy two c breastes are as two young roes that are twinnes, feeding among ỳ lilies.

6 Until the day breake, and the shadowes flie away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

d Christ promiseth his Church to call his faithfull from all the corners of the world.

8 d Come with me from Lebanon my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir, and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

e Christ calleth his Church sister, in respect that he had taken the flesh of man.

f In that hee made his Church beautifull and rich, he loued his gifts in her.

9 My e sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine f eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my spouse, howe faire is thy loue: how much better is thy loue then wine: and the sauour of thine ointments then all spices:

§ Because of thy confession and thankesgiuing.

11 Thy § lippes, my spouse, drop as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffron, calamus, and cynamom with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

h The Church confesseth that all her glory, and beautie commeth of Christ, who is the true fountaine of al grace.

i She desireth Christ to come to her, and to powre the graces of his Spirit vpon her which Spirit is meant by the North and South winde.

15 h O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon:

16 Arise, O i North, and come O South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flowe out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 3 She confesseth her nakednesse. 10 She prayseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my a garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honie combe with mine honie, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merry, O welbeloued.

a The garden signifieth the kingdome of Christ where he prepareth the banket for his elect.

b The spouse saith that she is troubled with the cares of worldly things which is meant by sleeping.

c Declaring the long patience of the Lord toward sinners.

d The spouse confesseth her nakednesse, and that al her filthinesse she hath not put of seeing that she is once made cleane, she permitteth not to defile her selfe againe.

e She, my welbeloued would worke towards him.

f The spouse which meaneth the ministers of Christ, shall not finde him if she thinke to seeke him with her good workes.

g These are false teachers which woorke the consciences with their traditions.

2 b I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voice of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dew, & my lockes with the drops of the c night.

3 I haue put off my d coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and † mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my e fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The f watchmen that went about the citie, found me: they smote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me.

8 I charge you, g O daughters of Jerusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

h The Church confesseth that all her glory, and beautie commeth of Christ, who is the true fountaine of al grace.

i She desireth Christ to come to her, and to powre the graces of his Spirit vpon her which Spirit is meant by the North and South winde.

9 h O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of tenne thousand.

11 His i head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as ſweete flowers, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of gold ſet with the †chryſolite, his bellie like white yuorie couered with ſaphires.

15 His legs are as pillars of marble, ſet vpon ſockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as ſweete things, and he is wholy delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughter of Ieruſalem.

17 [k] O the faireſt among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aſide, that wee may ſeeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church aſſureth her ſelfe of the loue of Chriſt. 3 The prayſes of the Church. 8 She is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his [a] garden to the beds of ſpices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautifull my loue, as [b] Tirzah, comely as Ieruſalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 [c] Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome me: *thine haire is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the waſhing, which euery one bring out twinnes, none is barren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are [d] threeſcore Queenes and foureſcore concubines, and of the damſels without number.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, ſhe is the onely daughter of her mother, and ſhee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue ſeene her and counted her bleſſed: euen the Queenes & the concubines, and they haue prayſed her.

9 [e] Who is ſhe that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as ỹ ſunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

10 I went downe to the [f] garden of nuts, to ſee the fruites of the valley, to ſee if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flouriſhed.

11 [g] I knew nothing, my ſoule ſet me [h] as the charets of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, O [i] Shulamite, returne: returne that wee may beholde thee. What ſhall you ſee in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

CHAP. VII.

1 The beautie of the Church in all her members. 10 She is aſſured of Chriſtes loue towards her.

HOwe beautifull are thy [a] goings with ſhooes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighs are like ieuels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workeman.

a He deſcribeth the comely beautie of the Church in euery part, which is to be vnderſtood ſpiritually.

2 Thy nauell is as a rounde cup that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheate compaſſed about with lilies.

3 [b] Thy two breaſtes are as two young roes that are twinnes.

b Reade Chap. 4.5.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fiſhpooles in Heſhbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy noſe is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damaſcus.

5 Thine head vpon thee is as ſkarlet, and the buſh of thine head like purple: the King is tied [c] in the ‖ rafters.

c He deſireth to come neere thee and to be in thy company. ‖Or, galeries.

6 How faire art thou, and how pleaſant art thou, O my loue, in pleaſures!

7 This thy ſtature is like a palme tree, and thy breaſtes like cluſters.

8 I ſaid, I will go vp into the palme tree, I will take holde of her boughs: thy breaſtes ſhall nowe be like the cluſters of the vine: and the ſauour of thy noſe like apples,

9 And the roufe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth ſtraight to my welbeloued, and cauſeth the lips of the ancient to ſpeake.

10 [d] I am my welbeloueds, and his deſire is toward me.

d This the ſponſe ſpeaketh.

11 Come, my welbeloued, let vs goe forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages.

12 Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs ſee if the [e] vine floriſh, whether it hath budded the ſmall grape, or whether the pomegranates floriſh: there will I giue thee my loue.

e If the people that are called to Chriſt, bring forth any fruite.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a ſmel, and in our gates are all ſweete things, newe & olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The Church will be taught by Chriſt. 3 She is vpholden by him. 6 The vehement loue wherewith Chriſt loueth her. 11 She is the vine that bringeth forth fruite to the ſpirituall Salomon, which is Ieſus Chriſt.

OH [a] that thou wereſt as my brother that ſucked ỹ breaſts of my mother, I would finde thee without, I would kiſſe thee, then they ſhould not deſpiſe ‖ thee.

a The Church called of the Gentiles, ſpeaketh thus to the Church of Ieruſalem. ‖Or, me.

2 I will leade thee and bring thee into my mothers houſe: there thou ſhalt teach me: and I will cauſe thee to drinke ſpiced wine, and newe wine of the pomegranate.

3 [b] His left hand ſhalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand ſhall embrace me.

b Reade Chap. 2.6.

4 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Ieruſalem, that you ſtirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill ſhe pleaſe.

c Reade Chap. 3.5.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wilderneſſe, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I rayſed thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy thy mother conceiued thee: there she conceiued that bare thee.

d The spouse desireth Christ to be ioyned in perpetuall loue with him.

6 d Set me as a seale on thine hart, and as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruell as the graue: the coles thereof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: if a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

e The Iewish church speaketh this of ꝑ church of the Gentiles.

8 e We haue a litle sister, and she hath no breastes: what shall we doe for our sister when she shall be spoken for?

f If she be sure and fast, she is meete for the husband to dwell in.

9 f If she be a wall, we will builde vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with boords of Cedar.

10 I am a wal, & my brests are as towres: then was I in his eyes as one ꝑ findeth peace.

g The Church promiseth sinceritie and constancie.

11 h Salomon had a Uine in Baal-hamon: he gaue the vineyard vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for the fruite thereof a thousand pieces of siluer.

h This is the vineyard of the Lord hired out, Matth. 21.33.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon appertaineth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruite thereof.

13 O thou that dwellest in the i gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voice: cause me to heare it.

i Christ dwelleth in his Church, whose delyte the faithfull heare.

14 O my welbeloued, k flee away, and be like vnto thy Roe, or to the young Hart vpon the mountaines of spices.

k The Church desireth Christ, that if he depart from them, yet that he would haste to helpe them in their troubles.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOd, according to his promes, Deut. 18.15. that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not only to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Lawe, and to apply particularly the doctrine, conteined briefly therein, to the vtility & profit of those, to whō they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law they had respect to 3. things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First, to the doctrine conteyned briefly in the two tables: secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the couenant of grace & reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense & meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more cleerely intreated it then Moses, and set foorth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe that the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God towarde his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points conteyned in this Booke, & a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stand vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8.1. and Habak. 2.2.) the Priestes tooke it downe & reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, hee was of the Kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophecied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, as though they were nowe past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordeyned them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

Isaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbernesse, that neither for benefites nor punishment would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 And of the restitution thereof.

a That is, reuelation or prophecie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in olde time, as Num. 12.6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9.9. b Isaiah was chiefely sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also. c Called also Azariah, 2. Kin. 15.1. of these kings reade 2. King. from Cha. 14. vnto Cha. 21. & 2. Chro. from Cha. 25. vnto Cha. 33.

A a Uision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe b concerning Iudah and Ierusalem in the dayes of c Uzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah.

d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumme creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods voice, as Deut. 32.1.

2 Heare, O d heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath saide, I haue nourished and brought vp e children, but they haue rebelled against me.

e Be vnthankfull his great mercies towarde the Iewes, ꝑ

3 The f ore knoweth his owner, and the Asse his masters crib: but Israel hath not knowen: my people hath not vnderstand.

f Of whom he hath made much as he chose them aboue all other nations to be his people and children. Deuter. 10. 15. f The most brute and dull beastes doe more acknowledge their duetie towarde their masters, then my people doe towarde me, of whom they haue receiued benefites without comparison. g They were not onely infected as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others.

4 Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a g seede of the wicked, corrupt childzen: they haue forſaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the [b] holy one of Iſrael to anger: they are gone backeward.

5 Wherefore ſhould ye be [i] ſmitten any more? for ye fall away more and more the whole [k] head is ſicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the [l] ſole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, and ſwelling, and ſores full of corruption: they haue not beene wrapped, [m] nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waſte: your Cities are burnt with fire: ſtrangers deuoure your land in your preſence, and it is deſolate like the ouerthrowe [n] of ſtrangers.

8 And the daughter of [o] Zion ſhal remaine like a cotage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a beſieged Citie.

9 Except the Lord of hoſtes [p] had reſerued vnto vs, euen a ſmall remnant: we ſhould haue bene [q] as Sodom, and ſhould haue beene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, [r] O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Lawe of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to do with the multitude of your ſacrifices, ſaith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rammes, and of the fatte of fed beaſtes: and I [s] deſire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

12 When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bring no mo oblations, [t] in vaine: incenſe is an abomination vnto me: I cannot ſuffer your newe moones, nor Sabbaths, nor ſolemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor ſolemne aſſemblies.

14 My ſoule hateth your [u] newe moones and your appointed feaſtes: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you ſhall ſtretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full [x] of blood.

16 [y] Waſh you, make you cleane: take away the euil of your workes from before mine eyes: ceaſe to doe euil:

17 Learne to [z] doe well: ſeeke iudgement, relieue the oppreſſed: iudge the fatherleſſe and defend the widowe.

18 Come nowe, [a] and let vs reaſon together, ſaith the Lord: though your ſinnes were as crimſin, they ſhalbe made [b] white as ſnowe: though they were redde like ſcarlet, they ſhall be as wooll:

19 If ye [c] conſent and obey, ye ſhall eate the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuſe and be rebellious, ye ſhalbe deuoured with the ſword: for the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

21 Howe is the [d] faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iuſtice lodged therein, but nowe [e] they are murtherers.

22 Thy [f] ſiluer is become droſſe: thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of [g] theeues: euery one loueth giftes, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherleſſe, neither doth the widowes cauſe come before them.

24 Therefore ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, the [h] mightie one of Iſrael, Ah, I will [i] eaſe me of mine aduerſaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy droſſe, till it [k] be pure, and take away all thy tinne.

26 [l] And I will reſtore thy iudges as at the firſt, and thy counſellers as at the beginning: afterward ſhalt thou be called a citie of righteouſneſſe, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion ſhall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in [m] iuſtice.

28 And the [n] deſtruction of the tranſgreſſers and of the ſinners ſhall be together: [o] they that forſake the Lord, ſhall be conſumed.

29 For they ſhall be confounded for the [p] okes which ye haue deſired, and ye ſhall be aſhamed of the gardens, that yee haue choſen.

30 For ye ſhall be as an oke, whoſe leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the ſtrong ſhall be as [p] towe, and the maker thereof, as a ſparke: and they ſhall both burne together, and none ſhall quench them.

[b] That is, him that ſanctifieth Iſrael.
[i] What auaileth it to ſeeke to amend you by puniſhment, ſeeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebelle?
[k] By naming the chiefe parres of the body, he ſignifieth, that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.
[l] Euery part of the body, as well the leaſt as the chiefeſt was plagued.
[m] Their plagues were ſo grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they would not repent.
[n] Meaning of them that dwell farre off, which, becauſe they looke for no aduantage of that which remaineth, deſtroy all before them.
[o] That is Ieruſalem.
[p] Becauſe that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his name.
[q] That is, all deſtroyed.
[r] Be that for your vices deſerued all to be deſtroyed as they of Sodom, ſaue that God of his mercie reſerued a litle number, Lamen. 3.22.
[s] Although God commanded theſe ſacrifices for a time, as aydes and exerciſes of their faith: yet becauſe the people had not faith nor repentance, God deteſteth them, as Pſal. 50.13. Ieremie 6.20. Amos 5.21. Micah 6.7.
[t] Without faith and repentance.
[u] Your ſacrifices offered in the newe moones and feaſtes: he condemneth thereby hypocrites, which thinke to pleaſe God with ceremonies, and they themſelues are voide of faith and mercie.
[x] He meaneth, that where men be giuen to murther, deceite, crueltie, and extortion which is meant by blood, there God will ſhewe his anger, and not accept them, though they ſeeme neuer ſo holie, as Chapter 59.3.
[y] By this outward waſhing, he meaneth the Spirituall: exhorting the Iewes to repent and amend their liues.
[z] This kinde of reaſoning, by the ſecond Table, the Scriptures vſe in many places againſt the hypocrites, who pretend moſt holineſſe and religion in word, but when their charitie and loue toward their brethren ſhould appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion.

[a] To knowe if I doe accuſe you without cauſe.
[b] Leaſt ſinners ſhould pretend any rigour on Gods part, he onely willeth them to be pure in heart, and he will forgiue all their ſinnes, were they neuer ſo many or great.
[c] He ſheweth, that whatſoeuer aduerſitie man indureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie and diſobedience.
[d] That is Ieruſalem, which had promiſed fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her husband.
[e] Giuen to couetouſneſſe and extortion, which he ſignifieth before by blood, verſe 15.
[f] Whatſoeuer was pure in thee before, is nowe corrupt, though thou haue an outward ſhew.
[g] That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners, and not onely doe not punish them, but are themſelues ſuch.
[h] When God will ſhew himſelfe mercifull to his Church, he calleth himſelfe the holy one of Iſrael: but when he hath to doe with his enemies, he is called Mighty, as againſt whom no power is able to reſiſt.
[i] Will take vengeance of mine aduerſaries the Iewes, and ſo ſatisfie my deſire by puniſhing them. Which thing yet he doth with a griefe because of his couenant. [k] Leaſt the faithfull among them ſhould be ouercome with his threatning, he addeth this conſolation. [l] It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing hee doeth because of his promiſe, made concerning the ſaluation of his Church. [m] By iuſtice is meant Gods faithfull promiſe which is the cauſe of the deliuerance of his Church. [n] The wicked ſhall not be partakers of Gods promiſe, Pſalm 92.9. [o] That is, the trees and pleaſant places, where ye commit idolatrie, which was forbidden, Deuteronomie 16.22. [p] The falſe god, wherein ye put your confidence, ſhall be conſumed as eaſily as a piece of towe.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church ſhall be reſtored by Chriſt, and the Gentiles called. 6 The puniſhment of the rebellious and obſtinate.

THe word that Iſaiah the ſonne of Amoz ſawe vpon Iudah and Ieruſalem,

*Micah 4.1.
a The decree and ordinance of God, touching the reſtauration of the Church, which is chiefly meant of the time of Chriſt.
b In an eminent place to be ſeene and diſcerned.
c When the kingdom of Chriſt ſhalbe enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here alſo is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called.
d Alluding to mount Zion, where the viſible Church then was.
*Micah 4.2.
e Meaning, the whole doctrine of ſaluation.
f This was accompliſhed, when the Goſpel was firſt preached in Jeruſalem, and from thence went throughout all the world.
g The Lord, which is Chriſt, ſhall haue all power giuen him.
h That they may acknowledge their ſinnes, and turne to him.
i He ſheweth the fruite of the peace, which the Goſpel ſhould bring: to wit, that men ſhould do good one to another, where as before they were enemies.
k He ſheaketh not againſt the vſe of weapons & lawfull warre, but ſheweth how the hearts of the godly ſhalbe affected one toward another: which peace and loue doeth begin and grow in this life, but ſhalbe perfited, when we are ioyned with our head Chriſt Jeſus.
l Seeing the Gentiles will be ſo ready, make you haſte and ſhew them the way to worſhip God.

2 * It a ſhall be in the laſt dayes, that the mountaine of the houſe of the Lord ſhal be prepared in the top of the mountains, and b ſhall be exalted aboue the hils, & all nations ſhall c flow vnto it.

3 And many people ſhall goe, and ſay, Come, and let vs goe vp to d the mountaine of the Lorde, to the houſe of the God of Jaakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his paths: for the *e Lawe ſhall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from f Jeruſalem,

4 And g he ſhall iudge among the nations, and h rebuke many people: they ſhall i breake their ſwords alſo into mattocks, & their ſpears into ſithes: nation ſhall not lift vp a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhal they learne k to fight any more.

5 O houſe of Jaakob, come ye, and let vs l walke in the law of the Lord.

6 Surely thou m haſt forſaken thy people, the houſe of Jaakob, becauſe they are n full of the Eaſt maners, and are Sorcerers as the Philiſtims, o and abound with ſtrange children.

7 Their land alſo was full of p ſiluer and gold, & there was none end of their treaſures: and their land was full of horſes, and their charets were infinite.

8 Their land alſo was full of idoles: they worſhipped the worke of their owne handes, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 And a man bowed himſelfe, and a man q humbled himſelfe: therefore r ſpare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the duſt from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maieſtie.

11 The high looke of man ſhall bee humbled, and the loftineſſe of men ſhall be abaſed, and the Lorde onely ſhall bee exalted in s that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hoſtes is vpon all the proud and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it ſhalbe made lowe.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Baſhan, 14 And vpon all the high t mountains, and vpon all the hils that are lifted vp.

15 And vpon euery high tower, and vpon euery ſtrong wall,

16 And vpon u all the ſhips of Tarſhiſh, and vpon all pleaſant pictures.

17 And the hautineſſe of men ſhall bee brought lowe, and the loftineſſe of men ſhall be abaſed, and the Lord ſhall onely bee exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he vtterly deſtroy.

19 Then they ſhall goe * into the holes of the rocks, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maieſtie, when he ſhall ariſe to deſtroy the earth.

20 At that day ſhall man caſt away his ſiluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themſelues to worſhip them) x to the mowles and to the backs,

21 To goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maieſtie, when hee ſhall ariſe to deſtroy the earth.

22 Ceaſe you from the man whoſe y breath is in his noſethrils: for wherein is he to be eſteemed.

CHAP. III.

1 For the ſinne of the people God will take away the wiſe men, and giue them fooliſh princes. 14 The couetouſnes of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

FOr loe, the Lord God of hoſtes will take away from Jeruſalem and from Judah the ſtay a & the ſtrength: euen all the ſtay of bread, and all the ſtay of water,

2 The ſtrong man, and the man of warre, b the Iudge and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counſeller, and the cunning artificer, and c the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint d children to be their Princes, and babes ſhal rule ouer them.

5 The people ſhalbe e oppreſſed one of an other, and euery one by his neighbor: the children ſhall preſume againſt the ancient, and the vile againſt the honourable.

6 When euery one ſhall f take hold of his brother of the houſe of his father, & ſay, Thou haſt clothing: thou ſhalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he ſhal ſweare, ſaying, I cannot bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine houſe, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtles Jeruſalem is fallen, and Judah is fallen downe, becauſe their tongue and workes are againſt the Lord, to prouoke the eies of his glory.

9 The h triall of their countenance teſtifieth againſt them, yea, they declare their ſinnes, as Sodome, they hide them not. Woe

m The Prophet ſeeing the ſmall hope, that the Iewes ſhould conuert, complaineth to God, as though hee had vtterly forſaken them for their ſinnes. n Ful of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the Eaſt parts. o They altogether giue themſelues to the fashions of other nations. p The Prophet firſt condemned their ſuperſtition and idolatry: next, their couetouſnes, and chiefly their vaine truſt in worldly means. q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer ſatiſfied in their ſuperſtitions. r This y Prophet ſpake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgement. s Meaning, as ſoone as God ſhal begin to execute his iudgements. t By high trees and mountains are meant them that are proud and hautie, and thinke themſelues moſt ſtrong in this world.

u He condemneth their vaine confidence which they had in ſtrong holds, and in their rich merchandiſe, which they bought in vaine pleaſures, wherewith mens minds became effeminate. *Hoſea 10.8. luke 23.30. reuel. 6.16, and 9.6.

x They ſhal caſt them into moſt vile and filthy places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Caſt off your vaine confidence of man, whoſe life is ſo fraile, that if his noſe be ſtopped, he is dead, and conſider that you haue to do with God.

a Becauſe they truſted in their abilitie, arte and policie, he ſheweth that they ſhould be taken from them.
b The temperall gouernours and miniſters.
c By theſe he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that were in any eſtimation, and wherein they had any occaſion to boaſt themſelues.
d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge & ſtrength.
e For lacke of good regiment and order.
f He ſheweth that this plague ſhalbe ſo horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none ſhalbe found able or willing to be their gouernours.
g Feare ſhal make them cauſe their fellowes to forſake theſe, when they ſee ſuch dangerous charges.
h When God ſhal examine their deedes whereupon they rely for he ſhal find the marks of their impietie in their forehead.

be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto themselues.

10 [i] Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

11 Wo be to [y] wicked, it shal be euil with him: for the reward of his hands shal be giuen him.

12 [k] Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to plead, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lorde shall enter into iudgement with the [l] Ancients of his people, and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoile of my poore is in your houses.

15 What haue yee to doe, that yee beate my people to pieces, [m] and grinde the faces of the poore, saieth the Lorde, euen the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also saieth, [n] Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with [o] stretched out necks, & with [p] wandring eyes, walking and [q] minsing as they go, and making a [r] tinkling with their feete, 17 Therfore shal the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion bald, and the Lord shal discouer their secret partes.

18 In that day shall the Lorde take away the ornament of the slippers, and the kals, and the round tires,

19 The sweete bals, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tires of the head, and the slops, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparell and the vailes, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses and the fine linnen, and the hoods and the [s] lawnes.

24 And in stead of sweet sauour, there shall be stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beautie.

25 Thy men [t] shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battel.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

AND in that day shall [a] seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we will weare our owne garments: only [b] let vs be called by thy name, and take away our [c] reproch.

2 In that day shal the [d] bud of the Lord be beautiful & glorious, and the fruite of the earth shal be excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shall be left in Zion, and he that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holy, and euery one shall bee [e] written among the liuing in Ierusalem.

4 When the Lord shal wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, and purge the [f] blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of iudgement, and by the spirite of burning.

5 And the Lorde shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, [h] a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the [i] glory shalbe a defence.

6 And a couering shall be for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme [k] and for the raine.

i Be ye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the mids of these troubles.

k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandements of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whō they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernors had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it according to their dutie.

m That is, ye shew all cruelitie against them.

n He menaceth the people, because of the arrogancie & pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnesse and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a figne, that they were not chaste.

q Which shewed their wantonnesse.

r They deligh-ted in slippers that did sounde, as hau-ing plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

s In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnes and inconstancie of such as cannot be content with comely apparel according to their degree.

t Meaning, that God will not only punish the women, but their husbands, which haue suffered this dissolutenes, and also the common weale which hath not remedied it.

a When God shal execute this vengeance, there shal not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastnesse shal seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shal spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentiful toward the faithful, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45.8. Some by the bud of the Lord meane Christ.

e He alludeth to the books of life, whereof reade Exod. 32.32. meaning Gods secret counsel, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting.

f That is, the cruelnie, extortion, auarice, and all wickednes.

g When things shalbe restored that were amisse.

h Hee alludeth to the pillar of the cloude, Exod. 13.21. meaning that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place.

i The faithful are called the glory of God, because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in them.

k God promiseth to bee the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine he describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

NOW will [a] I sing to my [b] beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a [c] vineyard in a very fruitful hil,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and hee planted it with the best plants, [d] & he built a Tower in the mids thereof, and made a wine presse therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought [e] forth wild grapes.

3 Now therfore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, [f] betweene me, and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I [g] will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers & thornes shal grow vp: I wil also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes a The Prophet by this song doeth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude & Gods mercy.

b That is, to God.

* Ier. 2.21. mat. 21.33.

c Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentiful & abundant.

d He spared no diligence nor cost.

e In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.

f He maketh the Iudges in their owne cause, for as much as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

g I will take no more care for it: meaning, that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.

hostes is the house of Israel, & the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for [b] iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousnesse, but behold [i] a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioine house to house, & lay field to field, till there be no [k] place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine [l] eares, saith the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall be desolate, euen great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one [m] bath, and the seed of an [n] homer shall yeeld an [o] ephah.

11 ¶ Woe vnto them, that [p] rise vp earely to folow drunkennes, & to them that continue vntil night, [q] till the wine do inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, & pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the [r] worke of his hands.

13 Therfore my people [s] is gone into captiuitie, because they had [t] no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore [u] hell hath inlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shal descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eies of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hostes shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall [x] the lambes feed after their manner, and the stranger shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with [y] cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, [z] Let him make speed: let him hasten his worke, that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel drawe neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euil, [a] and euil of good, which put darknesse for light, and light for darknes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sower.

21 Woe vnto them that are [b] wise in their owne eies, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are [c] mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their [d] roote shall be as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therfore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his [e] hand vpon them, and hath smitten the that the mountains did tremble: and their carkases were torne in the mids of the streetes, & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

16 And he will lift vp a signe [f] vnto the nations afarre, and wil hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None [g] faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor [h] the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hoofs shalbe thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelps: they shal [i] roare, and lay hold of the praie: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if [k] they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkned in their [l] skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine Maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, [a] I sawe also the Lord sitting vpon an [b] high throne, & lifted vp, and the lower [c] parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The [d] Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had six wings: with twaine he couered his [e] face, and with twaine he couered his [f] feete, with twaine he did [g] flie.

3 And one cried to another, and said, [h] Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole [i] world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes

h Iudgement and righteousnesse are true fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruel oppressors there is no religion.
i Of them that are oppressed.
k To wit, for the people to dwel in.
l I haue heard the complaint and cry of the poore.
m Which containeth about ten pottels: so that euery acre should but yeeld one pottell.
n Which containeth an hundreth pottels.
o An Ephah containeth ten pottels, and is in dry things as much as Bath is in liquors.
p That spare no paine nor diligence to folow their lustes.
q Which are neuer weary of their rioting and excessiue pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.
r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hath created them.
s That is, shall certainly goe: for so the Prophets vse to speak, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.
t Because they would not obey the word of God.
u Meaning, the graue shal swallow vp them that shal die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction it shal neuer be satiate.
x God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countreis, promitting that they should dwel in their places againe, whereof they had bene depriued by the fat & cruel tyrants.
y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.
z Hee sheweth what are the wordes of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2. Pet. 3. 4.
a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impietie.
b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer wearie, but shew their strength, and brag in gluttony and drunkennesse.

d Both they and their posteritie, so that nothing shalbe left.

e He sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, and therefore his plagues must continue, til they begin to feele them.
f He will make the Babilonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his standard.
g They shalbe prompt and lusty to execute Gods vengeance.
h The enemie shall haue none impediment.
i Whereby is declared the cruelties of the enemie.
k The Iewes shal find no succor.
l In the land of Iudah.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him: that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist sawe the holy Ghost in the forme of a doue.
b As Kings ready to giue sentence.
c Of his garment, or of his throne.
d They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God.
e Signifying that they were not able to endure the brightnes of Gods glory.
f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the Angels to execute Gods commandement.
g Which thing declareth the promptnes and nimblenes of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.
h This is a repetition signifying that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselues in praising God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.
i His glory doeth not only appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to praise him.

k mooued

k Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voice of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.
l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more need to glorify God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approcheth to God, the more doeth he know his owne sinne and corruption.
m Of the burnt offrings, where the fire neuer went out.
n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.
o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediately take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to doe their dutie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened, Matth. 13. 14. acts 28. 26. rom. 11. 8.
p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was hee touched with a charitable affection toward the people.
q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reuealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kings should come before their captiuitie, as were from Uzziah to Zedekiah.
r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in winter looseth his leaues, and seemeth to be dead, yet in summer is fresh and greene.

k moued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I sayd, l Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwel in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lorde of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the m altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and sayde, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away, and thy n sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shal I send: and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, o Ye shall heare in deed, but yee shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainely see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eies, least they see with their eies, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and be heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, p how long? And he answered, Until the cities be waste without inhabitant, and the houses without man: and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there bee a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 But yet in it shall be q a tenth, and shall returne, & shalbe eaten vp as an elme r or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shall bee the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the king. 14 Christ is promised.

*2. King. 16. 5.

‖ Or, Syria.

a To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was ouercome.

b Meaning, the Kings house.

c That is, Israel, because that Tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.

d For feare.

AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Uzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the king of ‖ Aram a came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but hee could not ouercome it.

2 And it was told the house of b Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with c Ephraim: therefore his heart was d mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forrest are mooued by the wind.

3 ¶ Then said the Lorde vnto Isaiah, Goe forth nowe to meete Ahaz (thou and c Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field.

4 And say vnto him, Take heed, and bee still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking e firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin & of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, & Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs go vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and f threescore yeere, Ephraim shalbe destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske i a signe for thee of the Lorde thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I k tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, is it a small thing for you to grieue l men, that ye will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the Lord m himselfe wil giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ‖ Immanu-el.

15 n Butter and hony shall he eate, till hee haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the o childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euil, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come frō the day that p Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of q Ashur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the r flie that is at the vttermost part of y floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Ashur.

e That is to say, the rest shall returne, which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie.
f Which haue but a little smoke, and shall quickly be quenched.
g Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemie to the house of Dauid.
h Counting from the fiue and twentieth yeere of the reigne of Uzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetual captiuitie, which thing came to passe within 20. yeres after that Isaiah did this message.
i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shalbe destroyed and thou preserued.
k Not to beleeue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the aid and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.
l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues.
m Forasmuch as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne mercies sake, will giue a signe, which shall be that Christ the Sauiour of his Church and the effect of all signs and miracles shal be reuealed.
‖ Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him that is God and man.
n Meaning, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, but till the age of discretion.
o Not meaning Christ, but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shalbe destroyed.
p Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam.
q In whom thou hast put thy trust.
r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the country is hote and moist, it is full of Flies, as Assyria is full of Bees.

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushy [f] places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasour that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the king of Ashur, the head and the haire of the [t] feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man [u] nourish a yong kowe, and two sheepe.

22 And for the [x] abundance of milke, that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter & hony shal euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shal be a thousand peeces of siluer: so it shallbe for briers and for thornes.

24 With arrowes and with [y] bow shal one come thither: because all the land shalbe briars and thornes.

25 But on [z] all the mountains, which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briars and thornes: but they shalbe for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

MOreouer, the Lord sayd vnto me, Take thee a [a] great roll, and write in it [b] with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoyle: haste to the praie.

2 Then I tooke vnto mee [c] faithfull witnesses to record, Vrial the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Jeberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the [b] Prophetesse, which conceiued and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Cal his name, ‖ Maher-shalal-hash-baz.

4 For before the [c] child shall haue knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, [f] thee shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Ashur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of [g] Shiloah that run softly, and reioice with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Nowe therefore, behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of [h] the Riuer mightie and great, euen the king of Ashur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and go ouer all their banks,

8 And shall breake into Judah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the [i] necke, and the stretching out of his wings shal fil the breadth of thy land, O [k] Immanu-el.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye [l] people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countries: gird your selues, and you shall bee broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall bee brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shal it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to me in taking [m] of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say yee not, A [n] confederacie to all them, to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you [o] their feare, nor be afrayd of them.

13 [p] Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread.

14 And he shall be as a [q] Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, & as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shall be broken, and shall bee snared, and shall be taken.

16 [r] Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the [s] children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, [t] by the Lorde of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirite of diuination, & at the soothsayers which whisper and murmure, [u] Should not a people enquire at their God [x]: from the [x] liuing to the dead [x]?

20 To the [y] Lawe, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: it is because there is no [z] light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and fro in [a] it: and when he shall be hungry, he shall euen fret himselfe, [b] and curse his king and his gods, and shal looke vpward.

22 And when hee shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and [c] darkenes, veration & anguish, and he is driuen to darkenes.

---

f Signifying, that no place shall be free from them.

t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

u He that before had a great number of cattel, shalbe content with one kowe and two sheepe.

x The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shall be able to nourish all abundantly.

y As they that go to seeke wild beasts among the bushes.

z The mountains contrary to their woont, shall be tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

a That thou maiest write in great letters to the intent it may be more easily read.

b Meaning, after the common fashion: because all men might read it.

c Because the thing was of great importance he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credite with the people, when he see this vp vpon the doze of the Temple, albeit Uriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2. king. 16. 11.

d Meaning to his wife, and this was done in a vision.

‖ Or, make speed to the spoile: hast to the pray.

e Before any child be able to speake.

f That is, the army of Assyria.

g Which was a fountaine at the foote of mount Zion, out of the which ranne a small riuer through the citie: meaning, that they of Judah, distrusting their own power, which was small, desired such power and riches as they saw in Syria and Israel.

h That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

i It shall be ready to drowne them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in whom the faithful were comforted, & who would not suffer his Church to be destroied vtterly.

l To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.

m To encourage me that I should not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.

n Consent not ye that are godlyto the league and friendship that this people seeke with strangers & idolaters.

o Meaning, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.

p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, & fearing to do any thing contrary to his will.

q He will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is ment of Christ, against whom the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2. 34. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet. 2. 7, 8.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, keepe my words sure sealed in your hearts.

s Meaning them that were willing to heare and obey the word of God, whom the world hated, as though they were monsters, and not worthy to liue.

t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto them but by the will of the Lord. u Answere the wicked thus, Should not Gods people seeke succour onely at him? x That is, will they refuse to be taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, & seeke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan? y Seeke remedy in the word of God where his will is declared. z They haue no knowledge, but are blind leaders of the blind. a That is, in Judah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God. b In whom after they put their trust. c They shal thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophecie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten Tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

a He comforteth the Church againe after these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.

YEt a the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction, b that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when hee was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Jorden in Galile of c the Gentiles.

b Where with Israel was punished, first by Tiglath-pilesar, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffered afterward by Shalmanasser, who caried the Israelites away captiue.

c Where as the Iewes & Gentiles dwelt together by reason of those 20. cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram.

2 The people that d walked in darknesse, haue seene a great e light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpō them hath the f light shined.

d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of y thing which should come to passe 60. yeeres after, as though it were now done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Mat. 4. 15.

3 Thou hast g multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruest, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoile.

g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.

4 For the h yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.

h Thou gauest them perfect ioy, by deliuering them and destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruel bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iud. 7. 22.

5 Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noise, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be i with burning and deuouring of fire.

i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered myraculously from his enemies, but specially by the comming of Christ, of whom hee prophecieth in the next verse. k The author of eternitie, and by whom the Church and euery member thereof shall be preserued for euer, and haue immortal life. l His singular loue and care for his elect.

6 For vnto vs a child is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernment is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his Name Wonderfull, Counseller, The mightie God, The euerlasting k Father, the Prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer: l the zeale of the Lord of hosts will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon m Israel.

m This is another prophecie against them of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitants of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The n bricks are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wild fig trees are cut downe, but wee will change them into Cedars.

n Wee were but weake, when the enemy ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatnings.

11 Neuertheless the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of o Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

o Rezin King of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

12 Aram before, & the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuour Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lorde cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the Prophet which teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yoong men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse p burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars and the thornes and will kindle in the thicke places of the forrest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

p Wickednesse as a deuiour kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall q spare his brother.

q Though there were no forren enemy, yet they shall destroy one another.

20 And he shal snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and he shal eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the r flesh of his owne arme.

r Their greedines shalbe insatiable, so that one brother shal eate vp another, as though he should eate his owne flesh.

21 Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Judah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saued.

a Which write and pronounce wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and a write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may bee their praie, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches & authority, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

3 What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from b farre: to whom will yee flee for helpe: and where will ye leaue your c glory:

4 d Without mee euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall go into captiuitie, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

5 ¶ [e]O Asshur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle, and to take the praie, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this first and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one verie thing and act: for Gods intention is to chastise the for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: & thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their own malice it is the worke of the deuil.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

g Seeing that I haue ouercome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shal Ierusalem be able to escape mine handes?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdoms of the idols, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people, (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rods.

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visit the fruit of the proud heart [i] of the king of Asshur, and his glorious & proud lookes, i Meaning, of Nebucherib.

13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therfore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egs that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

k Here we see, that no creature is able to do any thing, but as God appointeth him, & that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

15 Shall the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shal the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men, leannesse, and vnder his glory he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a [l] fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuour [m] his thornes and his briers in one day:

m That is, the Assyrians.

18 And shall consume the glory of his forrest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule [n] and flesh: and he shall be as the [o] fainting of a standard bearer.

n To wit, body & soule vtterly.

o When the battel is lost, and the standard taken.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forrest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth.

p This is the end of Gods plagues towards his, to bring them to him, and to forsake all trust in others.

21 The remant shal returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shal the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shal ouerflow with righteousnes.

q This small number, which seemed to be consumed, & yet according to Gods decree is saued, shalbe sufficient to fill all the world with righteousnes.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen [r] determined in the mids of all the land.

r God will destroy this land as he hath determined, & after saue a small portion.

24 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, bee not afrayd of Asshur: he shal smite thee with a rod, and shal lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of [s] Egypt:

s As the Egyptians did punish thee.

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to [t] the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the [u] Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

t Read Chap. 9.4.

u When the Israelites passed through by lifting vp of Moses rod, and the enemies were drowned, Exo. 14.28.

27 And at that day shal his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroied because of [x] the anointing.

x Because of the promes made to that kingdom, wherby Christes kingdom was prefigured.

28 He is come [y] to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to confirme the faithful, whē it should come to pass, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: he shal lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Behold, the Lorde God of hostes shall cut off the [z] bough with feare, and they of hie stature shal be cut off, and the high shalbe humbled.

z Feare and destruction shal come vpon Iudah: for the princes & the people shal all be led away captiues.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forrest with iron, and Lebanon shal haue a mighty fall.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Ishai. 2 His vertues and kingdom. 6 The fruites of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BUt there shal come a [a] rod forth of the stock of Ishai, and a graffe shall growe out of his rootes.

a Because the captiuity of Babylon, was a figure of the spirituall captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth that a true deliuerer must come by Christ: for as Dauid came out of Ishai a man without dignitie: Christ should come of a poore Carpenters house, as out of a dead stocke, Ch. 53.2.

2 And the Spirite of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the Spirite of wisedome and vnderstanding, the Spirite of counsell and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shal make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shal not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprooue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall hee reprooue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall [b] smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall hee slay the wicked.

5 And Justice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The [c] Wolfe also shal dwel with ỹ lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them.

7 And the kowe and the beare shal feede: their yong ones shal lie together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as [d] the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day ỹ roote of Jshai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the [e] people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his [f] rest shall be glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lorde stretch out his hand [g] againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And he shal set vp a signe to the nations: and assemble the dispersed of Jsrael, and gather the scattered of Judah from the foure corners of the world.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Judah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie [h] Judah, neither shall Judah vexe Ephraim:

14 But they shall flie vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shal spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the [i] tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shall lift vp his hand [k] ouer the riuer, and shal smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

16 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Jsrael in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiuing of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

AND thou [a] shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will prayse thee: thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God is my [b] saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God is *my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shall ye [c] draw waters out of the welles of saluation,

4 And ye shall say in that day, * Prayse the Lorde: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the world.

6 Crie out, and shoute, [d] O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy one of Jsrael in the middes of thee.

a He sheweth how the Church shall prayse God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THE [a] burden of Babel, which Jsaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the [b] hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commaunded them, that I haue [c] sanctified: and I haue called the mightie to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my [d] glorie.

4 The noise of a multitude is in ỹ mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the [e] weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle [f] you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almightie.

7 Therefore shall al hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt,

8 And they shall be afraide, anguish and sorowe shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shall be amased at his neighbour, and their faces a That is, the great calamitie, which was propheried to come on Babel, as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues, wherewith God would smite these strange nations, (whom they knew) to declare that God chastised the Jsraelits as his children, and these other as his enemies:

c So that if God spare not these that are ignorant, that they must not thinke strange, if he punish them, which haue knowledge of his Lawe, and keepe it not.

b To wit, the Medes and the Persians.

b All these properties can agree to none but only vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth ỹ heart of the faithful, and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the sauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with his rod, which is his word.

c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beasts, wherein the like affectiõs reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutual charitie, that they shall be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and call off all their cruel affections, Chap. 65. 25.

g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people being dispersed through all the world.

h Here he describeth the consent that shall be in his Church, and their victorie against their enemies.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the [h] starres of heauen and the planets therof shal not giue their light: the Sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the Moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the [i] world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the [k] proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I wil make a [l] man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboue the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lorde of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And [m] it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp, euery man shal turne to his owne people, and flee each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shall be striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth himselfe, shal fall by the sword.

16 * Their [n] children also shall bee broken in pieces before their eies: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wiues rauished.

17 Behold, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, & their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdoms, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shall be as the destruction of God * in Sodome and Gomorah.

20 It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the [o] Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the sheepheards make their folds there.

21 But [p] Zim shall lodge there, and their houses shall be full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyres shall daunce there.

22 And Iim shall cry in their palaces, and Dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is readie to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

g The Babylonians anger, and griefe shall be so much, that their faces shal burne as fire.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

FOr [a] the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and wil yet chuse Israel, & cause them to rest in their own land: and the stranger [b] shal ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lorde, for [c] seruaunts and handmaides: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, & from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didst serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the king of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased: and the gold-thirstie Babel rested:

5 The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did [d] not let.

7 The whole world is at [e] rest & is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is moued for thee to [f] meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shal cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as wee: art thou become like vnto vs:

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sound of thy violes: the worme is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 Howe art thou fallen from heauen, O [h] Lucifer, sonne of the morning: and cutte downe to the ground, which diddest cast lots vpon the nations:

13 Yet thou saidest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the [i] North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most High.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall [k] looke vpon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes:

a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he will deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shall be ioyned with the Church, & worship God.

c Signifying that the Iewes should be superiours to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby al are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2. Cor. 10.5.

d That is, he suffered all violence and iniuries to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

f As though they feared least thou shouldest trouble the dead as thou didst the liuing: and here he deuideth the proud tyrannie of the wicked, which knowe not that al creatures wish their destruction, that they may reioice.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings.

h Thou that thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, and as it were placed in the heauen: for the morning star that goeth before the sunne, is called Lucifer, to whom Nebuchad-nezzar is compared.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, wherein the Temple was on the Northside as Psalme 48.2. whereby he meaneth that tyrants fight against God, when they persecute his Church, & would set themselues in his place.

k In marueiling at thee.

17 He made the world as a wildernes, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not [l] the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art [m] cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sword which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeis troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not bee ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroied thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not bee renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and wil cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saieth the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the ‖hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lorde of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 [o] That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shal depart from [p] them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, & this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yeere that king Ahaz died, was this [q] burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole [r] Palestina) because the rodde of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents roote shal come forth a cockatrice, and the fruite thereof shall be a fierie flying serpent.

30 For the [s] first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safetie: and I wil kil thy root with famine, and [t] it shal slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate: cry, O city: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the [u] North a smoke, and none shall be [x] alone at his time appointed.

32 What hal then one answere [y] the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished [z] Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

A prophecie against Moab.

THe [a] burden of Moab. Surely [b] Ar of Moab was destroied, & brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroied, & brought to silence in a night.

2 [c] He shall goe vp to the Temple, and to Dibon to the high places to weepe: for [d] Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all [e] their heads shall be baldnes, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shal they be girded with sackecloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voice shalbe heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shall shoute: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine [f] heart shall cry for Moab: his fugitiues shal flee vnto Zoar, as an heiffer of three yeere olde: for they shal goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they [h] shall raise vp a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shalbe dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, & their substance shall they beare to the [i] brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: & the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

f The Prophet speaketh this in the person of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God that should come vpon them.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

SEnd [a] yee a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shall be as a bird that [b] flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shalbe at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: [c] make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroier: for the extortioner [d] shall ende: the destroier shalbe consumed, & the oppressour shall cease out of the land.

a That is, offer a sacrifice: whereby he derideth their long delay, which would not repent when the Lord called them, shewing them that it is now too late, seeing the vengeance of God is vpon them.

b There is no remedie, but you must flie.

c He sheweth what Moab should haue done, when Israel the ir neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would giue no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortlesse.

d The Assyrians shal oppresse the Israelites, but for a while.

5 And in mercy ſhall the throne be prepared, [c] and he ſhall ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtneſſe, in the Tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, [d] ſeeking iudgement, and haſting iuſtice.

6 Wee haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his [f] lies ſhall not be ſo.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one ſhal howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareſeth ſhall ye mourne, yet they ſhall be [g] ſtriken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heſhbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: [h] the Lordes of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto [i] Iaazer: they wandred in the wildernelſe: her goodly branches ſtretched out themſelues, and went ouer the Sea.

9 Therefore will [k] I weepe with the weeping of Iaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heſhbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, becauſe vpon thy ſummer fruites, and vpon thy harueſt [l] a ſhouting is fallen.

10 And gladneſſe is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field: and in the vineyards ſhall bee no ſinging nor ſhouting for ioy: the treader ſhal not tread wine in the wine preſſes: I haue cauſed the reioycing to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my [m] bowels ſhall ſound like an harpe for Moab, [n] mine inward partes for Kir-hareſh.

12 And when it ſhall appeare that Moab ſhall be wearie of his high places, then ſhall he come to his [n] Temple to pray, but hee ſhall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt Moab ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hath ſpoken, ſaying, [o] In three yeeres, as the yeeres of a [p] hireling, and the glory of Moab ſhal be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant ſhalbe very ſmall and feeble.

1 A propheſie of the deſtruction of Damaſcus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

The [a] burden of [b] Damaſcus, Behold, Damaſcus is taken away from being a citie, for it ſhall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of [c] Aroer ſhal be forſaken: they ſhalbe for the flocks: for they ſhal lie there, and none ſhal make them afraid.

3 The munition alſo ſhal ceaſe from [d] Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Aram ſhall be as the [e] glorie of the children of Iſrael, ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes.

4 And in that day the glory of [f] Iaakob ſhalbe impouerished, and the fatnes of his fleſh ſhall be made leane.

5 And it ſhall be as when the harueſt man gathereth the corne, [g] reapeth the eares with his arme, and he ſhal be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of [h] Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes ſhall [i] bee left in it, as the ſhaking of an oliue tree, two or three berries are in the top of the vpmoſt boughs, and foure or fiue in the high branches of the fruite thereof, ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael.

7 At that day ſhal a man looke to his [k] maker, and his eyes ſhall looke to the holy one of Iſrael,

8 And he ſhall not looke to the altars, the works of his owne hands, neither ſhal he looke to thoſe things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day ſhal [l] cities of their ſtrength bee as the forſaking of boughes and branches, which [l] they did forſake, becauſe of the children of Iſrael, and there ſhall be deſolation.

10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſaluation, and haſt not remembred the God of thy ſtrength, therefore ſhalt thou ſet pleaſant plants, and ſhalt graffe ſtrange [m] vine branches:

11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeed to flouriſh: but the harueſt ſhall bee gone in the day [n] of poſſeſſion, and there ſhall be deſperate ſorow.

12 [o] Ah, the multitude of many people, they ſhall make a ſound like the noiſe of the Sea: for the noiſe of the people ſhall make a ſound like the noiſe of mighty waters.

13 The people ſhall make a ſound like the noiſe of many waters: but God ſhal [p] rebuke them, and they ſhal flee farre off, and ſhalbe chaſed as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewind.

14 And loe, in the euening there is [q] trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that ſpoile vs, and the lot of them that rob vs.

m For very ſorow and compaſſion.
n They ſhall vſe all meanes to ſeeke helpe of their idoles and all in vaine: for Chemoſ their great god ſhall not be able to helpe them.

f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boaſt themſelues of their nobilitie, proſperitie, ſtrength and multitude.

a He meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lieth towards the Sea, which was ſtreined to haue in vessels of [b] reedes vpon the waters, saying, [c] Goe, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattred abroad, & spoiled, vnto a terrible [d] people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the [e] floods haue spoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, shal see when [f] he setteth vp a signe in the mountains, & when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I wil [g] rest and behold in my Tabernacle, as [h] the heate drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of dewe in the heate of haruest.

5 For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then hee shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes:

6 They shall bee left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the [i] beastes of the earth: for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a [k] present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

b Which in thole countries were great: in so much as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.
c This may be taken that they sent other to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength, that the Iewes should not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, and promised them aide to goe against Iudah.
d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made al other nations afraid of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28. 37.
e Meaning, the Assyrians, as chap. 8. 7.
f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians.
g I will stay a while from punishing the wicked.
h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby he meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off.
i Not onely men shall contemne them, but the bruite beasts.
k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that litle remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe [a] burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord [b] rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall bee moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall [c] fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, & kingdome against kingdom.

3 And the [d] spirite of Egypt shall faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the Sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the Soothsaiers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell Lordes, and a mightie king shall rule ouer them, saieth the Lorde God of hostes.

a Read Tha. 13. 1
b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their country, in the multitude of their idoles, & in the valiantnes of their men, the Lord sheweth that he will come ouer al their inuitions in a swift cloud, & that their idoles shal tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faint.
c As he caused the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kil one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 2. Chro. 20. 22. chap. 49. 26.
d Meaning, their policie and wisedom.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall [e] faile, and the riuers shall be dried vp, and waxed.

6 And the [f] riuers shall go farre away: the riuers of defence shal be emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shall be cut downe.

7 The grasse in the riuer, & at the [g] head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer shall wither, and bee driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall [h] mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spred their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall be broken, and all they that make ponds, shalbe heauy in heart.

11 Surely the princes of [i] Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I [k] am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euē the [m] corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lorde hath mingled among them the spirit [n] of errors: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may [o] do, nor the taile, the branch, nor the rush.

16 In that day shal Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraid and feare, because of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall bee a feare [p] vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shal be afraid thereat, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shal fiue cities in the land of Egypt [q] speake the language of Canaan, and shall [r] sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shalbe called the citie of [s] destruction.

19 In that day shal the altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and [t] a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

e He sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them that should keepe them vnder as slaues.
f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as though they were so many riuers.
g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spying, out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.
h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a country by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countries are enriched.
i Called also Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus.
k He mocketh the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so he flattred himselfe, saying, I am wise.
l Or, Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Caira.
m The principal vpholders thereof, are the chiefest cause of their destruction.
n For the spirit of wisedom, he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of error.
o Neither the great, nor the small, the strong nor the weake.
p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shal feare least the like light vpon them.
q Shal make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speach of Canaan, meaning, the language, wherein God was then serued.
r Shal renounce their superstitions, and protest to serue God aright.
s Meaning, of fiue cities, that should serue God, and the first remaine in their wickednesse: and so of the first part there should be but one left.
t There shall be euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speach is taken of the Patriarkes, and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place, and sil maner how he would be worshipped.

20 And it shall be for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and he shall send them [u] a Sauiour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shall be knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and doe [x] sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from [y] Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine handes, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Ashdod, (when [c] Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it,

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, and loose the [d] sackcloth from thy loines, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both young men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt [f] their glory.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this [g] yle say in that day, Beholde, such is our expectation, whither we fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians & Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

THe burden of [a] the desert Sea. As the whirlewindes in the South vse to passe from the wildernesse, so shall it [b] come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The [c] transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp [d] Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning [e] thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my [f] loynes filled with sorowe: sorowes haue taken me as the sorrowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amased when I sawe it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnes troubled me: the night s of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: [h] arise, ye princes, annoint the shield.

6 For thus hath the [i] Lord said vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

7 And he sawe a charet with two horsemen: [k] a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camell: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede.

8 And he cryed, A [l] lyon: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:

9 And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And [m] he answered and said, * Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O [n] my threshing, and the †corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burden of [o] Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of [p] Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The [q] morning commeth, and also the night. If ye will aske, enquire: returne and come.

13 ¶ The burden against Arabia. In [r] the forest of Arabia shall ye tarie all night, euen in the wayes of Dedanim.

14 O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring foorth [s] water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawen swords, euen from the drawen swoorde, and from the bent bow, and from the grieuousnes of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Yet a yeere [t] according to the yeeres of an [u] hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.

x By these ceremonies, he comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.

g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.

c The Assyrians, and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be ouercome of the Medes & Persians, and this he prophecied an hundred yeeres before it came to passe.

d By Elam, he meaneth the Persians.

e Because they shall find no succour, they shall mourne no more, nay, I haue caused them to cease mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.

f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.

g He prophecieth the death of Belthazzar, as Dan. 5. 30. who in the midst of his pleasures was destroyed.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatening against Shebna. 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

THe burden of the a valley of vision. What b aileth thee nowe that thou art wholy gone vp vnto the house tops?

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets, which were as mapes there, whom they named Seers.

2 Thou that art full of c noise, a citie full of bruite, a ioyous citie: thy slaine men shal not be slaine d with sword, nor die in battell.

b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house tops for feare of their enemies.

c Which was wont to be full of people and ioy.

d But for hunger.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shall be e bound: all that shall be found in thee, shalbe bound together, which haue fled from f farre.

e And led into captiuitie.

f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.

4 Therefore saide I, Turne away from me: I will weepe g bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

g He sheweth what is the duetie of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and specially of the ministers, Ierem. 9.1.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perpleritie, by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

h That is, the shoute of the enemies, whom God had appointed to destroy the citie.

6 ¶ And Elam i bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

i He putteth them in minde howe God deliuered them once from Sanehe-rib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to god auoid that great plague which they should else suffer by Nebuchadnezzar.

7 And thy chiefe valleis were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

k The secrete place where the armour was, to wit, in the house of the forest, 1. king. 7.2.

9 And ye haue seene l the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

l Be fortified the ruinous places, which were ...lected in 10 And ye numbred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall,

11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the n waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker o thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse and girding with sackecloth.

13 And beholde ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, p eating and drinking: for to morrowe we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

15 Thus saieth the Lord God of hostes, Goe get thee to that q treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou r here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a Sepulchre, as he that heweth out his Sepulchre in an high place, or that graueth an habitation s for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord will carrie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

18 He will surely rolle and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory shall be the t shame of thy Lords house.

19 And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day wil I u call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and he shall be a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the x key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a y naile in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glorie to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie z all smal vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musike.

25 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall the a naile, that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

q Because the Ebrewe word doeth also signifie one that doth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secrete friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily and gate of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the highest.

r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing.

s Whereas he thought to make his name immortall by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians.

t Signifying that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of their Princes, by whom they are preferred.

u To be steward against one of the which office he had done put by the craft of Shebna.

x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernement of the Kings house.

y I will establish him & confirme him in his office: of this phrase reade Esa. 9.9.

z Meaning, that both small and great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue praise and glory by this faithfull officer. a He meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the h sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not i trauailed, nor brought foorth children, neither nourished young men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be k sorie, concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to l Tarshish: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that m crowneth men) whose merchants are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the n daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he said, Thou shalt no more reioice when thou art oppressed: o O virgin p daughter of Zidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: q Ashur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and he r brought it to ruine.

14 Howle ye ships of Tarshish for your strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the end of s seuentie yeeres shal Tyrus t sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe and goe about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) x make sweete melody, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembred.

17 And in the ende of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and she shall returne to her y wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be z holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laid vp nor kept in store, but her merchandise shall be for them that dwel before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

z He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospell will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaine vnto the true worshipping of God & liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people.
13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

a This prophesie is as a conclusion of that which hath bene threatned to the Iewes and other nations from the 13. chapter, and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the a earth emptie, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abroade the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like b Priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buier, like seller, like lender, like borower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them, which were not of Aarons familie, and so signified also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8. 11. and 20. 25. 1. Chro. 18. 17. and by these words the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order nor policie, Hosea 4. 9.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this worde.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feebled and decaied: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth c also deceiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

c That is, reuseth not her fruite for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.

6 Therefore hath the d curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are e burned vp, and fewe men are left.

d Written in the Lawe, as Leuit. 26. 14. deut. 28. 16. thus the prophets vse to apply particularly the menaces, and promises which are generall in the lawe.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merrie heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of f vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

e With heate and drought, as eile, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the s mirth of the world is gone away.

f Which, as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it be in the midst of the earth, among the people, h as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

g Because they did not die Gods benefits thankfully, he comforteth the faithfull, and telleth that he will assemble his Church, which shall praise his Name, as Chap. 10. 22.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shal shoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from i the sea.

i From the vtmost coastes of the world, where the Gospel shalbe preached, as verse 16.

15 Where-

g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was feede by the ouerflowing of Nilus.

h That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the Sea.

i I haue no people left in me, and am as a barren woman that neuer had childe.

k Because these two countreis were ioyned in league together.

l Tyrus willeth other merchants to goe to Cilicia, and is come no more there.

m Who maketh her merchants like Princes.

n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countreis for succour.

o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

p Because Tyrus was built by them of Zidon.

q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wildernes, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.

r The people of the Caldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Calden and Assyria be able to ouerthrowe Tyrus.

s That is, Tyrus by whom ye are enriched.

t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King or a mans age.

u Shall vse all craft and lightlie to entise men againe to her.

x She shall labour by all meanes to recouer her first credite, as an harlot when she is long forgotten. seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers. y Though she haue bene chastised of the Lorde, yet she shall returne to her olde wicked practises, and forgaine shall giue her selfe to all mens lustes like an harlot.

15 Wherefore praiſe ye the Lord in the valleys, euen the Name of the Lorde God of Iſrael, in the yles of the ſea.

16 From the vttermoſt part of the earth we haue heard praiſes, euen glory to the [k] iuſt, and I ſaid, [l] My leannesſe, my leannesſe, woe is me: the tranſgreſſours haue offended: yea, the tranſgreſſours haue grieuouſly offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the ſnare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And he that fleeth from the noiſe of the feare, ſhall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe ſhake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane diſſolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth ſhall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and ſhalbe remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof ſhalbe heauie vpon it: ſo that it ſhall fall, and riſe no more.

21 ¶ And in that day ſhall the Lord [n] viſite the hoſte aboue that is on hie, euen the Kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they ſhalbe gathered together, as the priſoners in the pit: and they ſhalbe ſhut vp in the priſon, and after many dayes ſhall they be [o] viſited.

23 [p] Then the moone ſhalbe abaſhed, and the ſunne aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſtes ſhall reigne in mount Zion and in Ieruſalem: and glory ſhalbe before his ancient men.

k Meaning, to God, who will puniſh his Goſpell through all the world.
l I am conſumed with care, conſidering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies, and domeſticall. Some reade, my ſecrete: my ſecrete: that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet that the good ſhould be preſerued, and the wicked deſtroyed.
m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance ſhould be ouer and vnder them: ſo that they ſhould not eſcape no more then they did at Noahs flood.
n There is no power ſo high or mightie, but God will viſite him with his roddes.
o Not with his roddes, as verſe 21. but ſhalbe comforted.
p When God ſhall reſtore his Church, the glorie thereof ſhall ſo ſhine and his miniſters (which are called his ancient men) that the ſunne and the moone ſhall be darke in compariſon thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thankeſgiuing to God in that that he ſheweth himſelfe iudge of the world, by puniſhing the wicked, and mainteining the godly.

O Lord, thou [a] art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praiſe thy Name: for thou haſt done wonderfull things, according to the counſels of olde, with a ſtable trueth.

2 For thou haſt made of a [b] citie an heape, of a ſtrong citie, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of ſtrangers of a citie, it ſhall neuer be built.

3 Therefore ſhall the [d] mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the ſtrong nations ſhall feare thee.

4 For thou haſt beene a ſtrength vnto the poore, euen a ſtrength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge againſt the tempeſt, a ſhadowe againſt the heate: for the blaſt [e] of the mightie is like a ſtorme againſt the wall.

5 Thou ſhalt bring downe the noiſe of the ſtrangers, [f] as the heate in a drie place: he will bring downe the ſong of the mightie, as [g] the heate in the ſhadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this [h] mountaine ſhall the Lord of hoſtes make vnto all people a feaſt of fatte things, euen a feaſt of fined wines, and of fatte things full of marowe, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he will deſtroy in this mountaine [i] the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is ſpread vpon all nations.

8 He will deſtroy death for euer: and the Lord God will [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 And in that day ſhall men ſay, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will ſaue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his ſaluation.

10 For in this mountaine ſhall the hand of the Lord reſt, and [l] Moab ſhal be threſhed vnder him, euen as ſtrawe is threſhed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And he ſhall ſtretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that ſwimmeth, ſtretcheth them out to ſwimme) and with the ſtrength of his handes ſhall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence alſo of the height of thy walles ſhall he bring downe and lay lowe, and caſt them to the ground, euen vnto the duſt.

g As a cloude ſhadoweth from the heate of the ſunne, ſo ſhall God aſſwage the reioycing of the wicked againſt the godly.
h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which ſhould vnder Chriſt be aſſembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here deſcribed vnder the figure of a coſtly banket, as Matth. 22.2.
i Meaning, that ignorance and blindneſſe, whereby we are kept backe from Chriſt.
k He will take away all occaſions of ſorow and fill his with perfite ioy, Reuel. 7. 17. and 21. 4.
l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church.
m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2. 49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. which ſeemeth to haue bene a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10. 31.

CHAP. XXVII.

A ſong of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what conſiſteth the ſaluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to truſt.

IN that day ſhall [a] this ſong be ſung in the land of Iudah. We haue a ſtrong citie: [b] ſaluation ſhall God ſet for walles and bulwarkes.

2 [c] Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an aſſured [d] purpoſe wilt thou preſerue perfite peace, becauſe they truſted in thee.

4 Truſt in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is ſtrength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on hie: [e] the hie citie he will abaſe: euen vnto the ground will he caſt it downe, and bring it vnto duſt.

6 The foote ſhall treade it downe, euen the feete of the [f] poore, and the ſteppes of the needie.

7 The way of the iuſt is righteouſneſſe: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iuſt.

8 Alſo we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in a Thus the Prophet giueth thankes to God, becauſe he will bring vnder ſubiection theſe nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ieruſalem, but alſo of theſe other cities, which haue beene thine enemies.
c That is, a place whereas all vagabonds may liue without danger, and as it were, at eaſe, as in a palace.
d The arrogant and proud, which before would not knowe thee, ſhall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee. e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof. f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by the raine, ſo ſhall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

a This ſong was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie ſhould come, aſſuring them alſo of their deliuerance. for the which they ſhould ſing this ſong.
b Gods protection and defence ſhalbe ſufficient for vs.
c He aſſureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie of Ieruſalem.
d Thou haſt decreed ſo, and thy purpoſe cannot be changed.
e There is no power ſo hie, that can let God, when he will deliuer his.
f God will let the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.

in the way of thy s iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne h righteousnesse.

10 Let mercie i be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnesse will he doe wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behold thine hie hand: but they shall see it, and be confounded with k the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine l enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other m lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14 The n dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased ° the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged al the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they p visited thee: they powred out a prayer whē thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorrowe, and crieth in her paines, so haue we beene in thy q sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne paine, as though we shoulde haue brought foorth r wind: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the ſ worlde fall.

19 ¶ t Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy u dewe is as the dewe of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: x enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For loe, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her y blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

g We haue continually abid in the aduersities wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.

h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.

i The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.

k Though enuie and indignation against the people.

l The fire and vengeance, wherewith thou dost destroy thine enemies.

m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy worde.

n Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.

o To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.

p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

q To wit, in extreme sorrowe.

r Our sorrowes had none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that wee looked for.

ſ The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.

t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: & that they should most certainely rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as verse 14.

u As herbes, dead in winter, flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dewe of Gods grace.

x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.

y The earth shall vomit and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 And of the ioye of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that a day the Lord with his sore ſ great and mightie b sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard c of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assaile it, I wil keep it night and day.

4 Anger d is not in me: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe through them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he e feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 f Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

7 Hath he smitten s him as he smote those that smote him? or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In h measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the i fruite, the taking away of his sinne: when hee shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the k defenced citie shall be desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wildernesse. There shall the Calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drie, they shall be broken: the l women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the m riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shall be gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mightie power and by his word. He propheciedth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder the name of Liuiathan, Assur and Egypt.

c Meaning, of the dell wine, which this vineyard, that is, the Church, should bring foorth as most agreeable to the Lord.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdom of Satan, because he loueth his church for his own mercies sake, and cannot be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers and thornes.

e He marueileth, that Israel will not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him.

f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring foorth in great abundance.

g He sheweth that God punisheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shewe them after, yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall growe in it. l God shall not haue neede of mightie enemies: for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame. m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Againſt the pride and drunkenneſſe of Iſrael. 9 The vntowardneſſe of them that ſhould learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

WOe to the [a] crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie ſhall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the [b] valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and [c] ſtrong hoſte, like a tempeſt of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempeſt of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They ſhalbe troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkardes of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie ſhall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the [d] haſtie fruite afore ſommer, which when he hath looked vpon it, ſeeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day ſhall the Lord of hoſtes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the [e] reſidue of his people:

6 And for a Spirite of iudgement to him that ſitteth in iudgement, and for [f] ſtrength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred becauſe of wine, and are out of the way by ſtrong drinke: the Prieſt and the Prophet haue erred by ſtrong drinke: they are [h] ſwalowed vp with wine: they haue gone aſtray through ſtrong drinke: they faile in viſion: they ſtumble in iudgement.

8 For al their tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 [h] Whom ſhall he teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to vnderſtand the things that he heareth? them that are weined from the milke, and drawen from the breaſtes.

10 For [i] precept muſt be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle.

11 For with a ſtammering [k] tongue and with a ſtrange language ſhall he ſpeake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom [l] he ſaide, [m] This is the reſt: [n] giue reſt to him that is wearie: and this is the refreſhing. but they would not heare.

13 Therefore ſhall the word of the [o] Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle and there a litle, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and be ſnared, and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye ſcornefull men that rule this people, which is at Ieruſalem.

15 Becauſe ye haue ſaide, We haue made a [p] couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a ſcourge runne ouer, and paſſe through, it ſhall not come at vs: for we haue made [q] falſhood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will lay in Zion a ſtone, a [r] tryed ſtone, a precious corner ſtone, a ſure foundation. He that beleeueth, ſ ſhall not make haſte.

17 Iudgement alſo wil I lay to [ſ] rule, and [t] righteouſneſſe to the balance, and the [u] haile ſhall ſweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters ſhall ouerflowe [x] the ſecrete place.

18 And your couenant with death ſhall be diſanulled, and your agreement with hell ſhall not ſtand: when a ſcourge ſhall runne ouer and paſſe through, then ſhall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it paſſeth ouer, it ſhall take you away: for it ſhall paſſe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there ſhall be onely [y] feare to make you to vnderſtand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [z] ſtreight that it cannot ſuffice, and the couering narowe that one cannot wrap himſelfe.

21 For the Lorde ſhall ſtand as in mount [a] Perazim: he ſhall be wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that hee may doe his worke, his ſtrange worke, and bring to paſſe his acte, his ſtrange acte.

22 Nowe therefore be no mockers, leaſt your bondes increaſe: for I haue heard of the Lord of hoſtes a conſumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voice: hearken ye, and heare my ſpeach.

24 Doeth the plowe man plow all the day, to ſowe? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it [c] plaine, will he not then ſowe the fitches, and ſowe cummin, and caſt in wheate by meaſure, and the appointed barly and rye in their place?

26 For his God doeth inſtruct him to haue diſcretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches ſhall not be threſhed with a threſhing inſtrument, neither ſhall a Cart

[o] Becauſe they will not receiue the word of God when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be ſo hardened, that they care not for it, as before Chapter 6.9.

[p] They thought they had ſhiftes to auoide Gods iudgements, and that they could eſcape though all other periſhed.

[q] Though the Prophets condemned their idoles, and vaine truſt, of falſhode, and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themſelues that they would truſt in theſe things.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A propheſie againſt Ieruſalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that followe the traditions of men.

a The Ebrew word Ariel ſignifieth the Lion of God, and ſignifieth the Altar, becauſe the Altar ſeemed to deuoure the ſacrifice that was offered to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your ſacrifices ſhall not laſt long.

c Your city ſhall be full of blood, as an altar whereon they ſacrifice.

d Thy ſpeeche ſhalbe no more ſo lofite, but abaſed, and low as the very charmers which are in low places, and whiſper ſo that their voice can ſcarſe be heard.

e Thine hired ſouldiers in whō thou truſteſt, ſhalbe deſtroyed, as duſt or chaffe in a whirle winde.

f The enemies that I will bring to deſtroy thee, and that which thou makeſt thy vaine truſt, ſhall come at vnwares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the deſtruction of their enemies.

g That is, he thinketh that he eateth.

h Muſe hereon as long as ye liſt, yet ſhall ye finde nothing but occaſion to be aſtonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

AH a altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: b let them kill lambes.

2 But I wil bring the altar into diſtreſſe, and there ſhall be heauineſſe and ſorowe, and it ſhall be vnto me like c an altar.

3 And I will beſiege thee as a circle, and fight againſt thee on a mount, and will caſt vp ramparts againſt thee.

4 So ſhalt thou be humbled, and ſhalt ſpeake out of the d ground, and thy ſpeech ſhall be as out of the duſt: thy voyce alſo ſhalbe out of the ground like him that hath a ſpirite of diuination, and thy talking ſhall whiſper out of the duſt.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy e ſtrangers ſhall be like ſmall duſt, and the multitude of ſtrong men ſhall be as chaffe that paſſeth away, and it ſhall be in a moment, euen ſuddenly.

6 Thou ſhalt be viſited of the Lord of hoſtes with thunder, and ſhaking, and a great noiſe, a whirle winde, and a tempeſt, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the f multitude of all the nations that fight againſt the altar, ſhall be as a dreame or viſion by night: euen all they that make the warre againſt it, and ſtrong holdes againſt it, and lay ſiege vnto it.

8 And it ſhall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, g he eateth: and when he awaketh, his ſoule is emptie: or like as a thirſtie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his ſoule longeth: ſo ſhall the multitude of all nations be that fight againſt mount Zion.

9 h Stay your ſelues, and wonder: they are blind, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they ſtagger, but not by ſtrong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a ſpirit of ſlumber, and hath ſhut vp your eyes: the Prophet, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the viſion of them all is become vnto you, as the words of a booke that is ſealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, ſaying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then ſhall he ſay, I can i not: for it is ſealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, ſaying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he ſhall ſay, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord ſaide, Becauſe this people k come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men,

14 Therefore beholde, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a woonder: for the wiſedome of their wiſe men ſhall m periſh, and the vnderſtanding of their prudent men ſhall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that n ſeeke deepe to hide their counſell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkeneſſe, and they ſay, Who ſeeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuices ſhall it not be eſteemed o as the potters clay? for ſhall the worke ſay of him that made it, He made me not? or the thing formed, ſay of him that fa-shioned it, He had none vnderſtanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon ſhall be p turned into Carmel? and Carmel ſhalbe counted as a foreſt?

18 And in that day ſhall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde ſhall ſee out of obſcuritie, and out of darkeneſſe.

19 The meeke in the Lord ſhall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men ſhall reioyce in the holy one of Iſrael.

20 For the cruell man ſhall ceaſe, and the ſcornefull ſhall be conſumed: and all that haſted to iniquitie, ſhalbe cut off.

21 Which made a man to ſinne in the q worde, and tooke him in a ſnare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iuſt to fall without cauſe.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord vnto the houſe of Iaakob, euen he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob ſhall not now be confounded, neither now ſhall his face be pale.

23 But when he ſeeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the middes of him, they ſhall ſanctifie my Name, and ſanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and ſhall feare the God of Iſrael.

24 Then they that erred in ſpirite, r ſhall haue vnderſtanding, and they that murmured, ſhall learne doctrine.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderſtand.

k Becauſe they are hypocrites and not ſincere in heart, as Matth. 15. 8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

m Meaning, that where as God is not worſhipped according to his word, both magiſtrates and miniſters are but fooles, & without vnderſtanding.

n This is ſpoken of them, which in heart deſpiſed Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft, ſaieth the Lord, you cannot be able to eſcape mine hands no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it ſelfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentifull place in reſpect of that it ſhall be then, may be taken as a foreſt, as Chap. 32. 15. and thus he ſpeaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to finde fault with the Prophets wordes, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderſtanding and knowledge, man can not but ſtill erre, and murmure againſt him.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsell, 2 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 But offereth mercie to the repentant.

a Who contrary to their promise, take not me for their protector, and contrary to my commandement, seeke helpe at strangers.
b They seeke shifts to cloke their doings and not godly meanes.

WOe to the a rebellious children, saieth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and b couer with a couering, but not by my spirite, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke foorth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in ambassie to seeke helpe, and abode at their cities.
d That is, a heauie sentence or prophesie against the beastes that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernesse, which was South from Iudah: signifying that if the beastes should not be spared, that men should be punished much more grieuously.
e To wit, to Ierusalem.
f And not to come to and go to seeke helpe.
g That is, this prophesie.
h That it may be a witnesse against them for all posteritie.
i Of the which was the cause of their destruction & bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to be flattered, and led in errour.
k Threaten vs not by the word of God, neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Iere. 11. 21.
l Meaning, in their stubbernes against God and the admonitions of his Prophets.

4 For his c princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The d burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the young and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, & they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto e her, Their strength f is to sit still.

8 Nowe goe, and write g it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the h last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not i heare the lawe of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophesie k errours.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in l violence, and wickednesse, and stay thereupon.

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found m a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shalbe without recouerie.

15 For thus said the n Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue saide, No, but we will flee away vpon o horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship mast vpon the p top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lorde waite, that he may haue q mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of r iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he will certainly haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy crie: when he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eies shal see thy ‖ raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, s walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall t pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of golde, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, u Get thee hence.

23 Then shal he giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and as oile: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery high x mountaine, and vpon euery high hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the y Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Beholde, z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, & the burden thereof is heauie: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should onely depend on him.
o We will trust to escape by our horses.
p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or three to make masses.
q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.
r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Iere. 10. 24. & 30. 11.

‖ Or, instruction. s God shall direct all thy wayes and appoint thee howe to goe either hither or thither.
t Be shal cast away your idoles, which you haue made of golde, and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthie thing, and polluted.
u Shewing that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deede we shewe our selues enemies to idolatrie.
x By these diuers maners of speach he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shalbe so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.
y When the Church shalbe restored, the glorie thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnes of the Sunne for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.
z This threatning is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

28 And

28 And his spirite is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of [a] vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the [b] night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shal declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and haile stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lorde shall Ashur be destroyed, which smote with the [c] rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall [d] cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with [e] tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of handes shall he fight [f] against it.

33 For [g] Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the [h] king: he hath made it [i] deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He corseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that [a] goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor [b] seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is [c] wisest: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, & against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Nowe the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh and not spirite: and when the Lorde shall stretch out his hand, the [d] helper shall fall, and he that is holpen shal fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the Lyon or Lyons whelpe roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of sheepheards be called, he will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble himselfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hostes come [e] downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birdes that flee, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering by passing through and preseruing it.

6 Ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are [f] sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall [g] cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 [h] Then shall Ashur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faint.

9 And he shall goe for feare to his [i] towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standard, saith the Lord, whose [k] fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

a To vaine them to nothing: and thus God confuseth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he cleaueth his.
b He shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.
c Gods plague.
d It shall destroy.
e With ioy and assurance of the victorie.
f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.
g Here it is taken for hell, where the wicked are tormented, read 2. King. 23.10.
h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked.
i By these figurative speaches he declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17.16. and 28.68. least they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, least they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatrie of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Iere. 2.18.
b Meaning, that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.
c And knoweth their craftie enterprises, and will bring all to nought.
d Meaning, both the Egyptians and the Israelites.
e He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so careful ouer them, as a birde ouer her yong, which euer fleeth about them for their defence: which similitude the Scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32.11. matth. 23.37.

was discomfited, and he fleeth to his Castell in Nineueh for succour.
k To destroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

BEhold, [a] a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule [b] in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in [c] a wearie land.

3 The eyes of the [d] seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

5 A [e] nigard shall no more be called liberal, nor the churle riche.

6 But the nigard will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye [f] careless daughters: hearken to my words.

10 Ye women, that are careless, shall be in feare [g] aboue a yeere in dayes: [h] for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

11 Ye women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O ye careless women: put off the clothes: make bare, and gird sackcloth vpon the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the [i] teates, ei He toucheth their conscience that they might earnestly feele their grieuous sinnes, and so truely repent, for as much as now they are ouerwhelmed and past recouerie.

g We these tokens your repentance shall be knowen, as Chap. 2. 18.
h When your repentance appeareth.
i This was accomplished soone after, when Sennacheribs armie a This prophecie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iustice is ment an vpright iudgement, both in policie and religion.
c Where men are wearie with trauailing for lacke of water.
d He promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods worde, and vnderstanding, and foules of the same, are contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6.9. and 29.10.
e Men shall no more be called bountie, nor bountie esteemed by power & riches.
f He prophecieth of such calamities to come, that they will not spare the women and children, and therefore willeth them to take heede and prouide.
g Meaning, that the affliction should continue long, and when one yeere were past, yet they should looke for new plagues.
h God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goods.
i By the teates he meaneth the plentifull fieldes, wherebye men are nourished as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorowe and leannesse had lacke of milke.

uen for the pleaſant fieldes, and for the fruitefull vine.

13 Upon the land of my people ſhal grow thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houſes of ioy in the citie of reioycing.

14 Becauſe the palace ſhall be forſaken, and the ‖noiſe of the citie ſhalbe left: the towre and fortreſſe ſhall be dennes for euer, and the delight of wilde aſſes, and a paſture for flockes, 15 Untill the [k] Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wilderneſſe become a fruitefull fielde, and the [l] plenteous fielde be counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement ſhall dwell in the deſert, & iuſtice ſhal remaine in the fruitful fielde.

17 And the worke of iuſtice ſhall be peace, euen the worke of iuſtice and quietnes, and aſſurance for euer.

18 And my people ſhall dwell in the Tabernacle of peace, and in ſure dwellings, and in ſafe reſting places.

19 When it haileth, it ſhall fall on the forest, and the [m] citie ſhall be ſet in the low place.

20 Bleſſed are ye [n] that ſowe vpon all waters, and [o] driue thither the feete of the oxe and the aſſe.

‖Or, multitude.

k That is, when the Church ſhall be reſtored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements againſt the wicked, vſe to comfort the godly, leaſt they ſhould faint.

l The fielde which is nowe fruitfull, ſhall be but as a barren forest in compariſon of that it ſhall be then, as Chap. 29. 17. which ſhall be fulfilled in Chriſtes time, for then they that were before as the barren wilderneſſe, being regenerate, ſhall be fruitful, and they that had ſome beginning of godlines, ſhall bring foorth fruites in ſuch abundance, that the former life ſhall ſeeme but as a wilderneſſe, where no fruites were.

m They ſhall not neede to builde it in high places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the ſtormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth foorth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and nowe made dry for your vſes. o The fieldes ſhalbe ſo ranke, that they ſhall ſend out their cattell to eate vp the firſt crop, which abundance ſhall be ſignes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deſtruction of them by whom God hath puniſhed his Church.

WOe to thee that [a] ſpoileſt, and waſt not ſpoiled: and doeſt wickedly, and they did not wickedly againſt thee: when thou ſhalt [b] ceaſe to ſpoile, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled: when thou ſhalt make an ende of doing wickedly, [c] they ſhall doe wickedly againſt thee.

2 [d] O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, which waſt [e] their arme in the morning, our helpe alſo in time of trouble.

3 At the noiſe of the tumult, the [f] people fled: at thine exalting the nations were ſcattered.

4 And your ſpoile ſhall be gathered like the gathering of [h] Caterpillers: and [i] he ſhall goe againſt him like the leaping of Graſhoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iuſtice.

6 And there ſhalbe ſtabilitie of [k] thy times, ſtrength, ſaluation, wiſedome and knowledge: for the feare of the Lorde ſhall be his treaſure.

7 Behold, [l] their meſſengers ſhal cry without, and the [m] Ambaſſadours of peace ſhall weepe bitterly.

8 The [n] pathes are waſte: the waifaring man ceaſeth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is aſhamed, and hewen downe: [o] Sharon is like a wilderneſſe, and Baſhan is ſhaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I [p] ariſe, ſaith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my ſelfe.

11 [q] Ye ſhall conceiue chaffe, and bring foorth ſtubble: the fire of your breath ſhall deuoure you.

12 And the people ſhall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, ſhall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, ye that are [r] farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, knowe my power.

14 The [ſ] ſinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs ſhall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs ſhall dwell with the euerlaſting burnings?

15 He that walketh in iuſtice, and ſpeaketh righteous things, refuſing gaine of oppreſſion, ſhaking his handes from taking of giftes, ſtopping his eares from hearing of blood, & ſhutting his eyes from ſeeing euill.

16 He ſhall dwell on [t] hie: his defence ſhall be the munitions of rockes: bread ſhall be giuen him, and his waters ſhalbe ſure.

17 Thine eyes ſhall [u] ſee the King in his glory: they ſhall beholde the land [x] farre off.

18 Thine heart [y] ſhall meditate feare, Where is the ſcribe? where is the receiuer? where is he that counted the towres?

19 Thou ſhalt not ſee a fierce people, a people of a darke ſpeeche, that thou canſt not perceiue, and of a ſtammering tongue that thou canſt not vnderſtand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our ſolemne feaſtes: thine eyes ſhall ſee Jeruſalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot be remooued: and the ſtakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither ſhall any of the cordes thereof be broken.

21 For ſurely there the mightie Lorde will be vnto vs, as a place [z] of floods, and broade riuers, whereby ſhall paſſe no ſhippe a Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans, and Aſſyrians: but chiefely of Sanacherib, but not onely.

b When thine appointed time ſhall come that God ſhall take away thy power: and that which thou haſt wrongfully gotten, ſhall be giuen to others, as Amos 3. 11.

c The Caldeans ſhall doe like to the Aſſyrians, as the Aſſyrians did to Iſrael: and the Medes and Perſians ſhall doe the ſame to the Caldeans.

d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and ſeeke helpe of God. e Which helpeſt our fathers ſo ſoone as they called vpon thee. f That is, the Aſſyrians flede before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Perſians. g When thou, O Lord, diddeſt lift vp thine arme to puniſh thine enemies. h Be that as Caterpillers deſtroyed with your number the whole world, ſhall haue no ſtrength to reſiſt your enemies the Caldeans, but ſhall be gathered on an heape and deſtroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Perſians againſt the Caldeans.

k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah.

m Whom they of Jeruſalem ſent to intreate of peace.

n Theſe are the wordes of the Ambaſſadours, when they returne from Sanacherib.

o Which was a plentifull country, meaning that Sanacherib would deſtroy al.

p To helpe and deliuer my Church.

q This is ſpoken againſt the enemies, who thought all was their owne, but he ſheweth that their enterpriſe ſhalbe in vaine, and that the fire, which they had kindled for others, ſhould conſume them.

r His vengeance ſhall be ſo great that all the world ſhall talke thereof.

ſ Which doe not beleeue the wordes of the Prophet and the aſſurance of their deliuerance.

t Meaning, that God will be a ſure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

u They ſhall ſee Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies and reſtored to honor and glory.

x They ſhall be no more that in as they whereby Sanacherib, but goe where it pleaſeth them.

y Before that this libertie commeth, thou ſhalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie ſhall ſo ſharpely aſſaile you, that one ſhall cry, Where is the clarke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? another ſhall crie for him that ballanceth the riche houſes, but God will deliuer you from this feare.

z Let vs be content with this ſmall riuer of Shiloah, and not deſire the great ſtreames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in ſhips and deſtroy vs.

with

with oares, neither ſhall great ſhippe paſſe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our law giuer: the Lord is our King, he wil ſaue vs.

23 Thy [a] cords are looſed: they could not well ſtrengthen their maſt, neither could they ſpread the ſaile: then ſhall the [b] pray be diuided for a great ſpoile: yea, the lame ſhall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant ſhall ſay, I am ſicke: the people that dwell therein, ſhall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

a He deſcribeth the Aſſyrians & enemies of ſ church, declaring their deſtruction as they that periſh by ſhipwracke.
b He comforteth the Church, and ſheweth that they ſhalbe enriched with all neceſſaries both of body and ſoule.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He ſheweth that God puniſheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

COme neere, ye [a] nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath [d] deſtroyed them and deliuered them to the ſlaughter.

3 And their ſlaine ſhall be caſt out, and their ſtincke ſhall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines ſhall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoſt of heauen [c] ſhall be diſſolued, and the heauens ſhall be folden like a booke: and all their hoſts ſhall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my ſword ſhall be [d] drunken in the heauen: beholde, it ſhall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of [e] my curſe to iudgement.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sancherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemie against God.

NOwe [a] in the [b] foureteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish towarde Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, & he stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers fielde.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the [c] steward of the house, and Shebna [d] the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And [e] Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the king of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, [f] Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is [g] Pharaoh king of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

8 Nowe therefore giue hostages to my Lord the King of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For howe canst thou ‖ despise any captaine of the [h] least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I nowe come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, [i] Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

a This history is rehearsed, because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for ꝑ threatnings and promises to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance.

b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his church to trie their faith and patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophesied, Chap. 22. 20.

d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in ꝑ kings house, when he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weighbie matter.

e Sancheribs chiefe captaine.

f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah falsly charging him, that he put his trust in his wit & eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lord.

g Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one paine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them: to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, & so not to hope for any helpe of God.

‖ Or, turne backe.

h He reproched to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sancheribs least captaines.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirites, whether they be of God or no.

11 ¶ Thē said Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, [k] Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sitte on the wall? that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne † pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cried with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the king of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Asshur, Make [l] appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figge tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate, and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of [m] Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they [n] kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and told him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

k They were afraid, least by his words he should haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to grow to some appointment with him.

† Ebr. the water of their feete.

n Not that they did not shewe by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had none rent their clothes, but they knew it was in vaine to dis long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked. *2. King. 19. 1.

2 And hee ſent Eliakim the ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna the chanceller, with the Elders of the Prieſtes, clothed in ſackecloth vnto [b] Iſaiah the Prophet, the ſonne of Amoz.

3 And they ſaid vnto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blaſphemie: for the children are come to the [c] birth, and there is no ſtrength to bring foorth.

4 If ſo be the Lord thy God hath [d] heard the wordes of Rabſhakeh, whom the King of Aſhur his maſter hath ſent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then [e] lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the ſeruants of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſayd vnto them, Thus ſay vnto your maſter, Thus ſaieth the Lord, Bee not afraid of the wordes that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſeruants of the king of Aſhur haue blaſphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will ſend a blaſt vpon him, and he ſhall heare a [f] noyſe, and returne to his owne land, and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the King of Aſhur fighting againſt [g] Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 Hee heard alſo men ſay of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, hee is come out to fight againſt thee: and when hee heard it, hee ſent other meſſengers to Hezekiah, ſaying,

10 Thus ſhal ye ſpeake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, ſaying, Let not thy God [h] deceiue thee in whom thou truſteſt, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not bee giuen into the hand of the king of Aſhur.

11 Behold, thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſhur haue done to all lands in deſtroying them, and ſhalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue deſtroied: as Gozan, and [k] Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telaſſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the meſſengers and read it, and hee went vp into the houſe of the Lord, and Hezekiah ſpread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lorde, ſaying,

16 O Lord of hoſtes, God of Iſrael, which [l] dwelleſt betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou haſt made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and ſee, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath ſent to blaſpheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Aſhur haue deſtroyed all landes, and [m] their countrey, 19 And haue caſt their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans handes, euen wood or ſtone: therefore they deſtroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, ſaue thou vs out of his hand, that [n] al the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Iſaiah the ſonne of Amoz ſent vnto Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſayeth the Lord God of Iſrael, Becauſe thou haſt prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Aſhur, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt him, the [o] virgine, the daughter of Zion, hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorne: the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee.

23 Whom haſt thou raiſed on and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen againſt the [p] holy one of Iſrael.

24 By thy ſeruants haſt thou raiſed on the Lord, and ſaide, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaines to the ſides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the high cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top, and to the forreſt of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged [q] and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers cloſed in.

26 Haſt thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, [r] and haue formed it long agoe? and ſhould I nowe bring it, that it ſhould be deſtroyed, and laide on ruinous heapes, as cities defenſed?

27 Whoſe inhabitants † haue ſmall power, and are afraide and confounded? they are like the graſſe of the fielde and greene herbe, or graſſe on the houſe tops, or corne blaſted [s] afore it be growen.

28 But I knowe thy dwelling, and thy [t] going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie againſt me.

a Soone after that the Assyrians were slaine: so that God will haue the exercise of his children continuall, that they may learne onely to depend vpon God, and aspire to the heauens.
b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing he had appointed him to die, so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, & also foreseeing the great change that should come in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to raigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne: and when he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

5 Go, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres.

death

death cannot prayse thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, y liuing, he shal confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the x children shal declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was readie to saue me: therefore we wil sing my song, all the dayes of y our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then sayde Isaiah, Take a lumpe of dry figs and z lay it vpon the boile, and he shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah a had sayd, What is the signe, that I shall goe vp into the House of the Lord?

x All posteritie shall acknowledge, & the fathers according to their dutie toward their children shal instruct them in thy graces and mercies towards me.

y He sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church: to wit, to giue the Lord thanks for his benefits.

z Read 2. Kings. 20.7.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

AT * the same time, a Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent b letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sick, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was c glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdom that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a far country vnto me from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue d they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hostes,

6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laied vp in store vntill this day, shall bee e caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saieth the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shal proceed out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall bee f eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

8 g Then sayd Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he sayde, Yet let there bee peace, and trueth in my dayes.

* 2. Kin. 12. 20.

a This was the first King of Babylon, which ouercame the Assyrians in the tenth yere of his reigne.

b Partly moued with the greatnesse of the miracle, partly because he sheweth himselfe enemie to his enemies, but chiefly, because he would ioyne with them whom God fauoured, and haue their helpe, if occasion serued.

d He asketh him of the particulars to make him vnderstand the craft of the wicked, which he before being ouercome with their flatterie, and blinded with ambition could not see.

e By the grieuousnesse of the punishment, is declared how greatly God detesteth ambition and vainglory.

CHAP. XL.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

COmfort ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say.

2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and cry vnto her, that her b warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for shee hath receiued of the Lords hand c double for al her sinnes.

3 A d voice crieth in the e wildernes, f Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

4 Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery g mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine.

5 And the glory of the Lord shall be reuealed, and all h flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

6 A i voice said, Crie. And he said, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, & all the k grace thereof is as the floure of the fielde.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because l the Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraide: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Beholde o your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him, beholde, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

11 He shal feed his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with q young.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his r fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? & weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a ballance?

13 Who hath instructed the Spirit of the Lord? or was s his counseller or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Beholde, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance:

a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shalbe neuer destitute of prophets, whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule.

b The time of her affliction.

c Meaning, sufficient, as chap. 61. 7. and full correction, or double grace, whereas he deserued double punishment.

d To wit, of the Prophets.

e That is, in Babylon and other places, where they were kept in captiuitie and miserie.

f Meaning Cyrus and Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christes comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Mat. 3. 3.

g Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shalbe removed.

h This miracle shalbe so great, that it shall be knowen thorow all the world.

i The voyce of God, which spake to the prophet Isaiah.

k Meaning, all mans wisedom and natural power, James 1. 10. 1. pet. 1. 24.

l The Spirit of God that discouereth the vanitie in all that seemeth to haue any excellencie of themselues.

m Though considering the frailtie of mans nature many of the Iewes should perish, & so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promise should be fulfilled, and they that remained, should feele the fruit thereof.

n To publish this benefite thorough all the world.

o He sheweth that one word the perfection of all mans felicity, which is to haue Gods presence.

p His power shal be sufficient without helpe of any other, and shall haue all meanes in himselfe to bring his will to passe.

q He shal shew his care and fauour ouer them: that are weake and tender.

r Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doth he vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.

s Vse thereby Gods infinite wisedom for the same end and purpose.

lance:

lance: behold, he taketh awa[y] Iles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offring.

17 All nations before him are as [t] nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then [u] will ye liken God: or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the Goldsmith beateth it out in gold, or the Goldsmith maketh siluer plates.

20 Doeth not [x] the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation? hee seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shall not be mooued.

21 Know ye nothing? haue yee not heard it? hath it not bene told you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstood it by the [z] foundation of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, hee stretcheth out the heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwel in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, & maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie.

24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen [a] blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewind will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom now will ye liken mee, that I should be like him, saieth the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth [b] out their armies by number, & calleth them all by names? by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength, nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, [c] My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the [d] ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his [e] vnderstanding.

29 But hee giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 [f] Euen the young men shall faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lorde, shall renue their strength: they shall lift vp the wings, as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

t He speaketh al this to the intent that they should neither feare man, nor put their trust in any, saue onely in God.

u Hereby he armeth them against the idolatry, wherewith they should be tempted in Babylon.

x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that haue not to suffice their owne necessities, will bestow themselues to serue their idoles.

y Haue ye not the worn of God, which plainly condemneth idolatrie?

z Can you not learne by the visible creatures, whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them.

a So that his power appeareth in euery place whereseuer we turne our eyes.

b Who hath set in order the infinite number of the starres.

c He rebuketh the Iewes because they did not rest on the prouidence of God, but thought that he had forsaken them in their troubles.

d And therefore all power is in his hand to deliuer when his time commeth.

e Shewing that man must patiently abide, and not curiously seeke out y cause of Gods delay in our afflictions.

f They that trust in their own vertue, and doe not acknowledge that all commeth of God.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercy in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe [a] silence before me, O Ilands, and let the people [b] renue their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? & gaue the nations before him, & subdued the Kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, & as scattered stubble vnto his bowe.

3 Hee pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete.

4 Who hath wrought & done it? he that calleth the [d] generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the [e] first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The Iles sawe it, and did [f] feare, & the ends of the earth were abashed, drew nere, and [g] came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour, and sayd to his brother, [h] Be strong.

7 So the workman comforted the founder, and he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is readie for the sodering, and he fastened it with nailes that it should not be mooued.

8 But thou, Israel, art my [i] seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will sustaine thee with the [k] right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shal bee ashamed, and confounded: they shall bee as nothing, and they that striue with thee, shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not [l] finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shalbe as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lorde thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme, Iaakob, and ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, saieth the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hils as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirlwind shall scatter a God, as though he pleaded his cause with all nations, requireth silence that he may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supplyes.

c Who called Izrahia (who was the patterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) to the idolatrie of the Caldeans to go to and fro at his commandement, and placed him in the land of Canaan.

d Who hath created man and maintained his succession.

e Though the world set by nature so many gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glory: for I am all one, vnchangeable, which haue euer bene, and shall be for euer.

f Considering mine excellent works among my people.

g They assembled themselues, and conspired against me to maintaine their idolatrie.

h He noteth the obstinacie of the idolaters to maintaine their superstitions.

i And therefore ought not to pollute thy selfe with the superstition of the Gentiles.

k That is, by the force of my promise, in the performance whereof I will shew my selfe faithfull and iust.

l Because they shalbe destroyed.

m Thus he calleth them because they were contemners of all the world, and that they considering their own poore estate, should seeke vnto him for helpe.

n I will make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mightie: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdom of Christ.

scatter them: & thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, & shalt glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the needie seeke water, & there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord wil heare them: I the God of Israel wil not forsake them)

18 I wil open riuers in the tops of the hils, and fountains in the mids of the valleis: I wil make the wildernes as a poole of water, & the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I wil set in the wildernes the cedar, the Shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, and I wil set in the wildernesse the firre tree, the elme and the bore tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and vnderstand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel [q] hath created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cause, saieth the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith the King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring forth, and let them tel vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that we may consider thē, and know the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that wee may know that you are gods: yea, do good or do euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Behold, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath [t] chosen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp [u] from the North, & he shall come: from the East sunne shal [v] he cal vpon my Name, and shall come vpon [x] princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foote.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning that we may know? or before time, that wee may say, Hee is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your words.

27 I am the first, that saieth to Zion, Behold, behold [z] them: and I will giue to Ierusalem [a] one, that shal bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counseller, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Behold, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde and confusion.

BEhold, [a] my seruaunt: [b] I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule [c] delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shal bring forth [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shal not [e] cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

3 A [f] bruised reed shall he not breake, and the smoking [g] flare shal he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in [h] trueth.

4 He shal not faile nor be discouraged till he haue [i] set iudgement in the earth: & the [k] iles shal waite for his law.

5 Thus saieth God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spred them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buds thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it: and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lorde haue called thee in [l] righteousnes, and will hold [m] thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, & for a light of the Gentiles.

7 That thou maiest open the eyes of the blind, & bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lorde, this is my Name, and my [o] glory will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are [p] come to passe, & new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tel you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, & his praise from the end of the earth: yee that goe downe to the Sea, and all that is therein: the iles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wildernesse and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that [q] Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shout from the top of the mountains.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ilands.

13 The Lord shal goe forth as a [r] Giant: he shal stir vp his courage like a man of warre: he shal shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene stil & refrained my selfe: now will I cry like a [s] trauailing woman: I wil destroy and deuour at once.

15 I will make waste mountains and hils, and dry vp all their herbes, and I wil make the floods ilands, and I will dry vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the [t] blinde by a o That is, they that shall be afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.

p God wil rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that cry to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby that they shall lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylon.
q That is, hath appointed and determined that it shall come so to passe.
r He diuideth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can doe all things: which if they cannot do, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.
s So that a man cannot make an idole, but he must doe that which God detesteth, and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh the Lordes.
t Meaning, the Chaldeans.
u That is, Cyrus, who shall do all things in my name, and by my direction: whereby he meaneth that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance, shall be ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment.
x Both of the Chaldeans and others.
y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.
z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie.
a To wit, a continual succession of Prophets and ministers.
b When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisedom nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked that trust in such vanitie.

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promise because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified.
b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithful Steward. Some read, I wil establish him: to wit, in his office by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit.
c He onely is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Matth. 12. 18. ephes. 1. 4.
d He shal declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, and cal them by his word, & rule them by his spirit.
e His comming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes.
f He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support and comfort them.
g Meaning, the weeke of a lamp, or candle which is almost out, but he wil cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.
h Although he fauour the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to trueth and equitie.
i Til he haue set all things in good order.
k The Gentiles shalbe desirous to receiue his doctrine.
l Meaning, vnto a lawful and iust vocation.
m To assist and guide thee.
n As him, by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham, shall be fulfilled. o I wil not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should doe if I were not faithful in performing the same, and the idolaters thereby would extol their idoles aboue me. p As in time past I haue bene true in my promises, so wil I be in time to come. q Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom he comprehendeth all the people of the East. r He sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the conseruation of his Church. s I wil haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that trauaileth to be deliuered whē she is in trauel. t That is, my poore people, which are in perplexitie and care.

way,

way, that they knewe not, and leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I wil make darknesse light before them, & crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods.

18 Heare, ye deafe: and ye blind, regard, that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my [u] seruaunt? or deafe as my [x] messenger, that I sent? who is blind as they [y] perfite, and blind as the Lordes seruant, 20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not, opening [y] eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake, [z] that he may magnifie the Lawe, and exalt it.

22 But this people is [z] robbed and spoiled, and shall bee all snared in dungeons, and they shall be hid in prison houses: they shall be for a praie, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, [a] Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, & take heed, and heare for [b] afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoile, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither bee obedient vnto his Lawe.

25 Therefore he hath poured vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light, because of my law.
x The Priest to whom my word is committed, which should not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it.
y As the Priests and Prophets that should be lights to others.
z Because they will not acknowledge this benefit of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoiled of their enemies through their owne fault and and incredulitie.
a There shall be none to succour them, or to will the enemie to restore that, which he hath spoiled.
b Meaning, Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

BUt now thus saieth the Lord, [a] that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, [b] Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the [c] waters, I will be with thee, & through the floods, that they do not ouerflow thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shal the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue [e] man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seed from the [f] East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I wil say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keep not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the endes of the earth.

7 Euery one shalbe called by my [g] name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I wil bring foorth the blind people, and they shal haue eies, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered [h] together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things? let them bring foorth their [i] witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them [k] heare, and say, It is trueth.

10 You [l] are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleeue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, whether there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saieth the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, & there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I wil do it, and who shal let it?

14 Thus saieth the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and [n] brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans cry in [o] the ships.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saieth the Lord which maketh a way in [p] the Sea, and a path in the mightie [q] waters, 17 When he [r] bringeth out the [s] charet and horse, the army and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

18 Remember yee not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shal it come forth: shal you not know it? I will euen make a way in the [t] desert, & floods in the wildernesse.

20 The wilde [u] beastes shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my self: they shal shew foorth my prayse.

22 And

a After these threatnings he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them.
b When thou feelt dangers & conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefite and the loue of thy God, and it shal encourage thee.
c By water and fire, he meaneth all kind of troubles and perils.
d I turned Sanacheribs power against these countries, and made them to suffer that affliction which thou shouldest haue done, and so were as the paiment of thy ransome, Chap. 37.9.
e I will not spare any man, rather then thou shouldest perish: for God more estemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world.
f He prophecieth of their deliuerance from the captiuitie of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersal church, alluding to that which is written, Deut. 30.3.
g Meaning, that he could not be vnmindful of them, except he would neglect his owne Name and glory.
h Signifying that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to doe the like, as Chap. 41.22.
i To proove that the things which are spoken of them, are true.
k Shewing, that the malice of the wicked hindreth them in the knowledge of the trueth, because they will not heare when God speaketh by his word.
l The Prophets and people to whom I haue giuen my Law.
m Meaning specially Christ, and by him all the faithfull.

22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon me, O Iaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me, O Israel.

23 Thou [z] hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offring, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boughtest me no [a] sweete sauour with money, neither hast thou made me drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made mee to [b] serue with thy sinnes, and wearied me with thine iniquities.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promiseth comfort, and that he wil assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlinesse of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saieth the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, [b] whom I haue chosen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon the [c] thirstie, and floods vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buds.

4 And they [d] shall growe as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lords: another [e] shall bee called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saieth the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, [f] I am the first, and I am the last, and without mee is there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shall [g] call and shall declare it, and set [h] it in order before mee, since I appointed the [i] ancient people? & what d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

e By this diuersitie of speach he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shalbe holy and receiue the true religion of God, as Psal. 87. 5. f I am alwaies like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as chap. 41. 4. and 48. 12. reuel. 1. 17. and 22. 13. g And appoint them that shal deliuer the Church. h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to proceed herein. i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternall election.

is at hand, and what things are to come: let [k] them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither bee afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it? [l] you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, & that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and [m] their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, [n] that they see not nor know: therefore they shall bee confounded.

10 Who hath made [o] a god, or molten an image, that is [p] profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the [q] felowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workmen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and [r] stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The Smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, & fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an [s] hungred, & his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red threed, he planeth it, & he purtreieth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, & according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in [t] an house.

14 He will hewe him down cedars, & take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof, and [u] warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet hee maketh a god, and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he [x] eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe, and saieth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And [y] residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and praieth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: [z] for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as god, is most detestable.

u He setteth forth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by daily experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a god of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idols. x That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers. y The Prophet giueth here an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should bee so blind to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. †Ebr. turneth.

21 [a] Remember theſe (O Iaakob & Iſrael) for thou art my ſeruãt: I haue formed thee: thou art my ſeruant: O Iſrael forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy tranſgreſſions like a cloude, and thy ſinnes, as a miſt: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 [b] Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: ſhoute, ye lower partes of y earth: breake forth into prayſes, ye mountaines, O forreſt and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and will be glorified in Iſrael.

24 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer & he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lorde that made all things, that ſpred out the heauens alone, and ſtretched out the earth by my ſelfe.

25 I deſtroy the [c] tokens of the ſoothſaiers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, & turne the wiſe men backward, and make their knowledge fooliſhneſſe.

27 He ſaieth to the [e] deepe, Bee drie and I will dry vp thy floods.

28 He ſaith to [f] Cyrus, Thou art my ſhepheard: and he ſhal performe all my deſire, ſaying alſo to Ieruſalem, Thou ſhalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation ſhall be ſurely laied.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iuſt in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus ſaith the Lord vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anointed, whoſe right hand I haue holden to [c] ſubdue nations before him: therfore wil I weaken the loines of Kings, & open the doores before him, and the gates ſhall not be ſhut.

2 I will go before thee & make the [d] crooked ſtreight: I will breake the braſen doores, and burſt the iron barres.

3 And I wil giue thee ỹ treaſures of darkneſs, & the things hid in ſecret places, that thou mayeſt [e] know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Iſrael.

4 For Iaakob my ſeruants [f] ſake, and Iſrael mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou haſt not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none other: there is no God beſide me: I [g] girded thee though thou haſt not knowen me.

6 That they may knowe from the riſing of the ſunne, and from the Weſt, that there is none beſides me: I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the [h] light & create darkenes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all theſe things.

8 Ye heauens, ſend the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes drop downe [i] righteouſnes: let the earth open, and let ſaluation and iuſtice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue [k] created him.

9 [l] Woe be vnto him that ſtriueth with his maker, the potherd with the potherds of the earth: ſhall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy worke, [m] It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that ſaith to his father, What haſt thou begotten? or to his mother, What haſt thou brought forth?

11 Thus ſaith the Lord, the holy one of Iſrael, and his maker, Aſke me [n] of things to come concerning my ſonnes, & concerning the workes of mine hands: commaund you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whoſe hands haue ſpread out the heauens, I haue euen commaunded al their [o] armie.

13 I haue raiſed [p] him vp in righteouſnes, and I wil direct al his wayes: he ſhal build my citie, and he ſhall let goe my captiues, not for [q] price nor reward, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord, the labour of [r] Egypt, and the merchandiſe of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of ſtature ſhall come vnto thee, and they ſhalbe [s] thine: they ſhall followe thee, and ſhall goe in chaines: they ſhall fall downe before thee, and make ſupplication vnto thee, ſaying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God beſides.

15 Verely thou, O God, [t] hideſt thy ſelfe, O God, the Sauiour of Iſrael.

16 All they ſhall be aſhamed and alſo confounded: they ſhall goe to confuſion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaued in the Lorde, with an euerlaſting ſaluation: ye ſhall not bee aſhamed nor confounded world without end.

d I will take away all impediments & lets.
e Not that Cyrus did know God to worſhip him aright, but he had a certeine particular knowledge, as prophane mē may haue of his power, & ſo was compelled to deliuer Gods people.
f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthineſſe.
g I haue giuen thee ſtrength, power & authoritie.
h I ſend peace and warre, proſperitie & aduerſitie, as Amos 3.6.
i He comforteth the Iewes, as if he would ſay, Though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for ſucco, ye ſee nothing now but ſignes of Gods wrath, yet I will cauſe them to bring forth moſt certeine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promiſe, which is meant by righteouſnes.
k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vſe and purpoſe.
l Hereby hee forbiddeth their impatiencie, which in aduerſitie and trouble murmure againſt God, and will not tary his pleaſure: willing that man ſhould match with his like & not contend againſt God.
m That is, it is not perfitly made.
n In ſtead of murmuring, humble your ſelues, and aſke what ye will for the conſolation of my children, and you ſhall be ſure of it, as ye are of theſe things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, & make it the application of the ſimilitude.
o That is, the ſtarres.
p To wit, Cyrus, that I may ſhew by him the faithfulneſſe of my promiſe in deliuering my people.

s Whereas thine enemies, they ſhall now honour thee, and thou ſhalt rule them: which was accompliſhed in the time of Chriſt.

19 I haue not spoken in secret, neither [x] in a place of darkenesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you me: I the Lord doe speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come drawe neere together, [y] ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all [z] the endes of the earth shall be saued: for I am God: and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in [a] righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery [b] knee shal bowe vnto me, & euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely [c] he shal say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse & strength: he shall come vnto him, and al that [d] prouoke him, shalbe ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

u To wit, of man, but chiefely of his Church.
x As do the false gods, which giue vncertaine answeres.
y Al ye idolaters which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiect.
z He calleth the idolaters to repentance, willing them to looke vnto him with the eye of faith.
a That is, that thing, which I haue promised, shalbe faithfully performed.
b The knowledge of God and the true worshipping shall be through all the world, Rom. 14. 11. phil. 2. 10. whereby he signifieth that we must not onely serue god in hart but declare the same also by outward profession.
c Meaning, the faithful shal feele & confesse this.
d Al the contemners of God.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his worke.

BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the [b] beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not rid them of the burden, and their [d] soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare haires: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carry you, [f] and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like or make me equal, or [g] compare me, that I should be like him?

6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the ballance, and hire a goldesmith to make a god of it, & they bowe downe, and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carry him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place: Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe [h] to minde, O you transgressers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a [i] birde from the East, and the man of my [k] counsel from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.

13 I bring [m] neere my iustice: it shal not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarry: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon.
b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes & Persians caried them away.
c The beastes that caried the idoles, fel downe vnder their burden.
d He deriseth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32. 11.
f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.
g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruc. 6. 25.
h Become wise, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like madde men.
i That is, Cyrus, which shall come as swift as a bird, and fight against Babylon.
k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.
l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.
m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot aboliish the promises of God, Rom. 3. 3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe & sit in the dust: O [a] virgin, daughter Babel, sit on the ground, there is no [b] throne O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, tender & delicate.

2 Take the mill stones, & [c] grinde meale: loose thy lockes: [d] make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy filthinesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shalbe seene: I wil take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a [e] man.

4 [f] Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel.

5 [g] Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou didst shewe them no [h] mercie, but thou diddest lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saydest, I shall be a lady for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy minde to these things, neither diddest thou remember the latter ende thereof.

8 Therefore nowe heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, & dwellest carelesse, She saith in her heart, I am and none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children, and widowhood: they shall come vpon thee in their [i] perfection, for the multitude of thy diui-

a Which hast liued in wealth and wantonnes, and hast not yet bene ouercome by any enemie.
b Thy gouernement shall be taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things where in she setteth her greatest pride, shall be made vile, euen from the head to the foote.
e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.
f The Israelites shal confesse, that the Lord doeth this for his churches sake.
g For very shame and hide thy selfe.
h They abused gods iudgements, thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, and therefore in steed of pitying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.
i So that thy punishment shall be so great as is possible to be imagined.

nations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou haſt truſted in thy wickednes: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me. Thy [k] wiſdome and thy knowledge, they haue cauſed thee to rebell, and thou haſt ſayd in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore ſhall euill come vpon thee, and thou ſhalt not know the morning thereof: deſtruction ſhal fal vpon thee, which thou ſhalt not be able to put away: deſtruction ſhal come vpon thee ſuddenly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, & in the multitude of thy ſoothſaiers (with whom thou haſt [l] wearied thy ſelfe from thy youth) if ſo be thou maieſt haue profite, or if ſo be thou mayeſt haue ſtrength.

13 Thou art wearied in [y] multitude of thy counſels: let now the aſtrologers, the ſtarre gazers, and prognoſticators ſtand vp, & ſaue thee from theſe things that ſhal come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they ſhalbe as ſtubble: the fire ſhall burne them: they ſhall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there ſhall be no coales [m] to warme at, nor light to ſit by.

15 Thus ſhall they ſerue thee, with whom thou haſt wearied thee, euen thy merchants from thy youth: euery one ſhall wander to his owne [n] quarter: none ſhal ſaue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocriſie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lord alone will be worſhipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

HEare ye this, O houſe of Iaakob, which are [a] called by the name of Iſrael, and are come out of [b] the waters of Iudah: which ſweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in trueth, nor in righteouſneſſe.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and ſtay themſelues [c] vpon the God of Iſrael, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſtes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I ſhewed [d] them: I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſſe.

4 Becauſe I knew, that [e] thou art obſtinate, and thy necke is an iron ſinew, & thy browe braſſe,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to paſſe, I ſhewed [f] it thee, leaſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

5 Thou haſt heard, behold al this, and wil not yee [g] declare it? I haue ſhewed thee new things, euen now, and hid things, which thou kneweſt not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardeſt them not, leaſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Behold, I [h] knewe them.

8 Yet thou heardeſt them not, neither didſt know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of old: for I knew that thou wouldeſt grieuouſly tranſgreſſe: therefore haue I called thee a tranſgreſſer from the [i] wombe.

9 For my Names ſake wil I deferre my wrath, & for my praiſe will I refraine it from thee, [k] that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but [l] not as ſiluer: I haue [m] choſen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne ſake, for mine owne ſake will I doe it: for how ſhould my Name [n] be polluted? [o] ſurely I wil not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare mee, O Iaakob and Iſrael, my called, [p] I am, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt.

13 Surely mine hand hath laied the foundation of the earth, & my right hand hath ſpanned the heauens: when I cal them, [q] they ſtand vp together.

14 All you, aſſemble your ſelues, & heare: which among thē hath declared theſe things? the Lord hath loued [r] him: he will do his wil in Babel, and his arme ſhall be againſt the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue ſpoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way ſhal proſper.

16 Come neere vnto me, heare ye this: I haue not ſpoken it in ſecret from the [ſ] beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirite hath [t] ſent me.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Iſrael, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee [u] to profite, and leade thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt goe.

18 Oh that thou haddeſt hearkened to my commaundements! then had thy proſperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteouſneſſe as the waues of the ſea.

19 Thy ſeed alſo had bene as the ſand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauel thereof: his [x] name ſhould not haue bene cut off nor deſtroied before me.

20 [y] Goe ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans with a voyce of ioy: tell & declare this: ſhew it foorth to the end of the earth: ſay ye, The Lord hath redeemed his ſeruant Iaakob.

21 And they [z] were not thirſty: he led them through the wilderneſſe: he cauſed the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water guſhed out.

22 There is no [a] peace, ſaieth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

k Thou didſt thinke that thine owne wiſedom & policie would haue ſaued thee.

n They ſhal flee euery one to that place which he thought by his ſpeculations to be moſt ſure: but that ſhal deceiue them.

a He detecteth their hypocriſie which vanted themſelues to be Iſraelites, and were not ſo in deed.

b Meaning, the fountaine and rocke.

c They make a theirs, as though they would haue none other God.

d He ſheweth that they could not accuſe him in any thing, for as much as he had performed whatſoeuer he had promiſed.

e I haue done for thee more then I promiſed, that thy ſtubburneſſe and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.

f How thou ſhouldeſt be deliuered out of Babylon.

g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefite and declare it vnto others?

h Shewing that mans arrogancy is the cauſe why god doeth not declare all things at once, leſt they ſhould attribute this knowledge to their owne wiſedom.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy that I did chuſe thee: ſo is it my free mercy that muſt ſaue thee.

l For I had reſpect to thy weakneſſe and infirmitie: for in ſiluer there is ſome puretie, but in vs there is nothing but droſſe.

q To obey me, and to do whatſoeuer I command them.

r Meaning, Cyrus, whō he had choſen to deſtroy Babylon.

ſ Since the time that I declared my ſelfe to your fathers.

t Thus the prophet ſpeaketh of himſelfe, and to aſſure them of theſe things.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

HEare ye me, O iles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called [a] me from [b] the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath hee [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, & hid me in his quiuer,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, [e] Israel, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue [f] laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine & for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, & my worke with my God.

5 And nowe saieth the Lord that formed me from the wombe to be his seruaunt, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength)

6 And he said, It is a smal thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluation vnto the ende of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, & his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [i] seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and [k] arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, and wil giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the [n] earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou mayest say to the [o] prisoners, Goe forth: and to them that are in darknesse, Shew your selues: they shal feed in the waies, and their [p] pastures shalbe in all the tops of the hils.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirstie, neither shal the heate smite thē, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion [q] on them, shal lead them: euen to the springs of waters shal he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountains, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Behold, these shal come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: braste forth into prayse, O mountains: for God hath comforted his people, & will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath [s] forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet wil I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine [u] hands: thy [x] walls are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make [y] haste: thy destroiers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselues together, and come to thee: as I liue, saieth the Lord, thou shalt surely [z] put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narow for them that shal dwel in it, & they that did deuour thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for me: giue place to me that I may dwel.

21 Thē shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begottē me these, seeing I am barren, and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saieth the Lord God, Behold, I wil lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles, and set vp my standart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: & thy daughters shalbe caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shalbe thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nurses: they shal worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete: & thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shal not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the praie be [d] taken frō the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, [e] euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall be taken away: and the praie of the tyrant shalbe deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I wil saue thy children, 26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their own blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy sauiour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ to allure the faithful, that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.
b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Pl. 2.7
c By the sword & shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.
d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.
e By Israel is meant Christ, & al the body of the faithfull, as the members and their head.
f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approoued of God.
g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approoue my ministerie.
h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42.6. acts 13.47. luke 2.32.
i Meaning, the Iewes whom tyrants kept in bondage.
k The benefit of their deliuerance shalbe so great, that great and small shal acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.
l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercy toward it, 2 Cor. 6.2.
m Meaning, Christ alone.
n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder.
o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.
p Being in Christes protection they shal be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.
q Meaning, that there should bee nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.
r Meaning, the South country, so that Christ shal deliuer his from al the parts of the world.
s Read Chap. 44.23.
t He obiecteth what the faithful might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude, and ful of consolation.
u Because I would not forget thee.
x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.
y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.
z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God & gouerned by his spirit.
a He sheweth that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes but also of the Gentiles.
b Meaning, that Kings shalbe conuerted to the Gospel, & forsake their power and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.
c Being ioyned with the Church they shal humble themselues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.
d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.
e This is the answere to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them.
f I will cause them to be strong one against another, as Iudg. 7.22. 2. Chron. 20.22. Chap. 19.2.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christes obedience and victorie.

THus saieth the Lord, Where is that [a] bill of your mothers diuorcement, [b] whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor [c] to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, and there was no man? I called, & none answered: is mine hand so [e] shortened, that it cannot help? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fishe rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, and make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is [h] wearie: he will raise mee vp in the morning: in the morning he will waken mine eare to heare, [i] as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the [k] smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who wil contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe mee: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shal ware olde as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darknes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle [m] a fire, and are compassed about with sparks: walke in ỹ light of your fire, and in the sparks that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: yee shall lie downe in sorow.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but thorow her own occasion, as Hos. 2. 2.
b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.
c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debt or pouertie, but that they sold themselues to sins to buy their owne lusts and pleasures.
d He came by his prophets and ministers, but they would not beleeue their doctrine and conuert.
e Am I not able to helpe you as I haue holpen your fathers of old, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iozden?
f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10. 21.
g The prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods word.
h To him that is oppressed by affliction & misery.
i As they that are taught and made meete by him.
k I did not shrink from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompense of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.
l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hel to heauen.
m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation, which God hath offred: therefore ye shal remaine in sorow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

HEare mee, ye [a] that follow after righteousnesse, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the [b] rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shal comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and hee shall make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernesse like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shalbe found therein: praise, and the voice of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, & giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a [d] Lawe shall proceed from me, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My [e] righteousnesse is neere: my saluation goeth foorth, and mine [f] armes shall iudge the people: the iles shal waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, & looke vpon the earth beneath: for the [g] heauens shal vanish away like smoke, & the earth shall ware olde like a garment, and they that dwel therein, shal perish in like maner, but my saluation shal be for euer, and my righteousnesse shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousnes, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the mothe shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousnesse shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as [h] in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon.

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea away for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shal [l] returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shal obteine ioy, and gladnesse: and sorow & mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am hee, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, & the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, a He comforteth the Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small number.

b That is, to Abraham, of whom ye were begotten, and to Sarah, of whom ye were borne.
c As plentiful as Paradise, Gen. 2. 3. d I will rule, and gouerne my Church by my word and doctrine.
e The time that I will accomplish my promes.
f My power and strength.
g He foreshewneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of al things, and how he will preserue his Church in the midst of all these dangers.
h He putteth them in remembrance of his great benefite for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.
i Meaning, Egypt. Psal. 87. 4. k To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek. 29. 3.
l From Babylon.

ſour, which is ready to deſtroy? Where is now the rage of the oppreſſour?

14 The captiue [m] hasteneth to be looſed, and that he ſhould not die in the pit, nor that his bread ſhould faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the ſea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy [n] mouth, and haue defended thee in the ſhadow of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and ſay vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and ſtand vp, O Ieruſalem, which haſt drunke at the hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou haſt drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the ſonnes, whom ſhe hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the ſonnes that ſhe hath brought vp.

19 Theſe two [q] things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? deſolation and deſtruction and famine, and the ſword: by whom ſhall I comfort thee?

20 Thy ſonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the ſtreetes as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare nowe this, thou miſerable and drunken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus ſayeth thy Lorde God, euen God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou ſhalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that ſpoile thee: which haue ſaid to thy ſoule, Bowe downe, that we may goe ouer, and thou haſt laide thy body as the ground, and as the ſtreete to them that went ouer.

m He comforteth them by the ſhort time of their baniſhment: for in ſeuentie yeeres they were reſtored, & the greateſt empire of the world deſtroyed.
n Meaning of Iſaiah, and of all true miniſters, who are defended by his protection.
o That al things may be reſtored in heauen and earth, Eph. 1.10 p Thou haſt bin iuſtly puniſhed and ſufficiently, as Chap. 40.2. and this puniſhment in the elect is by meaſure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iuſt vengeance of God to driue them to an inſenſibleneſſe, and madneſſe, as Jerem. 25.15,16.
q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the body: as warre and famine: and the other is inward, and appertaineth to the minde that is, to be without comfort: therefore he ſaith, how ſhalt thou be comforted?
r But with trouble and feare.

CHAP. LII.

1 A conſolation to the people of God. 7 Of the meſſengers thereof.

ARiſe, ariſe: put on thy ſtrength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ieruſalem, the holy citie: for henceforth there ſhall no [a] more come into thee the vncircumciſed and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy ſelfe from the [b] duſt: ariſe, and ſit downe, O Ieruſalem: looſe the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye were ſold for [c] nought: therefore ſhall ye be redeemed without money.

a No wicked tyrant, which ſhall ſubuert Gods true religion, and oppreſſe the conſciences.
b Put off the garments of ſorow and heauineſſe, and put on the apparell of ioy and gladnes.
c The Babylonians paid nothing to me for you therefore I will take you againe without ranſome.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God, My people went [d] downe afore time into Egypt, to ſoiourne there, and Aſſur [e] oppreſſed them without cauſe,

5 Nowe therefore what haue I here ſaith the Lorde, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, ſaith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is [f] blaſphemed?

6 Therefore my people ſhall knowe my Name: therefore they ſhall know in that day, that I am he that doe ſpeake: behold, it is I.

7 How [g] beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publiſheth peace! that declareth good tidings, and publiſheth ſaluation, ſaying vnto Zion, thy God reigneth!

8 [h] The voyce of thy watchmen ſhall be heard: they ſhall lift vp their voyce, and ſhoute together: for they ſhal ſee eye to eye, when the Lord ſhall bring againe Zion.

9 O ye deſolate places of Ieruſalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ieruſalem.

10 The Lord hath made [i] bare his holy arme in the ſight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth ſhall ſee the ſaluation of our God.

11 [k] Depart, depart yee: goe out from thence and touch no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that [l] beare the veſſels of the Lord.

12 For ye ſhall not goe out [m] with haſte, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Iſrael will gather you together.

13 Beholde, my [n] ſeruant ſhall proſper: he ſhall be exalted and extolled, and be very hie.

14 As many were aſtonied at thee (his viſage was ſo [o] deformed of men, and his forme of the ſonnes of men) ſo [p] ſhall he ſprinkle many nations: the kings ſhal ſhut their [q] mouthes at him: for that which had not bene told them, ſhall they ſee, and that which they had not heard, ſhall they [r] vnderſtand.

d When Iacob went thither in time of famine.
e The Egyptians might pretend ſome cauſe to oppreſſe my people becauſe they went thither and remained among them, but the Aſſyrians haue no title to excuſe their tyrannie by: and therefore will I puniſh them more then I did the Egyptians.
f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.
g Signifying, that the ioy and good tidings of their deliuerance ſhould make their affliction in the meane time more eaſie: but this is chiefly meant of the ſpirituall ioy, as Nahum. 1.15. rom. 10. 15.
h The prophets which are thy watchmen ſhall publiſh this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah, but was accompliſhed vnder Chriſt.
i As ready to ſmite mine enemies and to deliuer his people.
k He warneth the faithfull not to pollute themſelues with the ſuperſtitions of the Babylonians, as Chap. 48. 20. 2. Cor. 6. 17.
l For the time is at hand, that the Prieſts and Leuites chiefly (and ſo by them all the people which ſhall be as Leuites in this office) ſhall carie home the veſſels of the Temple which Nebuchadnezzar had taken away.
m As your fathers did out of Egypt.
n Meaning, Chriſt, by whom our ſpirituall deliuerance ſhould be wrought, whereof this was a figure.
o In the corrupt iudgement of man, Chriſt in his perſon was not eſteemed.
p He ſhall ſpread his worde through many nations.
q In ſigne of reuerence, and as being aſtoniſhed at his excellencie.
r By the preaching of the Goſpel.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Chriſt and his kingdome, whoſe word fewe will beleeue. 6 All men are ſinners. 11 Chriſt is our righteouſneſſe, 12 And is dead for our ſinnes.

WHo [a] will beleeue our reporte? and to whom is the [b] arme of the Lord reuealed?

2 But he ſhall growe vp before him as a a The Prophet foreſeeth that very fewe ſhall receiue this their preaching of Chriſt, and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn. 12.38. Rom. 10.16.

b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whom hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirite.

c The beginning of Christs kingdome shalbe smal and cõtemptible in the sight of man, but it shall growe wonderfully, and flourish before God.
d Reade Chap. 11.1.

g We iudged euill, thinking that he was punished for his owne sins, and not for ours.
h He was chastised for our reconciliation, 1.Cor.15.3.

branch, and as a c roote out of a drie d ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that we should desire him.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of e infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and caried f our sorowes: yet we did iudge him, as g plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the h chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laide vpon him the i iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not k open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken out from l prison, and from iudgement: m and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceite in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when o he shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seede & shal prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shal see of the p trauaile of his soule, and shalbe satisfied: by his knowledge shall my q righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he r hath powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressers, and he bare the sinne s of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

REioyce, O a barren that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy & reioyce, thou that didest not trauaile with childe: for the b desolate hath moe children then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 c Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproche of thy e widowhoode any more.

5 For he that f made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole g world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a h yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercie haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto me as the i waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remoue and the hils shal fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with k the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs.

12 And I will make thy windowes of ‖ emerauds, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be l taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In m righteousnesse shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare: for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemie shall gather himselfe but without n me: whosoeuer shal gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shal fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the p smith that bloweth

b The Church in this her affliction and captiuitie shall bring foorth mor children then when she was at libertie: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childehoode, and therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.
c Signifying, that for the great number of children, that God should giue her, she should seeme to want roume to lodge them.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that [a] thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue [b] no siluer come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye [c] wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? [d] and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in [e] fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shal liue, and I wil make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the [f] sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, [h] and a nation that knewe not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while he may [i] be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked [k] forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lorde, and he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgiue.

8 For my [l] thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your waies my waies, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my waies higher then your waies, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, & returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring foorth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth.

11 So shal my [m] word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voide, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shal prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shal goe out with ioy, and be ledde foorth with peace: the [n] mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the fielde shall clap their handes.

13 For thornes there shal grow firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shalbe to the Lord [o] for a name, and for an euerlasting [p] signe that shall not be taken away.

a Christ by proposing his graces and giftes to his Church exciteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lustes, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefites cannot be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessarie to the spirituall life, as these are necessarie to this corporall life.

d He reproueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obteine those, which are nothing profitable.

e You shalbe fed abundantly.

f The same couenant, which through my mercie, I ratified & confirmed to Dauid, that it should be eternal, 2. Sa. 7. 13. acts. 13. 34.

g Meaning, Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou didst not receiue to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

k Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioined with faith, and how we can not call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare. l Although you are not soone reconciled one to an other, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you. m If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shal my promes which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe that thing which I haue spoken for your deliuerance. n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

o To set forth his glory.

p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against shepheards that deuoure their flocke.

THus saith the Lord, [a] Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my [b] righteousnesse to be reueiled.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the [c] Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which [d] is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine [e] House and within my walles, a place and a [f] name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt & offerings and their sacrifices shalbe accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shall be called an house of prayer for [h] all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye [i] beastes of the fielde, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest.

10 Their [k] watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they cannot barke: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them: to wit, the workes of charitie, whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

d Let none think himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lord: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and will forsake none which will keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.

e Meaning, in his Church.

f They shall be called after my people, and be of the same religion: yea, vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithfull shall be greater then the Iewes were at that time.

g Hereby he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer continuall thanksgiuing, yea themselues and all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.

h Not onely for the Iewes but for all others, Matth. 21. 13.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites and to affraie the faithfull, that when this commeth, they may know it was told them before.

k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, Prophets, and Pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to [l] morowe shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

l We are well yet, and to morow shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away [a] from the euill to come.

2 [b] Peace shal come: they shal rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.

3 But you [c] witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer & of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seede?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the [d] children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rockes?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones [e] of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in [f] these?

7 Thou hast made thy [g] bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behinde the [h] doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and diddest [i] enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the kings with oile, and diddest increase thine ointments and send thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneyes, yet saydest thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieued.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast [n] lyed vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy mind thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long [o] time? therefore thou fearest not me.

a From the plague that is at hand, & also because God will punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shalbe in ioy and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.

c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people detided Gods word and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

d Reade Leuit. 18.21.2.king. 23.10.

e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie: for euery faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.

f In the sacrifices which you offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.

g To wit, thine altars, in an open place like an impudent harlot that careth not for the sight of her husband.

h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the postes & doores to haue it in remembrance, Deu. 6.9. & 27.1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatrie in euery place.

i That is, diddest increase thine idolatrie more and more.

k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts and presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, and more & more diddest torment thy selfe.

l Although thou sawest all thy labours to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault and leaue off.

m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence which thought to haue made all sure, & yet were deceiued.

n Broken promes with me.

o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie, and growe to farther wickednesse.

12 I will declare thy [p] righteousnesse and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee.

13 When thou criest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall [q] take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 [r] And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blockes out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirite to reuiue the spirite of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, [s] for the spirite should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked [t] couetousnesse, I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and wil [u] heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the [x] fruite of the lippes, to be peace: peace vnto them that are [y] farre off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lorde: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can [z] not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dyrt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

p That is, thy naughtines, idolatries and impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

q Meaning, the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.

s I will not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast.

t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.

u Though they were obstinate, yet I did not withdraw my mercie from them.

x That is, I frame the speech and wordes of my messengers which shall bring peace.

y As well to him that is in captiuitie, as to him that remaineth at home.

z Their euill conscience doth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest vnto Chap. 48.22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers, 2 The works of the hypocrits, 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

CRie [a] aloude, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob their sinnes.

2 Yet they [b] seeke me dayly, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will drawe neere vnto God, saying,

3 [c] Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke [d] your will, and require all your debts.

4 Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce a The Lord thus speaketh to the prophet, willing him to vse all diligence and fearfulnesse to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They will seeme to worship me and haue outward holinesse.

c He setteth forth the malice and dilsaine of the hypocrites which grudge against God if their workes be not accepted.

d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table and by their duetie toward their neighbour that they haue neither faith nor religiõ.

voyce to be [e] heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull ruth, and to lie downe in sackecloth and ashes: wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednesse, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery [f] yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from [g] thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy light breake foorth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy [i] righteousnesse shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt crie, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the [k] finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou [l] powre out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the [m] darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the olde [n] waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou [o] turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lorde, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine worde.

14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lorde, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

e So long as you vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayer shall not be heard.

f That you leaue off all your extortions.

g For in him thou seest thy selfe as in a glasse.

h That is the prosperous estate, wherewith God will blesse thee.

i The testimonie of thy goodnesse shall appeare before God and man.

k Whereby is meant all maner of iniurie.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries.

m Thine aduersitie shalbe turned into prosperitie.

n Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such, as should build againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose buildets were the Apostles.

o If thou refraine thy selfe from thy wicked workes.

2 But *your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hidde his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with [a] blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man [b] contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and [c] bring foorth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice [d] egs, and weaue the spiders [e] web: he that eateth of their egs, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webs shalbe no garment, neither shal they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to euill, and they make hast to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their pathes.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked pathes: whosoeuer goeth therein, shal not know peace.

9 Therfore is [f] iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth [g] iustice come neere vnto vs, wee waite for light, but lo it is darknes: for brightnes, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the [h] blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our [k] sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttring out of the heart false [l] matters.

14 Therfore [m] iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe [n] a praie: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee sawe that there was no man, he wondered that none would offer himselfe. [o] Therefore his arme did [p] saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repay the [r] ylands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemie shall [s] come like a flood: but the spirite of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto [t] them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord, My spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, [u] shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lorde, from henceforth euen for euer.

r To wit, your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.
s He sheweth that there shalbe great affliction in the Church, but God will euer deliuer his.
t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God whom he iustifieth.
u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the spirite, he ioineth the one with the other, and promiseth to giue them both to his Church for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospell. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

ARise, O Ieruſalem: be bright, for thy [a] light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darkenesse shall couer the [b] earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde: all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonied [e] and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shal come vnto thee.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe forth the prayses of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of [g] Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these [i] that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?

b Signifying, that all men are in darknesse till God giue them the light of his Spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.
c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.
d An infinite number from all countreis, as Chap. 49. 18.
e For ioy, as the heart is drawen in for sorowe.
f Meaning, that euery one shall honour the Lord with that, wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.
g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattell.

9 Surely the iles shal waite for me, & the ships [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, & their siluer, and their gold with them, vnto the name of the Lorde thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their [l] Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they bee shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may bee brought.

12 For the nation and the [m] kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The [n] glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the bore tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my [o] feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall [p] downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shal call thee, The citie of the Lorde, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no mã went by thee, I wil make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, & shalt sucke the [q] breasts of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lorde am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring gold, and for iron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones iron. I will also make thy gouernment [r] peace, and thine exactors righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more bee heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt cal [s] saluation, thy wals, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shal the brightnes of the [t] moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shal thy moone be hid: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the [u] graffe of my planting shall be the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a [x] thousand k The Gentiles that are nowe enemies, shall become friends and setters forth of the Church.

l Meaning, Cyrus and his successors: but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ being conuerted by his Gospel.
m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authoritie here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profite the same, shalbe destroyed.
n There is nothing so excellent which shall not serue the necessitie of the Church.
o Signifying, that Gods maiestie is not included in the Temple, which is but the place for his feete, that we may learne to rise vp to the heauens.
p To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.
q Both the and lowe shall be readie to helpe and succour thee.
r Thy gouernours shall loue thee and seeke thy wealth and prosperitie.
s Meaning, not a temporal felicitie, but a spirituall, which is fulfilled in Christes kingdome.
t Signifying, that all worldly meanes shall cease, and that Christ shalbe all in all, as Reuel. 21. 22. & 22. 5.
u The children of the Church.
x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

h Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Ebr. 13. 10. he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe. i Shewing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He propheseith that Christ shall be anointed, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THe * spirit of the Lord God is a vpon me, therefore hath the Lord anointed me: he hath sent me to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp b broken hearted, to preach libertie to the c captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the d acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of e vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for f ashes, the oile of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirite of heauinesse, that they might be called g trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lorde, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many h generations.

5 And the stranger shall i stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named k the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: Ye shall eate the l riches of the Gentiles, and shall be exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shal receiue m double, and for confusion n they shall reioyce in o their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the p double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate q robberie for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in trueth, and will make an enerlasting couenant with them.

9 And r their seede shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their budde among the people. All that see them, shall knowe them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed.

10 ſ I wil greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousnesse: he hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tireth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnesse to growe, and prayse before all the heathen.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christes comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOr Zions sake I will not a holde my tongue, and for Jerusalems sake I wil not rest, vntill the righteousnesse thereof breake foorth as the b light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnesse, and all kings thy glorie: and thou shalt be called by c a newe name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a d crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shal no more be said vnto thee, e Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy lande, Desolate, but thou shalt be called ‖ Hephzi-bah, and thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an f husband.

5 For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shall thy sonnes g marrie thee: ſ as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set h watchmen vpon thy wals, O Jerusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: i ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire and vntill he set vp Jerusalem the k prayse of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme. Surely I will no more giue thy corne to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courtes of my Sanctuarie.

10 l Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the endes of the world: m tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauiour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and n his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A o citie sought out & not forsaken.

* Luke 4.18.

a This apperteineth to all the Prophets and ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth accordyng as it pleaseth him to distribute.

b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

c Which are in the bondage of sinne.

d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauour to men, which S. Paul calleth the fulnesse of time, Galat. 4.4.

e For when God deliuereth his Church, he punisheth his enemies.

f Which was the signe of mourning.

g Trees that bring foorth good fruites, as Mat. 3.8.

h That is, for a long time.

i They shall be ready to serue you in all your necessities.

k This is accomplished in the time of Christ, by whom all the faithfull are made Priestes and Kings, 1. Pet. 2.9. reuel. 1.6. and 5.10.

l Reade Chap. 60.11,16.

m Abundant recompence, as this word is vsed, Chap. 40.2.

n That is, the Iewes.

o To wit, of the Gentiles.

p Where as the Gentiles had dominion ouer the Iewes in time past, nowe they shall haue double authoritie ouer them. q possesse twise so much.

q I will not receiue their offering, which are extortioners, deceiuers, hypocrites, or that depriue me of my glory. r That is, of the Church. ſ He sheweth what shall be the affection, when they feele this their deliuerance.

a The Prophet saith that he will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.

b Till they haue full deliuerance: and this the prophet speaketh to incourage all other ministers to the setting foorth of Gods mercies toward his Church.

c Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto.

d He shall esteeme thee as deare and precious, as a king doth his crowne.

e Thou shalt no more be contemned as a woman forsaken of her husband.

‖ Or, my deligh in her.

‖ Or, married.

f That it may be replenished with children.

g Forasmuch as they confesse one faith and religion with thee, they are in the same bond of marriage with thee, and they are called the children of the Church, inasmuch as Christ maketh her plentifull to bring foorth children vnto him.

h Prophets, pastours, and ministers.

i He exhorteth the ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the same.

k For the restauration whereof all the world shal prayse him.

l Signifying the great number that shall come to the Church, & what means he woulde prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap. 57.14.

m He sheweth the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ. Zach. 9.9. mat. 21.5.

n He shal haue al power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap. 40.10.

o That is, one ouer whom God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was fall.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shal destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefites towards his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah: he is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength: [b] I speake in righteousnesse, and am mightie to saue.

2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparell red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

3 I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with me: for I will treade them in mine anger, and treade them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the [d] yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne [e] arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will treade downe the people in my wrath, and make them [f] drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will [g] remember the mercies of the Lord, and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnes toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For he said, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lie: so he was their Sauiour.

9 In all their troubles he was [i] troubled, and the Angel [k] of his presents saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and hee bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy spirite: therefore was hee turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.

11 Then he [l] remembred the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them vp out of the Sea with the [m] sheepeheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy spirite within [n] him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses: with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an [o] horse in the wildernesse, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the spirite of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 [p] Looke downe from heauen, and beholde from the dwelling place of thine holines, and of thy glory. Where is thy [q] zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from [r] me.

16 Doubtles thou art our father: though [s] Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lorde, why hast [t] thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy [u] seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it, but a litle [x] while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue beene as they, ouer whom thou neuer baredst rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

a This prophecie is against the Idumeans, and enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here set forth all bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were the greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision and the kinred of Abraham claimed to themselues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psalme 137.7.

b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Be see nowe performed in deede the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.

c Another question, to the which the Lord answereth.

d Shewing, that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profite and deliuerance of his Church.

e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to doe their duetie through negligence, and ingratitude, yet he himselfe will deliuer his church, and punish the enemies, Reade Chap. 59.16.

f I will so astonish them, and make them so giddie, that they shall not knowe which way to go.

g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefites in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceiue mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes, as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation.

l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted, called to remembrance Gods benefites, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past.

m Meaning, Moses.

n That is, in Moses, that he might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the spirite to the people.

o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture.

p Hauing declared Gods benefites shewed to their forefathers, he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them.

q The great affection which thou hast toward vs.

r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church.

s Though Abraham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our Father.

t By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs, by whom we were gouerned, and so for our ingratitude didst deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, & iust punish sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgement.

u Meaning, for the couenants sake made to Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob his seruants.

x That is, in respect of the promise, which is perpetuall: albeit they had nowe possessed the land of Canaan, a thousand and foure hundred yeeres: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remember his couenant then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthie cloth.

OH, that thou wouldest [a] breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burneth, as the fire causeth [b] the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries:) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou didst terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not [c] heard nor vnderstand with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou didst meete him, [d] that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy [e] wayes: beholde, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in [f] them is continuance, and we [g] shall be saued.

6 But we haue all beene as an vncleane thing, and all our [h] righteousnesse is as filthie clouts, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mightie power, as hee did in mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder and lightnings.

c Saint Paul vseth the same kind of admiration, 1. Cor. 2. 9. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church by the preaching of the Gospel.

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers, while they trusted in thee, and walked after thy commandements.

e They considered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which he calleth the wayes of the Lord.

g Then wilt haue pitie vpon vs.

h We are iustly punished and brought into case we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnesse, and best vertues are before thee as vile clouts, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father, we are the [i] clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, [k] aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

10 [l] Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernesse, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie, and of our glory, [m] where our fathers praysed thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy selfe still [n] at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children.

k For so the flesh iudgeth, when God doeth not immediatly send succour.

l Which were dedicate to thy seruice, and to call vpon thy name.

m Wherein we inuocated and worshipped thee. n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glorie? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glorie thus to be diminished.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles, and the reiection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

I Haue beene sought of them that [a] asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I said, Behold me, behold me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue [b] spread out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne [c] imaginations.

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in [d] gardens, and burneth incense vpon [e] brickes.

4 Which remaine among the [f] graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate [g] Swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, [h] Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that [i] burneth all the day.

6 Beholde, it is [k] written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shall be [l] together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpō the hils: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I wil bring a seede out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shal dwel there.

10 And [n] Sharon shalbe a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattel of my people, that haue sought me.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, & furnished the drinke offrings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I [p] number you to the sword, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answere: I [q] spake, and ye heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God, Behold, my seruants shall [r] eate, and ye shall be hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: behold, my seruants shal reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed.

14 Behold, my seruants shal sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall cry for sorow of heart, and shal howle for veration of mind.

15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lorde God shall slay you and cal his seruants by [t] another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the [u] earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

15 For loe, I will create [y] new heaues and a new earth: and the former shal not be remembred nor come into mind.

18 But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shal create: for behold, I wil create Ierusalem, as a reioycing and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall bee no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath [z] not filled his dayes: for hee that shall bee an hundred yeeres olde, shall die as a yoong man: but the sinner being [a] an hundred yeeres old shalbe accursed.

21 And they shall [b] builde houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruite of them.

22 They shall not builde, and another inhabite: they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in olde age the worke of their hands.

a Meaning, the Gentiles which knewe not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts with his holy spirite, Rom. 10. 20.

b He sheweth the cause of the reiection of the Iewes, because they would not obey him for any admonition of his Prophets, by whom he called them continually, and stretched out his hand to draw them.

c He sheweth, that to delight in their owne fantasies, is the declining frō God, and the beginning of all superstition and idolatrie.

d Which were dedicate to idoles.

e Meaning, their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.

f To consult with spirits, and to coniure deuils, which was forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Leuit. 11. 7. deut. 14. 8.

h He sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioyned with pride and contempt of others.

i Their punishment shall neuer haue ende. k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten. l Shall be both punished together: and this declareth howe the children are punished for their fathers faultes: to wit, when the same faultes or like are found in them. m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when he destroyeth the rotten flockes, that is, the hypocrites.

n Which was a plentifull place in Iudea to feede therepe, as Achor was for cattell.

o By the multitude and number he meaneth their innumerable idoles, of whom they thought they could neuer haue enough.

p Seeing you cannot number your gods, I will number you with the sword.

q By my Prophets, whom ye would not obey.

r By these words. Eate and drinke, he meaneth the blessed life of the faithfull, which haue alwayes consolation, and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lacke these corporall things.

s Meaning, that he would call the Gentiles, who should abhorre euen the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake.

t Then by the name of the Iewes.

u By blessing and by swearing is meant praysing of God for his benefits, and the true worshipping of him, which shall not be onely in Iudea, but thorow all the world.

x I will no more suffer my Church to be desolate as in times past.

y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a newe world.

z Meaning, in this wonderfull restauration of the Church, there shoulde be no weakenesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should be fresh and flourishing: and this is accomplished in the heauenly Ierusalem, when all sinnes shall cease, and the teares shall be wiped away.

a Whereby he sheweth that the infidels and vnrepentant sinners haue no part of this benediction.

b He proposeth to the faithfull the blessings which are conteined in the Law, and so vnder temporall things comprehendeth the spirituall promises.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring foorth in feare: for they are ꝑ seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will answere, and whiles they speake, I will heare.

c Reade Chap. 11.6.

25 The [c] wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lion shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

THus saith the Lord, [x] The [a] heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestoole: where is that house that ye will builde vnto me? and where is that place of my rest?

*Act. 7.48,49.

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, & therefore cannot be included in a temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

2 For all these things hath mine hand made, [b] and all these things haue beene, saith the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of a [c] contrite spirit and trembleth at my wordes.

b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices were made and done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no need thereof, and that he can be without them, Psal. 50.10.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerence and feare.

3 He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he [d] slewe a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogs necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

d Because the Iewes thought themselues holy by offering of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that he both no lesse detest their ceremonies, then he doth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogs, and swine to their idoles, which things were expressly forbidden in the lawe.

4 Therefore will I [e] chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpō them: because I called, and none would answere: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not.

e I will discouer their wickednesse and hypocrisie, wherewith they thinke to blinde mine eyes, to all the world.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his [f] word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shalbe ashamed.

f He incourageth the faithfull by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites, and hated them that feared God.

6 [g] A voyce soundeth from the citie: euen a voice from ꝑ Temple, the voice of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voyce, euen fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance.

7 Before [h] shee traueiled, shee brought foorth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe.

h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contrary to all mens opinions: as when a woman is deliuered before shee looked for it, and that without paine in trauelle.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall the earth be brought foorth in one [i] day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion traueiled, she brought foorth her children.

i This shall passe the capacitie of man, to see such a multitude that shall come vp at once, meaning vnder the preaching of the Gospel, whereof they that come vp out of Babylon, were a figure.

9 Shall I [k] cause to trauell, & not bring foorth? shall I cause to bring foorth, and shall be barren, saith thy God?

k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prouidence woman trauaileth and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring foorth his Church at his time appointed.

10 Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, & be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her,

11 That ye may sucke [l] and be satisfied with the breasts of her cōsolation: that ye may milke out and be delighted with the brightnesse of her glorie.

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefites that God bestoweth vpon his Church.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend [m] peace ouer her like a flood, & the glory of the [n] Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be [o] borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

m I will giue her felicitie, and prosperitie in great abundance.

n Reade Chap. 60.16.

o Ye shall be cherished as her dearely beloued children.

13 As one whom her mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your hearts shall reioyce, and your [p] bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shalbe knowen among his seruants, & his indignation among his enemies.

p Ye shall haue new strength and newe beautie.

15 For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlewind, that he may [q] recompence his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

q This vengeance God began to execute at the destruction of Babylon, and hath euer continued it against the enemies of his Church, and will doe till the last day, which shall be the accomplishment thereof.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie [r] themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating [s] Swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the Mouse, shalbe consumed together, saith the Lord.

r Meaning, the hypocrites.

s Whereby are meant them that did maliciously transgresse the Lawe, by eating beastes forbidden, euen to the Mouse, which nature abhorreth.

18 For I will visite their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my [t] glorie.

t The Gentiles shall be partakers of that glorie, which before I shewed to the Iewes.

19 And I will set a [u] signe among them, and will send those that [x] escape of them, vnto the nations of [y] Tarshish, [z] Pul, and [a] Lud, and to them that drawe the [b] bowe, to [c] Tubal and [d] Iauan, yles afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and [e] they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles.

u I will marke these that I chuse, that they perish not with the rest of the idoels: whereby he alludeth to the marking of the postes of his people, whom he preserued, Exod. 12.7.

x I will scatter the rest of the Iewes, which escape destruction, into diuers nations.

20 And they shall bring all your [f] brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of al nations, vpon [g] horses, and in charets, and in horse litters, and vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Ierusalem mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel offer in a cleane vessel in the house of the Lord.

y That is, Cilicia. z Meaning Affrica. a To wit, Lydia, or Asia minor. b Signifying, the Parthians. c Italy. d Grecia. e Meaning, the Apostles, Disciples, & others, which he did first chuse of the Iewes to preach vnto the Gentiles. f That is, the Gentiles, which by faith shall be made the children of Abraham, as you are. g Whereby hee meaneth that no necessarie meanes shall want, when God shall call the Gentiles to the knowledge of the Gospel.

21 And

21 And I will take of them for [h] Priestes and for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the newe [i] heauens, and the new earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall goe forth, and looke vpon the [k] carkases of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their [l] worme shall not die, neither shal their fire be quenched, and they shall be an abhorring [m] vnto all flesh.

h To wit, of the Gentiles, as he did Luke, Timothie, and Titus first, and others after to preach his word.

i Hereby he signifieth the kingdome of Christ wherein his Church shall be renued, and whereas before there were appointed seasons to sacrifice: in this there shalbe one continuall Sabbath, so that all times and seasons shall be meete.

k As he hath declared the felicitie that shall be within y Church for the comfort of the godly, so doeth he shew what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church.

l Meaning, a continuall torment of consciences, which shall euer gnawe them, and neuer suffer them to be at rest, Mark.9.44.

m This is the iust recompence for the wicked, which contemning God and his word, shall be by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeere vnder the said king, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yeere, besides the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First, the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next, how the Prophets and Ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shewe his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preseruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

THe [a] wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of [b] Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at [c] Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

3 To whom the [d] worde of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the [e] sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift [f] moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I [g] formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the [h] nations.

6 Then said I, [i] Oh, Lord God, beholde, I cannot speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I commaund thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraide of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand and [k] touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the [l] nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant.

11 After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a [m] rod of an almond tree.

12 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething [n] pot looking out of the North.

a That is, the sermons and prophesies.

b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the lawe vnder king Iosiah, 2.King.22.8.

c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priestes, the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh.21.18.

d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: for as much as he did not presume of himselfe to preach, and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God.

e Meaning, the nephewe of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer.

f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were carried away into Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar.

g The scripture vseth this maner of speech to declare, that God had appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa.49.1.gal.1.15.

h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, and other nations.

i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatenings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing howe hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa.6.11. Exod.3.11. and 4.1.

i Which declareth that God maketh them meete and assureth them, whom he calleth to set forth his glorie, giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Ex.4.12. Isa.6.6.

k He sheweth what is the authoritie of God's true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer listeth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and edifie the humble, and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word, 2.Cor.10.4. Ephe.4.12.

l He ioyneth the signe with the word for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first budded, the hastie comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.

m Signifying, that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a pot to seethe the Iewes, which boyled in their pleasures and lustes.

14 Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, Out of the o North ſhall a plague be ſpread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come, and euery one ſhall ſet his throne in the entring of the gates of Ieruſalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednelle of them that haue forſaken me, and haue burnt incenſe vnto other gods, and worſhipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore truſſe vp thy loynes, and ariſe and ſpeake vnto them all that I command thee: be not afraid of their faces, leſt I q deſtroy thee before them.

18 For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar and walles of braſſe againſt the whole land, againſt the Kings of Iudah, and againſt the princes thereof, againſt the Prieſt thereof and againſt the people of the land.

19 For they ſhall fight againſt thee, but they ſhall not preuaile againſt thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

o Syria & Aſſyria were Northward in reſpect of Ieruſalem, which were the Caldeans dominion.
p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance againſt the idolaters, which haue forſaken me for their idoles.
q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared againſt them, which dare not execute their duetie faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cauſe, 1. Cap. 9. 16.
r Signifying on the one part, that the more that Satan, and the world rage againſt Gods miniſters, the more preſent will he be to helpe them, Ioſh. 1. 5. heb. 13. 5 and on the other part, that they are vtterly vnmeete to ſerue God, and his Church, which are afraid, and do not reſiſt wickednelle, whatſoeuer danger depend therevpon, Iſa. 50. 7. Ezek. 3. 8.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearſeth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Againſt the Prieſts and falſe prophets. 12 The Iewes are deſtroyed, becauſe they forſake God.

MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Goe, and crie in the eares of Ieruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindneſſe of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wenteſt after me in the wildernes b in a land that was not ſowen.

3 Iſrael was as a thing c hallowed vnto the Lord, and his firſt fruites: all they d that eate it, ſhall offend: euill ſhall come vpon them, ſaith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the worde of the Lord, O houſe of Iaakob, and all the families of the houſe of Iſrael.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f vaine?

6 For they ſaid not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs thorow the wildernelle, thorow a deſert, and waſte land, thorow a drie land, and g by the ſhadow of death, by a land that no man paſſed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

a According to that grace, and fauour, which I ſhewed thee from the beginning when I did firſt chuſe thee to be my people, and married thee to my ſelfe, Ezek. 16. 8.
b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.
c Choſen aboue all other to ſerue the Lord onely, and the firſt offered to the Lord of all other nations.
d Whatſoeuer did challenge this people, or els did annoy them, was puniſhed.
e That is, fallen to moſt vile idolatrie.
f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blind & inſenſible as the idoles, that they ſerue.
g Where for lacke of all things neceſſarie for life, ye could looke for nothing euery houre but preſent death.

7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eate ẏ fruite thereof, and the commodities of the ſame: but when ye entred, ye defiled h my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Prieſts ſaid not, i Where is the Lord? & they that ſhould miniſter the k Lawe, knewe me not: the l paſtours alſo offended againſt me, & the prophets prophecied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I will yet n pleade with you, ſaith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

10 For goe ye to the Iles of o Chittim, and beholde, and ſend vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heede, and ſee whether there be ſuch things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glory, for that which doeth not r profite.

12 Bee ye ſ heauens, be aſtonied at this: be afraide and vtterly confounded, ſaith the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forſaken me t the fountaine of liuing waters, to dig them pits, euen broken pits, that can hold no water.

14 Is Iſrael a u ſeruant, or is he borne in the houſe? why then is he ſpoiled?

15 The x Lyons roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waſte: his cities are burnt without y an inhabitant.

16 Alſo the children of z Noph and Tahapanes haue a broken thine head.

17 Haſt not thou procured this vnto thy ſelfe, becauſe thou haſt forſaken the Lorde thy God, when he b led thee by the way?

18 And what haſt thou nowe to doe in the way of c Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makeſt thou in the way of Aſſur? to drinke the water of the d Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednelle ſhal e correct thee, and thy turnings backe ſhall reprooue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou haſt forſaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burſt thy bonds, and thou ſaideſt, f I will no more tranſgreſſe, but like an harlot thou runneſt about vpon all high hilles, and m That is, ſpake vaine things, & brought the people from the true worſhip of God to ſerue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idoll of the Moabites, are meant all woles.

o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.
p Unto Arabia.
q That is, God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reprooueth the Iewes, that they were leſſe diligent to ſerue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities.
r Meaning, the idoles, which were their deſtruction, Pſal. 106. 36.
ſ He ſheweth, that the inſenſible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements againſt the ſame.
t Signifying, that when men forſake Gods word, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himſelfe, and ſo fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themſelues deſtruction, Ioan. 2. 8. Zech. 10. 2.

vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whole † plants were all natural: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a ſtrãge vine?

† Ebr. ſeed was all true.

22 Though thou waſh thee with nitre, and take thee much ſope, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, ſaieth the Lord God.

g Though thou vſe all the purifications and ceremonies of the Law, thou canſt not eſcape puniſhment, except thou turne to me by faith and repentance.

23 How canſt thou ſay, I am not polluted, neither haue I [h] folowed Baalim? behold thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou haſt done: thou art like a ſwift [i] dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worſhip the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they cal their doings Gods ſeruice.

24 And as a wild [k] aſſe, vſed to the wildernes, that ſnuffeth vp the winde by occaſion at her pleaſure: who can turne her backe? all they that ſeeke her, will not wearie themſelues, but wil find her in her [l] moneth.

i He compareth the idolaters to theſe beaſts, becauſe they neuer ceaſe running to and fro: for both valleis and hils are ful of their idolatrie.

k He compareth the idolaters to a wild aſſe: for ſhe can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as ſhe runneth ſhe can take her wind at euery occaſion.

l That is, when ſhe is with foale, and therefore the hunters waite their time: ſo though thou canſt not be turned backe now from thine idolatry, yet when thine iniquitie ſhall be at the full, God wil meete with thee.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from [m] barenes, and thy throte from thirſt: but thou ſaideſt deſperately, No, for I haue loued ſtrangers, and them wil I folow.

m Hereby he warneth them that they ſhould not goe into ſtrange countries to ſeeke helpe: for they ſhould but ſpend their labour, and hurt themſelues, which is here meant by bare foot and thirſt, Iſa. 57. 10.

26 As the [n] theefe is aſhamed, when hee is found, ſo is the houſe of Iſrael aſhamed, they, their kings, their princes and their Prieſts, and their Prophets, n As a theefe wil not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deed, and ready to be puniſhed, ſo they wil not confeſſe their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the ſame light vpon them.

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my [o] father, and to a ſtone, Thou haſt begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will ſay, Ariſe, and helpe vs.

o Meaning, that idolaters ſpoile God of his honour: and whereas hee hath taught vs to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according [p] to the nũmber of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

p Thou thoughteſt that thy gods of blocks and ſtones could haue holpen thee, becauſe they were many in number and preſent in euery place: but nowe let vs ſee whether either the multitude, or their preſence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap. 11. 13.

29 Wherefore wil [q] ye plead with me? yee all haue rebelled againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

q As though I did you iniurie in puniſhing you, ſeeing that your faults are ſo euident.

30 I haue ſmitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your [r] own ſword hath deuoured your Prophets like a deſtroying lion.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zecharias, Iſaiah, &c.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as [ſ] a wildernes vnto Iſrael? or a land of darkenes? Wherefore ſaith my people then, We are lords, [t] we will come no more vnto thee?

ſ Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?

t But wil truſt in our owne power & policie.

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

u With ſtrangers.

33 Why doeſt thou prepare thy way to ſeeke amitie? euen therefore wil I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednes.

34 Alſo in thy [x] wings is found the blood of the ſoules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all theſe places.

x The Prophets and the faithful are ſlaine in euery corner of your country.

35 Yet thou ſaieſt, Becauſe I am guiltles, ſurely his wrath ſhall turne from me: behold, I wil enter with thee into iudgement, becauſe thou ſaieſt, I haue not ſinned.

36 Why runneſt thou about ſo much to change thy wayes? for thou ſhalt bee confounded of Egypt, [y] as thou art confounded of Aſſhur.

y For the Aſſyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Iſrael, & deſtroied Iudah, euen vnto Ieruſalem: & the Egyptians ſlew Ioſiah and vexed the Iewes in ſundry ſorts.

37 For thou ſhalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon [z] thine head, becauſe the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, & thou ſhalt not proſper thereby.

z In ſigne of lamentation, as 2. Sam. 13. 19.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiſeth the reſtitution of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah & Iſrael, comparing them to a woman diſobedient to her huſband.

THey [a] ſay, If a man put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and become another mans, ſhall he returne againe vnto her? ſhall not this land [b] be polluted? but thou haſt plaied the harlot with many [c] louers: yet [d] turne againe to me, ſaith the Lord.

a According as it is written, Deut. 24. 4.

b If he take (ſuch one by wife) againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them, whom thou haſt put thy confidence in.

d And I wil not caſt thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercy.

2 Lift vp thine eies vnto the high places, and behold where thou haſt not plaied the harlot: thou haſt ſit waiting for thẽ in the wayes, as the [e] Arabian in the wildernes: and thou haſt polluted the land with thy whoredoms, & with thy malice.

e Which ſignifieth in termes, and waiteth for them that paſſe by to ſpoile them.

3 Therefore the ſhowers haue bene reſtrained, and the [f] latter raine came not, & thou haddeſt a [g] whores forehead: thou wouldeſt not be aſhamed.

f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 24.

g Thou wouldeſt neuer be aſhamed of thine acts & repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which wil not giue ouer, though they be neuer ſo manifeſtly conuicted.

4 Diddeſt thou not ſtil cry [h] vnto me, Thou art my father, & the guide of my youth?

h So hereth that the wicked in their miſeries wil cry vnto God, & die outward prayer as the godly do, but becauſe they turne not from their euil, they are not heard, Iſa. 58. 3, 4.

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? wil he reſerue it to the end? thus haſt thou ſpoken, but thou doeſt euil, euen more and more.

6 The Lord ſaid alſo vnto me, in the daies of Ioſiah the king, Haſt thou ſeene what this rebel [i] Iſrael hath done? for ſhee hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaied the harlot.

i Meaning the ten tribes.

7 And I ſaid, when ſhe had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but ſhe returned not, as her rebellious ſiſter Iudah ſaw.

8 When I ſawe, how that by all occaſions rebellious Iſrael had plaied the harlot, I caſt [k] her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious ſiſter Iudah was not afraied, but ſhee went alſo, and plaied the harlot.

k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Aſſyrians.

9 So that for the [l] lightneſſe of her whoredome ſhee hath euen defiled the lande:

l The Ebrew word may either ſignifie lightneſs & wantonnes, or noiſe and bruit.

for

for she hath committed fornication with stones and stocks.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with [m] her whole heart, but fainedly, saieth the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath [n] iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these wordes toward [o] the North & say, Thou disobedient Israel, return, saith the Lord, and I wil not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saieth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lorde thy God, and hast [p] scattred thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, saieth the Lord.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and wil bring you to Zion,

15 And I wil bring you pastors according to mine heart, which shal feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when yee bee increased and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saieth the Lord, they shal say no more, The [q] Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shal come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, [r] The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thencefoorth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the [s] North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, cuē the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt cal me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me [t]:

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her [t] husband: so haue ye rebelled against mee, O house of Israel, saieth the Lord.

21 [u] A voyce was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. [x] Behold, wee come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly the hope of the hils is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our [y] fathers labour, from our youth their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie down in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: [z] for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, wee and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeied the voyce of the Lord our God.

m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but she was neuer truly touched, or wholy reformed, as appeared when occasion was offred by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared her selfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples, to call her to repentance.

o Where as the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whom he promiseth mercy, if they will repent.

p There was no way, which thou didst not haunt to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.

q This is to be vnderstand of the comming of Christ: for then they shal not seek the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shal cease.

r Meaning the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Matt. 28.20.

s Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Ebrew word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hosea 2.1.

u Signifying, that God, whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them, who should lead them captiue & make them to cry and lament.

x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the name of Iuda, which staied so long to turne vnto God.

y For their idolatrie Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.

z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings and desire forgiuenes of the same, as Ezra 9.7. Psal. 106.6. Isa. 64.6.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is propheſied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet Lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, [a] returne vnto me, saith the Lorde: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt [b] sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shalbe blessed in him, and shal glory in him.

3 For thus saieth the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem.

4 Breake vp [c] your fallow ground, & sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lorde, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, yee men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your inuentions.

5 [d] Declare in Iudah, and shew foorth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion: [e] prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The [f] lion is come vp from his den, and the destroier of the Gentiles is departed, and gone foorth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gird you with sackcloth: lament and howle, for the fierce wrath of ỹ Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, saieth the Lord, ỹ heart of the King shal perish, & the heart of the princes and the Priests shall be astonished, and the [g] Prophets shal wonder.

10 Then sayd I, Ah, Lorde God, surely thou hast [h] deceiued this people & Ierusalem, a That is, wholy and without hypocrisie, Ioel 2. 12. not dissembling to turne and serue God, as they do which serue him by halues, as Hos. 7. 16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal 16.4 and shalt with reuerence sweare by ỹ liuing God, when thine oath may aduance Gods glory, and profit others:

c heare by hearing he meaneth the true religion of God.

c He willeth thē to plucke vp the impiety and wicked affection and worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seed of Gods word may be sowen therein, Hose. 10. 12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut. 10, 16. rom. 2. 29. col 2. 11.

d He warneth thē of the great dangers that shal come vpon them by the Caldeans, excepte they repent and turne to the Lord.

e He speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euery man shal prepare to saue himselfe, but it shall be too late. 2. King. 25. 4.

f Meaning Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babylon, 2. King. 24. 5.

g That is the false prophets, which still propheſied peace and securitie.

h By the false prophets which promised peace and tranquillitie: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubburnesse by causing them to hearken vnto lies which would not beleeue thy trueth, 1. King. 22, 23. Ezek. 14. 9. 2. Thes. 2. 11.

saying,

ſaying, Ye ſhal haue peace, and the ſword pearceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time ſhall it be ſaid to this people and to Ieruſalem, A dry [i] wind in the hie places of the wildernes commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither [k] to fanne nor to cleanſe.

12 A mightie winde ſhall come vnto mee from thoſe places, and nowe will I alſo giue ſentence vpon them.

13 Behold, he ſhal come vp as the [l] clouds, and his charets ſhall be as a tempeſt: his horſes are lighter then egles. [m] Woe vnto vs, for we are deſtroyed.

14 O Ieruſalem, waſh thine heart from wickednesſe, that thou mayeſt bee ſaued: how long ſhall the wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from [n] Dan, and publiſheth affliction from mount [o] Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publiſh in Ieruſalem, Beholde, the ſkoutes come from a farre countrey, & cry out againſt the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compaſſed her about as the watchmen of the [p] field, becauſe it hath prouoked me vnto wrath, ſaith the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee theſe things, ſuch is thy wickednesſe: therefore it ſhalbe bitter, therfore it ſhal pierce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, [q] my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be ſtil: for my ſoule hath heard the ſound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Deſtruction vpon deſtruction is cried, for the whole land is waſted: ſuddenly are my [r] tents deſtroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtanderd, and heare the ſound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is fooliſh, they haue not knowen me: they are fooliſh children, and haue none vnderſtanding: [ſ] they are wiſe to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and [t] voyde: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountains: and loe, they trembled, and all the hils ſhooke.

25 I behelde, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitful place was a wildernesſe, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the preſence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord ſaid, The whole land ſhall be deſolate: yet will I [u] not make a full end.

28 Therefore ſhall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue ſhall be darkened, becauſe I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and wil not repent, neither wil I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie ſhall flee, for the noyſe of the horſemen and bowemen: they ſhall goe into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie ſhalbe forſaken, and not a man dwel therein.

30 And when thou ſhalt be deſtroied, what wilt thou do? Though thou [x] clotheſt thy ſelfe with ſkarlet, though thou deckeſt thee with ornaments of gold, though thou painteſt thy face with colours, yet ſhalt thou trimme thy ſelfe in vaine: for thy louers wil abhorre thee & ſeeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noiſe as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her firſt child, euē the voyce of the daughter Zion that ſigheth and ſtretcheth out her hands: [y] wo is me now: for my ſoule fainteth becauſe of ỹ murtherers.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man is found neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iuda is deſtroied of the Caldeans.

RUnne to and fro by the ſtreets of Ieruſalem, and behold now, and know, & inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can find a man, or if there bee any that executeth iudgement, and ſeeketh the trueth, and I wil ſpare [a] it.

2 For though they ſay, The [b] Lord liueth, yet do they ſweare falſly.

3 O Lord, are not thine eies vpon ỹ [c] trueth? thou haſt [d] ſtriken them, but they haue not ſorowed: thou haſt conſumed them, but they haue refuſed to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a ſtone, and haue refuſed to returne.

4 Therfore I ſaid, Surely they are poore, they are fooliſh, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the [e] great men, and wil ſpeake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, & the iudgement of their God: but theſe haue altogether broke the yoke, and burſt the bonds.

6 Wherefore [f] a Lion out of the forreſt ſhal ſlay them, and a Wolfe of the wildernesſe ſhall deſtroy them: a Leopard ſhal watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, ſhall be torne in pieces, becauſe their treſpaſſes are many, & their rebellions are increaſed.

7 How ſhould I ſpare thee for this? thy children haue forſaken mee, and [g] ſworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the

CHAP. VI.

1 The comming of the Aſſyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Yee children of [a] Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the mids of Ieruſalem, and blowe the trumpet in [b] Tekoa: ſet vp a ſtandard vpon [c] Bethhaccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great deſtruction.

a He ſpeaketh to them chiefly becauſe they ſhuld take heed by the example of their brethrē, the other half of their tribe which were now caried away priſoners.
b Which was a citie in Iudah fiue miles frō Bethlehē, 2.Chr.11.6.
c Read Nehe. 3.14.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to [d] a beautifull and daintie woman.

d I haue intreated her gently, and giuen her abundance of all things.

3 The Paſtours with their flocks [e] ſhall come vnto her: they ſhal pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one ſhall feede in his place.

e She ſhall be ſo deſtroyed, that the ſheepe may be fed in her.

4 [f] Prepare warre againſt her: ariſe, and let vs go vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the ſhadowes of the euening are ſtretched out.

f He ſpeaketh this in ye perſon of the Babylonians, which complaine ye the time faileth the before they haue brought their enterpriſes to paſſe.

5 Ariſe, and let vs go vp by night, and deſtroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lorde of hoſtes ſayd, Hewe downe wood, and caſt a mount againſt Ieruſalem: this citie muſt bee viſited: all oppreſſion is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her malice: [g] cruelty & ſpoyle is continually heard in her before me with ſorrow and ſtrokes.

g He ſheweth the cauſe why it ſhould be deſtroied, and how it commeth of themſelues.

8 Be thou inſtructed, O [b] Ieruſalem, leſt my ſoule depart from thee, leaſt I make thee deſolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus ſaieth the Lord of hoſtes, They ſhal gather as a vine, [y] reſidue of Iſrael: turne [i] backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baſkets.

10 Vnto whom ſhall I ſpeake, & admoniſh that they may heare? beholde, their eares are [k] vncircumciſed, and they cannot hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: [l] I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the ſtreete, and likewiſe vpon the aſſemblie of the yoong men: for the huſband ſhall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houſes with their lands, and wiues alſo ſhall be turned vnto ſtrangers: for I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, ſaieth the Lord.

13 For from the leaſt of them, euen vnto the greateſt of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetouſneſſe, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Prieſt, they all deale falſly.

14 They haue healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people with ſweete wordes, ſaying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they aſhamed whē they had committed abomination? nay, they were not aſhamed, no neither could they haue any ſhame: therfore they ſhal fall among the †ſlaine: when I ſhal viſite them, they ſhalbe caſt downe, ſaith the Lord.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand in [p] waies and behold, and aſke for the [o] olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye ſhal find reſt for your ſoules: but they ſaid, We wil not walke therein.

17 Alſo I ſet [r] watchmen ouer you, which ſayd, Take heede to the ſound of the trumpet: but they ſaid, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therfore, ye [q] Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cauſe a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations: becauſe they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Lawe,

20 To what purpoſe bringeſt thou me [r] incenſe from Sheba, and ſweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offrings are not pleaſant, nor your ſacrifices ſweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will lay ſtumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers & the ſonnes together ſhall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend ſhal periſh.

22 Thus ſaieth the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the [s] North countrey, & a great nation ſhal ariſe from the ſides of the earth.

23 With bowe and ſhield ſhal they be weaponed: they are cruel and wil haue no compaſſion: their voyce roareth like the ſea, and they ride vpon horſes, well appointed, like men of warre againſt thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, & our hands ware [t] feeble: ſorrow is come vpon vs, as the ſorrow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the ſword of the enemie and feare is on euery ſide.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with ſackecloth, and wallow thy ſelfe in the aſhes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely ſonne: for the deſtroyer ſhall ſuddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue ſet [u] thee for a defence and for-treſſe among my people, that thou maieſt know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are braſſe and iron, they all are deſtroiers.

29 The [x] bellowes are burnt: the lead is conſumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They ſhall call them reprobate ſiluer, becauſe the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Ieremiah is commanded to ſhew vnto the people the words of God, which truſteth in the outward ſeruice of the Temple. 13 The euils that ſhal come to the Iewes, for the deſpiſing of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they ſhould obey his word.

THe words that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords houſe, and cry this word there, & ſay, Heare the word of the Lord, al ye of Iudah that enter in at theſe gates to worſhip the Lord.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, *Amend your wayes & your works, and I wil let you dwel in this place. *Chap. 26. 13.

4 Truſt not in [a] lying words, ſaying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend and redreſſe your wayes and your works: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppreſſe not the ſtranger, the fatherleſſe and the widow, and ſhed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your deſtruction,

7 Then [b] wil I let you dwel in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold,

h He warneth them to amend by his correctiõs and to turne to him by repentance.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to ſearch out all and to leaue none.

k They delite to heare daine things, and to ſhut vp their eares to true doctrine.

l As the Lord had giuen him his word to be as a fire of his indignation to burne the wicked, Chap. 5. 14. ſo he kindleth it now when he ſeeth that al remedies are paſt.

n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the falſe Prophets comforted them by flatterings, ſhewing that God would ſend peace and not warre.

† Ebr. them that fall.

o Wherein the Patriarkes and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: ſignifying that there is no true way, but that which God preſcribeth.

p Prophets which ſhould warne you of the dangers that were at hand.

q God taketh all the world to witneſſe, and the inſenſible creatures of the ingratitude of the Iewes.

r Read Iſa. 1. 11. and Amos 5. 21.

s From Babylon by Dan, which was North from Ieruſalem.

t For feare of the enemie: he ſpeaketh this in the perſon of the Iewes.

u Meaning Ieremiah, whom God had appointed to try out the godly from the wicked as a founder doth the pure mettall from the drоſſe.

x All the paine and labour that bath bene taken with them is loſt.

a Beleeue not the falſe Prophets, which ſay that for the Temples ſake, & the ſacrifices there, the Lord will preſerue you, and ſo nourish you in your ſinne, and vain confidence.

b God ſheweth on what condition he made his promiſe to this Temple: that they ſhould be an holy people vnto him as he would be a faithful God to them.

8 Behold, you truſt in lying wordes, that cannot profit.

9 Will you ſteale, murder, and commit adulterie, and ſweare falſly and burne incenſe vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and ſtand before mee in this Houſe, whereupon my Name is called, & ſay, Wee are deliuered, though wee haue done all theſe abominations?

11 Is this Houſe become [c] a den of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eies? Behold, euen I ſee it, ſaith the Lord.

12 But goe yee now vnto my place which was in Shilo, [d] where I ſet my Name at the beginning, and behold, what I did to it for the wickednelle of my people Iſrael.

13 Therefore nowe becauſe ye haue done all theſe workes, ſaieth the Lord, (and I [e] roſe vp earely & ſpake vnto you: but when I ſpake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would [f] ye anſwere)

14 Therefore will I do vnto this Houſe, whereupon my Name is called, wherein alſo yee truſt, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will caſt [g] you out of my ſight, as I haue caſt out all your brethren, euen the whole ſeed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou ſhalt not [h] pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I wil not heare thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they doe in the cities of Judah and in the ſtreets of Ieruſalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to [i] the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke mee to anger, ſaieth the Lord, and not themſelues to the confuſion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lorde God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath ſhall bee powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beaſt, and vpō the tree of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it ſhall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus ſaieth the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Put your burnt offerings vnto your ſacrifices, and eate the fleſh.

22 For [k] I ſpake not vnto your fathers, nor commaunded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and ſacrifices.

23 But this thing commaunded I them, ſaying, Obey my voyce, & I will be your God, and ye ſhall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after their counſels & the ſtubburnneſſe of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto [l] this day, I haue euen ſent vnto you all my ſeruaunts the Prophets, [m] riſing vp earely euery day, and ſending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke & did worſe then their fathers.

27 Therefore ſhalt thou ſpeake all theſe words vnto them, but they [n] will not heare thee: thou ſhalt alſo cry vnto them, but they will not anſwere thee.

28 But thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth diſcipline: trueth is periſhed, & is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine [o] haire, O Ieruſalem, and caſt it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forſaken the generation of his [p] wrath.

30 For the children of Judah haue done euill in my ſight, ſaieth the Lord: they haue ſet their abominations in the Houſe, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of [q] Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their ſonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I [r] commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that it ſhall no more bee called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter: for they ſhall burie in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeiſes of this people ſhall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beaſts of the earth, and none ſhall fray them away.

34 *Then will I cauſe to ceaſe from the cities of Judah, and from the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem the voice of mirth and the voyce of gladneſſe, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride: for the land ſhalbe deſolate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The deſtruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine & the couetouſnes of the Prophets and Prieſts.

AT that time, ſaieth the Lorde, they ſhall bring out the bones of the Kings of Judah, and the bones of their princes, & the bones of the Prieſts and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem out of their [a] graues.

2 And they ſhall ſpread them before the ſunne

c As theeues hid in holes, & dens think themſelues ſafe, ſo when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with the holines therof, and that I cannot ſee your wickednelle, Matt. 21. 13.

d Becauſe they pepended ſo much on the Temple, which was for his promiſe, that he would be preſent and reſend them where the Arke was, he ſheweth them to Gods iudgemēts againſt Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeeres, & after was taken, the Prieſts ſlaine, & the people miſerably diſcōfited, 1. Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 6.

e That is, I neuer ceaſed to warne you, as Iſa. 65. 2. pro. 1. 23 f He ſheweth what is the only remedy to redreſs our faults: to ſeeke God to lead vs into the way, & to obey his calling, Iſa. 66. 4.

g I wil ſend you into captiuity as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes.

h To aſſure the that God had determined in himſelfe to punith their wickednes, he ſheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile the, whiles they remain in their obſtinacie againſt God, and will not vſe the meaus y he vſeth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. and 14. 11.

l Which was about fourteene hundred yeeres.

a The enemie for greedines of game ſhal riffle your graues, and lay you before thoſe idols, which in your life you worſhipped, to ſee if they can helpe you.

sunne and the moone, & all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, & whom they haue folowed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as dung vpon the earth.

b Because of the afflictions that they shal feele through Gods iudgements.

3 And death shall be desired [b] rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattred them, saieth the Lord of hostes.

c Is there no hope that they wil returne.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saieth the Lord, Shal they [c] fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherfore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they haue themselues to deceite, and would not returne.

d They are ful of hypocrisie, and euery one followeth his own fantasie without any consideration.

e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements then these birds are of their appointed seasons to discerne the cold & heate, as Isa.1.3.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery [d] one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battel.

7 Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallow obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the [e] iudgement of the Lord.

f The Law doth not profit you, neither needed it to haue bene written for ought that you haue learned by it.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law [f] of the Lorde is with vs? Loe certainly in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

g They that seeme wise, may be ashamed of their ignorance: for all wisdome consisteth in Gods word. *Isa.56.11.chap.5.31.and 6.13.

9 The [g] wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: lo, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore wil I giue their wiues vnto others, & their fields to them that shal possesse them: *for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, & from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth fally.

h Read cha 6.14

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, [h] peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed whē they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shal they fal among the slaine: when I shal visite them, they shall be cast downe, saieth the Lord.

i He speaketh in the person of the people, who whē the enemy commeth, will run about to hide themselues, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

13 I will surely consume them, saieth the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shal depart from them.

k That is, hath brought vs into extreme affliction, and thus they shal not attribute this plague to fortune, but to Gods iust iudgement, Chap.9.15. and 23.15.

14 Why do we stay? [i] assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lorde our God hath put vs to silence, & giuen vs water with [k] gall to drinke, because wee haue sinned against the Lord.

*Chap.14.19.

15 *Wee looked for peace, but no good came, & for a time of health, and behold troubles.

l Read Chap. 4.15.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from [l] Dan, the whole land trembled at ỹ noise of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwel therein.

m God threateneth to send the Babylonians among them, who shal vtterly destroy thē in such sort as by no means they shal escape.

17 For behold, I wil [m] send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not bee charmed, and they shall sting you, saieth the Lord.

n Read Chap. 4.19.

18 I would haue [n] comforted my self against sorow, but mine heart is heauie in me.

o Thus the Lord speaketh.

19 Behold, the voice of the cry of ỹ daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why [o] haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

p The people wonder that they haue so long time looked for succor in vaine.

20 The [p] haruest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

q The Prophet speaketh this.

21 I am [q] sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me.

r Meaning, that no mans help or means could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap.46.11. & els deriding the vaine confidence of the people who looked for help at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicions of their soules, and wrek at Gilead, Hos.6.8.

22 Is there no balme [r] at Gilead? is there no Physicion there? Why thē is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaints of the Prophet for the malice of the people.
24 In the knowledge of God ought wee onely to reioyce.
26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

a The Prophet sheweth ỹ great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that he could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings, Read Chap.4.19.

OH, that mine head were full of [a] water, and mine eies a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

b He sheweth that this were more quietnes and greater safetie for him to dwel among the wild beasts then among the wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a [b] cottage of waifaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all [c] adulterers and an assembly of rebels, c Vtterly turned from God.

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for [d] lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceed from euil to worse, and they haue not knowen mee, saieth the Lord.

d To belie and slander their neighbors.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbor, and trust you not in any [e] brother: for euery brother wil vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully, e Meaning, that all were corrupt and none could find an honest man.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and wil not speake the trueth: for they [f] haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of deceiuers: [g] because of their deceite they refuse to know me, saieth the Lord.

f They haue so practised deceit, that they cannot forsake it.

g They had rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

7 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will [b] melt them, and trie them: for what should I els doe for the daughters of my people?

8 Their tongue [*] is an arrow shot out, & speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart hee laieth waite for him.

9 Shal I not visite them for these things, saieth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Upon the [i] mountains will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernesse a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none cā passe through them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away & gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, & a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is [k] wise, to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shal declare it. Why doeth the land perish, & is burnt vp like a wildernesse, that none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saieth, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeied my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which [l] their fathers taught them,

15 Therfore thus saieth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feed this people with wormwood, and giue them waters of gall [m] to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I wil send a sword after them, til I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, Take heed, and call for [n] the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares and our eie lids gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings [o] haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O yee women, and let your eares regard the wordes of his mouth, and [p] teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our [q] windowes, & is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yoong men in the streetes.

22 Speake, Thus saieth the Lorde, The carkeises of men shal lie, euen as the dung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shal gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the [r] wise man glory in his wisedom, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which [s] shew mercy, iudgement, & righteousnes in the earth: for in these things I delite, saieth the Lord.

25 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil visite all them, which are [t] circumcised with the vncircumcised:

26 Egypt & Iudah, and Edom, & the children of Ammon and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwel in the wildernes: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starres are not to bee feared. 5 The weakenes of idols, and of the power of God. 21 Their Pastors are become brute beasts.

HEare ye the word of ỹ Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saieth the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraied for the [a] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the [b] customs of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the forrest (which is the work of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe,

4 And another decketh it [c] with siluer, and with gold: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not,

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go: feare them not, for they cannot doe euil, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lorde: [d] thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee apperteineth the dominion: for among al the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdoms there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, & are foolish: for the stocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.

[b] With the fire of affliction.

[*] Psal. 28.3. and 120.

[i] Signifying that all the places about Ierusalem should be destroied.

[k] Meaning, that they are all without sense and vnderstanding, and that God hath taken his spirit from them.

[l] He sheweth that the children cannot excuse themselues by their fathers: for both father and child if they be wicked, shall perish.

[m] Read Chap. 8.14.

[n] Seeing you cannot lament your own sinnes, call for those foolish women, whom of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to some sorow.

[o] As though they were wearie of vs, because of our iniquities, Lev. 18.28. and 20.22.

[p] He deriueth the superstition of the women, which made an art of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

[q] Signifying, that there is no means to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but whē they thinke to be most sure, & most farre off: then are they soonest taken.

[r] Forasmuch as none can saue himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly means, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who only can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1.31. 2. Cor. 10.17.

[s] These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercy wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: & his iustice whereby he defendeth, and maintaineth the faithful.

[t] Meaning, both Iewes & Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth: cause, read Chap. 4.4.

[a] God forbiddeth his people to giue credite or feare the constellations and coniunctions of starres and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, and their secret motions, and influences are not knowen to man, & therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18.9.

[b] Meaning, not onely in the obseruation of the starres, but their Lawes and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidde Deut. 12.30.

[c] The Prophets vse thus plainly and simply to set forth the vile abiurditie of the idolaters, that men might learn to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, read Isa. 44.12.

[d] He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euil that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow. Reuel. 15.4.

[e] Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, verse 15. and Habak. 2.18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarſhiſh, and golde [f] from Uphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the handes of the founder: the blewe ſilke, and the purple is their clothing: all theſe things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlaſting king: at his anger the earth ſhall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus ſhall you ſay vnto them, The gods [g] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, ſhall periſh from the earth, and from vnder theſe heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and eſtabliſhed the worlde by his wiſedome, and hath ſtretched out the heauen by his diſcretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he cauſeth the cloudes to aſcend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth foorth the winde out of his treaſures.

14 Euery man is a [h] beaſt by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falſehoode, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie and the worke of errours: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

16 The [i] portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

17 ¶ [k] Gather vp thy wares out of the lande, O thou that dwelleſt in the ſtrong place.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throwe as with a ſling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they ſhall finde it ſo.

19 Woe is me for my deſtruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it [l] is my ſorrowe, and I will beare it.

20 [m] My tabernacle is deſtroyed, & all my coardes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to ſpread out my tent any more, and to ſet vp my curtaines.

21 For the Paſtours [n] are become beaſtes, and haue not ſought the Lorde: therefore haue they none vnderſtanding: and all the flockes of their paſtures are ſcattered.

22 Beholde, the noyſe of the bruite is come, and a great commotion out of [o] North countrey to make the cities of Judah deſolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that [p] the way of man is not in himſelfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his ſteps.

24 O Lorde, correct me, but with [q] iudgement, not in thine anger, leaſt thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out [r] thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob and deuoured him and conſumed him, and haue made his habitation deſolate.

f Whereas they found the beſt gold: ſhewing [ſ] they thought nothing too deere for their idoles: ſome reade Ophir, as 1. King. 9.28.

g This declareth, that all that hath bene in this Chapter ſpoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes whē they ſhould be in Caldea among the idolaters, and nowe with one ſentēce he inſtructeth them both howe to proteſt their owne religion againſt the idolaters, and howe to anſwere them to their ſhame which ſhould exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this ſentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the reſt of his writing is Ebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing wel by his owne wiſdome, and not as God inſtructeth him, [ſ] more doeth he proue himſelfe to be a vile beaſt.

i By theſe words Portion & Rod, he ſignifyeth their inheritance: meaning, that God ſhould be all ſufficient for them: and that their felicitie conſiſted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes and ſuccours as of idoles. &c. Dent. 32.9. pſal. 16.5.

k The Prophet willeth [ſ] Iewes to prepare themſelues for this captiuitie, ſhewing that it was nowe at hand, that they ſhould keepe the things, whereof he had tolde them.

l It is my iuſt plague, & therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth [ſ] people how to behaue themſelues toward God.

m He ſheweth howe Ieruſalem ſhall lament. n The gouernours and miniſters. o Reade Chap. 4.15. p He ſpeaketh this becauſe that Nebuchadnezzar purpoſed to haue made warre againſt the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedechiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe againſt Ieruſalem, Ezekiel 21.21. therefore the Prophet ſaith, that this was the Lords direction.

q Conſidering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7.16. he onely prayeth, that he would puniſh them with mercy, which Iſaiah calleth in meaſure, Chap. 27.8. meaſuring his rods by their infirmitie, 1. Cor. 10.13. for heere by iudgement is meant not onely the puniſhment, but alſo the mercifull moderation of the ſame, as Chap. 30.11. r Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that hee vſeth toward his Church, but alſo by his iuſtice in puniſhing his enemies, he prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Pſal. 76.6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curſe of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant.
10 The people of Iudah, following the ſteps of their fathers, worſhip ſtrange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and ſpeake vnto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem,

3 And ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſaieth the Lord God of Iſrael, [a] Curſed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant.

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornace, ſaying, Obey my voyce, and do according to all theſe things, which I command you: ſo ſhall ye be my people, and I will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue ſworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then anſwered [b] I and ſaid, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord ſaide vnto me, Cry all theſe wordes in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreetes of Ieruſalem, ſaying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue proteſted vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [c] riſing early and proteſting, ſaying, Obey my voyce.

7 Neuertheleſſe they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the ſtubbernes of his wicked [d] heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the [e] wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord ſaid vnto me, A [f] conſpiracie is found among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refuſed to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to ſerue them: thus the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Judah haue broken my couenant, a He calleth the Iewes to [ſ] conſideration of Gods mercies, who freely choſe them, made a couenant of eternall felicitie with them, and howe he euer performed it on this behalfe, and how they euer ſhewed themſelues rebellious and ingrate towarde him, and brake it toward him, and brake it on their part, and ſo are ſubiect to the curſe of [ſ] Lawe, Deut. 27.26.

which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shal not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, f I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 h For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incence vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray i for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they crie vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What shoulde my k beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many: and the holy flesh l goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with m noise and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lorde hath taught me, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst me n their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to ỹ slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs o destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lorde of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy p vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of q Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say r Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the swoorde: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine,

23 And none of them shal remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against Pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

O Lorde, if I dispute with thee, thou art a righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked b prosper: why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruite: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their c reines.

3 But thou, Lorde knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart towarde thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and d prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, & the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein: the beastes are consumed, and the birds, because they said, e He will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast runne with the f footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses: and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee: but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken g mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the handes of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a h lyon in the forest: it cryeth out against me: therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me, as a bird i of diuers colours: are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble al the beastes of the fielde, come to eate her?

10 Many pastours haue destroyed my k vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernesse.

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue reason of all his actes.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, & his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21.7. psalm. 37.1. and 73.3. Habac. 1.3.

c They professe God in mouth, but denie him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa. 29.13. matth. 15.8.

d The Ebrewe word is, sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lack their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburn rebellion against God.

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah in that, that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footemen, meane them of Anathoth, and by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatning and flatteries labour to put him to silence. h Euer ramping and raging against me and my Prophets. i In stead of bearing my liuerie and wearing onely my colours, they haue change and diuersitie of colours of their idoles and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thicke as the foules of the ayre shall come about them to destroy them. k He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captaines of Nebuchad-nezzar, whom he calleth pastors.

11 They haue laide it waſte, and it, being waſte, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lieth waſte, becauſe no man ſetteth his minde on [l] it.

l Becauſe no man regardeth my word, or the plagues that I haue ſent vpon the land.

12 The deſtroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernesſe: for the ſworde of the Lord ſhall deuoure from the one ende of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no fleſh ſhall haue peace.

13 [m] They haue ſowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were [n] ſicke, and had no profite: and they were aſhamed of [o] your fruites, becauſe of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

m To wit, the Prophets.
n They lamented the ſinnes of the people.
o For in ſtead of amendment, you grew worſe and worſe, as Gods plagues teſtified.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord againſt all mine euill [p] neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue cauſed my people Iſrael to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the houſe of Iudah from among them.

p Meaning, the wicked enemies of his Church which blaſphemed his name, and whom he would puniſh after that he hath delinered his people.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I [q] will returne, and haue compaſſion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

q After that I haue puniſhed the Gentiles, I will haue mercie vpon them.

16 And if they will learne the [r] waies of my people, to ſweare by my Name, ([ſ] The Lorde liueth, as they taught my people to ſweare by Baal) then ſhall they be built [t] in the middes of my people.

CHAP. XIII.

The deſtruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Iſrael was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forſaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus ſaith the Lord vnto me, Go, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loines, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the ſecond time, ſaying,

4 Take the girdle that thou haſt bought, which is vpon thy loines, and ariſe, goe toward [a] Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

a Becauſe this riuer Perath or Euphrates was far from Ieruſalem, it is euident, that this was a viſion, whereby was ſignified that the Iewes ſhould paſſe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time ſhould ſeeme to be rotten: although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lord ſaide vnto me, Ariſe, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

9 Thus ſaith the Lord, After this maner will I deſtroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ieruſalem.

10 This wicked people haue refuſed to heare my worde, and walke after the ſtubbernesſe of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to ſerue them, and to worſhip them: therefore they ſhall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a man, ſo haue I tied to me the whole houſe of Iſrael, and the whole houſe of Iudah, ſaith the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praiſe, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay vnto them this word, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Euery [b] bottell ſhalbe filled with wine, and they ſhall ſay vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottell ſhalbe filled with wine?

b Euery one of you ſhalbe filled with ſpirituall drunkennes, and be without all knowledge to ſeeke howe to helpe your ſelues.

13 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that ſit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Prieſtes and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem with drunkennesſe.

14 And I [c] will daſh them one againſt another, euen the fathers and the ſonnes together, ſaith the Lord: I will not ſpare, I will not pitie nor haue compaſſion, but deſtroy them.

c It ſhall be as eaſie for me to deſtroy the greateſt & the ſtrongeſt, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottels.

15 Heare and giue eare, bee not proud: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God, before he bring [d] darkenes, and or euer your feete ſtumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you looke for [e] light, he turne it into the ſhadow of death, and make it as darknes.

f You ſhal ſurely be led away captiue, and I, according to mine affection toward you, ſhall weepe and lament for your ſtubbernes.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the [a] ‖ dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue beene [b] brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the cry of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed and confounded, and [c] couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the fielde, and forsooke [d] it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drew in their winde like [e] dragons: their eies did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 [f] O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a [g] stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarry for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as [h] a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon of vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lorde hath no delite in them: but he will nowe remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then saide the Lord vnto me, [i] Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, Behold, the [k] prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord saide vnto me, the prophets prophecie lies in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I commaund them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this land, by sworde and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophecie, shall be cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword; and there shall be none to burie them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe [l] teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine, daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I goe into the fielde, beholde the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer, the ‖ prophet also and the ‖ Priest goe a wandring [m] into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected [n] Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that wee cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and beholde trouble.

20 We [o] acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the [p] vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lorde our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

THen sayd the Lorde vnto mee, [a] Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not bee toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saieth the Lorde, *Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

18 Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot bee healed? why art thou vnto me [r] as a liar, and as waters that faile?

k These are the prophets words, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherin also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers, to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention & hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, & said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemie he meaneth here, Nebuzaradan the captain of Nebuchad-nezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choise either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which should afterward know Ieremias fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

7 They ſhal not ſtretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither ſhall they giue them the [d] cup of conſolatiõ to drinke for their father or for their mother.

9 For thus ſaieth the Lorde of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, euẽ in your daies the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladneſſe, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe wordes, and they ſhall ſay vnto thee, *Wherfore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague againſt vs? or what is [e] our iniquitie? and what is our ſinne that wee haue committed againſt the Lord God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, Becauſe your fathers haue forſaken me, ſaieth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue ſerued them, and worſhipped them, and haue forſaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

20 And ſay vnto them, Heare the woꝛd of the Lord, yee Kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, that enter in by theſe gates, 22 Neither cary foꝛth burdens out of your houſes in the Sabbath day: neither doe ye any woꝛke, but ſanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

6 O houſe of Iſrael, cannot I do with you as this potter, ſaieth the Lorde? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, ſo are you in mine hand, O houſe of Iſrael.

7 I will ſpeake ſuddenly againſt a nation oꝛ againſt a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to deſtroy it.

22 Let the cry be heard from their houſes, when thou ſhalt bring an hoſte ſuddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take mee, and hid ſnares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knoweſt all their counſell againſt me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their ſinne from thy ſight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

5 And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their ſonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I [c] commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my mind)

6 Therefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhal no more be called [d] Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counſell of Iudah and Ieruſalem to nought in this place, & I wil cauſe them to fal by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that ſeeke their liues: & their carkeiſes wil I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the field.

8 *And I wil make this citie deſolate and an hiſſing, ſo that euery one that paſſeth thereby, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed and hiſſe becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 *And I will feed them with the fleſh of their ſonnes and with the fleſh of their daughters, and euery one ſhall eate the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege and ſtraitneſſe, wherewith their enemies that ſeeke their liues, ſhall hold them ſtraite.

10 Thē ſhalt thou breake the bottell in the ſight of the men that go with thee.

1 Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophecieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirite to preach the word.

WHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the a stockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamin which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And in the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but ‖ Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shal slay them with the sword.

5 Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoile them, & take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy b friendes, to whom thou hast prophecied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am c deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast d preuailed: I am in derision dayly: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed e desolation: therefore the worde of the Lorde was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on euery side. f Declare, said they, and we will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shal preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 g But the Lord is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 * But O Lord of hostes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto ỹ Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore frō the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ h Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

CHAP. XXI.

He prophecieth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the citie burned.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may turne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith ỹ Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will b turne backe ỹ weapons of warre that are in your handes, wherewith ye fight against ỹ king of Babel, & against ỹ Caldeans, which a That the King was touched with repentance of his sins, and so sought to God, as did Hezekiah, when he sent to Isaiah. 2. King. 19. 1. Isa. 37. 2. but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exod. 9. 28.

b To wit, from your enemies to destroy your selues.

a Thus we see that the thing which neither the King, nor the Princes, nor the people durst enterprise against the Prophet of God, this Priest as a chiefe instrument of Satan first attempted, reade Chap. 18, 18.

‖ Or, feare round about.

b Which haue suffered themselues to be abused vnto thy false prophecies.

c Herein appeareth the impacience, which oftentimes ouercommeth the seruants of God, when they see not their labours to profite, and also feele their owne weakenesse, reade Chap. 15. 18.

d Thou diddest thrust me forth to this worke against my will.

e He sheweth that he did his office in that he reproued the people of their vices, & threatned them with Gods iudgements: but because he was derided and persecuted for this, he was discouraged and thought to haue ceased to preache, saue that Gods Spirite did force him thereunto.

which beſiege you without the walles, and I will aſſemble them into the mids of this citie.

5 And I my ſelfe will fight againſt you with an outſtretched hand, and with a mightie arme euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this citie, both man, and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence.

7 And after this, ſaith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his ſeruants, and the people, and ſuch as are left in this citie, from the peſtilence, from the ſworde and from the famine into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeeke their liues, and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſworde: he ſhall not ſpare them, neither haue pitie nor compaſſion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I ſet before you the [c] way of life, and the way of [d] death.

c By yeelding your ſelues to Nebuchad-nezzar.
d By reſiſting him.

9 * He that abideth in this citie, ſhall die by the ſword and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that beſiege you, he ſhal liue, and his life ſhall be vnto him for a [e] pray.

*Chap. 38.2.
e As a thing recouered from extreme danger, Chap. 37.2. and 39.18. and 45.5.

10 For I haue ſet my face againſt this citie, for euill and not for good, ſaith the Lord: it ſhalbe giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he ſhall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And ſay vnto the houſe of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O houſe of Dauid, thus ſaith the Lord, *Execute iudgement [f] in the morning, and deliuer the oppreſſed out of the hand of the oppreſſor, leſt my wrath goe out like fire, & burne, that none can quench it, becauſe of the wickednes of your workes.

*Chap. 22.3.
f Be diligent to doe iuſtice.

13 Beholde, I come againſt thee, [g] O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, ſaith the Lord, which ſay, Who ſhall come downe againſt vs? or who ſhall enter into our habitations?

g Meaning, Ieruſalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley, and was compaſſed about with mountaines.

14 But I will viſite you according to the fruite of your workes, ſaith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire [h] in the forest thereof, and it ſhall deuoure round about it.

h That is, in the houſes thereof, which ſtoode as thicke as trees in the forest.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righteouſneſſe. 9 Why Ieruſalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the ſonne of Ioſiah is propheſied.

THus ſaith the Lorde, Goe downe to the houſe of the King of Iudah, and ſpeake there this thing,

2 And ſay, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that ſitteſt vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy ſeruants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates,

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, * Execute yee iudgement and [a] righteouſneſſe, and deliuer the oppreſſed from the hand of the oppreſſor, and vexe not the ſtranger, the fatherleſſe, nor the widowe: doe no violence, nor ſheade innocent blood in this place.

*Chap. 21.12.
a This was his ordinarie maner of preaching before the Kings from Ioſiah vnto Zedekiah, which was about fourtie yeeres.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then ſhall the kings ſitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this houſe, * and ride vpon charets, and vpon horſes, both he and his ſeruants and his people.

*Chap. 17.25.

5 But if ye will not heare theſe words, I [b] ſweare by my ſelfe, ſaith the Lord, that this houſe ſhalbe waſte.

b Shewing that there is none greater then he is, Heb. 6.13. and that he will moſt certainely performe his othe.

6 For thus hath the Lord ſpoken vpon the Kings houſe of Iudah, Thou art [c] Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet ſurely I will make thee a wildernes, and as cities not inhabited, c He compareth Ieruſalem to Gilead, which was beyond Iorden, and the beautie of Iudea to Lebanon.

7 And I will [d] prepare deſtroyers againſt thee, euery one with his weapons, and they ſhall cut downe thy chiefe [e] cedar trees, and caſt them in the fire.

d The Ebreine word ſignifieth to ſanctifie, becauſe the Lord doeth dedicate to his vſe and purpoſe ſuch as he prepareth to execute his worke, Iſa. 13.3. chap. 6.4. and 12.3.
e Thy buildings made of Cedar trees.

8 [f] And many nations ſhall paſſe by this citie, and they ſhall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

f As they that wonder at a thing which they thought would neuer haue come ſo to paſſe. Deut. 29.24. 1. king. 9.8.

9 Then ſhal they anſwere, Becauſe they haue forſaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worſhipped other gods, and ſerued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for him, but weepe for him [g] that goeth out: for he ſhall returne no more, nor ſee his natiue countrey.

g Signifying that they ſhould loſe their King: for Iehoiachin went forth to meete Nabuchad-nezzar, and yeelded himſelfe, and was caried into Babylon, 2. King. 24.12.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord, As touching [h] Shallum the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Ioſiah his father, which went out of this place, he ſhall not returne thither, h Whom ſome thinke to be Iehoiachin, & that Ioſiah was his Grandfather: but as ſeemeth this was Iehoiakim, as verſe 18.

12 But he ſhall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and ſhal ſee this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his houſe by [i] vnrighteouſneſſe, and his chambers without equitie: he vſeth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

i By bribes and extortion.

14 He ſaith, I will build me a wide houſe and large chambers: ſo he will make himſelfe large windowes, and ſeeling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, becauſe thou cloſeſt thy ſelfe in cedar? did not thy [k] father eate and drinke and proſper, when he executed iudgement and iuſtice?

k Meaning, Ioſiah, who was not giuen to ambition and ſuperfluitie, but was contented with mediocritie, and did onely delight in ſetting forth Gods glory and to doe iuſtice to all.

16 When he iudged the cauſe of the afflicted and the poore, he proſpered: was not this becauſe he knewe me, ſaith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetouſneſſe, and for to ſheade innocent

innocent blood, and for oppreſſion and for deſtruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lord againſt Iehoiakim, the ſonne of Ioſiah king of Iudah, They ſhall [l] not lament him, ſaying, Ah, my brother, or ah, ſiſter: neither ſhall they mourne for him, ſaying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glory.

19 He ſhall be buried, as an aſſe [m] is buried, euen drawen and caſt foorth without the gates of Ieruſalem.

20 Goe vp to [n] Lebanon, and cry: ſhoute in [o] Bathan, and cry by the paſſages: for all thy louers are deſtroyed.

21 I ſpake vnto thee when thou waſt in proſperitie: but thou ſaidſt, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldeſt not obey my voyce.

22 The winde ſhall feede all thy paſtours, [p] and thy louers ſhal go into captiuitie: and then ſhalt thou bee aſhamed and confounded of all thy wickedneſſe.

23 Thou that dwelleſt in Lebanon, & makeſt thy neſt in the [q] cedars, how beautiful ſhalt thou be when ſorowes come vpon thee, as the ſorowe of a woman in trauaile?

24 As I liue, ſaieth the Lord, though [r] Coniah the ſonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the ſignet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that ſeeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whoſe face thou feareſt, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cauſe them to cary thee away, & thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there ſhal ye die.

27 But to the land, whereunto they deſire to returne, they ſhal not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a deſpiſed and broken idole? or as a veſſell, wherein is no pleaſure? wherefore are they caried away, hee and his ſeede, and caſt out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Write this [s] man deſtitute of children, a man that ſhall not proſper in his dayes: for there ſhall bee no man of his ſeede that ſhall proſper and ſit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

l For euery one ſhal haue inough to lament for himſelfe.

n To call to the Aſſyrians for helpe.
o For this was the way out of Iudea to Aſſyria: whereby is meant that all helpe ſhould faile: for the Caldeans haue ſubdued both them and the Egyptians.
p Both thy gouernours and they that ſhould helpe thee, ſhal vaniſh away as winde.
q Thou that art built of the faire Cedar trees of Lebanon.
r Who was called Iehoiachin, or Ieconiah, whom he calleth here Coniah in contempe. who thought his kingdom could neuer depart from him becauſe he came of the ſtocke of Dauid, and therefore for the promiſe ſake could not be taken from his houſe: but he abuſed Gods promiſe, and therefore was iuſtly depriued of the kingdome.
s He ſheweth that all poſteritie ſhall be witneſſes of this iuſt plague, as though it were regiſtred for perpetuall memorie. t Not that he had no children (for after that he begate Salathiel in the captiuitie, Matth. 1. 12.) but that none ſhould reigne after him as King.

CHAP. XXIII.

Againſt falſe paſtours. 5 A propheſie of the great Paſtour Ieſus Chriſt.

WOe be vnto [a] the paſtours that deſtroy and ſcatter [b] the ſheepe of my paſture, ſaieth the Lord.

2 Therefore thus ſaieth the Lord God of Iſrael vnto the paſtors that [c] feede my people, Ye haue ſcattered my flocke & thruſt them out, and haue not viſited them: behold, I wil viſite you for the wickedneſſe of your workes, ſaieth the Lord.

3 And I will gather the [d] remnant of my ſheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they ſhall growe and encreaſe.

4 And I will ſet vp ſhepheards ouer them, which ſhall feed them: and they ſhall dread no more nor be afraid, neither ſhall any of them be lacking, ſaieth the Lord.

5 Beholde, the dayes come, ſaieth the Lord, that I wil raiſe vnto Dauid a righteous [e] branch, and a King ſhall raigne, and proſper, and ſhall execute iudgement, and iuſtice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah ſhall be ſaued, and *Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely, and this is the name whereby they ſhall call him, * The Lorde our righteouſnes.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that they ſhal no more ſay, The [f] Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the ſeede of the houſe of Iſrael out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had ſcattred them, and they ſhal dwel in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, becauſe of the [g] Prophets: all my bones ſhake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whom wine hath † ouercome) for the preſence of the Lorde and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and becauſe of othes the lande mourneth, the pleaſaunt places of the wilderneſſe are dried vp, and their [h] courſe is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Prieſt ‖ do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I found in mine [i] houſe, ſaieth the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way ſhalbe vnto them as ſlipperie wayes in the darkenes: they ſhall be driuen forth and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their viſitation, ſaieth the Lord.

13 And I haue ſeene fooliſhnes in the Prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, and cauſed my people Iſrael to erre.

14 I haue ſeene alſo in the Prophets of Ieruſalem [k] filthines: they commit adulterie & walke in lies: they ſtrengthen alſo the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto [l]mee as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophets, Behold, I will feed them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophets that prophesie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne [n] heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye [o] shal haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubburnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For [p] who hath stand in the counsell of the Lorde that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and till hee haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye [q] shal vnderstand it plainly.

21 *I haue not sent these [r] Prophets, saieth the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stand in my counsel, and [s] had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saieth the Lorde, and not a God [t] farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saieth the Lord? Doe not I fil heauen and earth, saieth the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophets sayd, that prophesie lies, in my name, saying, I [u] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long † Doe the Prophets delight to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause [v] my people to forget my name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my name for [w] Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him [x] tel a dreame, and he that hath my worde, let him speake my word faithfully [y] what is the chaffe to the wheate, saieth the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saieth the Lorde? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I wil come against the Prophets, saith the Lorde, that [z] steale my word, euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the Prophets, saieth the Lorde, which haue sweete tongues, and say, [a] He saith.

32 Beholde, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lorde, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the [b] burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

34 And the Prophet, or the priest, or the people that shal say, The [c] burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

35 Thus shall yee say euery one to his neighbour, and euery one to his brother, What hath the Lorde answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lorde shall yee mention no more: for euery mans [d] worde shall be his burden: for yee haue peruerted the words of the liuing God, the Lord of hosts our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lorde, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shal not say, The burden of the Lord.

39 Therefore behold, I, euen I will vtterly ‖ forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, & cast you out of my presence.

40 And wil bring * an euerlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetuall shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

1 The vision of the baskets of figs, 5 Signifieth that part of the people should bee brought againe from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should bee caried away.

t I haue a prophesie reuealed vnto me, as Num. 12.6.

† Ebr. Is it in the heart of the prophets?

u He sheweth that Satan raiseth vp false prophets to bring the people from God.

x Let the false prophet declare that it is his owne fantasie, and not slander my word, as though it were a cloke to couer his lies.

y Meaning, that it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to abstaine from lies, and to speake the word of God: but that there be iudgement in alledging it, and that it may appeare to be applied to the same purpose that it was spoken, Ezek. 3.17. 1. Cor. 2.13. and 4.2. 2. Tim. 2.15. 1. Pet. 4.10,11.

b The Prophets called their threatnings Gods burden, which the sinners were not able to sustaine: therefore the wicked in deriding the word, would aske of the Prophets, what was the burden, as though they would say, You seeke nothing els, but to lay burdens on our shoulders: and thus they reiected the word of God as a grieuous burden.

c Because this word was brought to contempt and derision, he wil teach them another manner of speach, and wil cause this word Burden to cease, and teach them to aske with reuerence, What saieth the Lord?

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet ſpake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, ſaying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Ioſiah the ſonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto [b] this day (that is the three and twentieth yere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue ſpoken vnto you [c] riſing earely and ſpeaking, but ye would not heare.

c That is, I haue ſpared no diligence or labour, Cha.7.13.

4 And the Lord hath ſent vnto you all his ſeruants the Prophets, riſing early and ſending them, but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey.

5 They [d] ſayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye ſhall dwel in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

d He meeteth with that the Prophets wholy with one conſent did labour to put the people from thoſe vices, which then reigned: to wit, from idolatrie and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder theſe two all other were contained, 2.King. 17.13.chap. 18.11. and 35. 15. Ionah 3.8.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, & made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, & the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, [n] as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh also, king of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spew and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I wil send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes, Ye shall certainely drinke.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the [x] citie, where my Name is called vpon, and should you goe free? Ye shal not goe quite: for I wil call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saieth the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophesie thou against them all these words, and say vnto them, * The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: hee shall roare vpon his habitation, and cry aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and hee will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, saieth the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewind shalbe raised vp from the coastes of the earth.

33 And [y] the slaine of the Lorde shall be at that day, from one ende of the earth, euen vnto the other ende of the earth: they shall not bee mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shal be as the dongue vpon the ground.

34 Howle, [z] yee sheepheards, and cry, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and yee shall fall like [a] precious vessels.

35 And the [b] flight shall faile from the sheepheards, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the cry of the sheepheards, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lorde hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the † best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Ieremiah moueth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false prophets and priests, & brought to iudgement. 23 Vriiah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim ỹ sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the [a] court of the Lordes House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords house, all the wordes that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not [b] a word backe:

3 If so be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may [c] repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare mee to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp earely, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then wil I make this House like [d] Shiloh, and will make this citie [e] a curse to all the nations of the earth.

all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these wordes in the house of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lorde had commaunded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and saide, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the name of the Lord, saying, This [f] house shall bee like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the Kings house into the house of the Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of the [g] newe gate of the Lordes house.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the Prophets vnto the Princes, and to all the people, saying, † This man is woorthie to die: for hee hath prophesied against this citie, as yee haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the Princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lorde hath [h] sent me to prophesie against this house, and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your waies and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lorde your God, that the Lorde may repent him of the plague that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake al these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the Princes and all the people vnto the Priests, & to the Prophets, This man is not woorthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, & spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saieth the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the [i] house shall bee as the high places of the forrest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and praied before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the [k] plague, that hee had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euil against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the name of the Lorde, one Uriiah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Nowe when Iehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his wordes, the king sought to slay him. But when Uriiah heard it, hee was afraid and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the king [l] sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Uriiah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the king, who slewe him with the sworde, and [m] cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam [n] the sonne of Shaphã was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah at the cõmandement of the Lord sendeth bands to the king of Iudah & to the other kings that were nere, wherby they are monished to be subiects vnto Nebuchadnezzar. 9 He warneth the people and the kings and rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

IN the beginning of the reigne of [a] Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saieth the Lord to me, Make thee [b] bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And commaund them to say vnto their masters, Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall yee say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my [c] seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his [d] sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shal [e] serue themselues of him.

i That is, of the house of the Lord, to wit, Zion, and these examples the gods by alledged to deliuer Ieremiah out of the priests hands, whose rage else would not haue bene satisfied, but by his death.

k So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Sanacherib.

l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they preuaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgements so much the more.

m As in the first Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.

n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their furie, if God had not mooued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

a As touching the disposition of these prophesies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore which should be after, and contrarywise: which if the reader mark wel, it shal auoid many doubts, & make the reading much more easie.

b By such signs the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophesies, which notwithstanding they could not doe of themselues, but in as much as they had a reuelation for the same. 9 Therefore heare not your Prophets, nor your Southsaiers, nor your dremers, nor your inchanters, nor your Sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Yee shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your lande, and that I should cast you out, & you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lorde, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these woordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that yee may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the swoorde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

g For it was not onely the Prophets office to shew the word of God, but also to pray for the sinnes of the people, Gen.20.7. which these could not do, because they had no expresse word for God had pronounced the contrary.

19 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke not, when he caried * away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the a reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the b fourth yeere, & in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of c Gibeon, spake to me in the house of ỹ Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, and sayd, a When Ieremiah began to beare these bonds & yokes.

b After that the land had rested, as Leuit.25.2. c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh.21.17.

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 † Within two yeeres space I wil bring into this place all the vessels of the Lordes House, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

†Ebr. two yeeres of dayes.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saieth the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah sayd vnto the d Prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, & in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord, d He was so esteemed, though he was a false prophet.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the e Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the Lords House, and all that is caried captiue from Babel into this place.

e That is, I would wish the same for Gods honor & the aide of my people, but he hath appointed the contrary.

7 But heare thou now this woorde that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, f prophesied against many countreies, and against great kingdoms, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophesies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh to trie the faith of his, Deut.13.3.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shal come to passe, then shal the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hath truly sent him.

g This declareth the impudencie of ỹ wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to ỹ truerth, but are led with ambition to get the fauor of men, and therefore cannot abide any that might discredite them, but burst forth into rages, and contrary to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they doe, so that they may maintaine their estimation.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying,

13 Goe, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of iron.

14 For thus saieth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a [b] yoke of iron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the [i] beastes of the fielde also.

15 Then said the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

b That is a hard, and cruell seruitude.

i Signifying, that all should be his, as Dan. 2.38.

k Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord, it is manifest, that myracles cannot moue vs, neither the word it selfe, except God touch the heart.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 He prophecieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Hierusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is prophecied.

NOwe these are the wordes of the ‖ booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto [a] the residue of the Elders, which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to al the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel:

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah [c] sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

c To intreat of some equal conditions.

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue [d] caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

d To wit, the Lord, whose worke this was.

5 Build you houses to dwel in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

6 Take you wiues, & beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and [e] pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to y tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certaine: for else not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 14.4.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, & your southsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophecie you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I wil visite you, & performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts, that I haue thought towards you, saieth the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shal you crie vnto me, and ye shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And ye shall seeke me and finde me, because ye shall seeke me with all [f] your heart.

f When your oppression shall be great, & your afflictions cause you to repet your disobedience, and also when the seuentie yeeres of your captiuitie shall be expired, 2. Chro. 36.22. Ezr. 1.1. cha. 25.12. Dan. 9.2.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caried away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp [g] Prophets in Babel.

g As Ahab, Zedekiah & Shemaiah.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will send vpon them the [h] sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile [i] figges, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughtie.

h Whereby he assureth them, that there shall be no hope of returning before the time appointed.

i According to the comparison, Chap. 24.1, 2.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, & with the pestilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and [k] a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

k Reade Chap. 26.6.

19 Because they haue not heard my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, [l] rising vp early, and sending them, but ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

l Reade Chap. 7.13. and 25.3. and 26.5.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophesie lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt [m] in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed [n] vileny in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commaunded them, euen I know it, and I testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priestes, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the House of the Lorde, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Nowe therefore why hast thou not reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: he shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lorde, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

m Because they gaue the people hope of speedie returning.
n Which was aduulterie, and falsifying the word of God.
‖ Or, dreamer.
o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the worde of God, of the which he would haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.
p He and his seede shall be destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I haue spoken vnto thee in [a] a booke.

3 For lo, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

6 Demaund nowe and behold, if man trauell with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath beene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.

9 But they shal serue the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruaunt Iaakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraide, O Israel: for loe, I wil deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie and none shall make him afraide.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to laie a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, & with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why criest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shal goe into captiuitie: and they that spoile thee, shall be spoiled, and all they that rob thee, will I giue to be robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because a Because they should be assured and their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Caldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, & that they should be in such perplexitie and sorow as a woman in her trauell, as Ie. 13.8.
c Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grieuous.
d When I shall visite Babylon.
e Of the king of Babylon.
f To wit, of Iaakob.
g That is, Messiah, which should come of the stocke of Dauid according to the flesh, and should be the true pastor, as Ezek. 34. 23. who is set ouer them, & his kingdome that should be euerlasting, in the person of Dauid, Psal. 3.5.
h Reade Chap. 10, 24.
i Meaning, that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliuer them, but that it must be the worke of God.
k The Assyrians and Egyptians whom they vsed to entertaine with gifts, who left thee in thine affliction.
l Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his, who doeth not destroy them for their sinnes, but correct and chastise them, till he haue purged and pardoned them, and so burneth the rods by the which he did punish them. Isa. 33. 1.

because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shall be builded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceede [n] thanksgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shall not be fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20 Their children also shalbe as aforetime, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I will visite all that vexe them.

21 And their [o] noble ruler shall be of themselues, and their gouernour shal proceede from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approch vnto me: for who is this that directeth his [p] heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?

22 And ye shall be my people, and I wil be your God.

23 Behold, [q] the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirle winde that that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the [r] latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

m Meaning, that the city and the Temple should be restored to their former state.

n He sheweth how the people shall with praise and thankesgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

o Meaning, Zerubbabel, who was the figure of Christ, in who this was accomplished.

p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his father.

q Lest the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselues with these promises, the Prophet sheweth what shall be their portion.

r When this Messiah and deliuerer is sent.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the [a] same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shalbe my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which [b] escaped the sword, found grace in the wildernesse: [c] he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me [d] of olde, say they: [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.

4 Againe I wil build thee, [f] thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still [f] be adorned with the timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of [g] Samaria, and the planters that plant them, [h] shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the [i] watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall crie, Arise, and let vs goe vp vnto [k] Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, and shout for ioy among the chiefe of the [l] Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither.

9 They shall come [m] weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of [n] water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is [o] my first borne.

10 ¶ Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, [p] declare in the Iles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him [p] & will keepe him, as a shepheard doth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hand [p] of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall run to the bountifulnesse of the Lord, euen for the [q] wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullockes: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorowe.

13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the [r] dance, and the yong men and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with [s] fatnesse, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith [t] the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning & bitter weeping, [t] Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saieth the Lorde, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, [x] thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard [u] Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an [x] vntamed calfe: [y] conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote a When this noble gouernour shall come: meaning Christ, not onely Iudah and Israel, but the rest of the world shalbe called.

b Which were deliuered from the cruelnie of Pharaoh.

c To wit, God.

d The people thus reason as though he were not so beneficiall to them now, as he had beene of olde.

e Thus the Lord answereth that his loue is not changeable.

f Thou shalt haue still occasion to reioyce: which is meant by tabrets and dancing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exo. 15. 20. iudg 5.2. and chap. 11.34.

g Because the Israelites, which were the tenne tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstood vnder the kingdome of Christ, which was the restauration of the true Israel.

h That is, shal eate the fruite thereof, as Leu. 19.23. Deu. 20.6.

i The ministers of the word.

k They shall exhort all to the embracing of the Gospel, as Isa. 2.3.

l He sheweth what shalbe the concord and loue of all vnder the Gospel, where none shall be refused for their infirmities: and euery one shall exhort one another to embrace it.

m That is, lamenting their sinnes, which had not giuen eare to the Prophets, and therefore it followeth that God receiued them to mercie, Chap. 50.4. Some take it that they should weepe for ioy.

n Where they found no impediments, but abundance of all things.

o That is, my dearely beloued, as the first child is to the father.

p That is, from the Babylonians and other enemies.

q By these temporall benefites he meaneth the spirituall graces, which are in the Church, and whereof there should be euer plentie, Isa. 58. 11, 12.

r In the companie of the faithfull, which euer praise God for his benefites.

s Meaning, the spirit of wisedome, knowledge and zeale.

t To declare the greatnesse of Gods mercie in deliuering the Iewes, he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, vtterly destroyed and caried away, in so much that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, thee should haue found none remaining.

u That is, the people that were led captiue.

x Which was wanton and could not be subiect to the yoke.

y He sheweth how the faithfull vse to pray: that is, desire God to turne them, for as much as they cannot turne of themselues.

vpon my [z] thigh: I was aſhamed, yea, euen confounded, becauſe I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim [a] my deare ſonne or pleaſant childe? yet ſince I ſpake vnto him, I ſtill [b] remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will ſurely haue compaſſion vpon him, ſaith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp [c] ſignes: make thee heapes: ſet thine heart toward the path and way, that thou haſt walked: turne againe, O virgine of Iſrael: turne againe to theſe thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou goe aſtray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created [d] a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN ſhall compaſſe a man.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Yet ſhall they ſay this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bleſſe thee, O habitation of Iuſtice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah ſhall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husband men and they that goe forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue ſatiate the wearie ſoule, and I haue replenished euery ſorowfull ſoule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my ſleepe [e] was ſweete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, ſayeth the Lord, that I will ſowe the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Iudah [f] with the ſeede of man and with the ſeede of beaſt.

28 And like as I haue watched vpō them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throwe downe, and to deſtroy, and to plague them, ſo will I watch ouer them, to build, and to plant them, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe dayes ſhall they ſay no more, The fathers haue [g] eaten a ſowre grape, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But euery one ſhall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhall be ſet on edge.

31 ¶ Beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will make a [h] new couenant with the houſe of Iſrael, & with the houſe of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they [i] brake, although I was ‖ an husband vnto them, ſaith the Lord.

33 But this ſhall be the couenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After [k] thoſe dayes, ſaith the Lorde, I will put my Lawe in their inward parts, & write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

34 And they ſhall [l] teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, ſaying, Knowe the Lord: for they ſhall all know me from the leaſt of them vnto the greateſt of them, ſaith the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their ſinnes no more.

35 Thus ſaith the Lorde, which giueth [m] the ſunne for a light to the day, and the courſes of the moone and of the ſtarres for a light to the night, which breaketh the ſea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hoſtes.

36 If theſe ordinances depart out of my ſight, ſaith the Lord, then ſhall the ſeede of Iſrael ceaſe from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus ſaith the Lorde, If the heauens can be meaſured, [n] or the foundations of the earth be ſearched out beneath, then will I caſt off all the ſeede of Iſrael, for all that they haue done ſaith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lorde, that the [o] citie ſhall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the meaſure ſhall goe forth in his preſence vpon the hill Gareb, and ſhall compaſſe about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the aſhes, and all the fieldes vnto the brooke of Kidron, & vnto the corner of the horſe gate toward the Eaſt, ſhall be holy vnto the Lord, neither ſhall it be plucked vp nor deſtroyed any more for euer.

b To wit, in pitying him for my promiſe ſake.

d Becauſe their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from ſinne, he ſheweth how this ſhould be procured, to wit, by Ieſus Chriſt whom a woman ſhould conceiue, & beare in her wombe. Which is a ſtrange thing in earth, becauſe he ſhould be borne of a virgin without man: or, he meaneth, that Ieruſalem which was like a barren woman in her captiuitie, ſhould be fruitfull as ſhe, that is ioyned in marriage, and whom God bleſſeth with children.
e Hauing vnderſtand this viſion of the Meſſiah to come, in whom the two houſes of Iſrael and Iudah ſhould be ioyned, I reioyced.
f I will multiplie, and enrich them with people and cattell.
g The wicked vſed this prouerbe, when they did murmure againſt Gods iudgements pronounced by the Prophets, ſaying, That their fathers had committed the fault, and that the children were puniſhed, Ezek. 18. 3.
h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, and this which was giuen after, ſeeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Ieſus Chriſt, ſaue that this is called newe, becauſe of the manifeſtation of Chriſt, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghoſt giuen to his Church vnder the Goſpel.

k In the time of Chriſt my lawe ſhall in ſtead of tables of ſtone be written in their hearts by mine holy Spirit, Ezek. 8. 10.
l Vnder ỹ kingdome of Chriſt there ſhalbe none blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith, and knowledge of God for remiſſion of their ſinnes and daily increaſe ỹ ſame: ſo that it ſhal not ſeeme to come ſo much by ỹ preaching of my miniſters, as by the inſtruction of my holy Spirit, Iſa. 54. 13. but the full accompliſhing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Chriſt, when we ſhall be ioyned with our head.
m If the ſunne, moone & ſtarres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, ſo long as this world laſteth, ſo ſhall my Church neuer faile, neither ſhal any thing hinder it: and as ſure as I will haue a people, ſo certaine is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with.
n The one and the other is impoſſible.
o As it was perfourmed, Nehe. 3. 1. By this deſcription he ſheweth that the citie ſhould be as ample, and beautifull as euer it was: but he alludeth to the ſpirituall Ieruſalem, whoſe beautie ſhould be incomparable.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is caſt into priſon becauſe he propheſied that the citie ſhould be taken of the king of Babylon. 7 He ſheweth that the people ſhould come againe to their owne poſſeſſion. 38 The people of God are his ſeruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoſte beſieged Ieruſalem: And Ieremiah the Prophet was ſhut vp in the Court of the priſon, which was in the king of Iudahs houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had ſhut him vp, ſaying, Wherefore doeſt thou propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, * Behold, I will giue this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he ſhall take it:

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but ſhall ſurely be deliuered into the handes of the king a So that Ieremiah had now propheſied from the thirteenth yeere of Ioſiah vnto the laſt yeere ſaue one of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almoſt fourtie yeeres.

* Chap. 39. 16, 17. and 34. 2.

King of Babel, and ſhall ſpeake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall beholde his face,

5 And he ſhall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there ſhall he be, vntill [b] I viſit him, ſaith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye ſhall not proſper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah ſaide, The word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the ſonne of Shallum thine vncle, ſhall come vnto thee and ſay, [c] Bie vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee [d] to bie it.

8 So Hanameel, mine vncles ſonne, came to me in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the Lord, and ſaid vnto me, Bie my [e] fielde, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, and the purchaſe belongeth vnto thee: bie it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the fielde of Hanameel, mine vncles ſonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the ſiluer, euen ſeuen [f] ſhekels, and tenne pieces of ſiluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke and ſigned it, and tooke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſiluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed [g] according to the Lawe, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine vncles ſonne, and in the preſence of the witneſſes, written in the booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Iewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Take the writings, euen this booke of the poſſeſſion, both that is ſealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] veſſell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael ſaith thus, Houſes and fieldes and vineyards ſhalbe poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered ỳ booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch, the ſonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, ſaying, 17 Ah Lord God, beholde thou haſt made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖ hard vnto thee.

18 *Thou ſheweſt mercy vnto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquitie of the fathers into the boſome of their [i] children after them: O God the great and mightie, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſtes,

19 Great in counſell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the ſonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this [k] day, and in Iſrael, and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And haſt brought thy people Iſrael out of the lande of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, with a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt giuen them this land, which thou didſt ſweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie:

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Lawe: all that thou commaundedſt them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the [l] mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it by meanes of the ſworde, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and beholde, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaide vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the fielde for ſiluer, and take witneſſes: for the citie ſhall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, ſaying, 27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD, of all [m] fleſh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Caldeans ſhall come and fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie and burne it, with the houſes, vpon whoſe roofes they haue offered incenſe vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah haue ſurely done euill before me from their [n] youth: for the children of Iſrael haue ſurely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bin vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, & of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I ſhould remoue it out of my ſight, i Becauſe the wicked are ſubiect to the curſe of God, he ſheweth that their poſteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, ſhalbe puniſhed both for their owne wickednes, and that the iniquitie of their fathers which is likewiſe in them, ſhall be alſo reuenged on their head.
